Student Government Sponsors Chief Week And Spring Fling Activities

Student Government has been busy planning for Chief Week and Spring Fling, which will be held Wednesday, April 19 through Saturday the 22. This years theme is the 1960's.

The activities all start on Wednesday with the annual barbecue on the circle from 11:30 - 1:00. WHSN will be broadcasting live from the barbecue. There will be free T-shirts available for commuter students and prizes will be given away. Wednesday night there will be a Scavenger Hunt starting in the Arrowhead at 7:30 p.m., there will also be a lip sync contest at 9:30 p.m. Cash prizes will be given away for each event. All Husson students who participate in these events will receive a free Spring Fling T-Shirt.

On Thursday night there will be a bowling night from 9:00 p.m. to 12 midnight. Friday is dress up day. Dress up in your best 60's outfit. The band "Bold as Love" will be playing in the DDC Friday night starting at 9 p.m. This will be a BYOB event! "Bold as Love" is a highly rated band that will be playing a tribute to Jimi Hendrix. Some of Hendrix's music that will be performed include: "All Along the Watchtower", "Purple Haze", and "Foxy Lady". T-shirts will be given away to all students who attend that night.

Chief Week and Spring Fling will end on Saturday with a barbecue between Carlisle and Hart halls between 11:30 a.m. - 1:00 p.m. Dana Wilson will be providing music. This will be a BYOB event (proper ID required)!

Another event that is coming up is the Student Government elections. The elections will take place Monday, April 24th and Tuesday, April 25th in the Wigwam and DDC. Positions being voted on will include Student Government President and Vice President as well as the Commuter and Resident Presidents. Don't forget to Vote!

MTV's Real World Star Judd Winick Addresses Audience in Kominsky

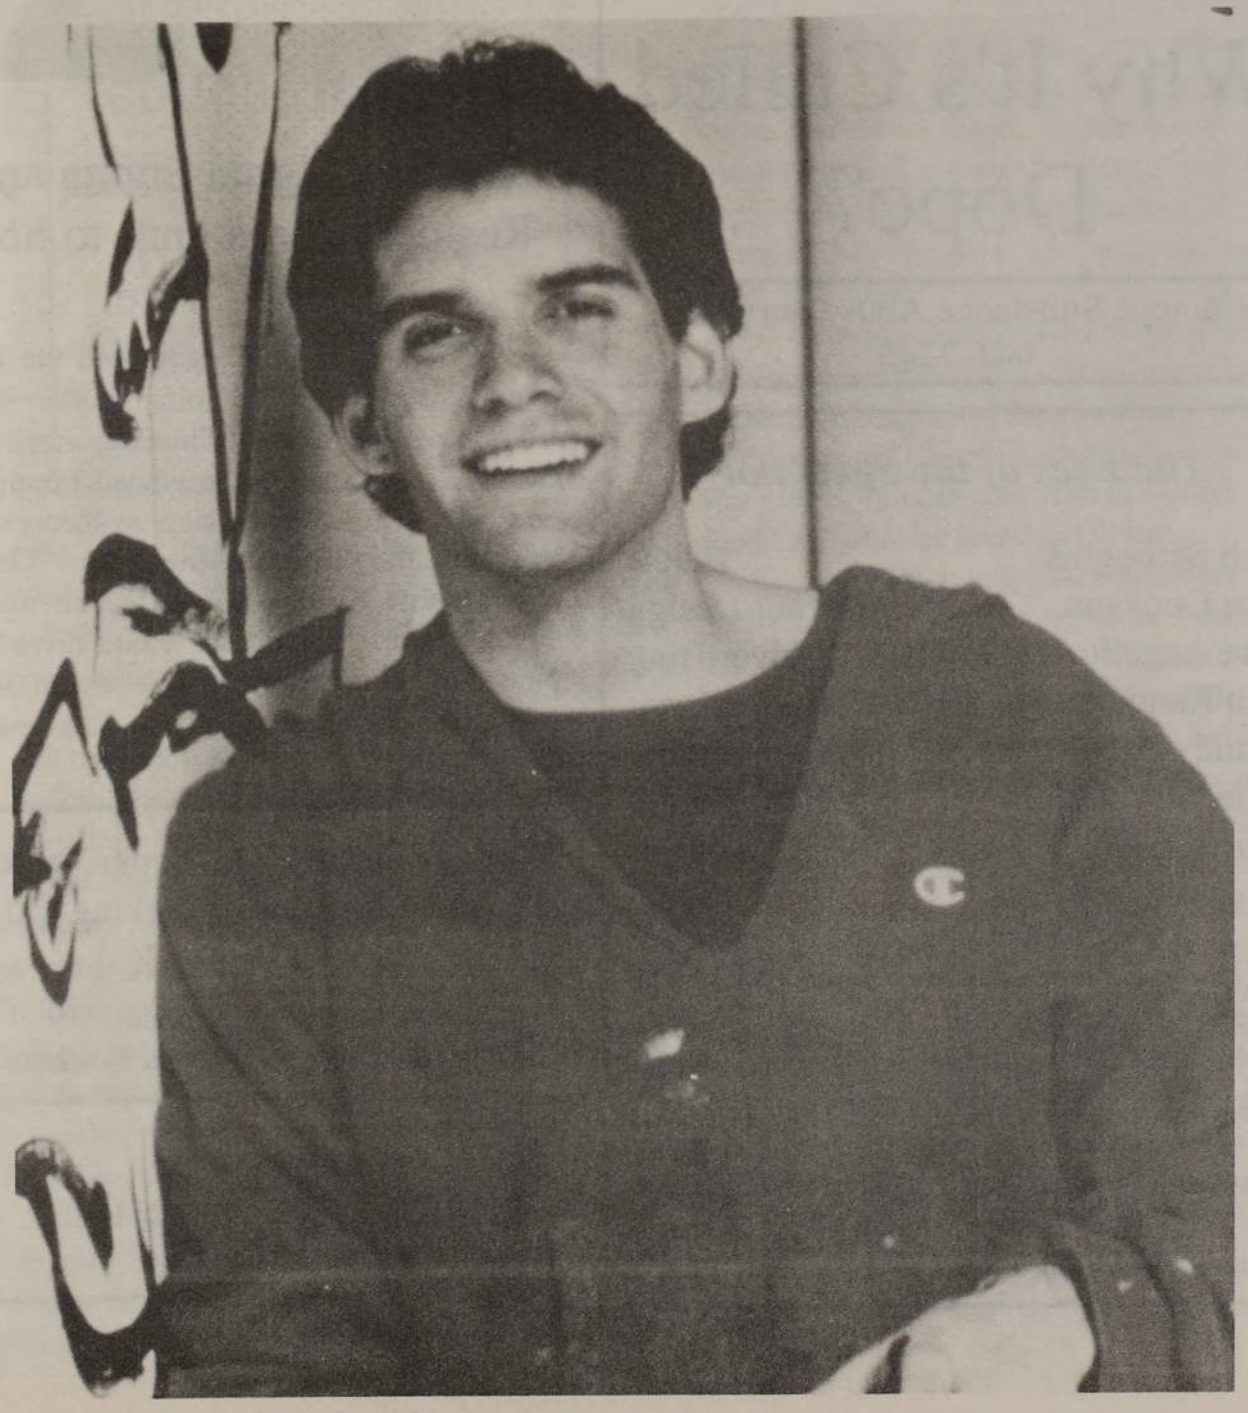

On Tuesday, April 4th the Husson College Cultural Committee presented a lecture by Judd Winick, one of the stars of MTV's Real World. The lecture was held in Kominsky Auditorium and had an excellent turnout.

Judd began his lecture by sharing stories of his childhood as well as his college days. Winick, who is a professional cartoonist, applied to be on the show after financial restraints forced him to move in with his parents. Judd agreed to have his life filmed in return for free room and board in San Francisco, California.

The producers of the show forwarned Judd that one of his roommates was infected with the AIDS virus. They failed to tell him though who it was. When Judd moved into the house he had several stereotypes toward the AIDS virus and its victims. He even recalled thinking Puck was the one with AIDS because of the way he looked. This in itself is a sterotype as in reality people infected with the AIDS virus don't look any different than people not infected. After discussions with Pedro Zamora, the person he shared a room with, he discovered that Pedro was the one infected. Throughout the show Judd and Pedro became very close friends. Pedro, an AIDS educator, discussed with Judd and the other roomates the sterotypes of the AIDS virus as well as his sexuality. Pedro informed the group that he was homosexual, but a rising number of new AIDS victims are heterosexuals. As the filming of the show went on Pedro continued to educate his fellow roommates. In the late fall of 1994 Pedro grew very sick and tragically died.

Looking back on the situation, Judd was totally unaware of the effect that Pedro would have on his life. He attended gay rights movements as well as becoming educated on the AIDS virus.

Before his death Pedro had asked Judd to take over his job as an AIDS educater. Because of the dramatic effect Pedro had on his life, Winick can now be found doing a number of AIDS presentations, any where from 12-28 a month.

Library Hours to be shortened on April 25th and 26th

On Tuesday, April 25, the library reference room, including the computers, will close at noon due to the Family Business Seminar. It will reopen on Wednesday, April 26, in the late afternoon.

On Wednesday, April 26, the library will be open for quiet study and for checking out and returning books until about 2 p.m. Remember, if you're looking for a quiet place to study the peer tutor room is open all day.

On Thursday, April 27, normal services will resume. If you have any questions about the changes, please stop by the Library, or call 941-7188.

Women Across Campus Hold Lecture on Quilting

On April 21st the Husson College Women Across Campus Lecture Series will present Dr. Kristin Langellier of the University of Maine, at Orono. She will present her topic, "Maine Quilters: Stitching Seams in the Fabric of Life." She will show slides and talk about her knowledge of contemporary quilting in Maine and what quilt making has meant to women throughout history. So, if you are interested in quilting, the presentation will take place in Kominsky Auditorium at noon. The public is invited to attend and bag lunches will be available to the first forty people who arrive.

Bold As Love: A Jimi Hendrix Tribute

David Wayne Prout was introduced to the music of Jimi Hendrix when his older brother played him the song, "All Along the Watchtower", when Prout was only nine years old. Ever since that day he has been obsessed with this famous musician. Prout has taken his obsession and turned it into a career. He has formed "Bold As Love", a tribute band to the late Jimi Hendrix.

Prout claims to have been influenced by Hendrix's emotion and imagination as well as his guitar playing though he spent years listening to Hendrix's material before actually trying to play it. Prior to "Bold as Love" Prout had experience playing with drummer Ron C. and bassist Joe Mack for two years. He then played in a band called "Kiss the Sky". However, they were more rock players than blues and jazz artists. Ironically, Ron C. and Joe Mack came together with the group "Kiss the Sky" to form the tribute band "Bold as Love".

Prout is also working on some of his own material in the studio now as well. He is producing some material with Ron and Joe which has been played on their local radio station WHCN. However, Prout's first love will always remain with Hendrix and playing in the tribute band "Bold as Love".

No One Deserves to Be Treated Like That

by Veronica Summers

It was June, 1993. I had just passed eleventh grade in high school and now it was time for senior week. I had all the essentials I needed: room, food, alcohol and money. The week flew by fast, thank God I had to catch snap shots of everyone, so I took pictures. While running around with my camera some friends asked me to come in their room to take pictures of Todd who was passed out on the bed. As I took the pictures they shaved his leg and his eyebrow and wrote all over his chest with lipstick.

A week or two went by and the pictures were developed. When I received the pictures, I quickly skimmed through them and stuffed them in my photo album. My ride was waiting outside and I couldn't wait to show the pictures to my friends at the party. After looking through the pictures, someone noticed the tip of Todd's penis was hanging out the top of his shorts. The news traveled fast around the party and sure enough everyone knew.

During the next two weeks all I heard about was the rage Todd was in. I also heard he was considering coming after me and I knew Todd had a bad reputation when it came to personal control. It was only days after my seventeenth birthday and my friend Heinz was throwing a party. Heinz was expecting over fifty people, including Todd. My friend Laurie and I arrived early so we could get a head start on the beer. The whole community knew Todd was angry with me and wanted revenge. Heinz approached me early in the party and said, "Look, I know Todd will probably try coming here and I know he's after you, don't worry. I either won't let him in or I'll make sure he doesn't touch you. Besides, I doubt he'll do anything anyway." I replied, "Yeah, but Heinz don't you think that if Todd is angry enough and since he's such a lunatic that he'll try to do something?" Heinz said, "I wouldn't worry, I doubt he'd try anything here." I said, "OK, I guess I'm not worried anyway."

The time flew by quickly and before I knew it it was 9:00 p.m. The people were piling in fast, but the beer was going faster. The only two people that were old enough to go replenish our stock of beer were Heinz and Gary. These were the two that said they would watch out for me. This didn't do a lot of good for me if they were leaving, but I figured if I just sat here and kept to myself I'd be fine-WRONG!

It was 9:05 as I read on my watch. I picked my head up to find my beer on the dirty, crowded table. This was only my second beer, so I drank fast to try to get a quick buzz before the night ended. While I gulped some more beer, my eyes drifted over the rim of my cup. I began to eye down the room of drunk people. As my eyes stared straight ahead, in walked Todd with his obnoxious buddies.

I sat calmly on the far right of the couch, while Todd's "on again-off again", air headed girlfriend sat on the far left. Racheal was always in her own little world, especially tonight. Todd and Racheal were in the offstage of their strange relationship. She caught his eye, then he caught mine. I suppose he thought he'd be slick to come sit in between us. As he entered the room where Racheal and I were sitting, the people at the party lowered the noise to a complete silence. Everyone stopped dead in their tracks, and watched Todd sit down between the two of us.

After he kindly greeted both of us, the party slowly started up again. Todd kept a conversation with Racheal while the party kept their eye on me, waiting for Todd to make a move. My heart pounded so hard I'm sure that other people in the room could hear it. I was extremely nervous and swallowed a lump of fear. Heinz and Gary still hadn't returned from the beer run, so I was all by my lonesome.

Todd had just finished a conversation with Racheal, then suddenly turned to me. He asked, "Do you have the  pictures?" I replied, "No I do not." After he asked me three more times for the pictures I answered, "What do you think I carry the damn things around in my back pocket?" While answering his question, I was just picking up my cup to take a sip of my beer. Suddenly, he slammed the cup into my face, crushing it into several pieces. The beer that once filled my cup now drenched my whole front. There was not a second wasted until Todd went into a rage.

"...before I knew it there wasn't an area on me that wasn't getting hit. I just sat there curled up in a ball in the corner of the couch, feeling immense, painful blows to my head and shoulders."

The first punch went to my cheek, then my ear. Before I knew it there wasn't an area on me that wasn't getting hit. I just sat there curled up in a ball in the corner of the couch, feeling immense, painful blows to my head and shoulders. I was able to catch a few glimpses of the crowd forming around Todd and I. Everyone just stared at us dumbfoundedly. I even saw a group of guys laughing, probably because they were too stoned to do much of anything. Everything was happening so quickly, but my mind felt like it was all in slow motion.

I tried to struggle my way out of this ball I was in, and finally got my body clear of the back of the couch. Another blow to my ear sent me flying over the arm. Finally, I managed to push myself away and onto the floor. Even though I had no strength left, I tried to squirm away. I was on my hands and knees, and tried to move but couldn't. I was facing a blaring stereo speaker and was blocked by furniture. Suddenly, I felt him kick me in the back. Something made a cracking noise and this jolt of pain ran up my spine. It seemed as if time stood still, so that I could feel every inch of pain slowly climb up my back. He kicked me five more times in the back while I lay there screaming and crying from the pain.

Out of nowhere Dankel, a girl I barely knew, jumped on Todd's back, while Beth and Shannon, two sisters who disliked me, pulled me up and away from the scene. A herd of girls walked me two rooms away to the kitchen. As I listened a group of guys verbally and physically threw Todd out of the party.

The kitchen was dark and full of people telling me my eyes were bloodshot. Someone asked if I needed ice but I replied that I was fine and could barely feel a thing. As everyone sat there making excuses for why they didn't help, I just listened and laughed to myself. Heinz and Gary finally returned with the beer and everyone rushed to tell them about the story. They both apologized and said that it never would have happened if they hadn't left. Heinz could tell I just wanted to be by myself, so he suggested that I go to the bathroom to relax.

As I started to climb the steps, the pain in my back kicked in and was hurting so much I could barely breath. My ribs and lungs felt as if they were ready to collapse. A group of girls followed me into the bathroom. I looked in the mirror. A huge stream of blood poured from my nose and mouth. Surprisingly enough nothing hurt until I looked in the mirror. Everything started to throb, bleed, and bruises of purple and red appeared. I ran my hand over my head and felt numerous amounts of cuts and bumps. My lip, ears, and nose all started to swell and ache.

I began to cry as the reality of what happened began to sink in and I worried about permanent damage to my face and back. And then, oddly enough, I began to laugh as I realized that my sisters fiancee and friends would destroy Todd for what he had done to me.

It's been a long, slow recovery for me. I still have trouble with my back. I didn't realize when I was taking those pictures that I was in essence creating a problem. I ended up pressing charges against Todd, who was only thrown in jail for a short time for violating a previous probation. He was also given an additional two years probation and told to stay clear of me.

I have learned to be more careful when participating in practical jokes and certainly to be more careful of who the person is on the receiving end. I know that I played a part in what happened to me, but the message I'm trying to send to all of you is, that no situation is so bad that a person needs to use physical violence against another person. No one deserves to be beaten up like I was.

KAPPA LAMBDA AND KAPPA DELTA PHI 1995 GREEK GAMES CHAMPIONS

By Kari Cookson

Despite the cold, rainy weather on Sunday, April 9, the members of Husson's Greek organizations flocked to Newman Gymnasium for Husson's annual Greek Games.

Greek Games is an event that is held once a year, and is sponsored by the Greek Governing Board. During this event the Sororities and Fraternities compete against one another in numerous games. The events range from volleyball and the 50 meter dash to the crab walk and the egg toss.

The games began at 11:00 a.m. with the fraternities beginning with volleyball and the sororities competing in the free throw. The games ended at 2:30 p.m. and were followed by a barbecue next to the gym.

For the Sororities Kappa Lambda finished first with Delta Sigma Delta and Epsilon Tau Epsilon coming in second and third respectfully. For the Fraternities Kappa Delta Phi took first place followed by Tau Kappa Epsilon, Mu Sigma Chi, and Tau Epsilon Phi.

TAU KAPPA EPSILON

Hello once again from the Brothers of Tau Kappa Epsilon. The Brothers are anxiously anticipating their 20th Anniversary Red Carnation Banquet which will be held at the Black Bear Inn on April 29th. This will be a night of recognition and celebration for the TKE's of Omicron Mu.

We would like to thank the school, the other organizations, and all of you for your support throughout our loss of frater Joseph Snack.

TKE would like to congratulate Kappa Lambda and Kappa Delta Phi for their greek game victories. However, the day's events could have ran much smoother if only the school would show a little interest in the greek system and contribute to the games in a positive manner. Instead the games are played and expected to be planned and coordinated by greeks. We feel (and we are sure there are other organizations who agree) that the greeks are often called upon by the school for a number of functions and also take a great deal of grief from the school, at the same time, for other fallacies. The greek games should be held with more involvement from the school because we involve the Husson Community in a number of positive ways that only enhances Husson's name. Husson could perform the small task of organizing the days events, informing officials of events and ensuring a successful day for all without too much trouble. The games are something for us to look forward to and the school's involvement or lack of only downplays the day as a whole.

Greek Banquet Held at KevLan

On Thursday, April 13, members of Husson's Greek community, along with their honored guests, attended the annual Greek Banquet at the KevLan banquet hall. Their Special guests included Dean of Student Affairs John Rubino and Director of Student Activities Julie Green. Also in attendance were advisors Charlotte Hanscomb from Epsilon Tau Epsilon, Karl McGaw of Kappa Delta Phi, and Gene Hamm the Greek Governing Board Advisor. Advisors recognized, but not present were, Tau Epsilon Phi's Bonnie Haghkedar, Tau Kappa Epsilon's Dr. Kilroy, Delta Sigma Delta's Joyce Goodine, and Mu Sigma Chi's John Hunnefeld.

The banquet began with a social hour at 6 p.m. and was followed by a full course dinner served at 7 p.m. Following the dinner Dean Rubino addressed the Greek Community with a short inspirational speech. Julie Green then presented the Greeks with several awards.

Winning trophies for their performances in the Greek Games, were Kappa Lambda and Kappa Delta Phi. Plaques were also presented in the Following areas.

KAPPA LAMBDA

Hello to everyone from the Sisters of Kappa Lambda. Well, it seems that Spring may finally be here which means we have only a short time left of the school year.

For end of the semester activities we are participating in the MS Walk on April 23, and the March of Dimes Walk on April 30. We also have a bottle drive planned for April 29.

On April 9th we participated in Greek Games. Although the weather was rainy and cold we feel the day's events went well and we all had a good time.

We would like to congratulate our five new Kappa Lambda Sisters:

Crystal Burgess Tonia Dupler
Shannon Pike Jessica Smith
Katrina Whitt

Congratulations girls, we love ya!!

We would also like to congratulate our brothers, Kappa Delta Phi, for their Greek Games victory. Great job guys!!!

Husson College Kappa Delta Phi Wins "Outstanding Chapter Award"

The Brothers of Kappa Delta Phi, Lambda Chapter have been very busy this semester. On March 31- April 1 we attended our annual convention, which was held this year in Bridgewater, Massachusettes. Annual Convention is an opportunity for the Brothers to talk and share ideas with the brothers from Kappa Delta Phi Chapters in the New England area. Lambda Chapter was also presented with three awards at convention. The Outstanding Chapter Award, a Philanthrophy Award, and Lambda President Jim Robertson was awarded the Outstanding Leader Award.

On April 9, the brothers participated in Greek Games. Greek Games is the one chance a year for all the greeks on campus to get together, to have fun while also engaging in some friendly competition. The games were very close this year. Kappa Delta Phi won this years Fraternity Greek Games. While Kappa Lambda, our sister soriety, won first place in the sorieties.

On April 13, the Greek Banquet was held at KevLan gas station. At the Greek Banquet, awards are given out to the fraternities and sorities for social service, greek games, as well as academic achivement.

Kappa Delta Phi to Help March of Dimes in Annual Walk America

The brothers will again this year be helping in the March of Dimes Walk America. In past years, the brothers have arranged water station tabels, cooked hot dogs for the participants, and served them lunch. Walk America is a good chance to exercise your body as well as donate money to a charitable organization.

For more information on how to get involved with the March of Dimes Walk America, contact any Kappa Brother or the Bangor March of Dimes.

We hope everyone will be taking part in all of the cheif week events that will be going on this week. Chief Week starts early Wednesday, and the party on Friday is going to be one you can't miss.

With only three weeks left in the semester, we would like to remind everybody to have fun, but keep their grades up.

DELTA SIGMA DELTA

Hi everyone! Another busy semester is almost over. Last weekend was very special for all of us. On March 31 we had our annual party, the Blue Hawaiian. We'd like to thank everyone who came over to the WigWam. It was a great turn out and an overall good time. On Saturday, April 1st, our sixth annual alumni banquet was held at Jeff's Catering. It was a memorable night for all of us. As for the rest of the semester, the sisters are planning some fundraising activities and social service events. With Chief Week and Spring Fling just around the corner we hope the remainder of the semester is enjoyable for everyone.

Profile of a Family Business

In honor of National Secretaries' Week, Husson College is pleased to present Nancy J. Raye at a Business Breakfast to be held on Thursday, April 27th at 7:30 a.m. in the Dickerman Dining Commons. The cost to attend is $6.00 per person. You can call 941-7073 to make your reservations. Raye owns and manages the family's mustard business in Eastport, Maine, which was established by her grandfather, John Wesley Raye in 1903. Begun as a manufacturer of packing sauce for then a thriving sardine industry, the Raye Mustard Mill has become a producer of a variety of fine mustards, which are being distributed throughout the world. The company's old mill has had a recent facelift and regular tours of the facility are offered to visitors.

Raye has a rich and varied background in financial management, accounting, and community service. After receiving a degree in psychology from Sonoma State College in California she worked with area school systems and for ten years was a business consultant to small business owners. She has also worked in the maritime industry.

In 1994 Raye was Maine's Woman Business Owner of the Year in recognition of her revitalization of the family business during the five years she has been at the helm.

PBL Members to Attend National Leadership Conference In Orlando Florida

By Brandy Allen

The end of the semester is coming near and people are preparing for the following fall semester. At PBL's last meeting, held on April 12th, nominations were made for executive positions for the next academic year.

PBL has been very active throughout the spring semester on both the state and local level. Agenda's are being made for the state meetings and leadership conference in the fall. PBL is also attending a National Leadership Conference in Orlando Florida in July. Here PBL members from all over the United States will be attending the conference.

The fundraising committee is holding a Chief Week bottle drive and will be collecting bottles off-campus. PBL has a few Pizza Hut Gold Cards left to sell. These are good through to July 1, 1996 and are on sale for $7.00 each.

PBL members will also be participating in the walk-a-thon that will be held on Sunday, April 30th. Pledge sheets will be handed out to all of the participants so if you are not in the walk-a-thon please help out those who are trying to raise money for a good cause.

PBL is also doing a community service project with Delta Sigma Delta. The two organizations will be assisting Downeast Elementary School at their carnival which will be held on May 6th.

Like many other organizations PBL is also planning their year-end banquet.

WWF's WrestleMania XI

by Rob Ranquist

On the weekend of April 1, I attended WrestleMania XI and all the festivities surrounding it. It was held in Hartford Connecticut at the Hartford Civic Center. I made the trip and attended all the festivities with James "HellJack" Townsend. Townsend, a former NESB student, is now employed as a master controllsman at WVII-TV Channel 7.

We had the opportunity to meet many of the top WWF Superstars while attending the Fan Festival. Fan Festival is an event that the WWF holds for a couple of days before the actual WrestleMania. Fan Festival gives people the opportunity to meet the Superstars, have pictures taken with them, and obtain autographs. Upon arriving at the Fan Festival we immediately started mingling with the Superstars.

First, I met and had my picture taken with my personal favorite Superstar, Bret "The Hitman" Hart. We got to meet and get autographs from the Undertaker and his manager Paul Bearer. Other Superstars that we were able to meet with were Captain Lou Albano, Owen Hart, the Portugese Man of War Aldo Montoya, Alundra Blayze, Nikolai Volkoff, Dink the Clown, and WWF Ring Announcer Howard Finkel. We were also able to meet WWF Hall of Famers Gorilla Monsoon and Chief Jay Strongbow.

We were in attendance for a taping of the Heartbreak Hotel with Shawn Michael and his guests the Blu Brothers. Then we were there for a taping of the Kings Court with Jerry "the King" Lawler and his guest King Kong Bundy. Another WWF Superstar, Man Mountain Rock, entertained everybody by playing his guitar. Finally, I was able to sit with WWF commentator Stan Lane and commentate a match. I was later able to buy a copy of the video tape.

After a long anticipated wait, it was finally time for WrestleMania XI. Within one hour after the doors opened the Civic Center was packed solid. You could feel the excitement mounting in the sold out Civic Center.

The event started off with a member from the Special Olympics singing "America the Beautiful". All of the matches that evening were exciting and lived up to their billing. There were many other stars there outside of the WWF superstars. Jonathan Taylor Thomas, the voice of young Simba in the Lion King, and the star from Home Improvement was on hand. From NYPD Blue, Nicholas Turturro was in attendance. Jennifer McCarthy from MTV and Pamela Anderson from Baywatch were both also there.

Future NFL Hall of Famer Lawrence Taylor was there to wrestle in a once in a lifetime match against Bam Bam Bigelow. In his corner Lawrence had five top NFL players and Grammy award winning rap group Salt 'n Pepa were there in support. They performed a modified version of their song "What a Man." All in all, it was a weekend full of fun, excitement and meeting a lot of stars.

Hreben and Murray Pitch Excellent Games Against UMPI

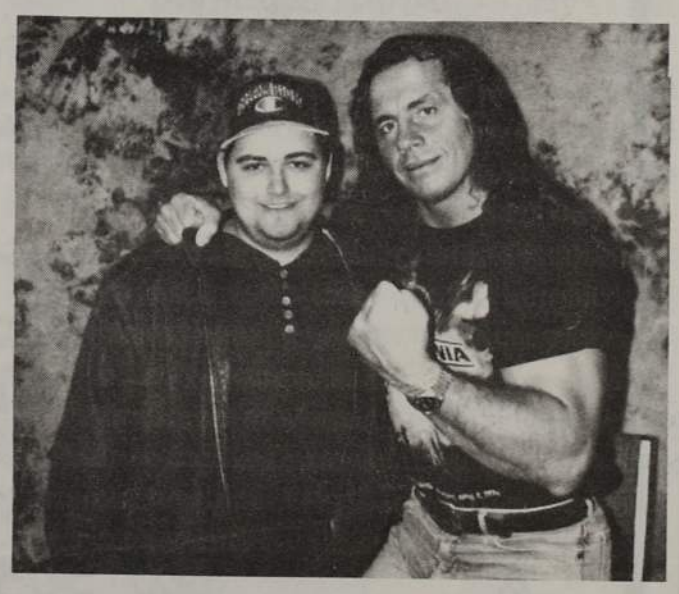

The Husson Braves baseball team hosted their first home game of the season last Tuesday. They played in a double header against the University of Maine at Presque Isle. Mark Hreben and Eric Murray both pitched themselves wins in Husson's sweep over UMPI.

Mark Hreben pitched an 11 strikeout, 3 hit game for the 8-0 win. Incidently, all three hits were only singles. On the offensive end of the game the Braves did a good job with the bat. J.J. Novak, Mike McBride, and Matt Alaimo each had doubles. Troy Martin batted in a triple. Novak and Roy Peary each scored two runs for the Braves.

Eric Murray, who pitched the second game, also had 11 strikeouts. On the mound Murray only gave up two walks and one single. This led his team to a 15-0 win. This game was over after the 5th inning because of the "10 run rule". Martin, Anderson, Boure, and Alaimo each had doubles for the Braves. Bill Swift scored three of the runs, while Novak, Martin, and John McCarty each scored two. The team batting average for this game was an amazing .440.

The teams record is now 9-12. On this, Coach Kolasinski said, "We're obviously not where we expected to be, but we're happy with the way that we are playing, and that's very well."

Come check out the Braves in their upcoming home games including games on April 18th against Maine at 5:30 p.m. April 20th against Colby College at 3:00 p.m., April 22nd against Lyndon State College at noon, and April 23rd against the University of Maine at Farmington at 1:00 p.m. Go down to Newman Gymnasium and show your school spirit.

Arthurs Takes Over Softball Team After Whiting Resigns

Husson softball coach Shannon Whiting resigned Friday, March 31. Whiting, who played for Husson herself, started off as assistant coach 9 years ago. After 5 years as an assistant, she became head coach for the Braves. Whiting was awarded the NAIA District 5, Western Maine Athletic Conference, and MAIAW Coach of the Year 2 years ago.

Amy Dyer, senior captain, said "A lot of people had a lot of different perspectives on her. Some of us thought she was a great coach and others thought she did things in a negative way. I have all the respect in the world for her."

Husson's new softball coach is Butch Arthurs who has 18 years of experience behind him. Butch is the Athletic Director, Assistant Principal, and Head Coach of the Football team at Belfast High School. Arthurs, a Lincoln native, had his first games with the team last weekend as they went 2-1.

As far as the rest of the season, how will the team be affected? Pam Hennessey thinks the team will get it together and she doesn't anticipate that this will have any affect on them. "I think this is the strongest team Husson's ever had, they've got a record of 15-3, and they'll be hosting the North Regionals in May. They've got a lot to look forward to." She also hasn't seen that this has affected any of the players off the field. "I think they've all put it behind them and are ready to play softball."

MacGregor Attends NCAA Final Four Games

Husson faculty member Bruce MacGregor had the opportunity to attend the semifinals of the NCAA Final Four, and all the activities that surrond it. He had a fabulous time while there and brought back a lot of memories that he was more than happy to share.

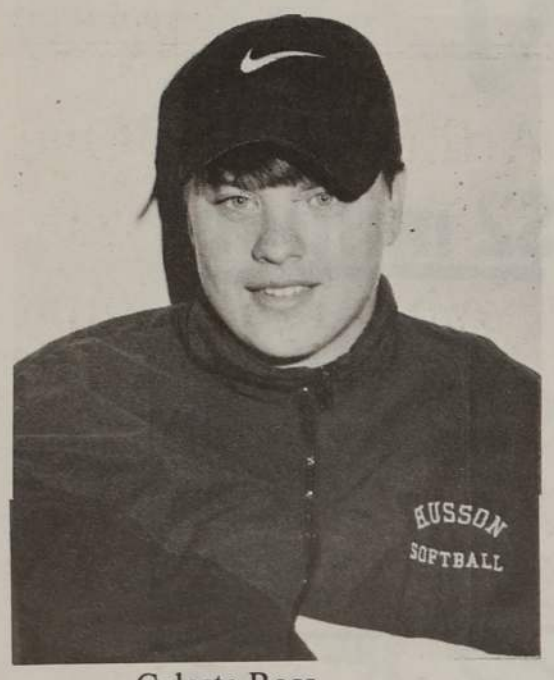

The events took place at the King Dome in Seattle which seats 68,000 people, and every seat was full. There were approximately 30,000 people there just to watch the practice sessions. While watching one of the practices he saw the player nicknamed Big Country break the backboard.

While trying to sit down at one of the games, Coach MacGregor was delayed through most of the first half, as a woman gave birth in the aisle.

MacGregor was there for the All-Star game, the slam dunk contest, and the 3 point contest. During the day there were also many fan festivities going on for spectators and especially kids.

During the tournament the city of Seattle was overrun with people. The tornament turned out to be an exciting event for all who attended or watched the event on T.V. Coach MacGregor also got to top off his trip with a banquet held the night before the championship games. All the coaches and players were there and a thousand special guests.

Husson Opinions

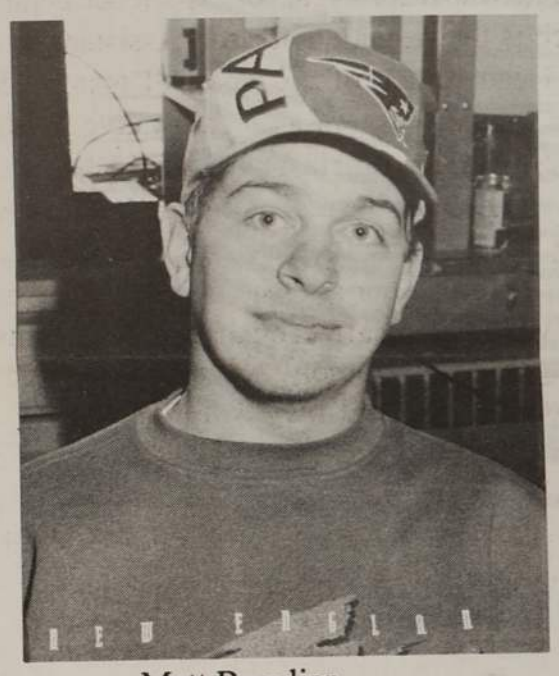

Celeste Ross
"New furniture, and more student activities in the dorms."

Erin Clark
"New furniture and we need heat and cleaner bathrooms."

Dereck Archer
"I'd like to see hot water in the morning, because I don't like going to classes as a sweat hog."

Matt Beaulier
"We should have cable in the rooms."

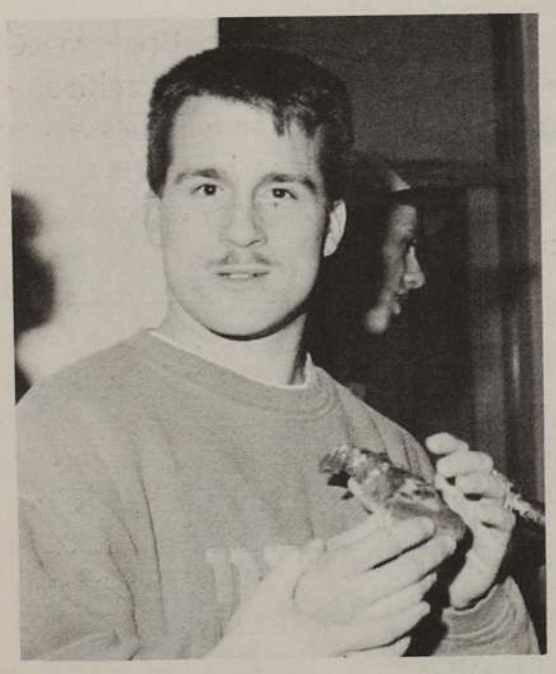

POLL QUESTION:

What changes would you like to see in the dorms for the 1995-1996 school year?

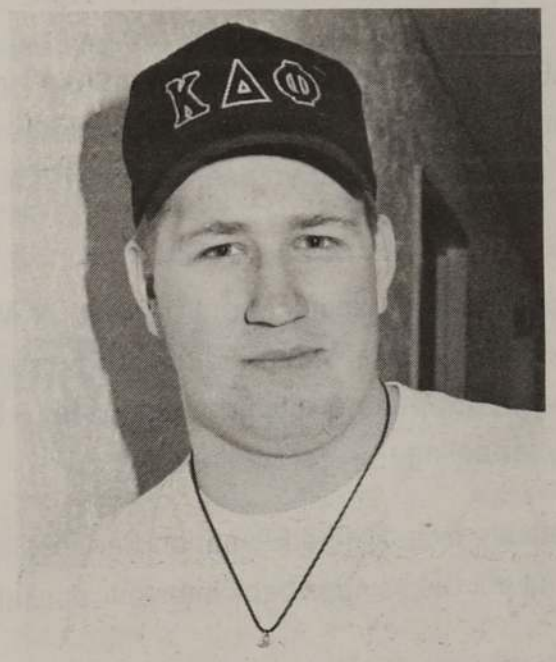

by: Julie Buffington

Shauvon Smith
"I want cable T.V., - heat, and hot water!"

Matt Roy
"I would like to see cable, and new furniture in Hart. I would also like to see more posters of Mariah Carey!"

Chris Sargent
"I'd like to see cable, new furniture, kegs back on campus and hall parties."

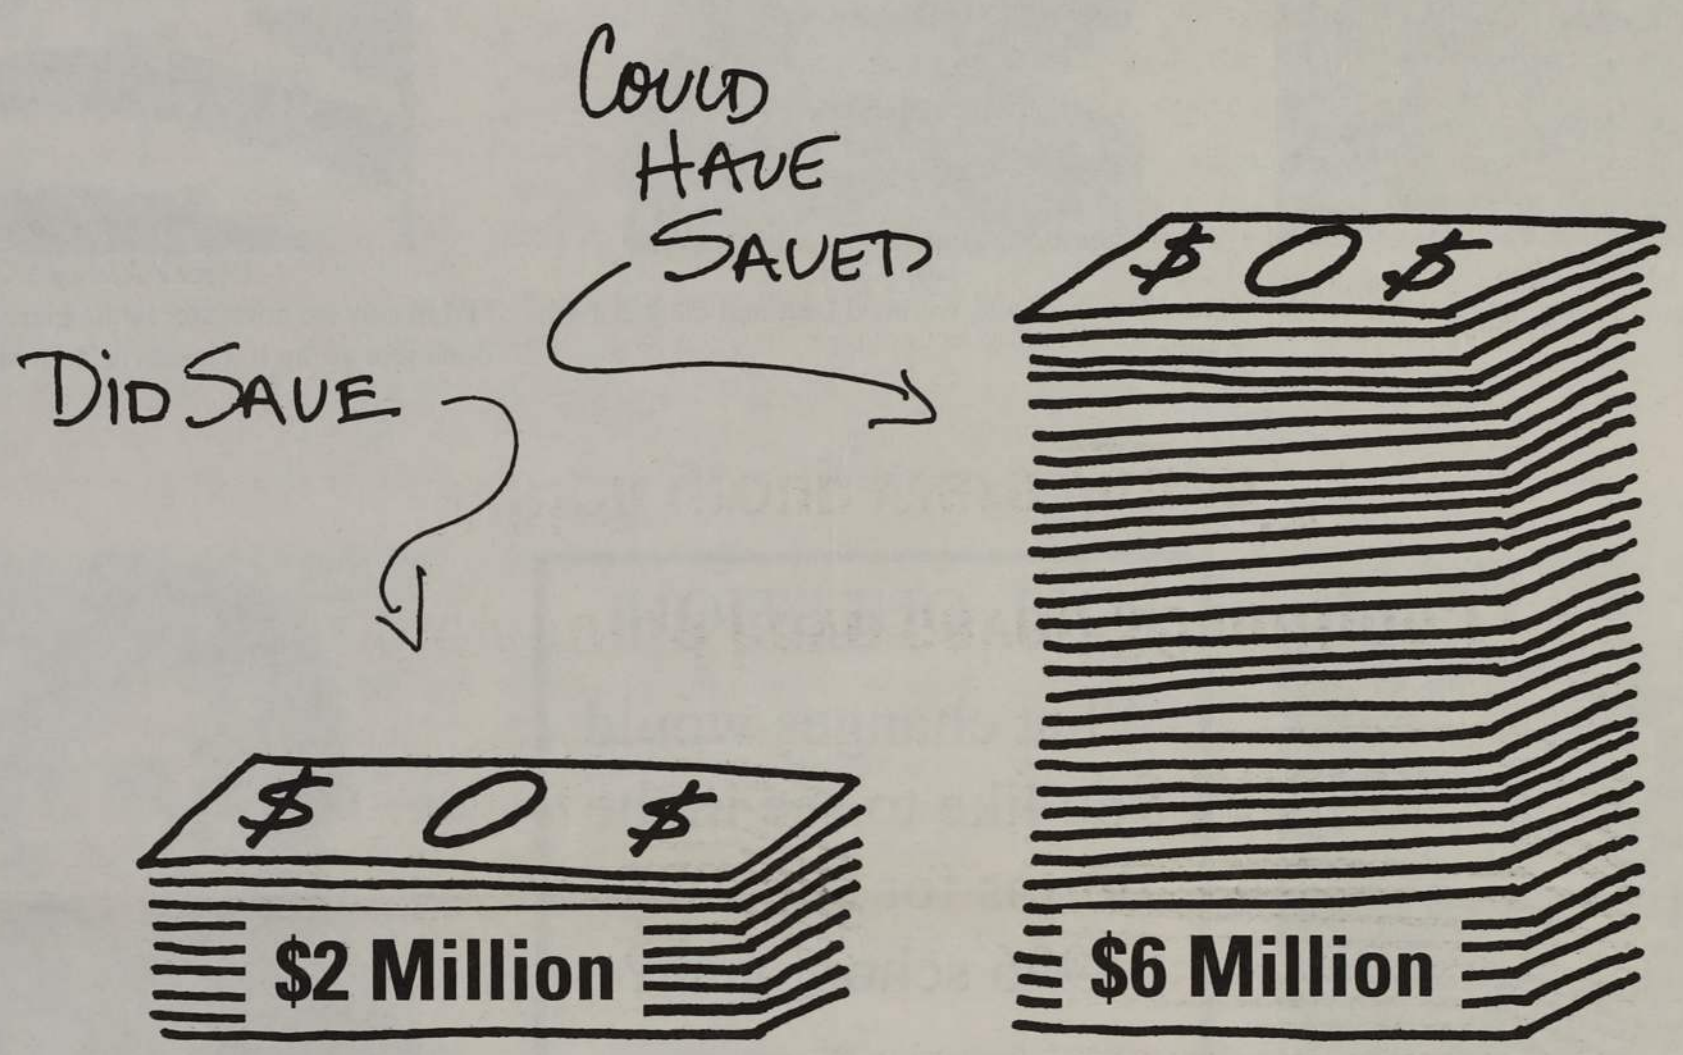

Alea Goins
"More money for R.A.'s, and benefits, and I would like people to respect others for themselves and not their color."
