Homecoming 1991 -- An Activity for Everyone

By Cheryl Russell '92

Homecoming 1991 was centered around athletics, and offered varied activities for all who attended. The weekend started off with an Alumni baseball game in which the Varsity team won 10-8. The Husson softball team sponsored a craft fair on Saturday and Sunday, which included 22 tables.

On Sunday there was a men's soccer game. The Alumni won 8-3 with some great kicks. The day continued with basketball, which is always a treat to watch. Husson is known for their basketball teams all over New England. Buster Frederick , Shawn Bolden, Kevin Hansley and Mark Taylor returned to play for the men's Alumni team. The varsity team won 103-94. However, the Alumni put on a great performance!

The women's varsity and Alumni basketball teams played as well on Sunday. The Husson Lady Braves struggled for their win over the Alumni team, but came up with a 52-51 victory. Among the Alumni leading scorers were Sharon Siebert with 24 points, Chris Hunter with 9 points and Carol Snowdeal with 8 points. From the varsity team the two high scorers were Vicki Mazerall with 8 points and Angeline Grant also with 8 points.

The main event of Homecoming was the ceremony to induct Alumni members into the Sports Hall of Fame on Saturday evening.

Whether you came for the sports, crafts, banquet, or just to see some old friends, Homecoming 1991 had something for everyone and was definitely a good time for all! As you graduate from the halls of Husson, make sure you keep in touch with the Alumni Office and plan to attend Homecoming. It's a great time!

By Ann Ellis,
Chairperson of Nursing

I would like to take this opportunity to thank the sophomore and senior classes, faculty and staff of the Nursing Program for their performance at the Recognition Ceremony on 9/19/91. The students looked and acted very professional. Faculty, parents, friends, colleagues and children were so proud of you all. As always, faculty were spectacular and pitched right in. The staff did their jobs in such a way that the set-up was first class. As Chairperson of the Nursing Program, I would like to congratulate you all on an excellent ceremony.

The Media: Help or Hindrance

By Jamie Glover '92

Last week on television the highly publicized trial of Pam Wojas Smart was made into a TV Movie of the Week. Although most of the nation already knew the story of the beautiful married woman who worked as the media consultant for a New Hampshire High School, a network still had to cash in on the murder of her husband of 11 months.

Suddenly the tabloids and talk shows were filled with the news of this seemingly unthinkable crime. Even the six o'clock news couldn't get enough of the sensational crime. Talk at the dinner tables across the country changed from the usual discussion of "what happened at work today" to " Can you believe it about that woman Pam Smart in New Hampshire?" No one could escape the story that was sweeping the nation. Other shows such as Hard Copy and Donahue were publicizing the unusual facts surrounding the case.

Finally the trial began for the accused, Pam Smart, which quickly became a media carnival. The young boy, Bill Flynn, Pam Smart had the affair with and who pulled the trigger of the gun and cold bloodedly slaughtered Greg Smart in his own home, took the stand under the gaze of all America and told his tearful confession.

Almost every moment of the trial was seen by anyone with a television set. Is this how our legal system operates? Can a crime of this magnitude become "food" for the sensationalists who feed off the misery of others?

In this country, a fair trial is a right to every person. The statement "guilty until proven innocent," doesn't hold true in this case, as far as I'm concerned. I feel that the media had already given Pam Smart a trial and found her guilty before the jury even reached a verdict. Although the jury in her case were supposedly unbiased by the media's reports when they reached their verdict, I find it hard to believe that none of them were persuaded by the reports that bombarded the papers and the screens in the U.S.

Even my town paper had a front cover story about a man in our town who believed in Pam Smart's innocence. He believed in her so much that he had a license plate on his car stating FREE P.S.. The story also went into detail of how he and Pam correspond from her prison cell. This man also bought Pam a $60.00 dress to wear to her appeal hearings because she asked him to buy it for her.

In closing, I'm not saying that I believe that Pam Smart is innocent of what she has been charged with. I actually believe that she is guilty. But I am saying is that in this case, and others, the media have gone to far in reporting the news. The rights of the innocent were taken away when Greg Smart was murdered, but we need not use that situation for profit through the media. There is a fine line dividing news from sensationalism. I believe that this country spends its time fueling the fire of sensationalism rather than reporting the news.

Husson Has a Volleyball Team?

By Kim Tate '93

Did you know that Husson has a volleyball team? I didn't think so, seeing as our team consists of only six players. What happened to the fourteen people who showed up at our first meeting? Where are you? We really need your participation.

To start off our season, we traveled to our first tri-meet at Thomas College on September 14. We lost to Thomas and UMFK, but we beat Unity. Pretty good, don't you think? Actually, it really didn't matter, seeing as we were playing with only five players. It was quite depressing to win that game and have to forfeit it, because it took us almost a whole season last year to even win one game.

If you play any sport, you will understand how I feel right now. I play this sport because I love it and I want to. I know you can't force anyone to participate, but I'm sure there have got to be a few volleyball players out there or just someone who is willing to try and learn the game.

Basically, in the future volleyball at Husson will be non-existent. That's a sad thought. As Pam Hennessey stated at our Athletic Meeting, all the teams put together are a big family. We should stick together and help support each other.

Well, where was everyone on September 14 while we were at Thomas or on September 17 when we were at Unity? We were only an hour away, if that, and your support would have really encouraged us. Another thing that bothered our team was that we were not even mentioned at this meeting. (And yes, the four of us, at that time, did attend). I know volleyball isn't a big sport at Husson, but for those of us who weren't gifted enough or talented enough to play basketball, soccer, or softball (and believe me, if I could, I would), volleyball is "our" sport, and it would kill us to see it die.

I'm not trying to say it's all the students' fault because I believe the Athletic Administration should help us build up this sport. Besides, we only had two practices before our tri-meet, and how early was the soccer team here practicing for their games before classes started? Why couldn't the few volleyball players we had have been here early practicing for our first game?

Again, it comes down to the fact that volleyball is not an "important" sport to the college, but it is extremely important to myself and the rest of the team.

Please, if you have any interest at all, come see me in 510C or come to our practices which are M-W at 5:30 and Friday at 5:30. We will welcome anyone willing to give it their best shot in the hopes of helping this team grow.

Volley Folley
By J. Loguercio

This editorial is being written to bring attention to what I consider the poor quality of the system by which intramural sports is run. The one intramural sport in particular that I wish to mention is the volleyball program. Just recently a group of people who wanted to play were denied the right to play. The excuse was given that the deadline had gone by and that the rosters and schedules had already been made. I found out through some research that the so called "roster" didn't make any difference because several of the already existing teams had players on them that were not on the roster. So, in fact, the team that wanted to play was denied their chance, for no apparent reason.

Another problem with the system is the sign up sheets that were distributed in the dormitory floors. The sheets said, and I quote, "If you want to play intramural volleyball sign up here." If that statement was true then why didn't the people that did sign up get a chance to play? It did not say that you had to have 6 people sign up to play. The individuals that were denied play were told that the reason that they didn't get to play was that they didn't have 6 people on their list, therefore the list was not submitted. If the list had said, which it didn't, that 6 people were necessary to allow anyone on the floor to play the people might have had a chance to react sooner. But due to a nondescriptive and insufficient sign up sheet, people missed out. Another problem was in the already existing teams that were supposed to be made by the people in charge. The problem is that there were up to 12 people on one team, which didn't allow anyone to have a decent amount of playing time. Besides this problem the games that were supposed to go to a score of either 15 or 21 points were only allowed to run for 10 minutes apiece. This doesn't allow fair competition between teams, because the winning team can, in essence, win the game by holding onto the ball.

In my opinion, the whole system needs restructuring to satisfy the students, not the people in charge.

Next week I will offer some suggestions that the organizers may take into consideration to improve their program. If you have any opinions or comments concerning this issue, please give them to The Spectator office, which is located in the Newman Gymnasium.

FROM THE EDITOR
Special Thanks!

During last week's layout of The Spectator, our layout/design editor, Valerie Tefts, was out of town and unable to help with the finishing touches of the paper. Therefore, the rest of the staff had to pull double duty and try to fill her shoes to complete the layout. We all found out that is not an easy thing to do. We all knew she does a lot, but never realized the full extent of her duties as layout/design editor.

Also helping out with the layout that day were Karen Gordon and Lisa Hand, from the Public Relations Office. Karen and Lisa both devoted an enormous amount of time that Friday to layout, and we never would have gotten the paper completed without them. The whole Spectator Staff would like to extend a special thanks to both Karen and Lisa !! We really appreciated your help when we needed it most! I would like to personally thank the rest of The Spectator Staff for pulling together and putting in the extra effort when Valerie and I needed you most. Thanks again to all!

Sincerely,

Mentor Program
By Mark White, Resident Life Coordinator

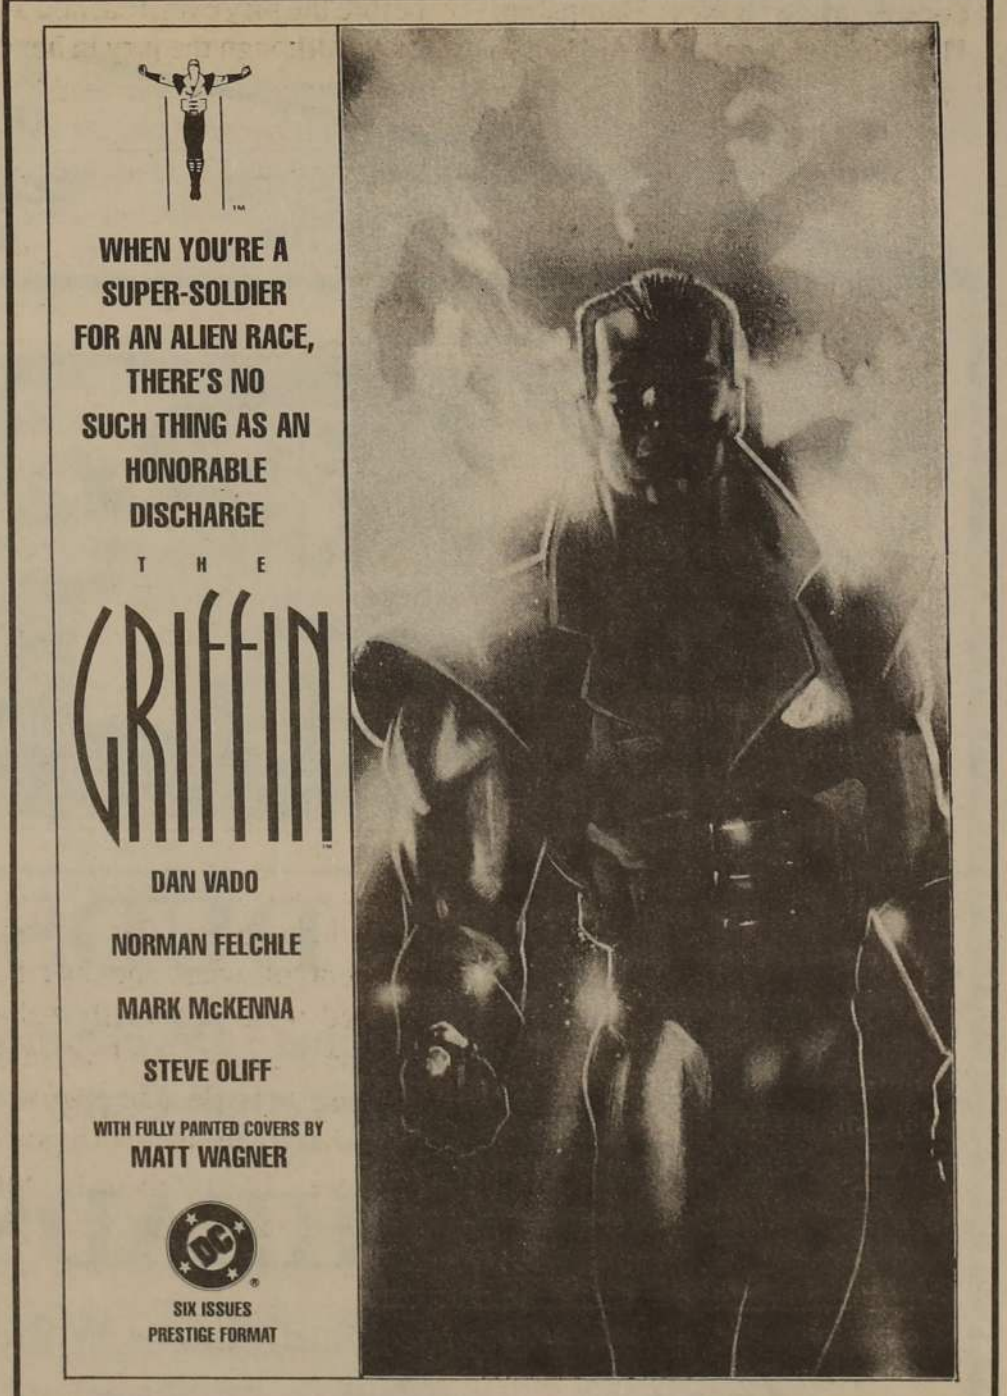

This year's freshman class is involved in a new and exciting program that is designed to help them adjust both socially and academically to the transition between high school and college. This program, The Freshmen Mentor Program, is designed to offer the faculty/staff mentor and the student with the means to interact and develop relationships that would otherwise not be possible through the traditional classroom settings and interactions.

Along with keeping in contact with the section, the mentor will play an important part in coordinating social and educational section activities. This program is very fortunate to have eight faculty/staff members who have volunteered some time to spend in the residence halls with the freshmen.

Resident Assistants also are a key part in this program. They serve as a contact person for the mentors and play an integral part in assisting the mentors.

Each freshman section has an allowance of funds that the mentors and the Resident Assistants can use to provide activities that allow the mentors and students to spend time together in a social atmosphere. The mentors and freshmen are encouraged to work together to find an activity that all find interesting and fun.

If there is any faculty/staff member who is interested in becoming a mentor, he or she should contact Mark White or see one of the mentors: President Beardsley, Steve Belyea, Dr. Christanna Cook, Gene Hamm, John Hunnefeld, Dr. James Lowe, Jewell Pierce, and Ken Vogt. The faculty/staff are encouraged to work in teams.

The Positive Power of Humor

By Ann Ellis, Chairperson of Nursing

Now that classes are in full swing and exams and papers are imminent, I'd like to quote some "Treetisms" from Maurice Q Zany's (Herb MacNaughton's) "Zany Dictionary:"

☞ I never liked a man I didn't meet: one of the more obvious quotations of Roger Wills.

☞ In one end and out the udder: a cow.

☞ No mews is good news: when the last free kitten is given away.

☞ Put the carte before the horse: A man trying to teach his horse to read a menu.

☞ Head in the clouds: An outhouse on Mt. Everest.

☞ Take one's breath away: the slogan of a health spa.

If your friend or roommate is down in the dumps (or up in the attic) a humorous card can help. How about getting a blank card, drawing on it, and making up your own saying. Here are a few that may get you started.

☞ Every minute your mouth is turned down you lose sixty seconds of happiness.

☞ If at first you don't succeed, you're running about average.

☞ If the opposite of "pro" is "con," what is the opposite of "progress?"

☞ When they run you out of town, get out in front and make it look like a parade.

☞ Smoking is one of the leading causes of statistics.

☞ Don't worry about growing old. The alternative is depressing.

Speaking of growing old, ever felt like you are when you take a test and can't remember those answers? A former college president wrote these lines:

☞ Three things age does to you

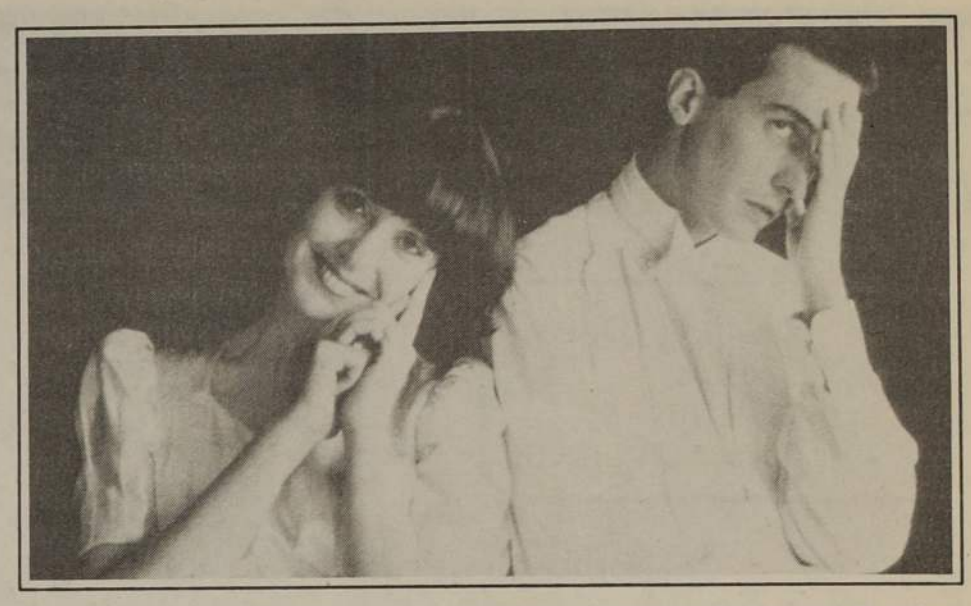

☞ First you forget who's who

☞ That's not so bad

☞ What makes me sad is

☞ I can't recall the next two!

Humor can help us stay young at heart, in mind, and spirit. Remember, never retire your sense of humor.

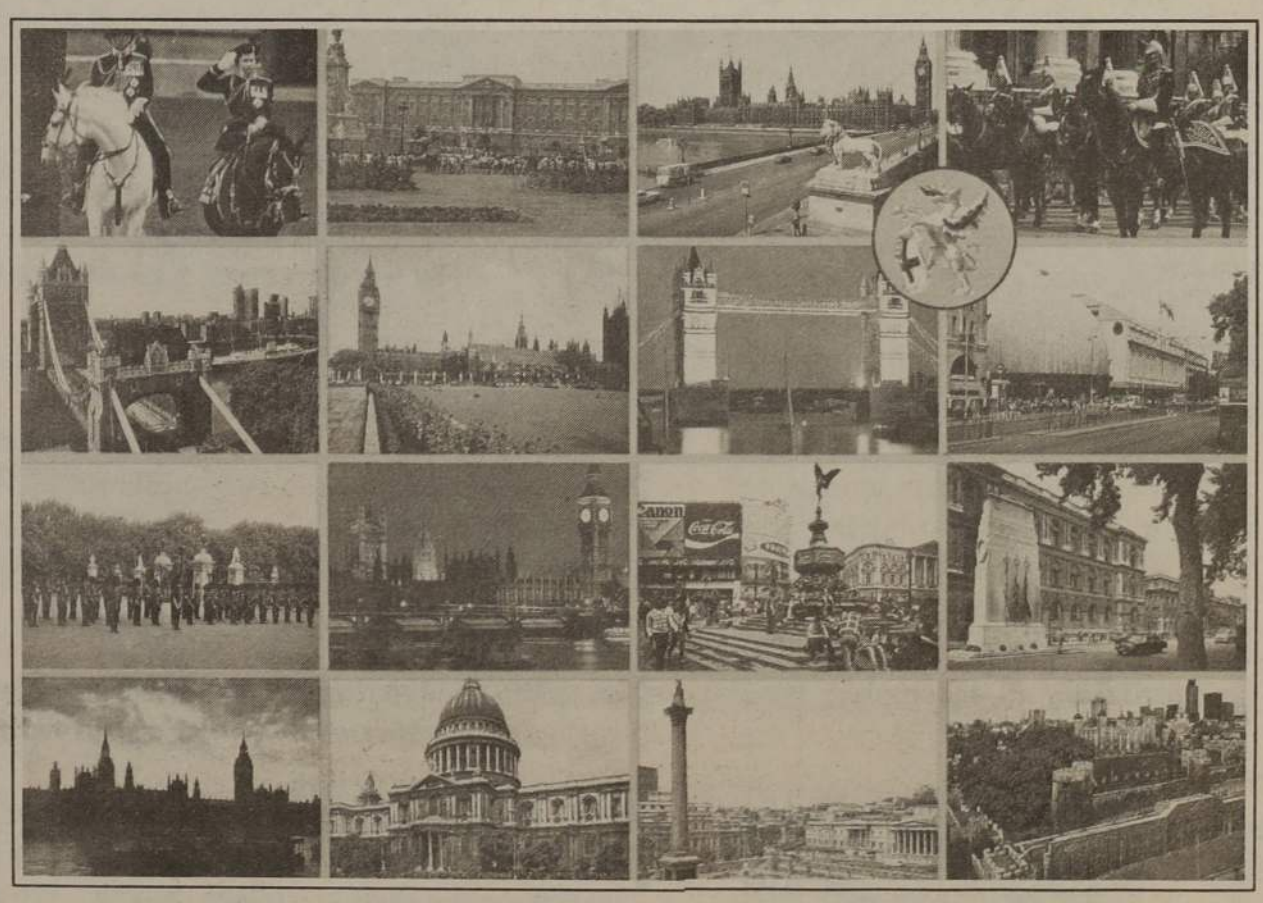

M. Marguerite Mathews and Gregory Gathers, from the Pontine Movement Theater, created an excellent dramatic and visual theatrical presentation on Body Language recently at Husson College. Mathews and Gathers relayed the importance of body language and its hidden meanings, as they relate to job interviews.

Explore England for Under $1,000.

By Mark White, Resident Life Coordinator

Mark White, Resident Life Coordinator, is beginning to organize a group of students, faculty, and staff whom may be interested in spending nine days during Spring Break in London, England.

The trip is sponsored through Cultural Heritage Alliance (CHA). CHA is a company that specializes in educational group travel and caters to the needs of groups by offering complete foreign travel packages. These packages include round-trip airfare, first-class hotel accommodations, breakfast and dinner daily, tour guides, and deluxe motorcoaches. These packages also include special programs and day trips in and around the destination area.

The package that is being offered centers on London and it's main attractions. Guided tours will include Westminster Abbey, Big Ben and Parliament, Number 10 Downing Street, Hyde Park, the Changing of the Guard at Buckingham palace, and Trafalgar Square. There will also be plenty of free time to explore places like Westminster Cathedral, St. Paul's Cathedral, the National Gallery, Harrod's Department Store, the original Hard Rock Cafe, and the British Museum. Two nights of theater performances in London's West End are also included.

Included in this package are three trips outside of London. Two of these trips are full-day while one is a half-day. The half-day trip is to Windsor and Eton. While in Windsor the group will visit Windsor Castle which was built in the 12-century and is the weekend home of the Royal Family. Eton will offer the group a chance to see Runnymede, the site where King John signed the Magna Carta in 1215. The first full-day trip will be to Winchester, Salisbury, and Stonehenge. The second full-day trip will be to Oxford and Stratford-Upon-Avon. The group will visit Britain's oldest university town and then visit the birthplace of William Shakespeare.

The cost of the trip is $937.00. This is a guaranteed price if postmarked by November 1st (subtract $50.00 if the tour participant is under 21 years of age at the time of trip). After November 1st, the price is subject to rise five to ten per cent. A group of six is needed in order to book the group on this tour. Not included in the final price are lunches, passport fees and spending money.

The tentative dates of the trip are March 2nd to March 10th. The group will leave Boston on March 2nd and arrive in London on the 3rd. March 3rd to March 9th will be spent in and around London and then fly home on March 10th.

Those who are interested in the trip should contact Mark White in 303 Hart Hall as soon as possible.

Men's Soccer

By Michael Haggerty

The Husson Men's Soccer Team's current record is 4-3-1 as of September 23rd. Our season started on August 30, and our preseason started on August 17 with the first 9 days in Lubec, Maine.

Our preseason morning training consisted of running many miles on sandy beaches, tarred and gravel roads, and trails in Quoddy State Park (the most easterly point of the U.S.). After the morning runs we had a session on the Lubec High School field and then two more later in the day. Nights were spent sleeping on gym mats in the Home Economics room and cooking our meals there as well.

By the end of the week there were a few injuries but, the team was starting to come together pretty well. Between sessions (or when we took a couple of sessions off) we kept busy by raking blueberries, having a lobster dinner, digging for clams, having a bonfire on a beach, exploring the Maine coastline, being treated to a cookout by some local friends of the team, and of course, freshmen initiation.

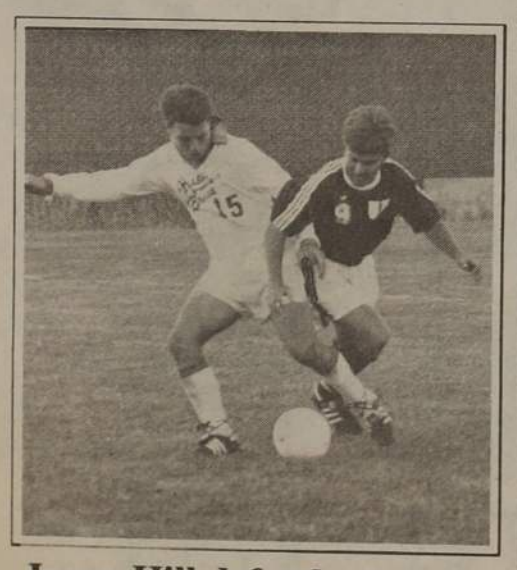

The following week of preseason was back here at Husson College. The team was prepared for the season, and so far it has a winning record.

On September 21, Husson defeated the University of New England 3-1. The next day, the team lost to an alumni team at Homecoming 8-5.

Jason Hill, a freshman from Bangor, Maine, has been named player of the week for NAIA, District V.

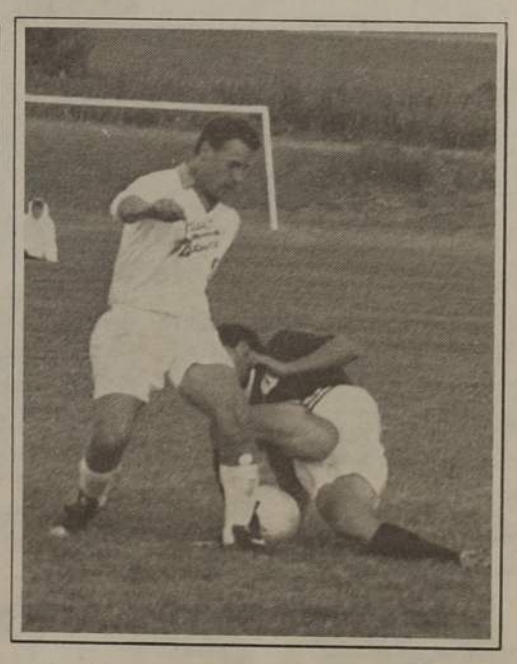

Our remaining season consists of:

October 1 Unity College
October 5 UM Fort Kent
October 6 UM Presque Isle
October 9 at UM Machias
October 12 at St. Joseph's College
October 15 at USM
October 22 at Maine Maritime Academy
October 24 at Unity College
October 26 at Thomas College

Husson's Whiting New Softball Coach

By Joni Averill

It's a busy season at Husson College for new head softball coach Shannon Whiting and her team.

Whiting assumed the head coaching responsibilities after athletic director Pam Hennessey stepped aside to devote her full attention to that position. Whiting has served as Hennessey's assistant since 1986.

Pleased to reach a personal goal by becoming a collegiate head coach, Whiting is also happy, she said, "because I have a great bunch of women to work with."

As the new head softball coach, she plans to keep the program as it is, believing Hennessey had Husson softball heading in the right direction.

"Our goal is to be in the district playoffs and to win the district," Whiting said. "We have a lot of returnees, and they have the same goal they would have had with Pam."

Twenty-four women have come out for softball, including walk-ons. Whiting said the number will probably settle, by natural attrition, to about 20. Currently the team is in study halls four nights a week and will play an intrasquad scrimmage in October.

In the meantime, Whiting and her team members are working hard to raise the necessary funds to take them to Florida next spring.
