Commencement Speaker

WERNER A. BAUM, Ph.D.

President

University of Rhode Island

A native of Germany, Dr. Werner A. Baum holds a B.S. degree in mathematics, and M.S. and Ph.D. degrees in meteorology, all from the University of Chicago. He is an American citizen and served with the U.S. Navy during World War II.

Dr. Baum has served on the faculties of the University of Maryland, Florida State University, the University of Miami, and New York University. At the University of Miami he also held the post of vice president for academic affairs, and at NYU he was vice president for scientific affairs.

He joined URI in 1968 as professor of physics and president after a year as deputy administrator of the Environmental Science Services Administration, appointed by President Lyndon Johnson.

Dr. Baum is the U.S. representative on the World Meteorological Organization's Panel of Experts on Meteorological Education for the United Nations, chairman of the American Meteorological Society's Membership Commission, a trustee of the Miriam Hospital in Providence, a member of the Texas Christian University Research Foundation's Scientific Advisory Council, a member of the Florida Institute of Technology's Scientific Advisory Board, a director of the Fund for Overseas Research Grants and Education, a corporator of the Old Stone Savings Bank in Providence, a trustee of the Research and Design Institute in Providence, and a member of the Advisory Board, Meteorological and Geoastrophysical Abstracts, American Meteorological Society. He also is a certified consulting meteorologist.

A fellow of the American Meteorological Society, the American Geophysical Union and the American Association for the Advancement of Science, Dr. Baum has been awarded a Carnegie Corporation Administrative Fellowship, a special citation from the American Meteorological Society, and an honors medal from the Florida Academy of Sciences. He is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, Phi Kappa Phi, Sigma Xi, Delta Sigma Pi, Chi Epsilon Pi, and Sigma Pi Sigma.
