HISTORY

Founded in 1898 as Shaw Business College and School of Penmanship, Husson now has a School of Pharmacy and the New England School of Communications as well as a College of Health and Education, a College of Science and Humanities, and a College of Business.

Boasting over 1,300 students, the College of Business remains the heart of Husson University. Degrees include accounting, business administration, business and professional studies, business and liberal studies, computer information systems, software development, criminal justice, paralegal studies, forensic science, legal studies, hospitality management, and sport management, with graduate degrees in business administration and criminal justice administration.

Also, founded in Bangor in 1892 as the Bangor General Hospital School of Nursing, the College of Health and Education - and its strong base of alumni and traditions - became part of Husson in 1983 as the School of Health. Since then, the College has expanded to offer a bachelor of nursing, graduate nursing, and masters and doctoral programs in occupational and physical therapy, respectively. Husson has built its School of Education presence with undergraduate degrees in elementary, secondary and physical education, alternative certification in teacher education, and graduate degrees in school counseling, human relations, clinical mental health counseling, and education.

Founded in 2007, the School of Pharmacy educates students in pharmacy practice and pedagogy. The graduates will receive their Doctor of Pharmacy degrees, enabling them to sit for the national boards and become licensed pharmacists in Maine and throughout the country. In 2017, the School of Pharmacy expanded to include the M.S. in pharmacology.

Within the College of Science and Humanities, behavioral science courses have evolved into academic degrees in biochemistry, biology, chemistry, psychology, data analytics, exercise science, health science, English, liberal studies, and healthcare studies. The College also provides academic support to all other majors and degrees at Husson University, and serves as the liberal arts foundation of the University.

In 2014, the New England School of Communications became a self-standing school within Husson University offering degrees in communications technology, mass communications and entertainment production.

DEGREE-GRANTING AUTHORITY

Husson University is incorporated as a nonprofit, independent institution of higher education by the State of Maine. The Maine Legislature first enacted degree-granting authority for Husson in specific Bachelor of Science programs in 1953 followed by other specific degrees and the unrestricted authority to award the Associate of Science (1992), Bachelor of Science (1992), Master of Science (1993), and Honorary Doctorate (1969) degrees. In 2004, the Maine State Board of Education granted Husson the authority to award the Doctor of Physical Therapy. In 2007, the Maine State Board of Education granted Husson the authority to award the Doctor of Pharmacy.

ACADEMIC DISTINCTIONS

Based on a 4.0 grading scale, Husson University recognizes the following associate and baccalaureate academic distinctions at graduation:

Cum Laude	3.40 - 3.59
Magna Cum Laude	3.60 - 3.79
Summa Cum Laude	3.80 - 4.00

The Valedictorian is the baccalaureate graduate with the highest grade-point average. The Salutatorian is the baccalaureate graduate with the second highest grade-point average. The eligibility requirements for Valedictorian or Salutatorian include completing 90 credit hours at Husson University, enrolling as a full-time student, completing the degree in five years and other eligibility clarifications as set forth in the University Catalog.

ACADEMIC REGALIA

The tradition of academic regalia dates to the formation of the first European universities in the ninth century. At that time, scholarship was conducted at religious centers, and the dress of the scholar was also that of a religious cleric. Long gowns and hoods had the functional purpose of providing warmth in unheated libraries and cells. The use of the raiment continued unofficially until Oxford and Cambridge Universities permanently adopted the clerical vestments as ceremonial academic costume. This tradition spread to American colleges and universities in the late nineteenth century, when a code was set that defined the cut and style of American gowns and prescribed colors to represent the various divisions of learning. For example, golden-yellow, symbolizing the wealth of knowledge gained from scientific research, was assigned to the sciences. In accordance with tradition, Husson regalia includes a long black gown and a mortarboard with a golden-yellow tassel. Husson Master's and Doctoral graduates wear hoods referring to their division of learning: drab representing business, peacock blue for criminal justice, gold for clinical mental health counseling and human relations, apricot for nursing and nursing education, ink for occupational therapy, olive for pharmacy, teal for physical therapy, and light blue representing school counseling. A golden-yellow cord draped across the shoulders of associate and baccalaureate-level students represents their academic honors.

HONORARY DEGREES

One Hundred and Eighteenth Commencement

Honorary degrees have been granted by colleges and universities since colonial times. These degrees are not awarded for academic achievements but rather they are awarded to honor or recognize the achievements of outstanding citizens.

Honorary degrees highlight the accomplishments of individuals in the arts, public life, education, scholarship, business, health and the sciences. The first honorary degrees date back to 1662, when Harvard College granted its first honorary degree fifty years after its founding. Since 1969, Husson has recognized prominent citizens for their contributions to the community, the State of Maine, the nation, and the world.

By virtue of the authority vested in its members, the Board of Trustees is pleased to confer the following honorary degrees upon the occasion of Husson University's One Hundred and Seventeenth Commencement.

JAMES F. DICKE II

James F. Dicke II is the chairman and chief executive officer of the Crown Equipment Corporation, headquartered in New Bremen, Ohio. This family-owned business, with over 14,000 employees, operates a service and distribution network that exceeds 500 retail locations in over 80 countries. He was appointed to the President's Export Council from 2006 to 2008 as part of the George W. Bush administration, and is a past chairman of commissioners at the Smithsonian American Art Museum. An avid artist who enjoys both painting and photography, Dicke's art is included in numerous permanent museum and private collections.

GALEN L. COLE

Galen L. Cole is the former president of Cole Express and a WWII veteran. Upon sale of the family owned firm, Cole and his wife Sue formed the Cole Family Foundation and created the Cole Land Transportation museum in Bangor, Maine. Since 1990, the museum has provided over 475,000 visitors with a glimpse into the history of Maine's land-transportation equipment evolution. The Foundation has also provided Maine-made walking sticks to over 10,000 military veterans in the state.

GEORGE E. WILDEY

George E. Wildey was one of the founders of Penobscot Broadcasting Corporation. This broadcast group included WPBC 92.9 FM "Bangor's Beautiful Music," and WHOU AM and FM in Houlton. After working in the broadcast industry in Maine for over 20 years, Wildey founded the New England School of Broadcasting. Known today as Husson University's New England School of Communications (NESCom), this school has educated a generation of talented professionals.
