Bankruptcy In Maine

By Stephanie Look

Thomas McGillicuddy, District Director of the Small Business Administration in Maine, spoke to a crowd of approximately 250 businessmen, faculty members, and students of Husson College at a Business Breakfast on Thursday, March 25.

Mr. McGillicuddy is a native of Maine. He attended the University of Maine, the U.S. Military Academy at West Point and received a Bachelor's degree from the University of Bridgeport.

Prior to joining the SBA in 1973, Mr. McGillicuddy was employed for 17 years in a variety of positions in private enterprise. He has also been active in several community and business-related organizations.

Since becoming District Director of SBA, Mr. McGillicuddy has been commended on several occasions for the efficiency with which his agency operates and for effectively aiding small businesses in times of crisis.

For several years now, the small business administration has been helping businesses in Maine through direct loans, loan guarantees, and surety bonds. The SBA also provides extensive management consulting services and maintains a library of management information. In addition, SCORE the Service Corpos of Retired Executives, is sponsored by SBA.

Mr. McGillicuddy spoke to the Husson crowd about small business bankruptcies. He compared Maine to the nation as a whole to see if Maine is going along with "the trend," and quoted several newspapers and magazines headlines concerning the percentage of failing businesses.

Why do businesses fail? Acording to Mr. McGillicuddy, "the interest rate is the single greatest impediment to the success of small business" and is also a major cause of bankruptcy.

Another cause is over-rating of skills and performance by the owner. Mr. McGillicuddy made an interesting point when he stated that "many times when a marriage is failing--the business is failing and vice versa."

In ending, Mr. McGillicuddy complimented the Husson Small Business Institute, a program that enables senior students to serve as consultants for local businesses, headed by Mr. Russell Eustice.

A question and answer session followed his speech.

Mitchell Holds News Conference

by Stephanie Look

Senator George J. Mitchell held a news conference in Maine on Monday, March 29, to draw attention to the impact of student cuts on Maine's students.

Senator Mitchell asked Maine's university and college presidents to describe the impact of the proposed student aid cuts on their institution, and released the results of this inquiry at the conference. Mitchell said the cuts will affect the college plans of as many as 5,000 Maine college and college bound students by the fall of 1983, and will amount to a reduction of 50 percent of the aid received in the current academic year.

"If America stands for anything, it stands for equality of opportunity, especially in education," Mitchell said. "I believe firmly that we must maintain the grant and loan program to ensure access to higher education for all."

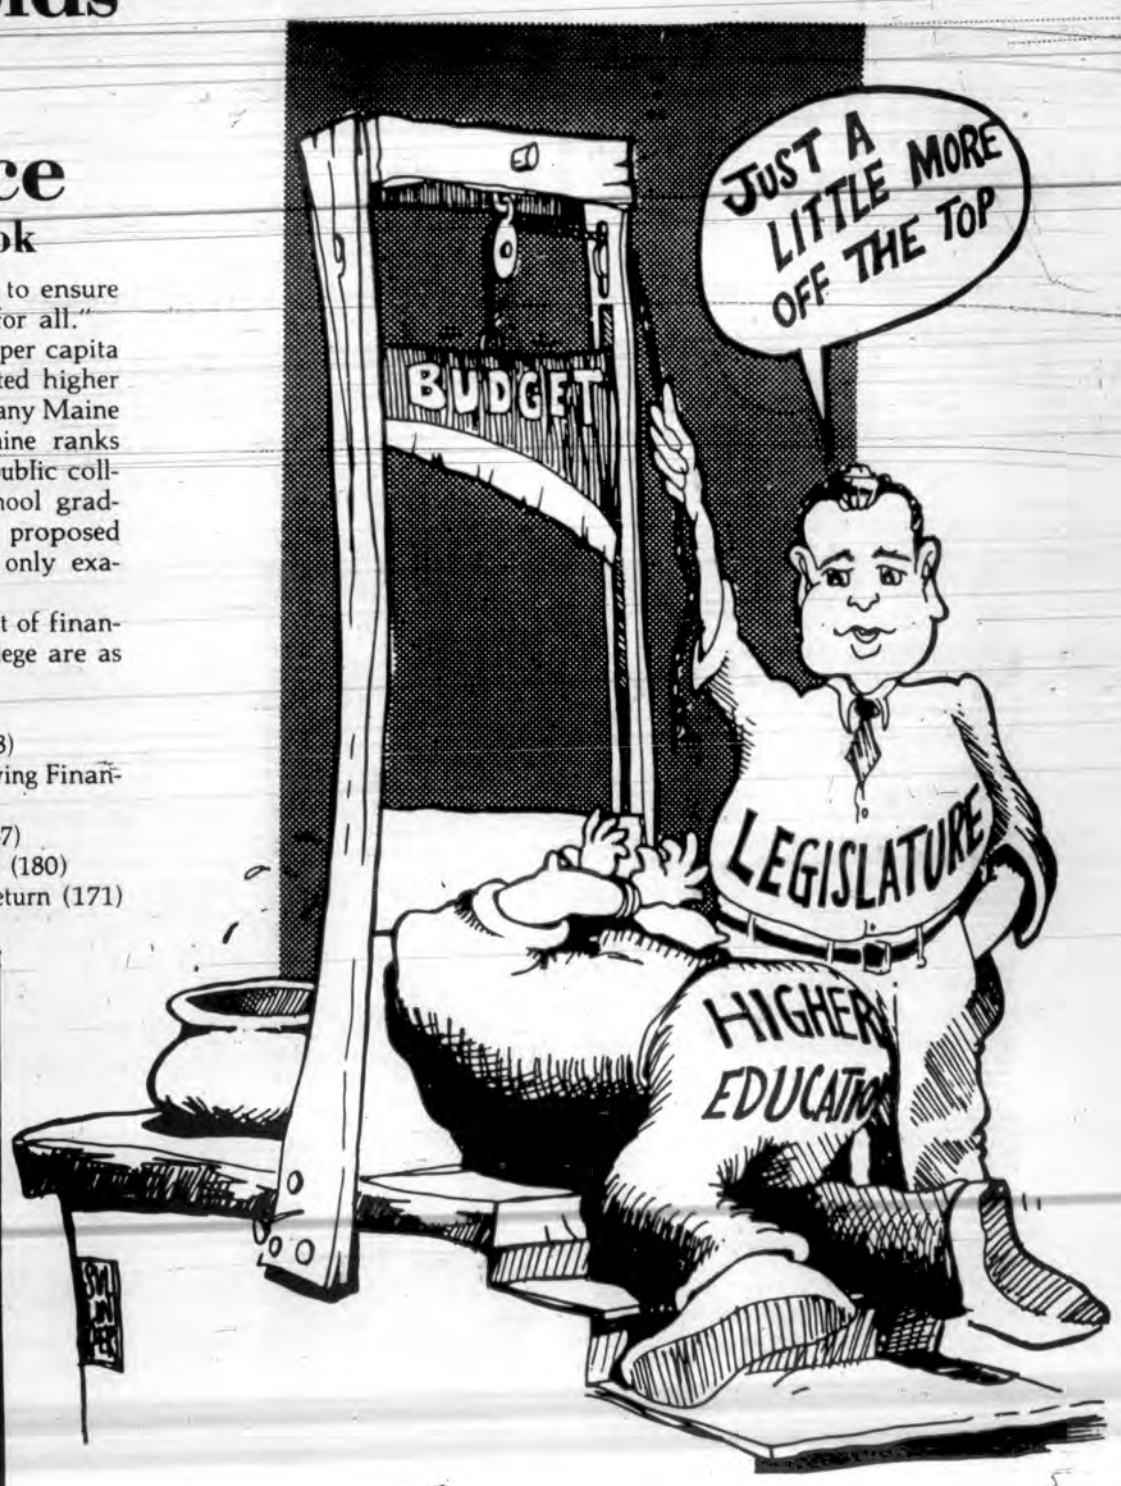

Mitchell said Maine's low per capita income has already eliminated higher education as an option for many Maine high school graduates. "Maine ranks only 48th nationally in the public college enrollment per high school graduate," Mitchell said. "The proposed cuts in financial aid would only exacerbate that trend."

The statistics of the impact of financial aid cuts on Husson College are as follows:

Enrollment (1,219)
Students from Maine (1,158)
Total No. of Students Receiving Financial Aid (723)
Maine Students on Aid (687)
Total No. unable to return (180)
Maine students unable to return (171)

Editorial

As the time for another Editorial rolls around, I quite surprisingly find myself without any serious gripes or complaints. I would, however, like to stress the importance of getting involved with Chief Week and the upcoming Student Government Elections.

Chief Week is an event that can only be enjoyed if you take part in the activities. Once you have decided which of the candidates you are going to support, join one of their committees and you'll soon discover just how important the students are to a successful and fun-filled Chief Week. A few of the committees you can join are: Fund-raising, Float, Skit, and Sports.

The only way to make yourself heard is to voice your opinion to the Student Government and your Senators. Consider the candidates carefully, decide which "team" has the most to offer you, and don't forget to VOTE! Election day is April 14, but if you don't vote, your voice cannot be heard.

To The Editor:

Dear Editor:

Please reprint this editorial written by Jack Grady in the April 3, 1980 edition of the Spectator. He poignantly expresses the sentiment most of us have towards the Penobscot Consortium. It may be a good reminder to those who have taken the liberty of inflicting such a demeaning situation upon us.

Biting the hand that feeds

To The Editor:

"I would also like to know why, if the Husson community really does not want us here, they use the equipment we bought, take the money we pay the student government, and accept the money we pay for renting the dorm?"

I would like to question the validity of this statement which appeared in the last issue of the Spectator. This student reprimanded Husson students for taking "their" money and then hypocritically downgrading the consortium program.

The money simply is not "theirs". It comes straight out of a seemingly endless supply from the federal government checkbook. Where does this supply originate? From the paycheck of some poor middle class slob who is simultaneously putting his kid through college, including Husson.

In contrast to the letter's view, most college students pay their own bills or resume one or two jobs to "work their way through."

So, before such protests arise, one should make sure they are not "biting the hand that feeds them". Why can't Husson students judge the progress of the program, if it is "their" money that is being invested in the program?

We're Business students just trying to protect "our" investment.

Jack Grady

Playboy is soon to be on TV

Campus Digest News Service

Playboy Enterprises has announced that it will soon bring its material to cable television.

The publishing company said its Playboy Productions Inc. unit agreed with Rainbow Programming Services, of Woodbury, N.Y. to form a cable-TV Program service to be called "The Playboy Channel." The company did not disclose the terms of the agreement.

The cable television network will bring playboy magazine to the screen with fiction, fashion, music, humor, interviews, and centerfolds.

An example given for the kind of footage of centerfolds that will be shown, was the filming of a photographing session with a centerfold. R rated, but not soft pornography.

Beside the subscribers to the particular cable company that Playboy has reached agreement with, Playboy said 115 other systems are planning to launch the program. That would give the Playboy channel 7.5 million homes.

Seniors Respond to Survey

Almost ninety percent of all May 1981 Husson College graduates who responded to a recent survey have found employment, according to a report compiled by the College's Career Counseling Office.

Other findings of the annual study of graduates' employment trends include an 88 percent chance that a graduate who is employed is working in a job related to his academic field of study.

Accounting and office administration bachelor's degree recipients were the most successful in finding employment with all 1981 graduates of both departments currently employed. The business teacher education department graduates report an employment rate of 92 percent and 86 percent of four-year business administration graduates have secured jobs.

Nine percent of the survey's respondents are pursuing graduate study and 5.3 percent are voluntarily unemployed.

Caroline Bansiak, director of career counseling, says the study shows that business and related fields seem to be more "recession-proof" than some others and increased unemployment rates across the nation have not shown up on this year's survey.

George Barnard →

I am a junior studying public accounting and I am seeking the office of Student Government President. I would like to have this office because I feel a real need to get more involved with our government.

The Student Senate is a very important organization on campus. One that very definitely affects every student enrolled in this college. I want to play a bigger part in this organization, helping it to grow and become a stronger voice for you.

My running mate for this election is Scott Spooner. He is an Independent and I am a Greek. Together Scott and I feel that the Student Senate should be able to solve problems for both of these groups. With our administration, this will become a reality. We both have been working hard to produce goals and plans that can be reached and finished during the next year.

Some of the goals we have for next year are: An Alcohol Policy Book, a writer incentive plan for the Spectator, increased awareness of Senate workings, better Student/Administration relations, increased maintenance for the parking lots and the dorms, and a continuation of an "open door" policy for the Senate Office. These are just a few of the goals that are being planned for our administration.

I would like to have an alcohol policy book written and available for student use. This book would outline all of the college policies on alcohol as well as the State of Maine laws as they apply to this campus. These policies and laws would be spelled out clearly and concisely. Also included would be the guidelines for having a party on your floor. These guidelines would tell you how to get a permit, what the hours are, how many people you can invite, and how you can raise money for a party. A copy of this book would be sent to all organizations on campus and to all Resident Assistants.

A young writers incentive program, designed to help the Spectator recruit writers from the Liberal Arts Dept. Students who write essays and short stories for English classes could use these articles for publication in the Spectator. Also, with the increased volume of material, the Spectator could be published once every two weeks.

An increase in student awareness of what the Senate is doing is very desperately needed. The Senate is for the students and they should know how the Senate works, what it has done, and what it is going to do. This can be accomplished by a monthly report from the Senate. This report would tell students what the Senate has accomplished the previous month and what it is working on for the next month. It would tell you who is doing what for you and what is going on with its committees, such as the Chief-week, Social and Cultural Committees.

During the past year, a door of communication between students and administrators has been opened. I want to widen that door and keep it open. This door has already proved to be beneficial to students and I want it to become even more so. This line of communication is very vital to student /administrator relations. With its help, students and administrators can work together better to achieve common goals.

Scott R. Spooner, Student Government Vice-President Candidate

The parking facilities, roadways, and buildings are in need of repair. There are many potholes and ruts in the lots and roadways. The dorms need repainting and something must be done about the flooding in the Arrowhead Lounge. I plan to work closely with the maintenance dept. to get as many of these repairs done as possible. The students can help as well. A few murals can be painted in Peabody Hall. The T.V. and study lounges can be rejuvenated with a little paint and some new furniture. Help is needed from both sides and I am going to get it.

The "open door" policy will be continued with our administration. I feel that there is no better input from students than the one on one basis. All of you will be welcome to come into the office at any time to discuss problems that can be solved by the Senate. Anything that cannot be solved through my office will be taken further until a resolution can be found.

As I said before, these are some of the goals Scott and I have planned for next fall. I feel that all of these are important and they should be carried out.

More importantly to the student body is election day. In order for you to get what you want from your Student Senate, you must vote for leaders of your choice. Be careful in your choice. Make sure that when you vote for one candidate, that candidate stands for what you want out of your Senate. Remember, election day is April 14, 1982, and if you do not vote, your voice cannot be heard.

Visit Cape Cod April 3, 4, and 5

The Husson College Baseball Team will travel to Cape Cod for doubleheaders with Bridgewater State College and Cape Cod Community College on the weekend of April 3rd.

The team has rented a bus for the trip (39 passenger coach) and has an extra 14 seats available. This would be a great opportunity for students to catch some warm weather while cheering on the team! The transportation charge is $15 per person, payable on a "first-come, first-serve" basis. Overnight lodging is your responsibility - but arrangements can be made to stay at the team motel. The bus will be leaving on Friday, April 2.

If you are interested in joining us, please come down to the Athletic Department and make your reservation.

Hope that you can make it,

Jim Walsh
Baseball Coach
Husson College

P.S. If you are simply looking for a ride to Boston and back, we will make one stop on the way down and back - if there is enough interest.

Scott R. Spooner ←

Presently I am a Sophomore studying Business Administration with a concentration in Marketing. I am seeking the office of Vice-President because after working in the Student Senate and various other committees and organizations, I have had a well rounded experience in the triumphs and problems of the working student. I hope to try to alleviate some of the problems allowing more students to get actively involved.

I have four principal plans, which if elected, I hope to see implemented. 1. Tennis Courts. A five-year plan to put a certain amount of money aside each year in a high interest earning savings certificate, which will accumulate to the purchase price of the courts. This plan would also work out a deal in which the school would match our annual contribution. 2. Budgets. Too big and in the wrong places. Many of the present budgets have oversized miscellaneous expense accounts which have been used for more things than cardboard, paper, and pencils. By cutting these accounts back, we could come up with the first year's payment towards something the students could enjoy, like the tennis courts. 3. Increased Awareness Programs. During this school year something big happened in the Senate. Funding for WHSN Radio was cut. I have spoken with many students and it is apparent that many never knew such an event had taken place. With this awareness program, mandatory floor meetings would take place in which the Resident Assistant and the Senator would take a vote. The Senator would then be able to vote according to the results. 4. Presidential Press Conferences. In the first semester, President Merrill held a Question and Answer Conference in Kominski. It was a great success for two reasons. First, the students got to ask questions directly to the administration. Second, the administration received the input they need to better satisfy the students. In my plan, I would like to see a conference halfway into each semester.

Problems are likely to arise between Independents and Greeks. I am an Independent and my running mate is a Greek, therefore, we can address problems that come up between these two groups.

To date, I have been an active member in many organizations. Some of these are: Student Senate, Food Committee, Tennis club, International Club, Senior Class Project, and the new program by Student Services.

Next year I hope to concentrate on making this college a better place to live and grow. After all, Husson is a reflection of all of us.

I have confidence you will vote carefully and proudly on April 14, 1982.

I believe in obtainable goals for today, not unrealistic promises for tomorrow.

Scott R. Spooner

To The Husson Community:

The year is coming to a close and with that our positions shall soon be filled by two students that we hope will be devoted individuals. We ask that you, the students, seek out what each candidate has to offer YOUR Student Government, so you will feel confident when voting for them on April 14th.

We, as your Student Government leaders, wish to thank all of you for your support, help, and confidence in our ability to run a new Student Government. The road was long "with lots of potholes" but both of us feel we have established a solid foundation for YOUR Student Government. We hope that this trend will continue.

Before we leave our respected positions we have a few lingering thoughts we would like to pass on to you. One thought is that we would like to see a unified and enjoyable Chiefweek with full participation from the entire community.

Lastly, we hope that you will consider your involvement, which is part of your education at Husson, when the different organizations are asking for student participation for the upcoming year -- i.e. Peer Tutor, RA staff, Presidential Guides, Judicial Board members, and all Student Government committees.

Thank you once again. We have enjoyed serving as your Student Government leaders. To those who are graduating--may you succeed in all your endeavors.

Sincerely yours,

Peter Husson

by Stephanie Look

In 1933 Chestley Husson took control of the Maine School of Commerce, formed Husson College, and founded Mu Sigma Chi (MEX). MSC was the first fraternity here at Husson, organized as a business society for men which stresses academic achievement.

Peter Husson, a Freshman at Husson College, is the grandson of Chestley Husson, and a member of Mu Sigma Chi. Peter now wears his grandfather's fraternity jacket, which differs from the other jackets only by the absence of the stripes on the sleeves.

Chief Week Candidates

CHIP-N-DALE

We, Crystal Peck and Debbie Patnaude, Chip-n-dale, are announcing our candidacy for CO-CHIEF FOR A DAY.

I, Crystal Peck, am from Newport, Maine and will be graduating in May with a B.S. in accounting.

I, Debbie Patnaude, am from Auburn, Maine and will be graduating in May with a B.S. in accounting. We are both members of the Order of Diana.

The goals set for Chief for a Day are no different from the goals we have in life itself. We, as individuals, are constantly striving toward various goals, but to achieve these goals we need support from instructors, organizations, and friends.

The students of Husson College have a common goal in education, and we as candidates for CO-CHIEF FOR A DAY have the goal of reigning as Chief. Neither of these goals can be accomplished without help and support.

Chief Week is involvement, whether it's offering support, help, or just being there. By having this help and support, our experiences at Husson have given us, perhaps the most memorable times of our lives. That's why, "WE'RE NUTS ABOUT HUSSON!"

DONALD-N-DAISY

Chief Week is rapidly approaching and with that the Husson Community begins to think about Chief Chestley Husson and all that he did for the College as well as what Husson stands for today.

This year's theme revolves around Disneyland. I, Andy Maier, am running as Donald Duck with my partner Katie O'Connor as Daisy Duck. Our theme is "It's a Small World After All" which ties the Husson community together as students and teachers from different cities, states, and countries to live and work together for the betterment of Husson as well as themselves.

We are running for Chief in order to promote what Chief Husson believed in "to make good." We intend to gather the entire Husson body together to participate and enjoy Chiefweek--to work toward a unified community.

We urge each and every one of you to GET INVOLVED in CHIEFWEEK '82.

A definite strength of this year's team is a veteran infield. Starters return at 2nd, 3rd, and shortstop: Hopping and Girard split time at second base, Normand returns at third, and Chris Lenfest is back at short. Former catcher Bunky Dow will open the season at a new position--1st base. However, newcomers Jeff Crowley and Mike Ware are making things interesting at 3rd and short while Dan McGuire will back up Dow at 1st base. Freshman Chris Watson will see action in left field, but has worked out with the infielders as well.

In the outfield, Kip Cameron has moved to left field where he will be seriously challenged by Watson. Glenn Megquier returns in center, where he stabilizes the outfield--defensively. Right Field is wide open. Freshman Jeff Rice comes off of a good fall to push veteran Pete Cafaro. Both Megquier and Cafaro must improve offensively in order to keep their jobs.

On the mound, veterans Ken Huot and Chris Lenfest return from last year's staff. So far, a shoulder injury has prevented John Hopping from joining them. Transfer students Jim Black and Mike Ware have looked very good so far and will definitely see plenty of action. Freshmen Tim Benton and Jeff Rice have thrown well in scrimmages and Tim Cooney has been a pleasant surprise. A knee injury to Scott Doncaster has put him on the shelf--at least for the beginning of the season. Behind the plate, a major area of concern last year, Junior Ed Boyce and transfer Randy Harris have done a fine job--both in the fall and during pre-season.

Overall, the Braves could field their strongest team in recent memory. An N.A.I.A. District No. 5 record of 16-8 (the past two years) must be maintained. In addition, the team must play better against Bowdoin, Bates, Colby, and U.M.O. A poor performance here could cost the team a playoff bit--as it did last year.

MCB Coaches and Writers Banquet

The Maine College Basketball Coaches and Writers Association held their spring banquet at Husson College on Monday, March 22, at 7:00 p.m.

Announced at the banquet was the 1981-82 All-Maine team and the association's Coach of the Year. In addition veteran official Tony Tammaro was honored as the MCBWA Man of the Year. The award is given each year to an individual who has made significant contributions to Maine basketball.

WABI radio and television broadcaster Steve Martin was the guest speaker for the evening.

Baseball Outlook 1982

A "spirit of optimism" prevails in camp as this year's edition of the Husson College Braves anxiously awaits the start of the 1982 season. Off season changes include: Redesigning the infield and adding a new $10,000 electric scoreboard. New uniforms, hooded sweatshirts and travel bags. A twenty-six game schedule which includes a weekend trip to Cape cod, where the Braves open up their schedule against Bridgewater State College.

The final twenty man roster is a well balanced blend of veterans and rookies. Five seniors, two juniors, five sophomores and eight freshmen will be competing for starting jobs. Included among the veterans are five players who hit over .300 last season: co-captains unky Dow and John Hopping along with Pat Girard, Bill Normand and Kip Cameron.

World Peace March

by Stephanie Look

The World Peace March is an interfaith project initiated by the Nipponzan Myohoji Japanese Buddhist Monks in support of the United Nations Special Session on Disarmament II - June, 1982.

The World Peace March began on Indian Island on March 31, left Bangor on April 1, and will arrive in New York City on June 5, 1982. If you would like to join the monks for all or part of the way, contact Richard Russell at 942-1679.

There will be at least four people traveling the entire route. They hope people along the way will join them for a day or two, or for the whole distance.

A program was held by the Japanese marchers on Tuesday, March 30 in Kominsky Auditorium.

Live From JFK...It's Andreas!
A Creative Story
by Andreas Eyripidou

"Thousands of fans are here at the city airport today to welcome the famous pop group, Gorilla and the Ape Men, who have just returned from a triumphant tour of Europe. At this moment, I can see Gorilla himself, followed by the rest of the Ape Men, coming down the steps leading out of the plane and waving to the crowd. I feel sure Gorilla's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gorky, who are in the crowd, must be proud of their son today. They are not the only ones. I have heard that the group's efforts for the export trade will probably be recognized in the New Year's Honors List and Gorilla is to be invited to perform at Times Square.

Now a woman has broken through the police barrier. I'm sure I recognize the homely figure of Gorilla's mother, Mrs. Gorky. This seems to be the signal for everyone to run towards the aircraft. what an extraordinary display of public affection! I have never seen such an incredible scene.

The Ape Men don't seem to know what to do. Gorilla is scratching his head. Now they are all running back inside the plane. Clearly the warmth of their welcome has been too much for the shy young men. Now the fans are trying to climb up the steps to reach their heroes. they are breaking the windows...I regret that I must now return to our studio."
