25th Annual Chief Week Begins

by Dave DiBiase

The year was 1955 Elvis Presley was recording "Hound Dog". President Eisenhower was recouperating from a lengthy Korean "conflict." The nation was in a period of economic prosperity. I was two years old. Husson College was seven years past its golden anniversary.

Husson College then located at 157 Park St. in Bangor, was preparing to build an annex to their classroom building to accommodate a record 500 to 600 students in Sept. 1956. Tuition was $225.00 per semester. Extra curricular activities included Student Store", Glee Club, Orchestra, the "Ledger" Newspaper (published once every eight weeks) and the Chiefton, among others. Students were allowed six cuts for a three hour course, and four cuts for a two hour class. Mr. Richard Dyke, now President of the Husson College Board of Trustees, was a senior, majoring in accounting. Sport coats and ties were mandatory dress for males at all times (except in the Dining Commons between Fri. at six and Sunday night).

Twenty years later many things have changed. We have a "new" campus. Tuition over $1500. yearly. Room and board have also increased tremendously.

Drinking is permitted at college functions. (In 1955, it was grounds for dismissal from College.) The paper comes out weekly, and it's called "The Spectator". However, Chief Week is still a tradition.

The week is dedicated to the late Mr. Chesley Hayward Husson, past President of that institution. Husson was a 1926 graduate of the State Teachers College at Salem, Mass. In the year 1939, Mr. Husson received a M.Ed. from the University of Maine at Orono.

Husson served as Principal of the School, then called Bangor Maine School of Commerce from 1926 to 1947, and then as President from 1947 until his health failed in the early 1970's. Under his leadership, the school went from a small independent business school to a degree granting institution. All that knew him agreed; this was a great man.

Today's activities include a parade from the center of town at 12:30, the annual "rumble" to place posters at 4 p.m. and a party tonight at 8 p.m. Tomorrow at 7 p.m. the semi-finals of the basketball games will be played. Friday marks the speeches and skits and a party in Lou Peters Lounge from 9:30 to 1:00. Saturday is Mud Day, a movie at 6:00 and at 9:00 to 1:00 party. The road rally sponsored by Kappa Delta Phi and the Basketball Finals mark Sunday's action. The voting will take place on Monday, with the results being announced at the party Monday Night. Check the enclosed schedule for complete details.

Looks like we have a great week in store for us, so eat, drink and make merry!!

Petitions for Class Officers and Senate Presidents are due in the Senate Office 4 pm, Monday April 21st. For further details see Carl Dowden.

Anyone interested in becoming a Pres. Guide sign up for an interview by Wednesday, April 23.

Southern 'Justice'

The murder trial of a 20-year-old North Carolina black woman is scheduled to begin within a few weeks in that state, surrounded by serious questions of prejudicial publicity, racial bias and a woman's right to defend herself against attack. Peripheral questions involve the treatment of prisoners in small-town Southern jails.

Joanne Little is accused of stabbing jail guard Clarence Alligood 11 times with an icepick in her cell last August, an act she claims was self-defense. She says she was sleeping in her cell at the Beaufort County Jail when Alligood entered with the weapon and tried to rape her. Little had been in jail three months pending an appeal of her conviction on a charge of breaking-and-entering and burglary.

She fled after the stabbing, but turned herself in eight days later. The jail guard was found with his pants off and his socks and shoes outside the cell. The county medical examiner reported clear evidence of recent sexual activity by Alligood. Other female prisoners had alleged that he and other jailers made sexual advances to them.

Despite the case's overtones, a grand jury indicted her for first-degree murder--which carries a mandatory death penalty in North Carolina. Local newspapers at first failed to report that the victim had been found half-naked and that the icepick was his, and then editorials honored him for "dying in the line of duty."

The defendant, who is indigent and remains in jail under a $100,000 bond, is being helped by the Southern Poverty Law Center. "The nation and its system of justice will be far poorer if Joanne Little is convicted and sentenced to death," said Georgia legislator Julian Bond, the law center's president. "The very right of a woman to defend herself against sexual attack is at stake."

Telegram Criticisms

Outrageously high prices and a dramatic decline in speed of delivery and general quality of service have made Western Union telegrams an expensive, inefficient means of communication, concludes a study initiated by Rep. Benjamin Rosenthal, D-L, N.Y.

The recently released report also charges the Federal Communications Commission with failing in its responsibility to regulate Western Union telegram service in the public interest, and suggests that maybe the Postal Service should take over the operation.

No Girls Allowed

A Roman Catholic parish in Binghamton, N.Y., found out recently that while their faith is the only one to hold special reverence for a female, it is also strict and swift in enforcing the canon laws which pertain to women's roles within the church.

Last November a group of parents from St. Vincent de Paul Church in Binghamton suggested to their pastor, Monsignor Lawrence Giblin, that their daughters serve as altar girls. Giblin agreed, and the girls--aged 10 to 14--started serving Mass.

However, when the bishop of the diocese, Rev. David Cunningham, found out about it, he quickly informed Giblin that Canon 813 of church law prohibits women from serving at Mass unless there are no men available. Giblin stopped the practice.

"We teach obedience to law," Giblin said from his office last week, "and if the law says no, then we have to stop."

The girls themselves were disappointed, according to Giblin. "They felt closer to God, and as if they were keeping up with their brothers. But all of us have to suffer disappointments."

Berth Control

Reversing a long-standing policy, the federal government is about to allow certain couples to sleep together.

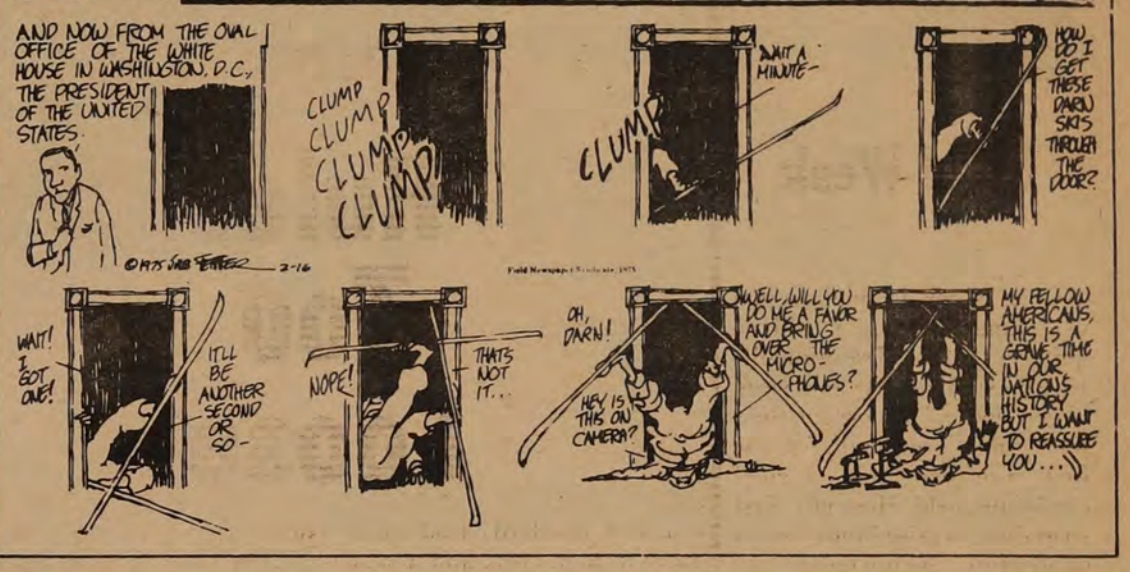

In response to a petition filed by eight California married truck-driving couples, the federal Highway Administration tentatively has decided to permit dual occupancy in tractor-trailer cab berths that are at least 53 inches wide, when the vehicle is parked in a safe place.

The agency forbade simultaneous use of the berths not because of any moral conviction, but because of the belief that sleeper berths are too narrow and confined to permit more than one person to secure proper rest in them.

Sleeper berths were installed to allow one truck driver to rest while another drove. Today there are increasing numbers of husband-wife driving teams who use their rigs not only to sleep during their required eight hours away from the wheel but also as money-saving lodging when they are not at home.

Don't Panic...

The threat of food riots has prompted Los Angeles Police Chief Ed Davis to launch a major crowd control training program among his officers. "Frankly, I'm afraid of food riots," Cmdr. Frank Brittell said. Britell was named by Chief Davis to head the program.

Brittell said he isn't panicking, but he wants to be ready just in case. "It's been a long time since we've had any problems and we're trying to bring back our expertise." At the same time he cautions, "If the economy would go bad, as some people predict--they say you're going to have major problems--you're going to have food riots.

The training emphasizes the use of reason rather than force in dealing with situations. "Food riots are about like other riots, although it's different in that it's an acquisition riot," Brittell said. "They're trying to acquire something. It is an emotional situation. We stress discipline very strongly because a well-disciplined organization can handle emotional people."

...Repeat, Don't Panic

Georgia animal owners, hit by inflationary feed prices, are abandoning their cattle, horses, hogs and chickens and hoping the animals' instincts will carry them through the winter. John Smith, of the state Agriculture Department, however, said pastures are not sufficient to support animals in the winter.

Three to five per cent of the state's horse population is "in the process of starving," as is two per cent of the beef cattle. The remaining animals are reportedly heading towards Los Angeles.

Banned in Baltimore

ABC's new situation comedy, Hot I Baltimore, ironically is not being shown to Baltimore viewers. When WJZ-TV, the local ABC affiliate, did not air the premiere episode, annoyed viewers expressed their displeasure with a barrage of telephone calls to the station and local newspapers.

"Any act of censorship is abhorrent," said Edgar L. Feingold, president of the Maryland chapter of the American Civil Liberties Union. "If people are offended by a presentation, they can always turn their sets off."

In announcing cancellation of the 9 p.m. Friday show, Joel Segall, the station's general manager, said the segment "does not meet acceptance of station or community standards." He said WJZ would decide about broadcasting further installments of Hot I Baltimore after screening them.

Pause That Refreshes

Gold miners in Suva, Fiji, are seeking a 30-minute midday sex break. Union secretary Navita Raquina said a man has a sexual obligation to his wife, and if he goes home exhausted at 5 p.m. after a day's work, he cannot fulfill it. So the 1,600-man union wants the sex break added to the normal lunch break.

The union proposes to limit the sex break to married men. "We don't want to overdo this," Raquona said.

Artificial Need Dept.

A pet toothpaste is now available for those willing to spend $3.30 per five-ounce tube to help their cats and dogs combat bad breath and tooth decay.

Called "Doggy Dent," the beef-flavored cream was produced by dentist Ursula Dietrich after she learned tht her dog didn't like human toothpaste. Orders may be sent to Box 389, San Mateo, Calif. 94401.

Forget What Operation?

Doctors are experimenting with a memory-erasing drug--called lorazepam--that can rid a surgical patient of unpleasant recollections about the operating room.

When administered intravenously before surgery, a patient can remain awake in the operating room under a local anesthetic and not remember the experience.

The drug is still experimental and available only for medical research.

Time Has Come

There seem to be enough readers and advertisers to support the first slick magazine about illegal drugs, High Times. As reported on this page last year, the unusual periodical comes out of New York City with stories, interviews, fantasies and consumer guides covering marijuana, hashish, cocaine, psychedelics, laughing gas and other drugs.

The latest issue, the third, has 68 pages and an initial press run of 100,000--more than five times the number of debut issue copies printed. Advertising also is up, and four-color printing has been added.

The new High Times included reports on a sea-and-air drug blockade in Florida, a fungus being developed by the government to attack marijuana and a look at the rich "super lawyers" defending dopers.

Subscription information or a sample issue ($1) may be obtained from Box 386, Cooper Station, New York City 10003.

We Mean It!

Editorial:

Chief Week

Chief Week is finally upon us. . .and I'm sure it will be quite a party. Traditionally, Husson students use this week to get "loose," seniors for their final time, Freshman for the first. Ten years ago, a chief candidate held Husson's first strip show to raise funds for his campaign. Reportedly, an administration that prohibited drinking on campus was quite upset!

Like I said, Chief Week is a crazy time at Husson. Nothing wrong with that, as a matter of fact it should happen more often.

However, take a minute to pay tribute to "The Chief", for surely that's what this week is all about.

This campus was the dream of Mr. Chesley H. Husson. I cannot think of a better way to pay tribute to this great man than respecting the physical plant. Don't kick out the walls, break windows, throw empty beer cans around or in general; have a good time but be reasonably cool.

To the Editor:

Rules Too Loose

Loose standards lead inevitably to high costs and a poor competitive position, and result in students quitting. The effect is to generate insecurity, poor morale, unrest, and strife.

Loose standards usually preceded by the administration yielding to students pressure and their threats. By yielding to this pressure, the administration incites to it. Eventually, the students go too far, and a long and bitter road lies ahead.

Loose standards create inequities. Students doing similar things are treated differently. This creates unhappiness, unrest and constant demands for change.

In contrast to poorly run colleges, well-run colleges, play an important role in uniform treatment of students similarly situated. Pressures to change what is considered proper are firmly resisted. By experience, students learn that such action will not yield results; hence, they do not resort to it. Where this is combined with cost-consciousness and sound and humane administration, the result is steadier students and well-understood conditions. Feeling secure and knowing where they stand, students are more likely to work things out with the administration on a peaceful, logical basis because they have learned that it pays to do it that way.

The Music Box:

Joe Walsh - So What

by the Gassman

An artist who has performed in every major city (including Bangor) in the country, has unleashed another assembly of musical ingenuity.

He started his career by putting the James Gang on record as the fastest rising group since Led Zeppelin. He created each album with the brilliance of a well seasoned performer and artist. He then left the James Gang (who have since become almost unheard) to pursue his own talents. His first album, solo, was Barnstorm, that was good, but contained some over-powered attempts and some excellent music. Then came "Smoker you Drink", which unveiled his music talents not only for the guitar and vocals but for a synthesizer, which immediately expanded the groups possibilities. Now come "So What". An album that is powerful in a controlled way. It is burly and harsh and beautiful all at the same time.

His cut "Turn To Stone," is redone on this album and done the second time in a more refined way which accentuates the lyrical aspect in a better way. With this cut and another one of a goofingly non-sensical note, "All Night Laundry Mat Blues" taken into account, the other cuts exemplify the true music talents of a true artist. A man geared up for music at the simple mention of the word. He has been able to control his music when previously he just let it run right to the end.

A really remarkable achievement for a really remarkable artist. Nuf said.

From the President's Pad

by Frank Peter

Aside from the day to day operations and their attendant problems, a major portion of our time must be reserved for planning the future of Husson College. This involves not only academic programs, but also, such essentials as budgets and longrange forecasts. To stay on top we must be alert to all developments and innovations in the world around us so that we can meet the educational needs of our students.

For some time computers have played an increasingly important role in our lives. To meet the educational needs in this area, Husson College offers two related courses: Data Processing and Computer Problems. Computer availability is presently a time sharing arrangement with Dartmouth College.

However, in line with offering improved computer services, Husson College has been planning for some time to have its own computer. At long last we have completed the feasibility study which has involved careful investigation of different systems, their capabilities and costs.

The choice of the investigating committee was a Digital PDP 11/40 computer. The system itself will adequately serve our present and foreseeable future needs in the educational, academic and financial area. Being a modular system, it is also adaptable to expansion in capabilities.

We are now in the final stages of preparing orders and contracts. It is our hope to have delivery by August 1, and the computer on-stream by September registration time. Once the computer is satisfactorily installed, the Dartmouth terminal will no longer be needed. Also, our present tabulating equipment will be returned to IBM.

The Chief Signs Off

Well, the time has come for me to write my final article as Chief. After next week there will be someone to take my place. This year we have four very competent young men and four beautiful young ladies running for the honor of being elected Chief and Secretary.

Chief Week will be a good time for all involved students. There will be parties and contests, skits and speeches. You will judge all the candidates and choose the man you feel most deserving. Don't think that Chief Week was meant for just a party and good time week however. It is an honor to the real "Chief," Mr. Chesley H. Husson Sr. He was the founder of Husson College. He was a great man and Chief Week can only be a small tribute to the many accomplishments he achieved.

I would like to thank all of the people who gave me the opportunity to work for them during the last year. I carried out my campaign policies to the best of my ability. Through the efforts of many individuals the bleachers were received for the soccer and baseball fields. If the snow ever clears up we might have a chance to use them. It has also been a privilege and an honor to sit on the President's Cabinet.

As I mentioned earlier Chief Week was set up to honor "Chief Husson." You will be asked to do the same to one of four couples this year. You couldn't ask for four better qualified partners. So to Bob and Linda, Rick and Meg, Stacey and Brenda, and Ron and Donna, I wish you the best of luck with the hard and rigorous campaign road ahead.

To all the students of Husson College I can say one thing - get involved and we can make this a Chief Week to remember!

Husson Students Cho

Ron Knowlton
Donna DiIonno

My name is Ron Knowlton a senior, and I am a candidate for Chief. My running mate is Donna DiIonno, a sophomore.

I wish to express to you, my fellow students, why I feel I am qualified to be Chief. I have attended Husson now for four years and have gained increasing knowledge of the workings of Husson and some of the problems while attending class here.

I feel that there is a good morale here and that it can continue to grow through each individual's actions. This is playing a major role in my campaign, the fact that each individual has an entirely different problem to deal with and it should be handles as such. I realize that in order to find a proper solution, the individuals problem must be handled on an individual basis. By solving this problem of the individual, you have established a solution for the entire Husson community. I feel that a lot of unity gained on this campus is done through the solution of the individual's problem.

I cannot make any promises to accomplish certain problems at this time. I would like the involvement of the student body to show me your problems.

If you invest in my time to listen to your problem(s), then I will take the time to find a possible solution, in at least a minimum form.

I will not be returning next year to represent you, but Donna DiIonno, my running mate, will be here and if we are elected to represent you, as your Chief, she will continue to represent you, for she realizes the students needs and problems and is highly capable of getting work done.

Best of luck to all other candidates and to the students: get involved - go out and vote!!

Rick Viles
Meg Archibald

Chief Week is upon the Husson Community once again and I, Rick Viles, am pleased to announce my candidacy for the honor of Chief-for-a-Day with Meg Archibald as Barney and Betty Rubble. We are both seniors here at Husson so we are sensitive to the "ups and downs" of life, both academically and socially, for the Husson Student. Meg resides in Scarsdale, New York and I am a native of Falmouth, Maine. We have enjoyed involvement in Chief Week Campaigns in the past, and we will be striving throughout our campaign to induce a similar atmosphere of enthusiasm and gratification.

Chief Week is not merely a week of parties, although a little is done here and there to party. More than that, it is a time to honor the founder of our College and release frustrations in a constructive manner. We hope that all students will take an active position in one of the campaigns.

In a brief summary, Meg and I wish the best of times for the students and best wishes to Stacey, Ron, and Bob and their respective running mates in their campaigns. Also we will be very receptive to any thoughts or ideas you might have concerning the direction of Chief Week. As far as promises go, we will not offer any plastic undertaking that will burden the Student Senate funds, nor will we engage in any token activity, for the mere sake of campaigning, that could be achieved by anyone at any time. Rather, Meg and I wish to offer the promotion of an intangible asset, far more valuable than any other product Chief Week could bring. This is the unification of students through involvement. Involvement is the key! You are what Chief Week is all about!

Thank you,
See Ya' in the Wiggy!

Stacey DeCastro
Brenda Fraser

My name is Stacey DeCastro and I am a candidate for Chief. My secretary is Brenda Fraser.

We are running independently, separate from any organization, because the responsibility of Chief is to represent the entire student body. This year there are four candidates running for the honor of Chief; this is a desirable situation since it will undoubtedly generate more student involvement. I urge you to carefully consider the credentials of each candidate, and then actively participate -- no matter which candidate you support.

Both Brenda and I have been very involved in school activities during our four years here at Husson. At this time I would like to tell you about Brenda: she will graduate with a B.S. Degree in the Women's Executive Program in May. Her activities include: Co-captain of the cheerleaders, yearbook committee, national honor society, daughters of Diana, Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities, Maine's College Girl of the Year, and Miss Bangor.

Many of you may know me only as a Husson soccer player; however I have done more than just kick a soccer ball. My activities have been: Student senate representative, varsity club member, president's cabinet, Kappa Delta Phi, life styles committee member. I believe that of these activities, the most important for the welfare of the student body was the life style committee and senior class president. Through these I had the opportunity to work with other students, faculty members, and administrators. This experience was invaluable in helping me solve commuter gripes, dorm dissatisfactions, and even money problems within the college.

I will announce my platform the night of the skits. In closing, I would like to sincerely wish the best of luck to: Bob and Linda, Ron and Donna and Rick and Meg in their campaign.

Robert Wheeler
Linda Deveau

At this time, I would like to introduce myself. My name is Bob Wheeler, I'm from Pittsfield, Massachusetts. I'm a senior, majoring in Business Administration. My running mate is Linda Deveau, she's from Northeast Harbor, Maine. She is a sophomore, majoring in accounting. Our theme for this year's CHIEF WEEK is Martha and George Washington. The first aim in our campaign is to have every student at Husson actively get themselves involved in some aspect of this year's chief week.

We would likt to briefly state our personal objectives of this year's chief week. What we would like to see is a student or representative of the students on our Board of Trustees. I believe this would directly enhance the communication channels between those on the Board and the student body. This is a real possibility, provided the proper steps are taken, and the necessary preparation is done. My next objective is a revision of the present work study program here at Husson. It has been proven through past experience, that an alternative program should and could be set up. We have some ideas for improvement in the work study program, which I'll devulge during my speech to the student body, on Friday night. My third and final objective is to finally make possible parking facilities at the Newman Gym. We have along with my committee already investigated the possibility of having an asphalt parking lot adjoining the Gym building.

These are my three major points of improvement, we feel we can make to the Husson Community, if elected CHIEF. What we would like to see is a good turnout, and involvement of everyone here at Husson. We would at this time like to wish each of our opponents the best of luck. This year I'm sure we're all out to make CHIEF WEEK one that everyone "WILL REMEMBER".

Thank You,

Robert F. Wheeler (George)
Linda Deveau (Martha)

Well hello again from the Delta Floor. Today starts Chief Week, and we hope everyone gets involved and has a terrific time.

We want to wish the baseball team a successful season, and good luck to brothers Dan and Leon.

Looks like Delta might have a few good prospects for basketball, like, Susie-Q., Seadog, Renee, Fran, Pollyana (alias Carmela), L.S.D., Michele, West, Deasel, and Debbie Morgan. At least we'll all try a shot at it!

At our last soft-bowl game Sue Skinner became the new champ by defeating Seadog, alias Barb Griffin. Anyone wishing to play against Skinner, please see the management.

Rumor has it, Pollyana has some apples, and the management is trying to steal them. Hang in there Pollyana!

Dee, is it true that someone entered your room this week and did a job on it? Also, did Taurus really make that bruise on your hand?

Hey Big "Z", your talents really beginning to show. Frank, that's not how you dribble!

Well until next week, keep your spirits high, don't let the pressure get to ya, and keep on smilin.

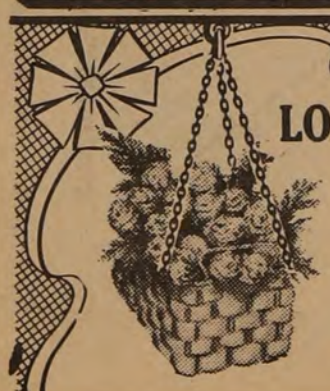

Love,

The brothers of Kappa Delta Phi would like to thank Dick Farrell and Dave Farnum for helping us put up the lights in our hall and our lounge and all the other help they have given us this year.

It's that time of year again for Chief Week and all of the enjoyment that goes with it. With four candidates running this year it should be a great Chief Week if everyone becomes involved, regardless of which candidate you choose to support. This year we will be having our second annual Chief Week Road Rally which will be held this Sunday. Anyone interested in entering the Road Rally should fill out an application form at the Kappa Newsstand.

This past Monday we celebrated our 75th anniversary of Kappa Delta Phi National Fraternity. Our sisters came over to add a little more enjoyment to the event. It was a really great time had by all.

On the Sports scene Kappa I, under coach Jeff Brawn, remains undefeated. Kappa II, under coach Dana Motta, has a 1-2 record, Kappa III, under coach Steve Noyes, holds a 1-1 record and last but not least, Kappa IV, with Coach Ted Greene, has a perfect losing record, but they are still trying and having a good time.

We would like to wish the Baseball Team the best of luck in their game this afternoon afternoon against the University of Maine at Orono. We hope they have a lot of support from the entire student body at Husson as it is always good to have a lot of supporters in any sport.

P. S. Ted - Who's hiding behind your door? Ernie - But we won!! But we won!!

Jim M. - How's your proctor's job going?

Don't look now buy May is just around the corner. 'Everybody ready for finals? Sure, there's still a while yet before the cramming period beings so sit back and relax and look forward to the upcoming summer.

On the sports scene, MEX 1 defeated the Reds in an unusual but exciting game. MEX 2, led by the "BIG Z", roared past TEP 24-23. Zero stepped off the bench to toss in a casual 15 points for the Mu Sig five. Viles was still at the top of the key while a few flying Frenchmen swarmed their way up and down the court. It marked the first victory for MEX 2 while MEX 1 has a 2-1 record.

The Bros. of Mu Sig are really looking forward to the start of Chief Week. We also hope that every student will get involved in the Chief Week Activities. It's a memorable occasion and usually a few brewsters are tipped for a super time.

ΦΘΠ

If anyone had seen the Brothers when they got up Sunday morning, they would have thought they were all flipped out. What other reason could there be for students running around at 5:30 in the morning looking for shovels? The Brothers were actually on their way to Deer Isle for a clam dig. The digging lasted for a few hours in the morning then the brothers came back to Husson only to return in the afternoon for another try. All in all the clam dig was very successful.

We lost the second intramural basektball game of the season to the Superstars. Tim Vanidestine led the brothers with 22 points, but it was to no avail. We now are 1-1 on the season, and look forward to the next game.

The school year is fast coming to a close, and the Brothers are planning a fraternity outing for the near future. We would like to wish B rothers Tim Murphy and Craig Ormsby and the rest of the Husson Braves Baseball team as well, the best of luck in their season which begins this week.

ETE

Let's try once again -- Hello from ETE!!

The Sisters held elections recently and the following are the results: President - Donna Day; Vice President - Kathy Gannon; Secretary - Lori Hale; Treasurer - Nanci Miller; Sargeant-at-arms - Gerri Huss; Historian - Mary Roberts; Pledge Master - Joan McLendon; and Assistant Pledge Master - Ginny Trainor. Hope the work goes as well as the celebration did. Know what I mean, big guy? Good luck next year!

The Sisters had a good time at Barney's parties. We hope everyone will actively participate in Chief Week. It'll go so fast, and then it'll be another whole year til next time, so get involved!

Hey - Munchkin and Betty - Those Tiki Bowls are quite tasty, huh? What d'ya mean, table for 20?! And 40 doggie bags???

Well, what can we say?

The ETE Basketball team came up against Delta on Monday. Here's hoping for a successful season - if a short one. Maybe someone'll come cheer us on. (Hey, Nasson II, get the hint? Ricky, don't laugh!!)

We'd like to take this time to offer congratulations to Sisters Pam O'Clair and Cindy Davis Estes for getting very attractive jobs. Good luck on the 9 to 5 routine. (If you've got any extra, wing it this way, huh?)

One of the old Sisters, Cathy Willis, will be coming down from Vermont this week. The Sisters are looking forward to seeing BAM again. We plan to do a lot of partying and celebrating during Chief Week.

Also appearing this week is "The Bad, Bad Boy From Boston" - Hearts Crew could be in session over again!!

Too bad Gerri wasn't "there" to break the Record for the Guinness Book. Maybe next time?

TKE

This week's article is dedicated to graduating senior Nick "Showboat" La Grett. Nick hails from East Rochester, New York, and entered Husson College in the fall of 1971. He pledged TKE fraternity that same fall and was initiated into the brotherhood December 10, 1971. Since that time Nick has been a great asset to the fraternity, especially in the area of fraternity sports. Competing in football, soccer, volleyball, and softball, he has also earned the berth of co-captain of the Heimies in basketball by being a seasoned veteran of four years. Nick's activities here at Husson have included secretary of the freshman and sophomore classes, a member of the food committee, and the yearbook staff. Nick has also been involved in such illustrious activities as the back stabber club, diner club, and the C.J. club. His major here is Business Administration--personnel management, and has no immediate plans after graduation. The brotherhood would like to thank Nick for his four years of dedication to the fraternity and we wish him the best of luck in the future.

On the intramural sports scene, the standings are TKE 1--2 and 1, TKE II -- 1 and 1, and TKE Heimies, 0 and 1. This past weekend Pete Martin traveled once again to another State Judo tournament. Pete placed first in his division with a sizzling victory adding another trophy to his now overflowing trophy case. Congratulations Professor.

The Brotherhood would like to thank everyone who participated in our slave auction which was held in the Lounge last Wednesday. Special thanks go to little sisters, Judy Weed, and Meg Archibald for representing us as auctioneers.

The best of luck to all Chief candidates and their running mates. This year's Chief Week should be one to be remembered. Let's get involved and support the candidate of your choice.

SENATE NEWS

PRESIDENT'S OPENING REMARKS

1. Graduation

Nobody will be able to go through the graduation line unless they have completed all of their requirements.

2. Senate picture

The Senate picture for the yearbook will be taken Friday, April 11 at 12 noon in front of the Kominsky Auditorium.

TREASURER'S REPORT

There is a present balance of $1,963.17. There have been unnecessarily high phone bills, which will be looked into. The UPI is costly and may be shut off next year. There are several outstanding bills and receivables, which leaves approximately $665 unappropriated for the remainder of the semester.

OLD BUSINESS

Pitch-in Committee

Chairman Tom Rhoads has not defined the plan, but said that he is working with the city on a project. He is to meet with them on the 10th. The budweiser distributor will donate $150, which will be used to buy beer for all participants. The project is to take place Thursday, the 17th and futher details will be publicized.$

NEW BUSINESS

1. Constitution

Opportunity was given for contentions. Ron Roy moved to accept the Committee's efforts as a valid report. It was seconded and passed. Ron went on to say, "I move to ammend the adoption of the constitution in the form presented and revised to date by the Committee." A roll-call vote was taken and the result was its passage with 21 for, 8 opposed, and 1 abstention. (Individual voting is below).

2. Elections - Class and Senate

Campaigning begins Wednesday, April 23. All petitions for class officers and petitions for Senate President for those not currently senators will be accepted no later than the 21st. Those petitioning for Senate President must obtain 31 signatures and should familiarize themselves with the newly-adopted constitution. Elections will be held on the 28th.

3. Senate Banquet

Senators will pay for their own meal and drinks. Tom Rhoads and Chris Jackson will look into possible restaurants and prices.

At the April 16 Senate meeting the floor will be open for nominations for the Presidency.

Women's Basketball Wrap-Up

Every team sport requires a given number of participants. When directing such a sport the coach must choose from among the available talent the team starters. This year the Women's Varsity Basketball coach, Pamela Hennessey, found herself in a position many coaches envy. She had an abundance of talent and would find any cutting or choosing a difficult choice.

During the season Hennessey found that she could choose her five starters and one sixth-man in. Her starting line-up was chosen with talent, coachability, team playing ability, and experience in mind. The Starting Five found that they must set the pace and style of the game and when not playing as a unit on the court, they were the ever evident backbone of the squad. Veterans Karen Caputo and Karen Leach headed the team as co-captains, guiding the team on the floor and adding that spark of leadership needed for smooth team operation. Susan Skinner, Linda Deveau, and Verna Eldridge rounded out the veteran squad.

Karen Caputo, a sophomore guard from Yonkers, New York, was last year's Most Valuable Player and high scorer for the squad. Again this year she became top scorer averaging better than 14 points a game. Her fast reflexes have caused many opponents to be nervous both on offense and defense. She has become a trademark of the Husson basketball style.

Karen Leach, the one senior on the team, has been for the past two years the team's ball handler. She has always been the "super cool" of the squad. Both offensively and defensively she has been a major factor in the team's ability to successfully overcome any form of opponent pressure. Susan Skinner, a junior forward, has for the last three years proved herself at least a foot taller than her actual high with her aggressive rebounding ability. She has maintained the leading rebounding position by averaging better than a dozen rebounds per contest and offensively averaging 8 or more points. A strategic player, she was very important on the boards both during the season and especially during the State Tournament.

Linda Deveau, the team's veteran center, has played a vital role in the team's success this season. Though spending most of the season with an injury to her hip, she played outstanding basketball. She is deadly on defense, holding her position and bringing down the rebounds.

Verna Eldridge, a sophomore veteran, rounds out the Starting Five. The team's second leading scorer, she has several times reached better than 20 points for her game totals. Averaging better than 10 points and 8 rebounds per game her keen game sense and shooting ability were without question an important factor in the team's championship capture.

each coach finds an important "extra player" or in basketball sixth player" whom he or she feels has the all-around ability to replace any starter both on offense and defense. Colleen Meenan filled the bill for the Husson squad.

Colleen, a freshman, from the Bronx, played on the same high school team as did Karen Caputo. Despite the fact that she was often set against much taller players, she has the versatility both as a forward or a guard to continually get the better of her opponent. Her ball handling ability has set her a place in the style of the Husson team.

The above six players were the center point around which the Husson basketball machine moved. The style, pace, pattern, and ability showed them to be superior players both as individuals and as team players.
