HUSSON LEDGER

OCTOBER, 1954 | HUSSON COLLEGE, BANGOR, MAINE | VOLUME 29, NO. 1

President's Column

As I enter into my 29th year as your President, I feel that all is well and God is good.

The reason I say all is well is that the freshman class is a healthy and lusty baby newly added to the Husson "family" and that it has already found itself at home and enjoying the experience. Another reason I say that all is well is that my health was never better and that I anticipate putting in a busy year, most of it for the progress of our college into new areas of interest and action from which will be subtracted a few days now and then to study the ducks as they migrate southward and to lay in the winter's supply of venison.

My dad used to say that "getting off on the right foot was half the battle." He was more than half-right, I think. That is if we may judge by experience—and in 28 years one sees and learns much of life. Most school failures are a result of poor starts, the result of not getting off the line at the signal. Each delayed study hour or assignment when school is getting under way brings about serious pressures on time when it is needed to meet the increasing demands of more and more advanced study assignments. One must begin to work when work starts. It's a simple law of life, yet unlearned by many. He who boasts that he hasn't "cracked a book" for a week (strictly a student expression) is a sad case of misdirection and immaturity. Sad because both money and time are squandered, and of these, time is most valuable by far. One should never boast, especially of his shortcomings. A non-conformist in this area is decidedly out of place and poise.

Happily I see signs of diligence and application. As I enter the auditorium I find this large room quiet and dignified with students busy at their tasks. Those with social ambitions, the gregarious members of both the freshman and upper classes, seem to be exercising proper decorum and to not disturb those busy at their tasks. This is good, and I welcome and applaud it. I pray that it will continue, and I have the feeling that it will. Husson people have a way of making me feel proud of them, and it remains one of the many joys which attach themselves to my position over the years. Of course there are a few who forget to clean the table after eating, but they are but a few, and even they may be shamed into remembering their obligations and duties before long.

I'm fond of my Ba 10 class which accepts my contributions courteously and permits me to meet most of the new students regularly.

There isn't a Communist amongst them. We are agreed on all the ideals of the American way of life that we have discussed to date. People such as these have the stuff of which success is made, and all of us who face them daily will challenge and help them to be a credit to their families, their communities, and their country.

It was a real pleasure to welcome back the entire faculty, and to have Mr. Delmont Merrill become a full-time instructor and coach. Each member has served faithfully and well. I call them my "seasoned troops" and Husson College will find increased need of their experience and participation as the student body grows rapidly in the immediate years ahead. These instructors have much to give each student, and my advice is that each one drink deeply of each cup that is prepared for him as he enters the classrooms of his choice.

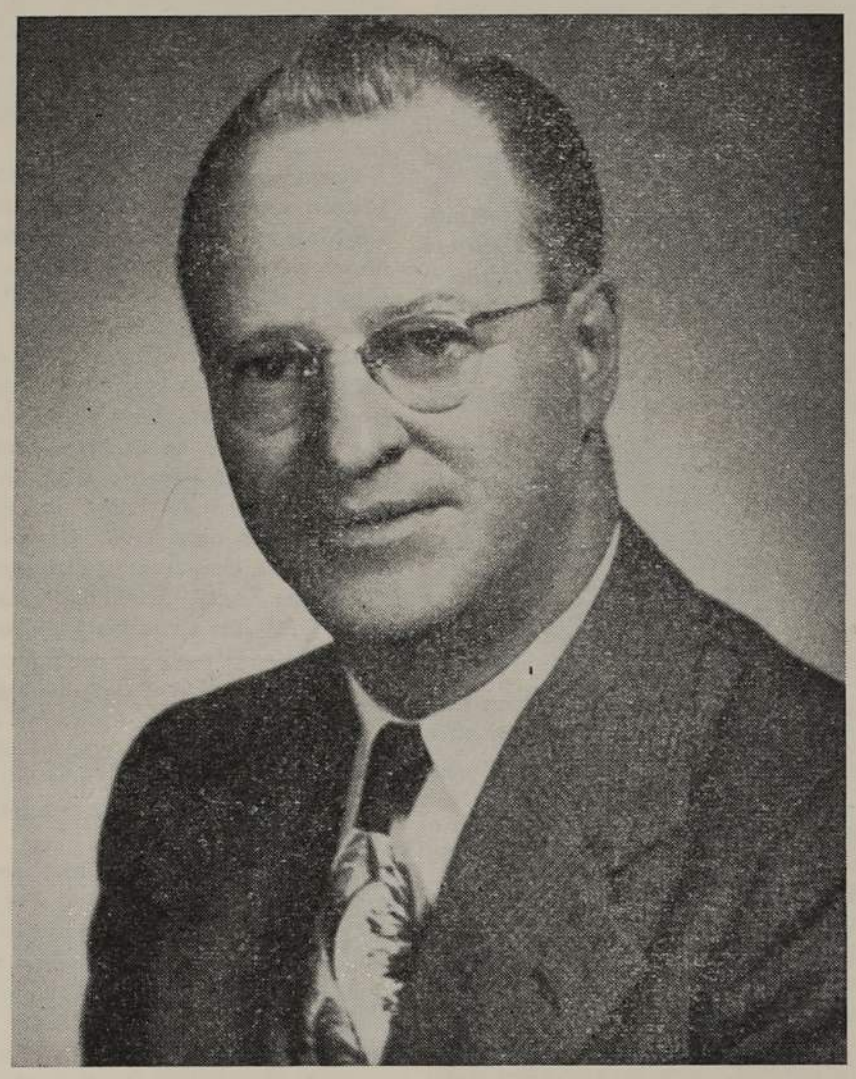

My wishes are known to you all. We who direct you and lead you have a common philosophy of life and of education, so that all that is needed is the full cooperation of the student body in its march to a goal. We will strive together for academic, social, and spiritual growth. These are the things that have inspired the great men of all ages, and will never become old-fashioned. A life without God in it is incomplete indeed. So let's look—listen—and then do. Please accept my good wishes for a busy and happy year here at Husson, and remember that the knob on my office door keeps its polish when friends make use of it.

I am always happy to share your problems with you—and to learn where you or your Dad do your hunting and fishing.

Cordially, "CHIEF"

It's Good To Be Back

Plugging at the books again, huh? That's the question I was asked by a friend of mine. Yes, it's time to get back to studying again as I have looked forward to returning after a summer of work and recreation. It is in these pleasant surroundings among amiable friends that I have been able to put my mind to work learning the fundamentals of a good business education.

Here at Husson, it is not all work, for indeed, there are many and varied activities which the student may encounter. Let us look at these activities. We have the Men's AA which helps to set up the various sporting activities for the men, we have the Men's Fraternities, the Future Teachers Club, the Girls' Sorority, and the Girls' Athletic Council. All of these help to build sound physical bodies, sound social ideals, and sound character.

Those of us who are not veterans sort of have the breaks by not having to attend study periods, thus leaving those periods free to pay a visit to the student store or to get into a little clique and have a real old fashioned jam session. If you are ever around the group of boys that I fall in with, you can almost always hear us arguing out some particular point of accounting.

This year the veterans' study halls have been moved to the gym which gives them the chance to go to the student store and get something to eat. It also gives them the chance to stretch their legs by moving about.

One of the most outstanding things this year is the fact that the boys outnumber the girls two to one. What happened—last year they outnumbered us. It seems as though some of the boys are putting up a kick, too many boys and not enough girls.

One thing that impresses me is that, in this school, everything seems to be very informal, and the teachers and students engage in the school activities on an even basis by participating equally.

These are my impressions of Husson College. It is all of these thoughts which will remind me in the years to come of an institution which has helped to teach me a way of sound social ideals, and sound knowledge. These are my impressions as an old timer here, what are yours?

A Frosh Speaks

After much debating as to what college I would like to go to, I chose Husson College through the V.A. Center at Togus, then came to see President Husson in April of 1953. He talked to me and encouraged me to come here. After I finished my talk with President Husson, I was leaving the school as a class was coming downstairs. I saw a lot of the students—all happy-go-lucky and talking about their classes. By then, I really had the fever and could hardly wait for September 8 to pull around.

I arrived in Bangor on the sixth of September but didn't get to meet any students until the night of the seventh. The following morning, the eighth of September, five of us fellows who are living together came to school to register. It was very crowded and everyone seemed to be excited. That morning was hectic. Everyone was running here and there not knowing where they were going or what to do. There were some teachers here who introduced themselves and welcomed all of us to Husson in a way which gave us a big lift. Our lockers were assigned us, also, and what a time some of the students had opening theirs, banging heads together, dropping books and all! I noticed there were some upper classmen here helping the freshmen register, open lockers, and find the front door. (They must have gone through this once because they seemed to know all the short-cuts). They were very friendly and gave the college a big build-up.

The night of the eighth a square dance was given for the freshmen. Refreshments were served, and a lot of us learned new dances from Mr. and Mrs. William Bennett who are exceptionally good teachers. Most of us fellows were anxious to meet all the girls we could and find out about them. We didn't do too badly, either!!

The morning of the ninth we came to school prepared to take an aptitude test and learn our way around the various rooms. We had an assembly and met Mrs. Miller and President Husson. They explained a lot to us which was very helpful. We also met Mr. Cupp and did a little singing. As the morning came to an end we were excused and were invited to the President's Reception which was to be held that night.

Most of us came back in the evening and met all the faculty and their husbands or wives, and a lot more students. The evening was a friendly get-together which I believe was enjoyed by both the faculty and students. The girls all looked swell and some of us fellows served a lot of punch that night, some by request and some with hopes of getting to know certain girls.

Friday morning, the tenth, found us at school with more—you guessed it—TESTS. The morning went fast, though, and we were excused for the weekend.

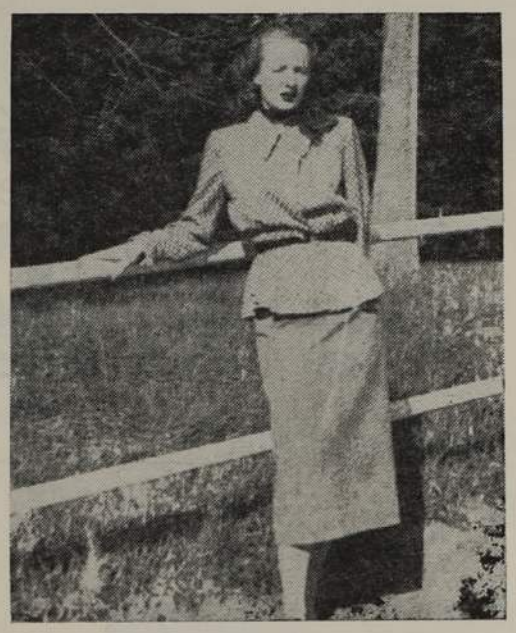

I came back to school Monday afternoon, the thirteenth, for short classes and met my instructors again. By then, I knew my studying had begun. It was quite a letdown to many of us for it meant no more week nights out. (Believe me, that is more than the truth. I've forgotten what a movie is like in the middle of the week. It does have some advantages—I don't spend any money. If I did, I would have to bum cigarettes the rest of the week!!)

Seriously though, I was glad to get started after having heard so many comments in favor of Husson College. It is hard to settle down after having been out of school four years, but they say even the thick-headed can be taught something sometimes. Here's hoping that is true!

I'm already looking forward to Fridays and our vacations.

Latvian Girl Happy

Miss Inara Mednis, formerly of Latvia, is now one of our favored students.

Miss Mednis is enrolled in the Special Course. She attended the Evening Session last year, and Summer School. She is studying biology, shorthand, typewriting, penmanship, English, business orientation.

Inara speaks several languages—German, Latvian, English, Russian, Latin, and French.

Miss Mednis' father is a famous Latvian physician, now on the staff of the Bangor State Hospital.

Inara was graduated from a high school in Germany, American Zone, in 1949. She studied nursing for a year in Germany.

She lived for a time in Detroit, Michigan, where she attended Comptometer School. It is the rumor that she was outstanding in basketball and softball, having captained both teams.

She has a brother behind "The Iron Curtain." The family has not seen him since 1944 and received the last letter from him in 1947.

She has one sister who is a freshman at Bangor High School. Her hobbies are skiing and skating.

We here feel that Inara is an outstanding addition to the Husson family. We who have lived here in the "good" world should give her a royal welcome.

Her grades indicate that she is an outstanding student. She is a beautiful girl and has a striking personality.

Husson College students and faculty wish you a most happy year here, Inara, and the very best in life always.

The old Chevrolet puffed up and came to a rattling halt at the toll bridge. "Sixty-five cents," said the bridge-keeper. "Sold!" cried Mr. Foss, jumping out.

Al Philbrook: "Something is preying on my mind."

Mr. Foss: "Don't worry, it will soon die of starvation."

Phil Gerow: "How do you like bathing beauties."

"Spook": "Can't tell, I never bathed any."

MEN WANTED

There are many men at Husson who sing and sing well. There are others who could if they would but try.

The Glee Club needs more men. It asks that you visit one rehearsal, join in, and if you like it, sign up for the year.

It's fun with Mr. Cupp directing. The rewards are worth the effort and the school benefits immensely.

So, men, think it over, and start a line outside Room 11, Wednesday at 2:00 p. m. See you there!

With Our Beginning Teachers

Two of the 1954 graduates of Husson are serving on the home front. "Del" Merrill has taken over the coaching of the Boys' Varsity and is a full-time instructor in the Department of Secretarial Science. He handles Advanced Typewriting, Transcription and Men's Physical Education class. All the Husson students and faculty wish him the best of luck with the boys.

Mrs. Barbara Briggs Higgins is teaching in the Evening School Division. She is handling Advanced Dictation, Business Machines and Filing. During the regular working day she is employed by Briggs Beverage Co. As a sideline she keeps Don happy and fed. Seems to be quite a program for a beginning teacher.

A third member of the class is teaching locally. Janet Kinney is teaching Beginning and Advanced Shorthand and Secretarial Practice at John Bapst High School. She is planning to fill one of the Girls' Coaching positions at a nearby high school—a later report on that. The newest thing with Janet is her new two-tone Plymouth!!

Down on the coast Mary Lawrence and Lorraine Crabtree are neighbors. Mary is teaching at Mt. Desert High and has the honor of holding three classes, Typing I, Typing II, and Secretarial Practice, the same hour. Mary attended the Typing Institute in a new Chrysler, 4-door, with all the trimmings—a beautiful 2-tone blue job. She'll surely give Miss Swan the air when she passes her on the road now! "Crab" is installed at Pemetic High in Southwest Harbor. She just "loves" it. We all know the students must think Crab's one of the best. She's chaperoning already! Oh yes—she's the Girls' Basketball Coach. Good luck, Crab, may you beat all but Husson!

Down coastwise we find Bernard Gray at Eastport. Maybe he's fishing or seining on the side. We have had no direct word from him. Bernard, get on the ball and let us know how things are with you. Perhaps he is so busy he can't tell where the time goes.

Turning about face and heading west we stop at Clinton to find Betty Chandler doing a fine job there. She has a new blue 4-door Plymouth and Bucksport and Bangor are right handy. A couple of weeks ago two fellers squeezed Betty real hard—the catch being—she was in her car and it was badly damaged. But the little blue car will be 100 per cent by the time you read this.

Continuing in that direction we find Timothy at Farmington, Mr. Mayo, that is. Tim was at the Typing Institute and reported that "He never had it so good!" He will be Varsity Basketball Coach and can hardly wait. We here at Husson wish you a most victorious season, Tim. He also likes all his classes and students.

Not so far beyond Farmington is a pretty little town of Wilton. At Wilton Academy Patty Robbins is holding forth. She is so busy that she has a difficult time to keep up her correspondence. She has two busy periods—Typing II and General Business and Occupations and Typing I. This is known as double duty. All in all, she's most happy and likes her rotating schedule very much. (Confidentially, two new men teachers want to take Typing I, too!)

Just branching off to the West, we find Dottie Crane happily settled down in Berwick. She likes all her classes and cherubs and hasn't said "ain't" once. She's pretty lonesome though. The Blue Kaisers give her a blue feeling. They have an outstanding Girl's Track team at Berwick.

Not too far away is Solon. Barbara Greeley is in full charge of the Business Education. She gets home once in awhile. She likes it very much and is looking forward to basketball time. She hasn't had much time to write, but Barb, dig up a few minutes.

Robert Hopkins is serving with the U. S. Army. His address is: Pvt. Robert Hopkins, U. S. 51247903, A Battery 879th F A B4, Class 12, Ft. Dix, New Jersey. He may enjoy hearing from his fellow students.

F. T. A. PRESIDENT

The first meeting of F. T. A. was held under the direction of the sponsor, Mr. Husson. At this meeting, Diana Wyman of Winn was elected as president. She filled the vacancy caused by Donald Higgins, who was unable to assume his duties this fall. Patricia Newcomb was elected the Student Council representative.

At the second meeting Patricia Newcomb, state president of F. T. A., gave a talk on her trip this summer to the National Convention in Washington, D. C., Albany, and New York.

GLEE CLUB

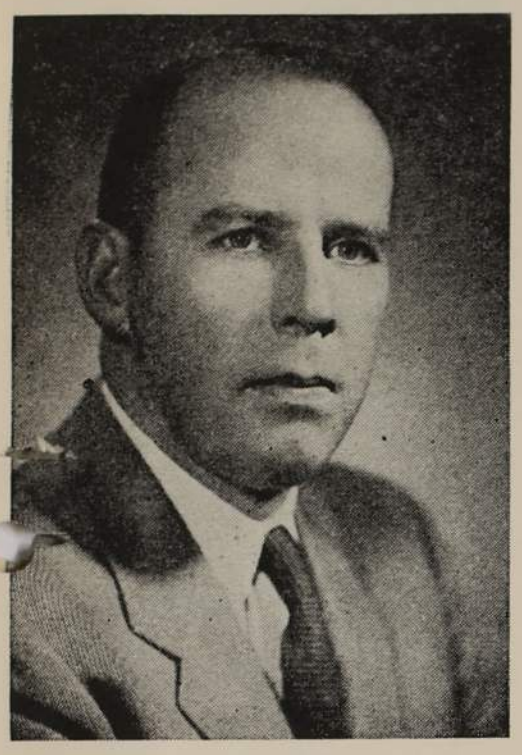

The first meeting of the Glee Club was held on September 29th. There were thirty-seven persons attending this first meeting with the majority of people being girls.

There was an election for a new secretary held with Miss Sue Kimball assuming this office. Plans for a Thanksgiving assembly were started.

There are hopes that when other students learn about the group there will be an increase in its membership. Come on boys, let's not let the girls show us up.

The Glee Club is under the able direction of Mr. William Cupp and meets at two o'clock on every Wednesday.

STUDENT COUNCIL

President ..... Rinette Levesque
Vice-President ..... William Quinn
Secretary ..... Donna Thibeau
Treasurer ..... Philip Gerow
Store Manager ..... Donald Preble

Student Council is one of the leading activities in school. It is comprised of many of last year's members as follows: Rinette Levesque, William Quinn, Donna Thibeau, Philip Gerow, Donald Preble, Diana Wyman, Jeanette Grindle, Gerald McInnis, George Morse, Harriet Lunt Eaton, George Fenno, Daniel Hastings, Janice Gray, Thelma Sennett, Nancy Smith, Paula Kelleher, Raynald Martin, David Huff, Ralph Look, Clarence Thompson, Patricia Newcomb, Benjamin Blodget, and Larry Stanchfield.

In November there will be a "General Election" for all students interested in this activity. Mr. Curran is the adviser for this group, and never a day goes by that you don't see Mrs. Lowe's smiling face beaming over the counter at the student store, where she makes those "delicious sandwiches."

Student Council has charge of the store and sponsors many of the dances. On October 20, in Commerce Hall the Student Council will hold a "Halloween Ball" with Hal Burril's orchestra. We hope to see everyone there.

We are looking forward to many new faces to join this organization so we hope that anyone interested will try out in November.

READY TO TAKE ON THE BOSS

Salesman: "I've been trying to see you all week. When may I have an appointment?"

Executive: "Make a date with my Secretary."

Salesman: "I did, and we had a swell time, but now I want to see you."

Mother rabbit to her small child: "A magician pulled you out of a hat—now stop asking questions!"

TYPEWRITING INSTITUTE

A typewriting institute was held at Husson College Saturday, September 25, 1954 at which Mrs. Marion Wood of Nahant, Mass., one of the leading business educators in New England was the principal speaker.

President Chesley H. Husson welcomed the group and greetings were brought by Frank Vadas, sales representative of the International Business Machines company.

Mrs. Wood spoke on the electric typewriter as a teaching instrument and also spoke of the ease with which the change can be made by the typist from manual to electric typewriters. During the day she gave demonstrations utilizing six IBM electric typewriters.

The International Business Machines company entertained the group at luncheon after which Mrs. Wood discussed proven classroom drill for typewriter and transcriptions and answered questions on typewriting problems.

Miss Thelma Watson, director of the typewriting program at Husson, was in charge of the institute.

Among those attending the institute were: Dorothy E. Wooster, Stockton Springs High School; Ralph L. Bickford, Besse High, Albion; Shirley Cook, Oakfield High; Millard E. Foss, Husson College; Ruth E. Wishart, Howland High School; Alfred L. Philbrook, Guilford; C. L. Swan, T. M. Watson, D. M. Merrill, Husson College; Lorraine Crabtree, Pemetic High, Southwest Harbor; Harland L. Dunham, Calais High School; Madeline M. Hall, Newport High School; Raymond Thibodeau, Brooks.

GRADUATE OPENS OFFICE

Ray Nickerson of Belfast has opened his own accounting office in Belfast and has quite an interesting start. His business will grow. He is also teaching Introductory Accounting in the Husson Evening School.

Mrs. Miller: "What part of the car causes the most accidents?"

Larry Richards: "The nut that holds the wheel!"

Graduate School

Two 1954 graduates have made the big jump and entered graduate study for a Master's Degree.

Virginia "Gini" Blood is enrolled at American International College in Springfield, Massachusetts. She writes that it took her one and one-half days to register. She is studying Statistics in Psychology and Education, Guidance, Philosophy of Education, The British Novel Between the Wars, The History of the English Language, Evaluation of Current Educational Literature and Intermediate Spanish. Statistics is from 4 to 6:30 p. m.—how do you like that?

Oliver Ward is on the campus of the University of Connecticut. He writes Mrs. Miller that he is very happy and satisfied —"Dear Mrs. Miller: How are you and have you got some time to spare? I'm just wound up for fair. Bet you're busy as a beaver, just up to your neck in a million and one things. I'm getting a big bang out of school so far. OF COURSE, it doesn't compare to Husson, and we'll have to make an allowance for that. Otherwise, it's just wonderful and believe me, I sure do appreciate this opportunity.

"My courses seem to be very interesting. All courses for Master's here are twenty-four hours without and fifteen hours with thesis. All courses are electives, and we are required to take two undergraduate courses (with full graduate credit) entirely foreign to our field. I've picked the field of Sociology and I'm taking a course in Industrial Management and a course in Industrial Sociology. They have a lot in common, differing mainly in that one is materialistic and the other humanistic (bet I've misused and murdered those words). My two graduate courses are Problems of Business Education (wonderful) and Philosophy of Education (super-wonderful). All courses have two texts, outside readings, various papers from time to time, and all the other cursory details that spoil the fun.

"Next semester I'll take: (1) Organization, Administration and Supervision of Business Education, (2) Personal Problems of the Teaching Staff, (3) Inventory and Analysis of Educational Problems, (4) a 3-hour paper on some particular problem in Business Education (it looks like half a thesis to me!).

"I am contemplating summer school next summer. They have a six credit course in something along the line of Family Finance in the Business World, or something similar. All expenses of room and board are paid by one of the Connecticut insurance companies. It is a seminar-workshop course with speakers from various parts of the business world. Sounds good.

"The campus is beautiful. Although it looks smaller than the University of Maine, there are 7,000 people living here. The campus has its own radio station, four churches, a theatre, police force, fire department and God knows what else. They have built and are still building many new buildings. As far as I can find out, I'm the only full time Masters in Business Education. There are about ten or twelve taking Extension Courses in my field. Their strong fields here are Education and Psychology. . . . Please say 'Hi' to the gang . . . Sincerely, Oliver."

Pat Newcomb:: "Why do the little ink spots look blue?"

Jeanette Grindle: "Because their father's in the pen doing a long sentence."

I think that I shall never see
A gossip's column like an achorn tree.
For although both from nuts are born,
The tree has leaves—the column corn.

Administration Changes

Dean Miller

In announcing the appointment of the new dean of women, President Husson said, "We believe Mrs. Miller is eminently qualified for this position and honor. She has been on our staff for ten years, and this experience added to her personal qualifications and interest in students' personal problems, made her a natural choice for so important a function."

Mrs. Miller was born and grew up in Mississippi. She was graduated from Bethany College in West Virginia.

She is the widow of Harvey D. Miller, professor of English, Kalamazoo, Michigan. Her son, Edward, is a senior at Bowdoin College where he returned after his discharge from the armed services.

Mrs. Miller did her graduate work at the University of Maine. She began teaching in the Dexter school system as instructor of English in the high school. She then moved to Orono as instructor of English and as a critic teacher for the University of Maine.

Her affiliations are as follows: life member of the National Education Association, Association for Student Teaching, Kappa Delta, and Delta Kappa Gamma. She is now director of teacher education, social director, and adviser to the yearbook staff at Husson.

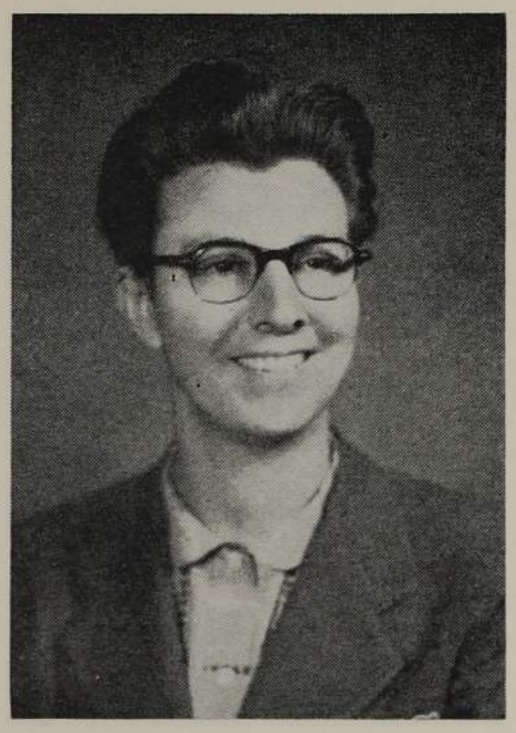

CHIT CHAT

Back to Husson College means back to the lounge for most girls. One could call the lounge the "Get Acquainted Center" for girls of Husson, where you see new faces as well as old. Even through the cloud of SMOKE girls eagerly sit to listen and get to know others.

Questions go back and forth between one another, finding out home towns, friends and relatives (and boy-friends). Very surprising, others have the same acquaintances as you.

Winnie Bailey, Thelma Sennett, and Bertha Crabtree are still running for the corners so they can LEAN back and RELAX in COMFORT!!! We still find Jeanette Grindle, Patricia Newcomb and Diana Wyman debating over movies. We often hear the familiar voice of Audrey Johnson, better known as "Gussie," with "May I borrow a cigarette?" or "Gotta light?"

Many topics are discussed in the lounge —and by the way, the subjects and teachers are never left out! Yes, the lounge is a good place for all girls to get acquainted.

New Vice President

Miss Clara L. Swan, Executive Director of Husson College and director of Summer School, was elected third vice president of the college, according to President Chesley H. Husson.

At the same time President Husson also announced the appointment of Mrs. Louise B. Miller to the post of Dean of Women.

In making the announcement of Miss Swan's election, President Husson said that "Miss Swan's fifteen years of service as instructor, department head, and as an executive, coupled with her loyalty and devotion to her students were recommendations enough for this honor which recognizes her overall contribution to the college, past and present."

She was born in Princeton, daughter of the late Andrew C. Swan. After attending Princeton elementary schools, Miss Swan was graduated from Brewer High School and Husson College. She completed her undergraduate work at American International College in Springfield, Massachusetts. She received her Master's degree from the University of Maine.

She taught in Mexico High School and Foxcroft Academy of Dover-Foxcroft before coming to Husson.

In addition to her regular tasks, she has maintained an active interest in basketball. Her success as a coach has been phenomenal judged not only by games won but by the esprit de corps of her players. She has long been a member of the Eastern Maine Board of Women Officials and served two years as its chairman.

She is adviser to the Women's Athletic Association and the Sorority, Pi Rho Zeta. She became executive director in 1947 and has been director of the Summer School since 1943. Her affiliations include memberships in the Tau Epsilon Scholastic Society, Pi Rho Zeta International Sorority E.B.T.A., M.T.A., and the U.B.E.A.

Girls' Basketball

Coach Clara L. Swan has recently issued a call for her sixteenth Husson College Girls' Basketball Squad. Coach Swan will begin her season with two veteran varsity players, Diana Wyman, a forward, and Harriet Lunt Eaton, a guard. Members of last year's JV squad reporting this year are: Thelma Sennett, Pittsfield, Janice Gray, Camden, Joan Woodbury Rice, Belfast, and Natalie Bryant, Belfast. Patricia Newcomb of Hampden with one year of college basketball will make an outstanding addition to the squad.

Mr. and Mrs. Is The Name

M. A. A. Elects Officers

The first meeting of the Men's Athletic Association was held October 5. Mr. Foss, the Faculty Adviser, presided.

The following were elected as officers: Lawrence Eaton, Ellsworth, President; Howard Hawes, Bangor, Vice-President; Howard Simpson, Sanford, Secretary; Phillip Gerow, Bucksport, Treasurer.

Lawrence Stanchfield, Milo, was elected as representative to the Student Council, and Bill Quinn, Bangor, was appointed as Assistant to the Secretary.

Discussion was held concerning Open House for Men to be held October 19 and the following were appointed to serve on the committees:

Program Committee: Benjamin Blodgett, Bucksport; Clement Poulin, Bangor; Ralph Look, Addison.

Refreshment Committee: Phillip Gerow, Bucksport; Clarence Dubois, Fort Kent; Joseph Toschi, Fort Kent; Joseph O'Brien, Bangor; Frank Dawes, Sangerville.

Edward McInnis, Bangor was appointed to make arrangements at the Bangor alleys for the bowling team.

Additions to this roster are all new faces, but important. Reporting from Mattawamkeag and an undefeated season last year are: Myrna McCafferty, a forward, and Larry Richards' sister, Constance, a guard. Hampden Academy has sent us two of its best, Sue Kimball, a hook-shot gal, and Gail Oxley, a left-hand long shot.

In our own locality we have Barbara DeBeck of Brewer, one of Lura Hoit's proteges, Jeanette LePage of John Bapst, long a CYO standout, and two Bangor High School girls, Carol Friedman and Nancy Getchell, both forwards.

Way from Aroostook County, we pick up Judith Smith of Fort Fairfield. We hope she is as outstanding as "County" potatoes. Wytopitlock has sent us a representative, Kay Rollins. She is a transfer from Gorham State Teachers College.

The coastal towns have been good to us. Damariscotta has given us Natalie Genthner, a guard at Lincoln Academy, Isadora Quimby of Islesboro, a guard, and Janie Moody of Union, a forward.

The town of Liberty has produced one Toni Livingstone, a forward.

Coach Swan extends a warm welcome to these people. Also, if there are more interested, there are enough uniforms to outfit twenty-nine players. If you are out for basketball and are faithful to practice, you will earn your Husson "H" letter.

Boiler Room Steam

Not so much steam floats out of the boiler room this year as in years past. The reason might be attributed to Veterans' study halls being held in the gym and supervision is more strict this year than before. However, some of the steam that does float around is very interesting.

There was quite a bit of steam about who would take the pennant this year. There were no black eyes acquired by anyone over the topic though.

Hunting season brings its stories about years past and the pleasant or unpleasant memories attached to them. Lately the talk has been about game wardens, their duties and what dirty "rats" they are (especially if you're caught "jacking" or hunting without a license).

Taxes class keeps the boys with plenty to talk about, because of the lack of textbooks. No breaks because the P. E. class meets in the gym at that time. Otherwise the steam would undoubtedly be heavy in the boiler room and the store's funds would undoubtedly see a marked increase in sale of coffee. Don't give up boys! Your textbooks will be here soon.

I guess it's time to close the escape valve for this time; but we'll keep you posted on events in the next issue.

Commerce Hall was filled with laughter when the annual Hobo Hop was sponsored by the Epsilon Tau Epsilon Chapter of Pi Rho Zeta International Sorority, Wednesday evening, September 29. Music was furnished by Jack McDonough and his orchestra. Nearly two hundred students enjoyed the different dances including waltzes, fox-trots, contra dances, Grand March and the Bunny Hop.

It was a surprise for everyone to find that four of the Hobos were teachers—Miss Swan, Miss Bradford, Miss Clark and Miss Watson. Prizes were awarded to these four Hobos, also to Jane Stark and Philip Gerow. The door prize, which was a Husson College jacket, was won by Loraine Ross of Bradford, Maine. Cider was sold and the Hobos went home happy.

NEW COACH

Boys' Varsity Basketball

The boys' basketball team met with our new coach, Mr. Delmont Merrill, to organize a team for this year.

Basketball today is one of our major sports and we hope the boys of Husson will take a keen interest in the teams.

At the present, practice hasn't begun, but we soon expect to see the boys limping up and down the stairs after a tiring afternoon's workout.

With some veterans returning and the new blood to set off the spark, we should have the makings of a winning team.

Good luck, Indians!
