Invitation for Public Comment Husson University – Institutional Self-Study

Husson University will undergo a comprehensive evaluation visit in the spring of 2013, by a team representing the Commission on Institutions of Higher Education of the New England Association of Schools and Colleges.

The Commission on Institutions of Higher Education is one of seven accrediting commissions in the United States that provide institutional accreditation on a regional basis. Accreditation is voluntary and applies to the institution as a whole. The Commission, which is recognized by the U.S. Department of Education, accredits approximately 240 institutions in the six-state New England region.

Husson University has been accredited by the Commission since 1974 and was last reviewed in 2003. Its accreditation by the New England Association encompasses the entire institution.

For the past year and a half, Husson University has been engaged in a process of self-study, addressing the Commission's Standards for Accreditation. An evaluation team will visit the institution to gather evidence that the self-study is thorough and accurate. The team will recommend to the Commission a continuing status for the institution. Following a review process, the Commission itself will take the final action. The public is invited to submit comments regarding the institution to:

Public Comment on Husson University
Commission on Institutions of Higher Education
New England Association of Schools and Colleges
209 Burlington Road, Suite 201
Bedford, MA 01730-1433
E-mail: cihe@neasc.org.

Public Comments must address substantive matters related to the quality of the institution. The Commission cannot settle disputes between individuals and institutions, whether those involve faculty, students, administrators, or members of other groups. Comments will not be treated as confidential and must include the name, address, and telephone number of the person providing the comments.

Public Comments must be received by April 24, 2013. The Commission cannot guarantee that comments received after that date will be considered.

Dear Alumni and Friends,

As I write this letter, it is Martin Luther King, Jr. Day, and another semester is about to begin at Husson University. Members of the Student Life staff are busy helping new students settle into the residence halls, while others are helping returning students get back into the swing of Husson life. Although it may be a chilly day, the fire in the G. Peirce Webber Campus Center is burning, and the energy that comes with returning students is surely felt across campus.

If you look back to some of our recent Ledger issues, you'll see just how quickly this institution continues to grow. You would read about how the new Living Learning Center has increased our ability to provide experiential learning opportunities and new residential living options, and that our newly renovated Dickerman Dining Center has improved menu options and the overall dining experience for our students. You would have seen photos from our latest commencement ceremony and Homecoming celebration – both of which were our largest yet.

We know that much of the Husson story has yet to be told. Our new strategic plan, which you can view at www.husson.edu, outlines initiatives with a clear focus – to transform student lives and advance student success. Students will have more opportunities to learn with a global awareness, to gain hands on experience with cutting-edge technology in state-of-the-art labs, and to have access to the support they need through student services and scholarships. Alumni will have more options to stay involved, from mentoring through our Career Center, to helping organize alumni gatherings we have planned throughout the country.

You, as a 2011-2012 donor, are very much a part of the successes you have read about, and those yet to be written. This special, stand-alone edition of the Husson University Annual Report has been published to ensure you know just how thankful we, as a University, are for your generosity. Through your gifts, you are sending a clear message that you believe in this institution and how we work to transform student lives.

You are part of our story.

With appreciation,

Robert A. Clark

Robert A. Clark, PhD, CFA
President

It is a frigid seven degrees outside as I sit and write this letter. It is my third winter in Maine, and although it will take me another year or two to adjust to the weather, I am reminded so often of how fortunate I am to be here working at such a remarkable institution.

I spend an hour or two each week meeting with Paul Husson, who I know is near and dear to many of you. His stories are truly fascinating and have given me a great deal of insight and deep appreciation for how Husson has transformed the lives of our graduates. He has shared countless stories of what some of our alumni have gone on to do after Husson, many starting family businesses or climbing the ladder at major corporations. There have been equally as many stories about those who have made an incredible impact on their communities through their generosity and willingness to give back.

Along that same vein, your generosity and willingness to give back is why I write this letter today. I'd personally like to thank each and every one of our 2011-2012 donors listed in this report. Whether you are an alumnus/a, friend, or corporate supporter, through your gifts, you are helping the University pursue initiatives that are shaping the experiences of our current generation of students.

Thank you to everyone that has been so generous, welcoming, and encouraging as we move forward into what is sure to be a bright future for Husson University. Thank you once again for your continued support.

Best Regards,

Thomas A. Martz

Evelyn Lutz '83

When Evelyn Lutz enrolled at Husson University more than 30 years ago, she was a non-traditional student in her late 40s. "I hesitated about going back to school," she says.

But she was inspired by her late husband's memories of attending Husson. "He spoke so highly of the school," says Lutz. She was able to use his Veteran's Benefits to pay for her coursework there.

She obtained her associate's degree in Office Administration, and didn't travel far to begin her career: she quickly found a job as assistant to the financial aid director at Husson and worked there for four years. She and her husband, Gerald Palmer, are now semi-retired, running a hay business in Hermon, Maine.

In 1989, she made her first donation to Husson—a generous practice that she's continued ever since. Lutz is Husson's most consistent donor. "I believe very strongly in Husson and what it's aiming to do," Lutz says.

Although Palmer attended the University of Southern Maine, he is a major advocate for Husson as well. "My husband matches my donation to the Husson Fund," she says. They enjoy attending Husson's sports matches, and often make donations to the basketball team and golf team as well. "It's been great to see the teams grow and become more successful over the years." Lutz also gives back by serving on the Alumni Board.

The same is true of Husson itself. "When I see Husson graduates who've never been back to visit, I tell them, 'Go take a drive around campus.' It's unbelievable to see the changes that have happened over the years. We're really proud of the school."

Sue Cyr '65 and Joe Cyr '62

After Thomas E. Thornton, Jr. '72, a Husson alum and recently appointed trustee, passed away after a battle with cancer last year, his friends Sue and Joe Cyr knew that they needed to do something to honor his memory.

Thornton and Joe Cyr had worked together for many years in a variety of business ventures, including a partnership in Freightliner of Maine, a company that sells and services trucks and emergency vehicles throughout Maine. Thornton served as Freightliner's president for 20 years, while Joe Cyr, owner of Cyr Bus, was a silent partner.

Thornton's death was a loss to everyone who knew him: "There were 1,500 people at his funeral," says Joe Cyr.

As a result, Joe and Sue, both alums and frequent donors to Husson, decided to establish a scholarship fund honoring their dear friend. With the donation from the Cyrs and many of the Thornton's friends and business associates, the scholarship fund has already grown to more than $500,000. These funds will be used to support the work of the Husson University College of Business, including scholarships for students.

"Tom was a true entrepreneur, and really cared about Husson," says Sue Cyr. "Joe and I are very passionate about Husson as well, and can see the wonderful things that they're doing. We wanted to give something back."

Brenn Alexander finds her passion in Stirling, Scotland

Brenn Alexander's father's roots go back to King Alexander of Scotland. Her mother can trace her roots to the Clan of Gordon. Scotland is in her blood, and Alexander knew she was destined to traverse the North Sea.

Last year, Alexander, a Husson junior, conducted months of research, discovered the University of Stirling, and set out to plan and pay for one month and two university courses in Stirling, Scotland.

A native of Sullivan, Maine, Alexander says, "I wanted an adventure, a new experience, and something that would stick with me for the rest of my life."

Alexander applied for scholarships, but she could not find any related to her field of study—occupational therapy.

"That's when I learned through the financial aid office that a new scholarship had been established at Husson to assist students with study abroad expenses," says Alexander.

In addition to kayaking the North Sea, Alexander saw London from atop the London Eye, traveled to St. Andrews, the Scottish Highlands, the Loch Ness, Glasgow, and caught a glimpse of Prince William, Kate, and the Queen of England in Edinburgh.

The University of Stirling had few Scottish students on campus during her mid-summer stay from June 15 to July 15, but she did see the Scottish equivalent of CSI being filmed near campus and Olympians training in the gym.

While the Olympians and royalty are good stories, Alexander says, the bonds she formed with her six flatmates, and the thrill of experiencing a new country with a different history, customs, food and overall lifestyle is what will stay with her.

"I saw movies about Scotland, but it's not like being there," she says. Alexander loved the film Braveheart growing up, but seeing men on the street in kilts, hearing the Scottish brogue, getting to know the humor and style of a small foreign city is something she wants to do more of.

Since her return, Alexander shifted from a double major in psychology and occupational therapy to psychology and human relations with a focus on international relations. She hopes to pursue a Masters of Human Relations at the University of Stirling after graduating from Husson.

The study abroad scholarship was created by Tom and Mary Martz to support study abroad opportunities for Husson students.

Tom Martz, the vice president for advancement at Husson earned his early childhood education in Paris, and believes international study is important for Husson students. The couple, both artists, originally intended to fund students who were pursuing the arts, but they have expanded the scholarship to the study of humanities and literature both at Husson and abroad.

Women's Philanthropy Council holds inaugural Scholarship Appreciation Luncheon

On October 24th, the Husson University Women's Philanthropy Council hosted the inaugural Scholarship Appreciation Luncheon at the Hilton Garden Inn. This year's student recipients of endowed scholarships had an opportunity to meet with the generous donors who made their scholarships possible. Alumni and friends of Husson were able to see the true impact of their generosity and our students were able to share their own stories about what a tremendous difference our scholarship program makes. Husson's more than 90 endowed scholarships provide critical support to our students, truly transforming generations of students' lives.

The Husson University Women's Philanthropy Council was formed to lead engagement efforts that inspire women to give of their time, talent, and resources to Husson University and to develop female leaders in philanthropy today and for generations to come. The Council works to motivate, encourage, and advocate for women to publicly support the University.

Each student represents a Reason to Give

More than ever before Husson University is ready to transform student lives and ensure success for our graduates. As we look to the future, your participation is critical to advancing opportunities.

In fact, gifts from you have helped us transform lives for 3,447 students this past year alone. Make your gift today!

Husson by the numbers...

715 students come from families that make less than $20,000 per year.

1,159 students qualify for the Pell Grant, a national indicator of significant need.

40% of Husson's first-year students are first in their families to pursue post-secondary education.

U&HUSSON

"I was attracted to the small class sizes at Husson where everyone can interact, get to know one another and get to know the professors. I also chose Husson for the affordable tuition and the way my program is structured. I hope to return to my hometown and work at a local nursing home or physical therapy center."
