Physical Therapy Program in First Year at Husson

by Michael Aiguier

One of the fastest growing occupations in America is physical therapy. There are only two physical therapy programs in the state of Maine. One is in southern Maine and the other is located right here on our campus. The Husson program offers a Masters Degree which takes five years to obtain. The first class in Physical Therapy has fifty students.

According to Dr. Sandra Curwin, director of the program, Hussons physical therapy program is different from others in the level of involvement the students will have in the program. She said students will get a real hands on training and will be involved in the planning of the direction of the program. Students will also have the opportunity to serve on different committees.

On a lighter note in the interview, Dr. Curwin shared how she got involved in physical therapy. She said that she and a friend made a bet to see which one of them would get accepted into the physical therapy program at Dalhousie. She was acceptecd, and went on to eventually earn her masters in biomechanics. From Dalhousie she went on to U.C.L.A. where she earned her doctorate in kinesiology.

Mike Petrin, a student in the physical therapy program here, stated he chose Husson because he likes the size of the school and the looks of the program. He said the reason he chose the field was because he likes helping people. Eventually he wants to have a private practice or work for a sports program.

Chuck Waterman chose physical therapy for the excellent employment opportunities and his interest in medicine. He chose it after observing jobs in hospitals.

Sara Smith also chose physical therapy because of the excellent job opportunities. She volunteered at the hospital helping out the physical therapists there. Eventually she wants to have her Ph.D.

Meghan Michael wanted something in medicine that she could start practicing after five years. She's done job shadowing, which is following the physical therapists on their rounds, and worked at Shake a Leg, which is a place that works to help rehabilitate paraplegics.

Although the Physical Therapy program is in its first year, everyone has high expectations for the program. If you would like more information on the physical therapy program, contact Dr. Curwin at phone number 7070 or in room 415 Bell Hall.

Family Business Center Holds First Seminar of the School Year

The Center for Family Business held its first seminar of the year on Thursday, September 14, 1995 in Kominsky Auditorium. The title of the seminar was "For Love and Money: Managing Conflict in Family Businesses."

The day started off at 9:30 a.m. with opening remarks from Husson College President William Beardsley and from Susan Collins, the Executive Director of the Center for Family Business. A short welcome was also given by the founder of the Family Business Center Richard Dyke. Mr. Dyke is President of Dyke Associates, and the Chairman of the Guardian Council of the National Federation of Independent Business.

Martha Dudman was the first speaker of the day. Martha Dudman, President of Dudman Communications, spoke on how she got involved in the family business.

Her mother Helen began the Dudman Communications Corporation in 1980. Today Dudman Communications owns the Bangor radio station WEZQ, as well as two Ellsworth stations, WDEA and WWMJ. Ms. Dudman got involved in the business in 1986. She had recently gotten divorced and needed a job to support her two children. She had no experience, but she was eager to learn. Dudman ended her presentation stressing the importance of good communication. She shared how she and her mother had always been honest in their communications within the business.

Gregory Freeman, the President and CEO of the Pepsi-Cola Bottling Company of Aroostook County was next on the agenda. Freeman had a lot to share with the audience - he himself having experience as the son of the owner and now as the father of a son in the business. He stressed the idea of having one boss. He told members of family businesses to make sure if you're making out a will and you have more than one child, you better make sure you choose a new boss. He also stressed having a separate family and business environment. After a brief refreshment break John Roche, an attorney with the firm John J. Roche and Associates of Cambridge Massachusetts led the audience in a discussion about the politics involved in family business.

Dr. Gerri King ended the presentation with a discussion on conflict managament. She also talked about the many solutions and ideas for members of a family business.

A "Blizzard of Bucks" Hits Husson College

by Michael Aiguier

Free money was flowing fast and furious Friday night in the Campus Center. This reporter won five dollars just by being able to show Jerry Hart, the M.C. for the evening, a picture of my two nieces.

The festivities were held Friday, September 15 beginning at 7 p.m. Jerry Hart began the evenings festivities by choosing contestants names randomly from a bucket. For each round of competition, four people were chosen. The winners of the competition were rewarded in CASH prizes. The games that Hart and his crew used were not designed to challenge anyone with two good arms and legs.

Unfortunately for Tony Tobin, one of the contestants, he didn't have two good legs. Tobin, a member of the Husson Braves basketball team, dislocated his ankle during a preseason practice. The first time Tobin competed he was eliminated.

Chad Lightfoot showing that when it comes to competition he is just a baby at heart.

He was knocked out in the second game of a round which involved the contestants sticking balloons under their chins, running across the stage and dropping them in a basket. Tobin, who had been offered a chance to have some one "pinch run" for him, decided to go it on his own. Not a smart move.

In the final draw for contestants, which was taken from the group of people who hadn't won any money yet, Tony was chosen again. After battling his way to the semi-finals, he decided to put in a "pinch runner". This turned out to be an excellent decision, because the last game had the contestants carrying a stack of plates and bowls back and forth across the stage adding either a plate or bowl depending on which side of the stage they were on. Tobin's replacement won the game by stacking nine plates and nine bowls before the other contestant Aaron Smith lost his balance and dropped his stack.

Other finalists were determined by competing in games like the orange juice suck down and swivel hip basketball. If in an event there was a tie, the winner was determined by having the contestants hula hoop until one of the hoops hit the floor. This is the way Angeline Grant managed to get into the final round. In the final round, she was forced to compete against Tony Tobin.

The final game that would determine who would be put in the Blizzard of Bucks machine was a really simple one. It was blowing up a bubble out of bubble gum. The hard part was trying to find the gum in the middle of a pie tin full of whipped cream only using your mouth. Even though Grant claimed not to know how to blow up a bubble, she defeated Tobin. Tony, as a finalst was given a chance to enter the Blizzard of Bucks machine. The Blizzard of Bucks Machine is a booth filled with hundreds of dollars blowing around. Whatever the contestant manages to catch and stick in a little money bag is theirs to keep. After giving Tobin a brief chance to experience the Blizzard of Bucks machine, Grant went in. She actually went in twice. When it was all over she had been able to catch fifty dollars in the machine plus she was given another twenty-five dollars just for being a finalist totalling seventy-five dollars in all.

The evenings events was just one of the many events students can look forward to from the Student Activities Office.

This weekend is Homecoming and all Husson students are invited to be part of the grand opening of the new Campus Center. The ceremony is at 5:30p.m. on Saturday, September 23, followed by a reception in the Campus Center. This is a great chance to come and meet some of the Alumni and have some fun. See you there!

Angeline Grant blows the winning bubble in the Blizzard of Bucks. She was the grand prize winner.

Tau Kappa Epsilon

The beginning of the summer was very tragic for our fraternity. James (Jim) Russell Bonney was killed in a car accident on May 14, 1995. Jim had an impact on everyone he knew. He was always there when we or anyone else needed him. All the active brothers as well as some alumni attended his funeral on May 18th. Several Husson students and faculty were also in attendance.

On a lighter note, the rest of the summer was busy for the brothers of TKE. We had two summer outings, one in July at Troy Bagley's house, and the other in August at Jason Oliver's.

TKE held it's 48th biannual Conclave in Washington D.C. It was a chance for Tekes to meet each other from across the United States and Canada. Over 700 Tekes attended the conference which made for an unbelievable time. We received the 1994-95 Most Improved Chapter award. We were one of 340 active chapters selected for this award. This years returning brothers are:

Husson Inducts Six Into the Sports Hall of Fame

On September 23, 1995 six Husson alumni will be inducted into the Husson College Sports Hall of Fame. Among the inductees are: Barry Hobert, Randy Harris, Janice Moody Bradeen, Donald Roberts, Joe Mello and Paul Boardway.

Barry Hobert was an excellent golfer here at Husson. In an astonishing feat, he lost only one match out of the 35 that he played in. He led the team as co-captain in 1969 and 1970. Those two years the Husson golf team won the Northeast College Championship. Barry received most improved honors as a junior and was named the most valuable player in his senior year. Although he doesn't get to play as much golf as he would like to, he still has many outstanding accomplishments, including the course record he holds in Lincoln, Maine with a score of 64, eight strokes under par.

Randy Harris participated in several sports while here at Husson. He played on the basketball team and baseball team. He attended the NAIA National Championships in Kansas City during his time on the basketball team. Adding to his accomplishments he was a two-time All-NAIA Baseball player. After graduating from Husson in 1985 Harris played with the Miami Marlins of the Class A Florida State Baseball League. Unfortunately a bad shoulder kept Harris on the bench for most of the summer. However, he did get to play for one week at the end of the season. He decided not to stay with the team in order to avoid lengthy rehabilitation. Currently, Harris teaches and coaches both varsity basketball and baseball at Lee Academy in Lincoln.

During her four years at Husson Janice Moody Bradeen was very involved in both sports and other extracurricular activities. Janice was a member of the Pi Rho Zeta Sorority, the Student Education Association, Student Council, year-book, and basketball, not to mention the fact that she made dean's list all four years and graduated magna cum laude in 1958. She was a member of the Women's Athletic Association. She was a part of the women's basketball team for four years, three years as a player and in her senior year as the manager of the team. Janice has remained very active in sports playing basketball, softball, bowling, skiing, and golf.

Donald Roberts was an active member of both the basketball and golf teams here at Husson. In fact, he was runner-up in the 1986 NAIA District V Golf Tournament. After graduating from Husson in 1986 he spent his winters in Florida and his summers in Maine working at golf clubs and country clubs. He has many outstanding accomplishments in the world of golf. He is a Class A member of the PGA of America and he was the fourth highest ranked player in the Maine chapter of NEPGA in 1990. In 1994 Roberts set new records at both the Oakdale Country Club where he shot a 62 and at the Bethel Inn and Country Club where he shot a 68. Also, in 1994 he was the Maine PGA Champion.

Joe Mello was an outstanding soccer player during his time here at Husson. Sports still play an important part of his life with his four children who all play sports, including the two oldest who have followed in their father's footsteps and now play soccer year round.

Another outstanding basketball player for Husson was Paul Boardway. Boardway transferred to Husson in 1959. He played on the basketball team for three seasons. During his years on the team the Braves went 17-0 during the 1960-61 season. The team also won two league titles and one state title during Boardway's stay here at Husson. In his senior year he was named to the NCC all-tourney team and was awarded the Coaches Cup.

Alumni Honored As Leaders In Their Respected Fields.

The 1995 Husson College Alumni Association's Outstanding Alumnus Award will be awarded to Harrison Hahn. Hahn has become a very successful businessman since his years here at Husson. Right before his graduation in 1961 Hahn took over as the manager of a family business in Belfast. He then joined the management staff at Rumford Community Hospital where he ended up in the position of assistant administrator. He then went on to become the Chief Executive Officer of Stephens Memorial Hospital in Norway, and its parent corporation, Western Maine Health Care Corporation. Currently he is the President and CEO of both of these companies. Adding to his accomplishments, Hahn has been a board member of the Maine Hospital Association for over 12 years. He is also a diplomat of the American College of Healthcare Executives, a director of the Norway Savings Bank, and a Corporator of the Western Maine Health Care Corporation. Also, he is the president of the Oxford Hills Area Growth Council. This is only a small portion of the accomplishments of this fine man. Who knows how he finds the time to be so involved and have the time to be a husband, father, and grandfather.

Robert Norris, who will be awarded the 1995 Husson College Alumni Association Award for Excellence in Business Administration received both his bachelors and master's degree through the evening program here at Husson. Norris started his career in finance after he was discharged from the Army. For 23 years he worked for the Fleet Financial Group including a position as a Senior Vice President. He was also the New England Division Head for Mortgage Loan Operations. Robert has established a Fleet Operation Center here in Bangor. Norris left Fleet in 1993 to organize a new mortgage company called CUSO Mortgage, where he served as President and CEO until last spring.

The next two recepients of a Husson College Alumni Award are Douglas C. Smith and his wife Gloria Jean Smith, who will receive the award for Excellence in Education. Both Mr. and Mrs. Smith graduated from Husson in 1972. Doug began his career teaching at Ellsworth High School. After 5 years he began teaching at Bangor High School. He continued his education here at Husson earning himself a master's degree in Business. He later received his doctoral degree in Business Education from Arizona State University. After getting his doctorate he became an Assistant Professor of Business Education at the University of Kentucky. He was awarded the Outstanding Junior Scholar award from the University Council for Research in Vocational Education in 1992. Also that year he was chosen as the Outstanding Business Teacher in Kentucky. Currently he works with graduate students who are getting ready for employment in corporate training, media development and education technology. Smith is the chairman of the Undegraduate Studies Committee for the Association for Business Communication and serves on the Executive Board of the National Association of Teacher Educators of Business Education. Jean started her teaching career at the Union Street Junior High in Bangor. For ten years after that she taught at the Garland Street Junior High School. She got her master's degree from the University of Maine and in 1986 she began teaching at Bangor High. Smith taught in the Mesa, Arizona school district while her husband was earning his doctorate. ## Husson Updates...

As most of you are aware Husson has made many imporvements over the past six months. These improvements include the New Campus Center, a fireplace, an art gallery, a chapel, and new furniture. Husson is also updating all bathrooms to meet ADA (American Disabilities Act) requirements.

Husson has expanded the Campus Center by 5000 square feet. In addition they have added many windows, new carpeting, and new furniture. Husson has also added a new fireplace. For all those who have heard the rumor that the fireplace doesn't work Dean Rubino will assure you that as far as he knows it works. It hasn't been tested yet, but will be soon. Mr. Rubino feels their should be no problems. The reason it hasn't been tested is because they are waiting for a screen to go around the opening for safety reasons. Husson will also be adding a new t.v. and more tables and chairs. Along with more couches and love seats. "We will also be adding more plants to try and make the Campus Center more warm," says Rubino.

Husson has also added an art gallery and a chapel. The art gallery will be having many artists coming in to show their works. Husson is trying to get mostly Maine artists to come and show their great pieces of art. The first exhibit is paintings by Maine artist David Larson, a New York native who has lived in Maine for the past 24 years. Larson left a career in advertising at the age of 40 and with his wife Carole, a weaver, purchased the old canning factory at the corner of Routes 172 and 175 in Penobscot, Maine.

Larson is reluctant to talk about his paintings individually or as a group. Paintings are not to be talked about, he says, they are to be looked at. He does, however, discuss some concerns about communication, concerns which seem to permeate his paintings.

For Larson, his art is a process that involves continuous drawings, sketches and studies before the work on the canvass can begin. It is an educational process for the artist, he says, and viewing the finished work should be an educational process as well.

This reporter knows a lot of students will never take the time to stop in the gallery and look at Mr. Larsons paintings, but they should. I found myself sitting and looking at them for a long time and wondering about the faces and the people in the paintings. Take a minute and look at these remarkable paintings.

The other new area in the Campus Center is the new Husson chapel. With two beautiful stained glass windows, pews, an atler and a new organ, the room is a place for any member of the Husson Community to go and have a few minutes of peace and solitude. Check it out.

Womens Volleyball Looking for Winning Season

by Stephany Freeman

The Women's Volleyball team has not had very good luck in the past but with 7 returning players, this year their luck may change. Winning only one match last year, the women's goal this year is to improve on that mark. Their goals for this year are to be more competitive and work together as a unit.

The Braves not only have many returnees but also have a new coach. Bob Ackley is new to the coaching staff here at Husson. This is Coach Ackley's first experience at coaching volleyball, but his vast coaching experience should be a real plus for the program.

This year's returnees include: Angela White, Pam Moody, Andrea Perolini, Michelle McDougall, Deanna White, Tara Leavitt, and Leslie Correa. Their first game will be at Thomas College on Saturday, September 30th.

Husson Mens Soccer Defeat Bates College and Green Mountain College

by Stephany Freeman

The Men's Soccer team has started out this season on fire with a 3-1 record. They've already had two big wins over two of the top teams in their league, Bates College of Lewiston, and Green Mountain Colleg from Vermont. Going into the third game of the season against the University of Maine at Presque Isle, Coach Mitch Ellison was afraid his team would be over confident. However, the team picked up their playing level in the second half of the game and beat UMPI 4-0. Coach Ellison, in his fourth year at Husson, said that "this is the deepest team I've had here at Husson and if we play well we have the ability to win the conference this year."

With a record of 7-9 last year, the Braves hope to improve on that record this year. The team also hopes to win a spot in the regional tournament and go on to win the conference title.

The soccer team is led by tri-captains, Guy Guy Mpeye, Craig Stuber, and Adam Heaslewood. Other returning players include: Andy Rhoades, Pete Luciano, Matt Roy, Paul Druan, and Mark Fernald. Also returning for the Braves is Bill Borenstein who has been red shirted for the past two years. With 10 freshmen added to the squad the future looks bright.

After the first four games, Guy Guy Mpeye leads the Braves with 4 goals and 2 assists, while Jason Hill has 3 goals and 1 assist. Adam Heaslewood has also contributed 2 goals and 4 assists.

Upcoming games for the Men's soccer team are against the University of Maine at Farmington on September 22nd and a Homecoming game on Saturday September 23rd against Johnson and Wales at home.

Audrey Johndro is blocking her opponent from Notre Dame.

Husson Women Head for Playoffs

by Josh Scroggins

The Husson Women's Soccer team has started their season off with some ups and downs. Having their previous coach resign during preseason, the woman have had to get used to a different style of coaching. Currently there record stands at a 0-3-1, but they are starting to come around. Team players have noted that here has been a tremendous improvement in team unity from that of years past.

The team consists of ten returning players and three first year players. The team is in good health expect for first year fullback Marnie Carimore. Carimore tore several ligaments in her knee during the recent Notre Dame game. The team has only played one conference game and is constantly improving. This weekend the team will be playing Lasell College, and Massachusetts College of Pharmacy.

Get Involved!!!

With intramural sports starting this weekend there is no reason everyone shouldn't be able to find something they like on the Husson Campus. The intramural football and volleyball teams are already underway. Call the gymnasium to find out how to put together a team.

Husson College also has several student organizations on campus. If your interested in joining one of these groups, be looking out for their first meetings if your interested in starting a new club on campus contact Julie Green in Student Activies.

Your Connection to the Stars...

Horoscopes
by Jen Bladden

Aquarius (Jan. 20 - Feb. 18): The moon will be entering your sign October 2 and influencing you until October 4. It is a good idea not to over react to a statement or a situation will soon be arising. The moon will try to let your imagination run wild. In your personal and professional life, remember to separate fact from fiction.

Pisces (Feb. 19 - Mar. 20): A friend is soon to dump many problems onto you. Be a good listener and try to be patient with them. A friends shoulder is always good to cry on. When this friend dumps his/her problems on you, try to remember that you are not the problem solver of the world. Try not to give advise, but be open with suggestions. Your moon day's are October 5 & 6.

Aries (Mar. 21 - Apr. 19): Do not get discouraged from the recent exam taken. The semester has only just begun. Instead of letting the test result get you down use it as an incentive to set a goal for the next exam. The stars are in your favor, you are sure to do better on your next test. Your moon days are October 7 & 8.

Taurus (Apr. 20 - May 20): With the moon over your sign from October 9 - 11, try to pay extra attention to a loved one, they may be feeling unwanted or neglected. Remember to take time out of your busy schedule to show how much you care. This extra attention now will prevent big problems from arising over the next few weeks.

Gemini (May 21 - June 20): The heavy work load you have been experiencing will soon be ending. This may be a good time for a much needed stress-free weekend. This weekend take time to "snuggle up" with that someone special, read a book or watch a movie. Just relax and have fun, it may be your last chance for a while. Moon days: October 14-16.

Cancer (June 21 - July 22): You may have found it hard to start the semester off on the right foot. Not to worry, you will get that energy blast to get you going and jump into the semester full speed ahead. For all you single cancours, be on the look-out for a new love. For those who are already involved expect an old flame to heat a reaction from your lover. Lucky love days: October 17, 18, and 30.

Leo (July 23 - Aug. 22): Money matters will be tight for the next few weeks. If a friend asks to borrow money or an important asset remember that it's OK to say no. You need to remember that once in a while putting yourself first, is not a bad thing. For those Leo's looking for a job, your luck may be starting. Make sure to check the career planning bulletin board and the local classifieds, you may just find your "dream" job. Moon days: September 19-21.

Virgo (Aug. 23 - Sept. 22): This is your month. Virgo's who plan to be having a party need to start planning. Let a friend thats been wanting to spend some time with you help. Don't forget to involve new friends some of their ideas may just shock you. These new friends could turn into your best friends. Your Lucky Numbers are 5, 12, 26, 31, 38, & 40.

Libra (Sept. 23 - Oct. 22): Most Libra's tend to be rather insecure about themselves, especially around their moon days. If you get into a debate or argument remember other people can be wrong as well. Don't be to pushy or arrogant when you're in a dicussion because it may result in an unwanted battle. If you have something marked wrong on an exam and feel that it is right, you should question it. Professors can be wrong as well. Moon days: September 24 & 25.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 - Nov. 21): You may have the urge to sell a possession for extra cash. Before you do make sure it's what you really want. A neglected assignment may suddenly get done with an extra burst of energy you will be receiving around the 26th or 27th of September. The desire for solitude you have been experiencing will be ending. The love of a friend may turn into feeling of intimacy. Be sure to examine all sides of these new feelings before responding.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 - Dec. 21): An old friend from your adolescent years is likely to come around. When he/she does, take into consideration that people change over the course of years and even months. Spending time with him/her may rekindle a flame you once desired to have with them. Be sure not to neglect the new friends you have. The new friends that you have could feel jealous or unwanted and you may end up losing them. Don't forget to include them in some plans with you old friend.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 - Jan. 19): People born under this sign are usually very patient, and understanding. So if you are waiting for a response to an important letter or question you may be in for a long wait. You need to go out and get that answer to your problem. If someone is trying to confess something to you, be sure to hear them out completely because what they say could be the start to something new and exciting. Moon days: September 30 & October 1.
