SENATE IN ACTION

by Rick Diamon

The Husson College Student Senate met March 9, in Kominsky Auditorium at 6:30.

The Entertainment Committee announced that the Tidal Waves, a group that is touring with the Rolling Stones will play April 17. This concert will be in conjunction with Chief Week, there will be another concert during Greek Weekend on May 1. As of yet, the group has not been chosen but there are several big name groups under consideration.

It was decided that a student assembly for the entire school will be held on Wednesday March 18 at 10 a.m. The agenda for the assembly will include: recognition of this year's excellent basketball team, information about the radio station, and progress on the accreditation of the college.

Finally the new Radio station was discussed and it was reported that the FCC applications will soon be filled out. As of today the senate has not heard from each class on how much money they will contribute to the station. It was decided to ask all organizations to contribute to the Radio Station. If the equipment for the radio station is ordered after FCC approval, the radio will not be in operation this year.

With all business discussed the meeting was adjourned.

REVIEW FOR COME BLOW YOUR HORN

by Tim Tyler
Lynda Allen

Opening night for the production "Come Blow Your Horn", by Neil Smith, was Wednesday, March 11, in Kominsky Auditorium.

Under the direction of Mr. Albert Weymouth, the Husson Players did an outstanding performance. What is really surprising is that the humorous lines were truly funny and not left hanging or skipped over.

The play is initiated by Buddy Baker, (Robert Strachen) who has just left home for the first time. He flees to his playboy brother's apartment in the East 60's of New York City, where all the action takes place.

At the beginning of the play it is hard to put John Kearney in the part of a Romeo, but before the end of Act I, you are so totally involved with him and his actions that you forget who the person really is.

Mr. Baker (Al Whiting) portrayed the boy's father, a man subject to fits of outrageously narrow-minded anger. His accent was quite cultivated, but his actions were a little too exaggerated and mostly to the benefit of the rear wall of the set.

Michaele Terrio did a precious job in her hilarious role as Mrs. Baker, especially in the telephone scene.

The supporting actors did an adequate job and also deserve credit for keeping the action rolling.

Because of the unfortunate lack of a stage, the audience seems to almost be a part of the action. This puts more pressure on the actors, the stage managers, sound effects, but the audience reacted very well.

The end of the play presented an insufficient climax due to all the building up during the second and third acts. The play abruptly ended while the audience waited for further action.

All in all the acting is hilarious and the student actors should be commended on their fine performance.

"CHIEF WEEK"

by Paul LePage

That yearly spectacular is once again rapidly approaching. We are but a month away from the week of all weeks, "Chief Week." A time of year when students rally up and have a good time. It may well be the best social activity on campus, but keep in mind, it is also a time where long, hard hours of planning and work take place. Campaigns have to get set up, which consist of skits, parades, posters speeches, games, and many other extra-curricular actitivities.

This year's campaigners are already well on their way, soliciting support for their individual camps. We hope to have the best week ever and in order to achieve this goal students must participate. Many may say that "Chief Week" is primarily for Greeks, but this is not true. There are approximately 200 Greeks on campus, this includes fraternities and sororities, and the student population is well over 1100. Last year well over 900 students took part in "Chief Week." Statistics show that it is for all students and all students should take an interest. After all, the person elected "Chief" serves as president of Husson College for a day. This in itself is a great honor and students must be selective on who they elect to this position.

This year's candidates are all wellqualified candidates and seem very enthusiastic to begin campaigning.

The candidates for this year's Chief-for-a-Day are: Robert Tomasino, a senior, along with his running mate, Janet Marr (junior). Their theme is "Batman." Pete Stricos (senior) and Jean Robinson (freshmen) will campaign with the theme of "The Galloping Gourmets."

Jim Flahive (senior) with his assistant, Maureen Murphy (senior) will display "The Husson Hillbillies" in action. Romeo Parent (senior) along with his secretary [illegible] Joyce Carroll (senior) will campaign with "Peter Pan" as their theme.

Best of luck to all the candidates, with their campaigns.

EDITORIALS

THANK YOU NOTE

This is our third issue of the new weekly newspaper, and the staff is very happy with the interest the students have shown in this new supplement. It is a great feeling to know that the student body is in full support of the Spectator.

We also like to thank the advertisers who are the primary supporters of the newspaper, and urge the Husson students to support the advertiser that support the Spectator.

The interest displayed by the student body is a step forward in destroying the communications gap. Organizations have been very cooperative in supplying material on their activities, and students have been expressing themselves in print which we feel is what has made the newspaper a success. We are satisfied with the results and hope its success will continue. Since, we had never had a weekly it has presented many little problems, which we hope to solve in the near future. One problem is meeting deadlines. In order to successfully print a weekly every Wednesday, we are forced to set deadlines. Any student, faculty, administrator, or organization on campus, that would like to submit an article must do so one week before it is to be published. In other words, the article must be submitted to the Senate office on the Wednesday prior to the date it is to appear in the Spectator. We would appreciate your cooperation in doing this because of the time period, and the amount of work involved in the production of the Spectator. Time will be alotted for last minute news stories, but it is impossible for us to produce the paper if the material is submitted on Fridays and Saturdays. We are confident that with your cooperation, we will be able to solve our problem and be able to print a better newspaper. Thank you again for your support.

WHY NO DRESS CODE?
by "Gooba"

Recently, while reading a national magazine, I ran across an interesting article. Perhaps this is why the long awaited dress code revisions are proposed as indicated in the March 4 edition of SPECTATOR'

HIGH SCHOOL OR COLLEGE

A rather interesting event has occured at Chadron State College in Nebraska showing that some colleges are still run like high schools.

One student, who is an ex-marine, was prevented from registering because of the length of his hair, moustache, and sideburns.

The college has a rule that moustaches cannot extend beyond the lip, sideburns not below the ear, and hair not touching the collar.

The case was brough to the Federal District Court and pending a decision, the student was allowed to enroll.

Chadron College then proceeded to prevent two more students from registering since the Court agreement had only to do with the first student.

An additional agreement was made, and the two were allowed in.

For more information on this case contact Bill Chaloupka Nebraska Union, Room 335, University of Nebraska, Lincoln, Nebraska 68508.

HUSSON'S FUTURE

By J. M. Roods

The future of Husson College is a questionable one in my mind. As I look at it, now after 3½ years of attendance, it has grown both physically and mentally. Potentially it has a great future what with accreditation very likely in the forseeable future, and a new president to continue "Chief" Husson's dream.

This year Husson College has seen a substantial reduction in enrollment. One of the reason's obviously, is that the 'baby boom' of World War II is over. No longer can Husson rely on overpopulation of other colleges to fill its own coffers. Another reason for a portion of this reduction is the rapid increase in tuition over the past couple of years. This is a product of our environment and what can be done about it is questionable. A third reason might be the discontent of many graduating students who refuse to sell Husson College to others.

Another reason, I am sure, is the lack of choices. Choices in curriculum, choices in courses, choices in female companionship. In a world where diversification is the magic word to success, Husson College still puts the majority of its eggs into one basket. From my viewpoint experimental and imaginative courses should be added to a dull-drab curriculum. In addition to course variances, curriculum changes should be made to attract additional female members of the world, a short commodity at Husson College.

In another area of the school is the efficient use of the facilities available, or management. At this time many rooms in the dormitories are empty and at night nearly all of the classrooms are dark. What to do with the dormitory rooms is to fill them with new students; but what of the dark classrooms?

I believe night classes for part-time students as well as full timers would be a great asset to Husson College, the students and the surrounding community of Bangor. Night courses would give Husson College additional funds as well as one more selling point. Night courses would put additional people into jobs. Night courses would, I am sure, draw many people from the area that ordinarily have not had an opportunity to attend college.

There are many other areas with in Husson College that can be markedly improved. Among the

AN OPEN LETTER

To all Students, Faculty, and Administration:

The purpose of this letter is to commend the Husson student body on its outstanding school spirit at the NAIA basketball tournament in Providence, Rhode Island.

I graduated recently from Husson and am living in North Providence. My wife and I went to the game, but didn't expect many from Husson because of the distance the students would have to travel. However, when we arrived, we were amazed by the tremendous noise and jubilation shown by a large number of Husson fans.

The showing by all Husson students were really something to be proud of, and I'm sure the students, faculty, and administration are very proud to say that they are all members of the "Husson Family."

As for the basketball team, they gave it a real good try and that's all anyone can ask for.

Again, I would like to commend Husson students on their fantastic showing in the NAIA tournament. It makes a person proud to be a graduate of such a fine college.

Sincerely yours,

William B. Pike

STUDENT SURVEY BEING HELD

A sub-committee of the Student Affairs committee has set up a questionnaire concerning drinking on campus, parietal hours, dress code, etc. The reason for this questionnaire is to find out how students feel on these questions which have become very controversial in recent months. In fact, the Student Senate recently endorsed a petition which contained ten student demands. This petition contained the above questions of drinking, parietal hours, curfews, etc., but it seems to have been lost. What happened to it?

It seems that if students have demands, they should fight for them. The petition seemed to have acquired a few names but never got anywhere.

Now, the college will present these demands in the form of a questionnaire, and will give each student the chance to express his own feelings on the controversial topics. It seems that someone's feeling out the students to see if they really want a wet campus, with no curfews and dress code.

As an individual, I am in favor of all these demands and confident that most students feel the same. The survey will be conducted this Friday, in the library and I urge all Husson College Students to take part in the survey.

Your feelings on the topic are your own and should remain that way, but you should take the opportunity to express your own ideas by taking part in the survey this Friday.

We are always being accused of being "apathetic", one way of showing that we "Give a Damn", is by answering the questions asked us on the survey.

The Best Men Need Women

(LNS)–Why are men's Ivy League colleges going coed? Because they think women deserve an education?

According to a special report prepared for the trustees, too many men Princeton applicants eventually reject the school because there weren't enough women: "Princeton must become increasingly attractive to the best applicants, and we submit that admitting women will appreciably increase that attractiveness."

In addition, an elaborate time and motion study appeared in the report, showing how much the men were inconvenienced by having to go off campus to get companionship – "The present Princeton undergraduate, like his predecessors before him, seeks the company of women – at the cost of much traveling to where the girls are."

Princeton women are a handy, time-saving device.

Outing Club News

by Richard Blafield

There will be a film at the next Outing Club meeting on March 19, at 7:00 p.m. in G130. The color film is on the Appalachian Trail system. This system is a footpath stretching 2000 miles from Mt. Katahdin in Maine to Georgia. The Outing Club is hopeful of obtaining a portion of the Appalachian Trail in Maine to maintain. This spring we plan to hike a portion of the trail near Monson, Maine. All interested students are welcome to attend the showing. Final plans will be discussed on a clam bake to be held on March 22.

Mike McPherson - There should be a different system of registration.
Bob Barr - Lack of interest in the administration towards the students in regards to their needs and interests.
Joe Gaito - The Placement Office needs improvement in regards to interviews.
Paul D'Erico - The curfews for girls.
Thomas Campbell - There are no desks for left-handed writers.
Donnie Meyers - The administration is not liberal enough.
Peggy Turnbull - The communication between the administration, faculty, and students.
Tim Quigley - The school should be more liberal.
Lynn Ellis - There are too many ridiculous rules.
Heather Linnehan - Girls lack of enthusiasm to participate in sports.
Diana Rogers - There should be an asphalt pathway from the commuter parking lot and the school.
Linda Sanford - The parking regulations.
Linda Dunnett - Too many boys and not enough girls.
Fred Clancy - The tuition is to high for an unaccredited institution.
Peter Clark - No jurisprudence. The students have no recourse to subject themselves to administrative discipline.
Mike Roods - Non-involvement in students.
Hugh Krajewski - Guidance for incoming freshmen is insufficient. Certain guidance directors are not interested in the academic progression of their students.
Mike Lewis - The channels of information within the faculty and also what the school offers for 2500 dollars a year.

ones that can be done easily is the improvement of relations between student, faculty, and administration. Eash has his own separate role in relation to the institution but despite this distinct role each one can be incorporated into one general role. This single role perhaps could be charity.

Among other areas that are not so easily revised are the areas of Public Relations, a vital point in any institution and Campus Development, despite the designers, much of the campus is not designed for the weather or the convenience of transporting oneself, in the most direct manner, to do what one has come to do.

What will happen to Husson College upon accreditation?

What will happen to enrollments when the draft is no longer a threat to a student's freedom?

What will happen if students continue to leave the halls of Husson feeling as though they were missing something?

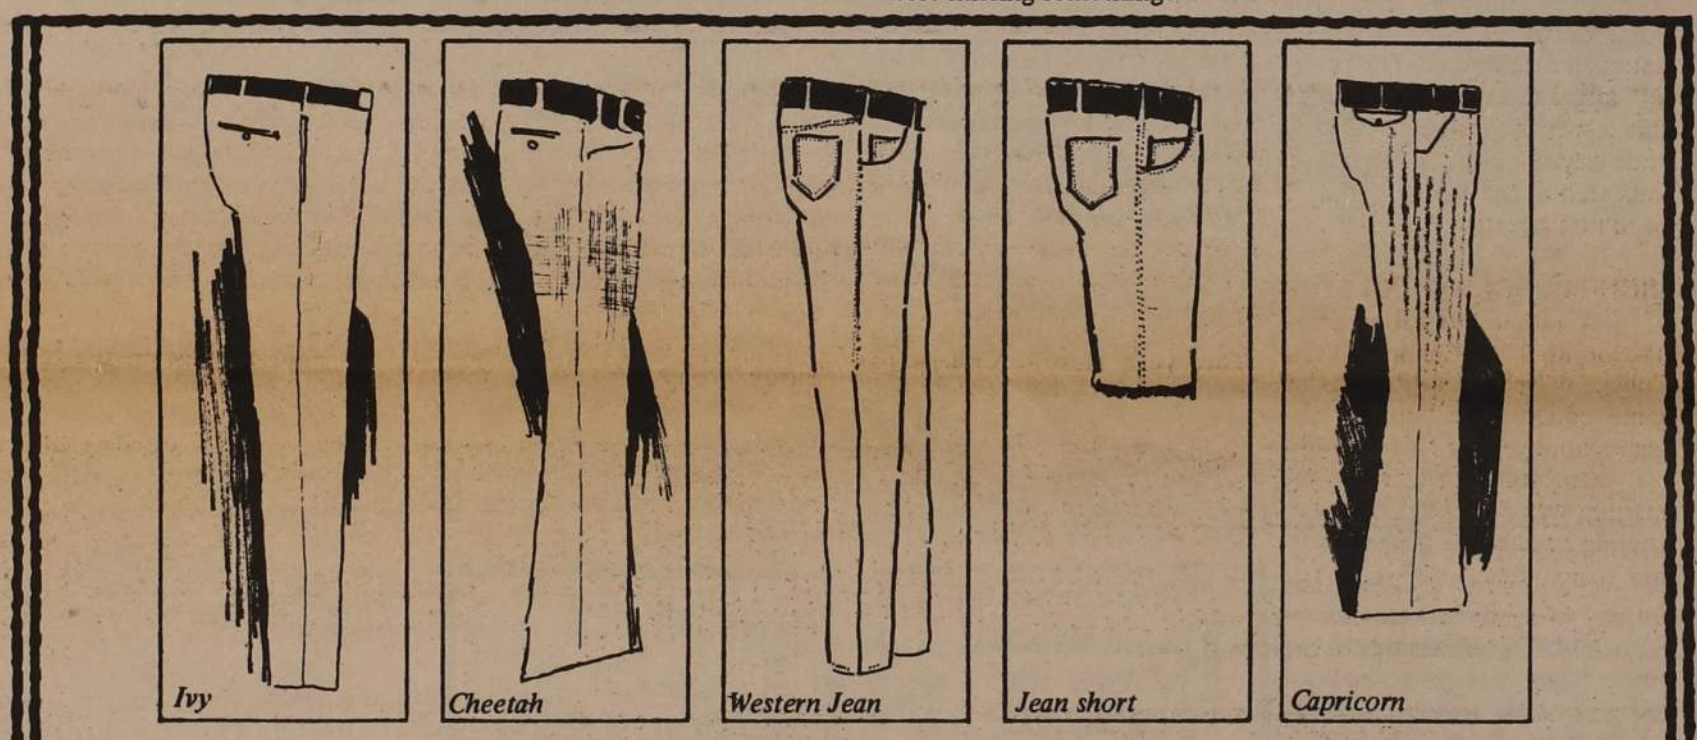

TAKE AN ART BREAK

When you find the long hours of study getting you down, take a walk to the foyer across from the library entrance and feast your eyes on the oil paintings in the display case. They are on loan to Husson College by Mr. Palmer Libby, Art Instructor at Bangor High School.

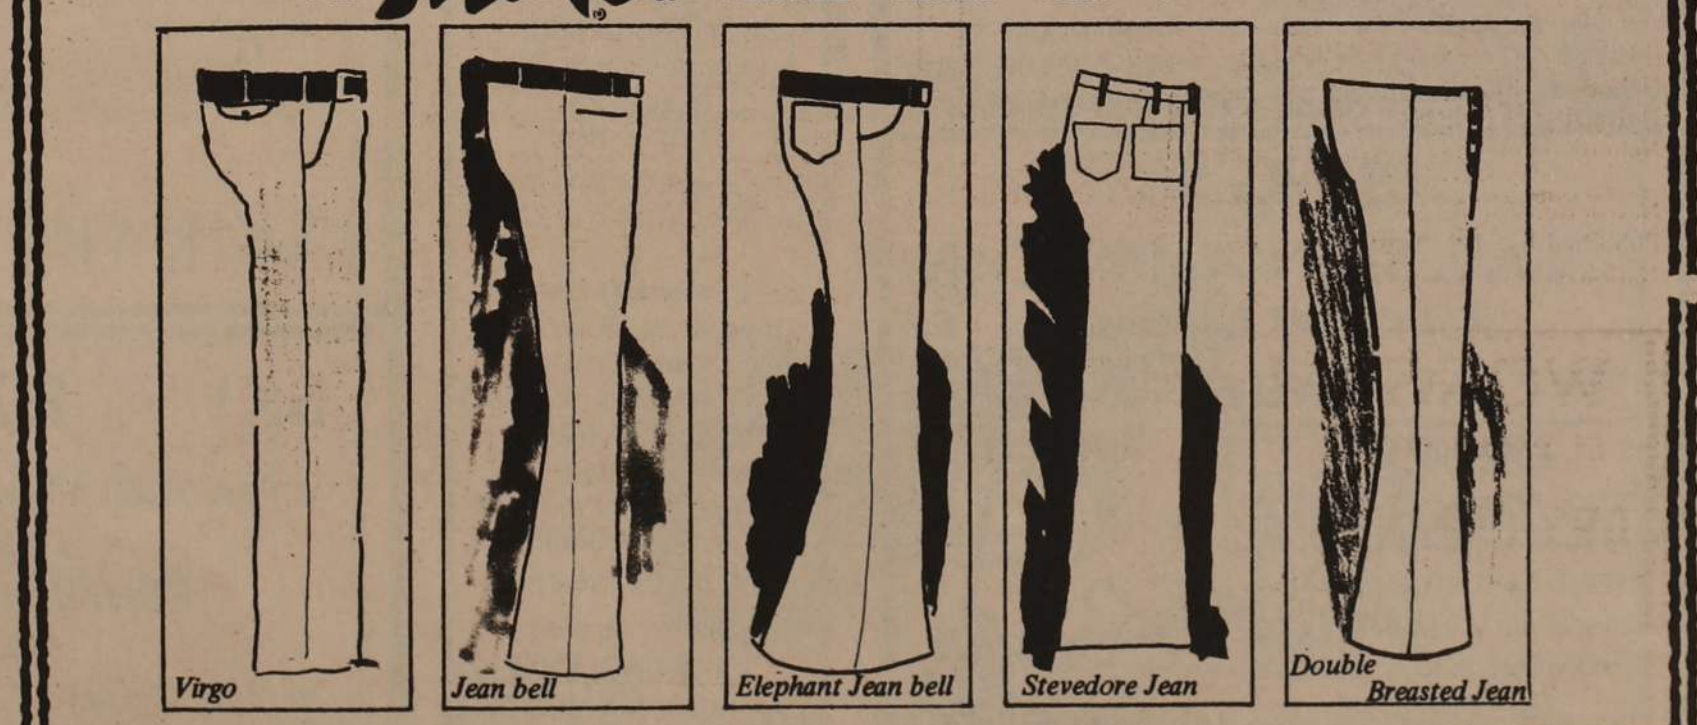

Across the hall in Kominsky Auditorium is an art show by 18 Maine Artists. You'll see water color, litographs, inks, and crayons by Emily Muir, William Shevis, Arthur Thomas, and Denny Winters among others. This show is on loan from the University of Maine Traveling Art Exhibit.

KAPPA KORNER

by Ralph Kennedy

The brothers of Kappa Delta Phi would like to congratulate the basketball team on a very successful and prosperious season. The team showed the whole college what hard work and determination mixed with good sportsmanship can mean to a college. They have given the student body something to be proud of this past season. Husson College has come of age on the basketball court, they have proven to all doubters that we can share a court with the best teams in New England. These young men deserve a resounding round of applause for their part in the growth of Husson. They have laid a fine foundation for future teams in all Husson sports to follow and build upon. This means more to our college than meets the eye. As any educator will tell you, sporting activities are an important part of a well rounded education. Throughout the country people have heard and read the name of Husson College. Where have most of us heard of the larger institutions of higher education? Face it, through a good team of some sort. Please, I'm not trying to put Husson in a league with the Ivy League or Big Ten Conference Colleges and universities, but I am saying that this team has given the student body at Husson something they have long sought, a sense of pride. It was brought out at Rhode Island College where, despite the distance, Husson had a large and spirited representation. Why? Because, the students cared and were proud of their gladiators of the court. That in itself was worth the whole basketball season. Again, congratulations to the whole team and good luck to the graduating seniors from the brothers of Kappa Delta Phi.

OUR DECLARATION OF PRINCIPLES

We, the members of Tau Kappa Epsilon Fraternity, hereby declaring our strict adherence and unswerving fidelity to what we believe to be the basic principles of true friendship, do ordain and adopt this our Declaration of Principles.

The object of this Declaration is to codify the settled convictions of this fraternity into abiding form to guide fraternal action and conduct for all time to come. And to the principles hereinafter enunciated, we individually and collectively pledge our unreserved allegiance.

Man is a social being. Our whole structure evidences the absolute interdependence of man. Reclusiveness is dwarfing to man's best qualities. Intimate and frequent contact with our fellows is necessary to symmetrical development. As a consequence, organizations whose purpose is to promote these ends are to be fostered and encouraged.

We believe that at no other period in the life of a man is the time more opportune for the fostering of such qualities than during the years of his college career. Then mind and heart are in their most receptive condition, for it is the formative period of life.

We regard mental development as of vital importance, but of equal consequence is the acquisition of a knowledge of men and a proper conception of their relation to one another. This is not obtained from texts and lectures, but from actual and intimate intercourse with men. To promote these ends is the avowed and earnest purpose of this fraternity. Fully realizing the burdens of this duty, we enter upon its performance with the conscientious purpose of adequately meeting its demands.

We maintain that exclusiveness is the direct antithesis of true fraternity. We condemn the un-American policies of some of the leading college fraternities of the country in their attitude of contempt to all who are without the bonds of fraternities, regardless of character, ability, or personal merits. Such policies we seek to avoid, as they are destructive of the very ends of true fraternity.

We believe that a fraternity should be a brotherhood in conduct as well as in name. "Faith without works is dead." Pledges of brotherhood not succeeded by observance in conduct are as "sounding brass and tinkling cymbal." By the tenor of our daily action we have solemnly obligated ourselves to observe.

The duties and obligations that subsist between the sons of the same mother should subsist between brothers in the sacred bond of this fraternity. The instinct to the observance of mutual duties that common blood supplies must be furnished by the pledges of our ritual.

We believe that the essential elements of true brotherhood are love, charity and esteem; love, that binds our hearts with the strudy chords of fraternal affection; charity, that is impulsive to see virtues in a brother and slow to reprove his faults; esteem, that is respectful to the honest convictions of others and that refrains from treading upon that which is sacred to spirit and conscience; these are the triple obligations of every brother in the bond.

We believe in secretism insofar as it enables a fraternity to protect the confidence of the brotherhood. Secrecy that is promoted for selfish purposes or utilized to cloak fraternal wrong-doings we unsparingly condemn. We uphold this policy insofar as it is necessary to insure the dignity of our ritualism and the privacy of our internal affairs. As secrecy is employed to protect and perpetuate the sancity of the family relation, so we enlist the advantage of secrecy to preserve inviolate the confidence and sanctities of the brotherhood.

Toward other fraternities we believe we should maintain and an attitude of dignity and respect, recognizing their merits and studiously avoiding their evils. We believe our relation to them is, in a measure, competitive, and that we should endeavor to excell them in the fields of college activity.

We maintain that competition may become detrimental to any school. When healthy revalry is followed by competition in which honorable methods are employed, it is a boon to the fraternity, and a benefit to the school, but when groveling and unprincipled means are employed, when school spirit and interest are subordinate to fraternal prejidice and selfishness, it becomes a "snare to the feet." and a detriment to the fraternity and to the school. Competition in such form we condemn, and pledge every effort to avoid.

Finally, above all else, this fraternity stands for Men. We believe in their equality in those things which the Creator has decreed they should equally enjoy. We consider no man from the standpoint of those qualities and advantages he has not attained by personal effort. We stand for men whose manhood has withstood the test of trying conditions. We deem sterling character and staunch uprightness to be necessary qualifications to membership in this fraternity. All else, though desirable, is secondary to these.

We, the brothers of Tau Kappa Epsilon, believe in these principles–are they principles you want to stand for?

Rush TKE Thursday, March 19, at 7:30 p.m. in the Dining Commons. A movie will be shown, and refreshments will be served. TKE wants men, TKE wants you!

IMPROVED INTERFRATERNAL RELATIONSHIPS

by James Flahive

Husson College is the home of four fraternities. Each Greek organization is organized to help young men pursue their academic and social interests to the fullest capacity. In this role, many competitions have developed which lead to contraversial issues. It is at the point where we see the differences that distinguish each fraternity here at Husson.

Personal beliefs of individual brothers often reflect a positive or negative image of their fraternities to the public. Each fraternity here at Husson has and image. Each fraternity is noted for certain actions, while each fraternity, as a group, has a certain opinion of each other. The persons who pledge one of the fraternities pledge because they have been influenced by individual brothers or by the general image portrayed by one particular fraternity.

Spring is the time when young men have the opportunity to rush the fraternity of their choice. It is also a time to make new friends in other fraternities. When I became a brother, some of my close friends became brothers of other fraternities. As I knelt to take the final vows of brotherhood, I pledged to bring the fraternitites to a friendlier relationship. And you too, rushees, as well as nonfraternal brothers, can help to close the gap between the fraternities by trying to make friends in all fraternities, not with just your favorite one – give it a try. Remember, the fraternities are organized for the same purpose, lets strive to keep all feelings mutually content.

The Greek Council has been organized to bring a closer relationship among the Greek organizations and to solve problems that may arise involving fraternity activities. This is the place where the indifferences in images of each fraternity should be discussed, not at the local bar or while you are dining.

With the help of the brothers, Greek Council, and YOU, the reader of The Spectator Husson can become a better college. Try united Friendship.

On Wednesday, March 11, election of new officers was held. Succeeding Romeo Parent as President is Mike McPherson. Mike was the First Vice President of the Fraternity this past year.

George Gendron and Tim Tyler were elected First and Second Vice Presidents, respectively. Bob Paradis, our new Treasurer, will handle the financial affairs of the Fraternity. Secretary for the forthcoming year is John Henderson. Mu Sigma Chi will be well represented in the Student Senate by the "prominent" figure of Jim "Biggy" Dionne.

All the Brothers wish the new officers the best of luck.

Friday, March 13, MEX's pre-St. Patrick's Day celebration was held at the Brewer V.F.W. hall. To the unfortunate individuals who could not attend, don't worry there are many more festivities ahead. We hope to see you there.

At this time, the Brothers wish to pay tribute to a man who has done more for us than many people realize. While working his way through Husson College, this Brother took the helm of the Fraternity and elevated it from an organization at Husson, to the top rated Fraternity on Campus.

Through many hours of hard work, persevering leadership, and admirable conscientousness of his office, Romeo Parent, stands amonst us, a true Brother.

An outstanding Greek, Romeo, will represent the Fraternity in this year's Chief Week. To Romeo and his charming runningmate, Miss Joyce Carroll, we wish you the best.

ETE

Moves Ahead

Once upon a time ETE was one of the top Greek organizations at Husson College. In fact, it had such a large membership that it was necessary to split it. ETE then became only for four-year degree girls and an entirely new sorority. DSD was chartered for the one and two-year girls.

What happened after that is in the past, and the present shows one sorority again, ETE, working hard to climb back up the ladder to stand on equal terms with the four fraternities.

ETE started to get back into the swing by holding a car-wash on October 9, behind the dining commons. It was quite successful and MEX was the cleanest frat on campus that day. On October 11 most of our sisters gladly helped in different phases of the dedication of the new campus.

November found us again raising money. This time we sold raffles for a turkey dinner; the winner was Mr. Herschel Walsh. On December 13 the sisters of ETE entered the Circle K Bed Race. Although we knew that we had no chance of outrunning the boys, we hoped to get a trophy for the most original bed. Our entry was a baby's crib decorated to look like a carriage; and it must have been effective, because we received our trophy. In keeping with the Christmas spirit, the sisters gave to two families. In December we also raised money by selling candy.

Having most of the sisters on one floor has proven to be very successful. We have a bulletin board in the hall, a banner in the lobby, and are hoping to get a trophy case. Next year we will probably fill the entire floor, thus making it definitely a "sorority floor."

Pledge period has become better, too. For the past two weeks our 20 pledges did many things that the older sisters missed when they pledged. Of course, having an exceptional pledge class made a big difference; no matter what we did with them, they always came out ahead. These new, ambitious sisters will certainly work to help make ETE better.

Now the approach of Chief-for-a-Day finds two of our sisters in campaigns – Maureen Murphy for Kappa and Janet Marr for TKE. The sisters of ETE wish them luck.

As our pledges sang last week, "Upward we will ascend, never stopping till the end, Pi Rho Zeta goes marching along."

INTRAMURALS

Women

by Lynn Ellis

Husson hostessed an Intercolligiate Basketball Tourney in the Newman Gym on Saturday, March 7, with Aroostook S. C., Farmington State College, Husson, and University of Maine teams participating.

The day began with a breakfast in the dining commons for the teams. Then the girls journeyed to the far end of the circle and began their games.

Husson played Farmington in one gym, while Aroostook State College and Maine battled it out in the other side. It sure was a battle, too! The lead changed hands every minute and a final foul shot by Maine decided the verdict with an ending score of 57-56.

Husson's girls bowed to Farmington, but Martha Deschaines, Carolee Bryant, Paula Graffam, and Dianne Moores showed some beautiful scoring. Fighting for rebounds, Beth Grover, Michelle Crowley, and Chris Roman looked real fine! They all played a fine game and Husson should be proud of them.

I would also like to thank Judy Watson for her fine operation of the scoring clock (maybe this might be a reason it broke down during Sacred Heart game!)

Mrs. Cox and her badminton team consisting of Marie Adams, Linda Thibodeau, Linda Green, Linda Rice, and Rosalyn Richie journeyed to Orono to participate in an Intercolligiate Badminton Tourney. Rosalyn Richie won her match, but in the finals was defeated. All in all, though the badminton team did a fine job representing Husson.

Tuesday, March 10, the Husson Basketball and Badminton teams traveled to Colby College in Waterville. The Badminton team included the following girls: Marie Adams, Linda Thibodeau, Linda Rice, Elaine Bakeman, and Linda Green. They participated in a Regional Badminton Tournament. Elaine Bakeman went to the finals, but lost to Colby.

The basketball team met Colby's five in a fine ball game. At half-time Husson was down by only 5 points. In the final period of play Colby really fired up and the final score was 43-25. Husson really showed improvement and worked very well together. Martha Deschane lead the team with 12 points. Dianne Moore had some fine 20-foot shots that added to the score, too. Carolee Bryant, Paula Graffam, Chris Roman, and Beth Grover showed some great rebound ability.

Miss Hennessey is currently organizing a softball team for some spring sport action. All interested girls should sign up today!

KAPPA SPORTS SCENE

So far this year Kappa Delta Phi Fraternity has participated in every sport that the Husson College Intramural Program has offered to the male student body. At this point, Kappa is ahead in the overall standings with 1,025 points. TKE is close behind with 975 points. Other contenders in the overall standings are the Stags, the Animals, SOMF, and the L & M's.

At this point the brothers of Kappa Delta Phi would like to state that the teams that we have competed against have provided very keen competition, and outstanding sportsmanship. It has truly been a great joy and challenge to compete against men of this caliber. Dedicated people have made this Intramural Program a success, and the College has realized a strong program of extra-curricular activities which is needed by the student.

We the brothers of Kappa would like to thank the coaches, referees, administration, and every one connected with making this Intramural Program such a success.

Some of the other individual highlights were:

Most field goals - Dick Giroux 17
Most rebounds-Al Caston 23

Husson averaged 105.1 points per game, and their winning margin was 26.1. Out of 25 games this year, Husson scored over 100 points in 15 of them.

It was a fantastic season for the Braves, and it couldn't have ended any better; except if they could have gone all the way in the playoffs. But the win over Sacred Heart was just as good. Sacred Heart in this reporters opinion was a bunch of bushes. A couple of their players had "rabbit ears", they concentrated more on talking back to the people than playing basketball. Their coach was not any better. When it came to coaching, he sat on the bench and sulked. A good example of this was when one of his players fouled out, instead of putting in a sub immediately, he waited as long as the rule allows him before making a move.

It was a fitting score that the Braves rolled up against Sacred Heart. Dick Girous put on a tremendous show on route to his record breaking 44 points. In the end it was a great way to finish up a career at Husson and a great way to end a season.

We change over from sneakers to spikes as the baseball team has begun daily workouts in preparation for the season opener on April 17. Last year the Braves ended up at 16-3 and were National Conference champs. They appeared in the NAIA playoffs for the third time in five years, and Coach Del Merrill is looking for a repeat performance.

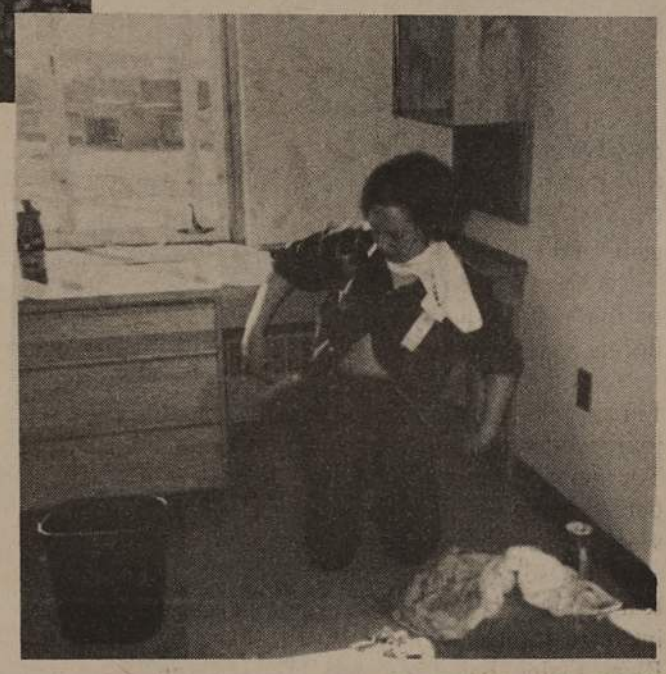

Keith Brown, Tom McBean, and Ron Soucie head the mound staff returning from last year. They are backed up by Jim DeAugustino, John Sinclair, and Jim Arnau who all carry the big sticks,

I took in the girls' basketball tournament that was held at the Husson gym on March 7. Aroostook, Farmington State, Husson, and the University of Maine took part. The Maine girls won the tournament; and man, let me tell you, I'm giving up the game of basketball. Not that I could play like Bill Bradley; but after watching some of those girls shoot, jump, dribble, and play defense, I decided I could not compete with them. So I quit!! I'm all for women's rights and all that stuff; but when they play basketball, that's enough, Baby.

Debbie & Suki manage to keep it clean durning Pledge Week.

Joyce is having a hard time keeping her clothes on.

Of Interest To Men

MEN FACE STYLE CHOICE

Straight-leg, flare, bell-bottom or traditional, with cuff or without — these are some of the fashion choices confronting men buying pants today. It's similar to the mini, midi or maxi decisions faced by women. There are belt and beltless pants with a variety of pocket treatments, too. Never before have the makers of men's pants provided so many choices in style. For example, the company best known for its Levi's blue jeans now has 198 models and fabrics in its current men's line.

BLUE DENIM CARPET

To give some idea of the size of the U. S. Garment industry, last year enough material was used just in making Levi's blue jeans to lay a 28-inch-wide denim carpet around the world 3.3 times.

ASSEMBLY LINE FASHIONS

Few realize that production of popularly-priced clothing has now become an assembly line business. For example, to produce a pair of Levi's blue denim jeans takes 26 major and four preparatory operations. Seventeen special threads are used.

ECOLOGY BEFORE VIETNAM??

Finally, we have become knowledgeable to the fact that we are creating our own destruction. We have for years been draining our environment of resources and minerals without replacing them. Now we have begun to combat pollution of our environment with great force while slowly diminishing our worry over another very grave issue - The Vietnam War.

It seems that we have restructured our list of problems and replaced Vietnam second to pollution. I do not profess that we should place Vietnam before pollution but that we should begin to cope with both on an equal level. Surely at the present time these are our two most disturbing problems and to place one before the other is absurb if not downright suicide for mankind. Together these problems must be solved for Vietnam also is a form of pollution since it breeds death and destruction to man and his environment. We must begin anew the protests against war in any form, for world peace can be attained only if our desire to end war is as great as our desire for peace.

Therefore so that pollution and war can be eliminated, man must restructure himself so that his environment will be free from his destructive tactics. We must begin to live with our environment and not against it, for nature created by Him and pollution and war by us.

WILL THEY MARCH AGAIN?

The difference between being an alcoholic and a plain drunk is that a drunk doesn't have to attend all those damn meetings.

PRODUCTION STAFF ESSENTIAL TO SUCCESS OF "COME BLOW YOUR HORN"

Behind the scenes of any play (not so at Husson, where everyone is in view) is a group of dedicated, hardworking people known as the Production Staff. Without these people a play loses much of its punch, yet these production workers receive only a fraction of the attention given the actors. The production staff devotes untold hours for the good of the production, and are responsible for the coordination of the numerous "Trifles" associated with a performance.

For "Come Blow Your Horn" Linda Mailman assumed the full responsibility as production manager, while Pete Stricos and Pam Manzi acted as student directors - later Pam took the role of Connie in the play. Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Smith were in charge of publicity and brought about the excellent coverage on the play. Dan Cote, as stage manager, and his crew consisting of John Rock, Jill Robinson, and Linda Mailman had the task of setting up the scene before each performance, and tearing it down following each show, since Kominsky is used for other group assemblies.

The sale of tickets has been under the guidance of Ron Cloutier, and Paul McLaughlin is the house manager responsible for numbering and lettering the reserved seats.

Sitting in the front row of each performance are the sound effects people and the prompters. These include Carol James, Jean Robinson, Michelle Crowley, and John Rock. Timing by these people is vital to the mood of a particular scene, and the wrong bell at the wrong time can be damaging to the scene involved.

Before the performance, the members of the cast need varying degrees of make-up, in order that they be convincing in their facial appearance. Pat Lentine has had the task of applying make-up for show.
