Bangor, Maine

Husson's Hero

by Josh Scroggins

Whenever Husson Men's Basketball is brought up, so is their senior tri-captain Raymond Alley. Ray can be known for anyone of his many accomplishments that he has accumulated here at Husson. The leading scorer for the braves in the last four seasons, being named All American Honorable Mention in his freshman year, or being awarded the highest commendation any Husson athlete has ever received; All American first team. During Tuesday nights game against Thomas college he added one more accomplishment to his name, the all time leading scorer in the history of Husson Basketball.

The 5'9" Alley, a senior in business administration, from Vinalhaven, Maine has it all, speed, body strength, a long range shot, and natural talent for the game. With all of this, it was no surprise to anyone when Alley broke Husson's scoring record last Tuesday night. The previous scoring record of 2471 points was set by three time All American Honorable mention Dana Wilson back in 1974.

Since Ray's first year here it was obvious to everyone including Wilson that his record wouldn't stand. Ray finished his first season scoring 697 points. Dana Wilson's best season was 1973-74 when he scored 698 points. In Ray's next two seasons he added 1,272 points, bringing his points total to 1,969 points. Although Ray has such a high scoring total, he's not only a scorer but also a good team player, he averages 4 assists and 3 rebounds a game.

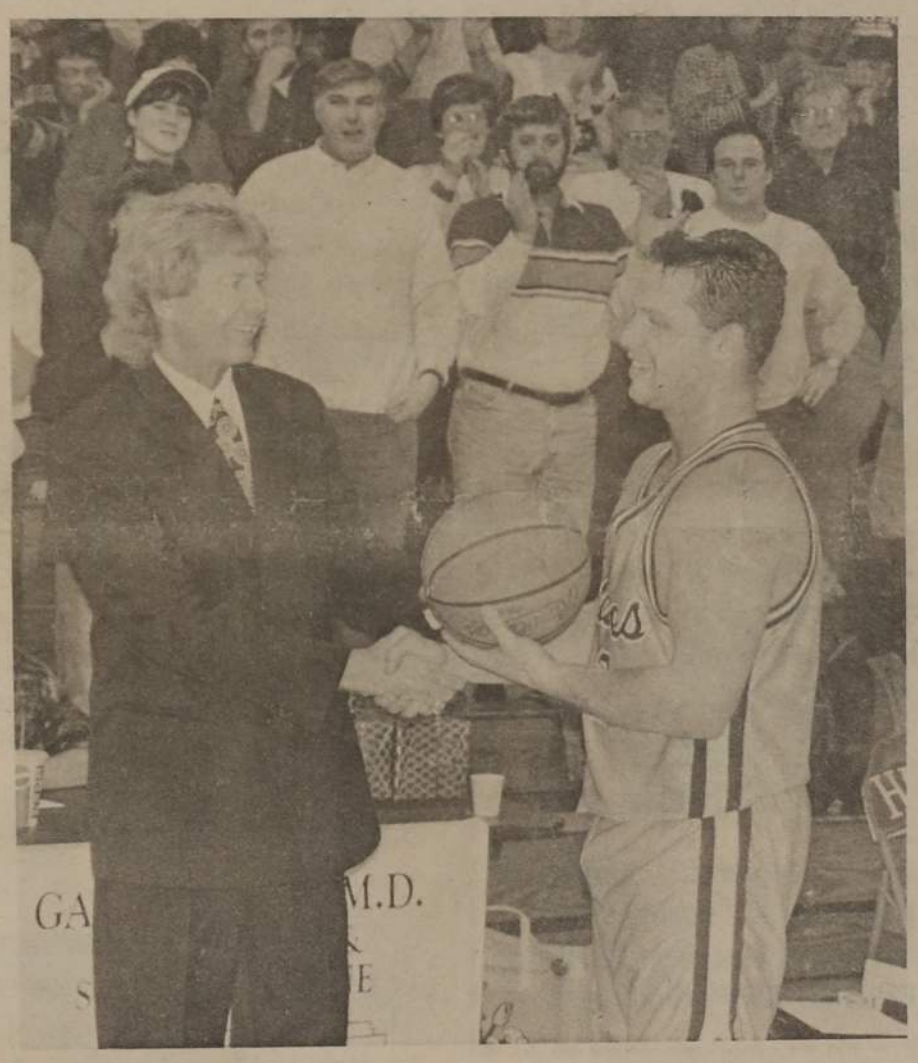

During half time, just minutes before Alley broke his record, Dana Wilson had a few words to say about the record and Ray. "Well being around sports all your life, you know that records are meant to be broken. That record was set twenty years ago when basketball was a different game. Today the athletes are more physically fit. There is also some new additions to the game; the three point shot, the 35 second clock, and break away rims. As for Ray he deserved to break the record he's an excellent player and a good kid."

The new addition (from Wilson's time to now) to the game that has helped Alley out the most is the three pointer. Ray shoots a career average 40% and has made over 300 three pointers. In fact, Alley broke the scoring record when he put in his third three pointer in a row.

After the game I had a chance to speak to the coaches and players about Ray as a player. What was said over and over again by all, was that Alley was a good defensive player, an excellent shooter, and an excellent play maker.

The Thomas College coach said of Alley; "He's the best guard in the Maine Athletic Conference."
Coach MacGregor said "Ray is one of the best to ever put on the green and white, I am just thankful that he choose to play for Husson all four years of his eligibility".

Some of Alley's teammates from his past and present seasons said that he was a true team player, but more importantly than that he's someone that you can respect not only as a player, but as a person too.

Dana Wilson is presenting the game ball to Raymond Alley after he broke Dana's all time scoring record.

Ray also had a few words to say about his new record; "Its a great honor, Dana was obviously a great athlete. Breaking the record really hasn't set in yet though. My biggest goal is to win the districts, after that then it may set in."

No one really know's for sure if Husson will win the districts, but there is one thing that everyone does know. Raymond Alley is one of the all time Husson basketball greats. In addition to that he's one of the all time Maine basketball greats.

Be sure to cheer on Ray as he gets closer and closer to breaking the all time Maine scoring record. The current record is 2678 and it is held by Matt Hancock an Alumni to Colby College.

Snowboarding 101

I went to Hermon Mountain for snowboarding with my friends the day before yesterday. We went there by car and asked about rental costs. We could rent the snowboards and bindings, but we could not rent the boots. We went back here to get the boots, because I was wearing boots, but my friends were not wearing boots. We arrived at Hermon Mountain forty minutes later, and we rented snowboards and bindings.

The snow condition was ice. This snowboarding was the first time for me. First of all, the lift was terrible for me, because it was a T-bar. I fell down many times. I finally got to the middle of the mountain on the fourth try. Then Satoru and Kazu taught me about how to snowboards, but I could not understand anything. I started to snowboard, but I slipped down quickly. I practiced for about three hours and a half. Then, we decided to snowboard together for a final snowboarding, because I had improved a little. Kazu went first, I went next, but I slipped and crashed. I could not understand what was going on. Satoru said something to me, but I was really confused. He came to me, and said "Are you okay?", but I was not okay. I made sure that my eyes were okay, because I was wearing contact lenses. It was okay. I went to the lodge. Everybody was surprised when they saw my face. I went to the restroom quickly. I was surprised when I looked the mirror. I had blood on my face. We went back to school, because I was feeling pain on my face. I was afraid about it and yesterday, I was thinking about snowboarding all day. Satoru and I finally discussed it for two hours. I could understand why I slipped.

Now I am not afraid. I want to try snowboarding again, but my muscles ache now.

Ethical Fitness Program

On February 5, 1994, a small group of Husson students attended the Seventh Annual Student Leadership Conference at the University of Maine. This year's topic was Ethical Fitness Program. The conference was focusing on ethics because many believe that "We will not survive the 21st Century with the ethics of the 20th Century."

The morning was used to focus on Moral Awareness, Ethical Analysis, and Resolving Dilemmas. The conference host speakers where Pat Brousseau, who is the Executive Vice President of the Institute for Global Ethics, and Ken Cardillo who is a licensed counselor and founder of Consulting Associates.

The conference was organized because of many concerns about standard of ethics in the 21st Century. The concensus by many of the students who attended the conference was that we are slowly changing, but not by choice.

Poll Response Question

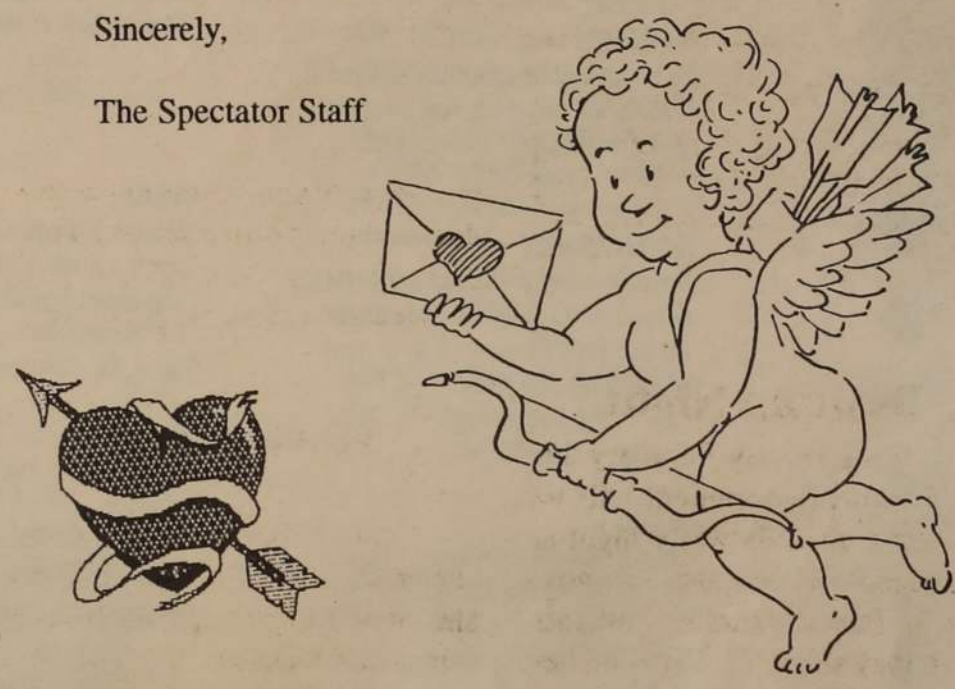

With the Olympics under way, we felt that it would be appropriate to focus our poll response question on the Olympics. This issues poll response question is; do you feel that the Olympic Committee made the correct decision on allowing Tonya Harding to compete in the Olympics? Please respond to this question by calling extension 7143. Thank you for your responses.

Dear Husson Community,

We at The Spectator would like to wish everyone a Happy Valentine's Day. We hope your day is full of love and surprises. Thank you for all the wonderful messages that are printed in this issue. The response was overwhelming. Thank you for your support. Happy Valentine's Day.

Raymond Alley up against Thomas

Husson 100 Thomas 69

by Josh Scroggins

In a game with emotions running high on both teams the braves were able to beat the terriers last Tuesday night. The terriers were waiting for there senior forward Mike Gillespie to make his thousand career point. Husson was waiting for Ray Alley to get his 2471 career point and set a new school record.

With the added adrenaline from Gillespie's thousandth point, Thomas College was able to keep it a close game. The first half ended 40-47 Husson's lead. The closest Thomas could get was four points down 46-50. Alley then exploded and went on a scoring binge which included three, three pointers in a row.

Alley broke the scoring record on his third three pointer in a row. After the scoring record was broke there was looking back for Alley and the Braves. They dominated the entire second half, outscoring the Terriers 53-29. A good part of the Husson offense came from three point territory Alley had 6, and Sinclair and Mazurek both had 2.

Leading the braves offense in double digits was Ray Alley with 27, Kevin Moore with 21, and Rich Mazurek with 19.

In fact, before the lady terriers knew what was happening the buzzer had sounded for the end of the first half and they were already down 45-12. The second half the braves were again able to come out strong and score another 43 points. Husson finished the game by quadrupling Thomas score.

The scoring for the braves was down by Tara Leavitt 17, Miller 17, Parker 15, Shaw 9, Hafford 8, White 6, Pomeleau 6, and Dyer 6.
