HUSSON BASEBALL YEARBOOK 2004

Mike Cowperthwaite, Josh Ferguson and Jason Folsom

Coach John Winkin

JOHN W. WINKIN BASEBALL COMPLEX
THE HAROLD ALFOND DIAMOND

SEASON PREVIEW

Despite the loss of several key players, the 2004 edition of the Husson College baseball team will return a number of veterans who are expected to continue the success that the Braves have experienced in recent years. Newly named head coach Dr. John Winkin inherits a squad that will feature a deep pitching staff, a key leader in catcher Jason Folsom and a couple of transfer students who should help tighten up the infield.

Lost from last year's squad are shortstop Jason Harvey, who transferred to the University of Maine, and his brother Craig, who is academically ineligible. Moving into the shortstop slot will be Josh Ferguson, who played third base last season, while replacing Craig Harvey at first base will be either Bill Kane or Matt Malone, a transfer from Plymouth State. Ferguson will do double duty as he will also be the closer on the pitching staff.

THE PITCHING CORPS

Scheduled as starters on the mound are senior Barrett Dionne, junior Mike Cowperthwaite, left-hander Aaron Brideau, who will also play left field, sophomore Travis Tripp, and two freshmen, Chris Sargent from George Stevens Academy and Bob Webber from Cony High School. Among the relievers will be Paul Klink, a senior, and freshman Jim Gray. Two outfielders who may see action in relief roles are junior Kyle Mathieu and sophomore Chris McInnis from Winslow.

THE CATCHERS AND DESIGNATED HITTERS

Backing up Folsom at the catching position will be Devin Potvin and Bill Kane. Folsom has been termed by coach Winkin as "our Jason Veritek", a reference to the catcher for the Boston Red Sox. Filling the DH role will be a trio of players, including righthanders Malone and Kane and lefthander Steve Estes.

THE INFIELD

The infield will include Bill Kane or Matt Malone, along with Andy Ham, as first base candidates; veteran Shawn Henderson at second; Josh Ferguson; freshman Adam Sheehan of Bucksport at third. Because of their versatility, Ferguson could play second base and Malone could play at third.

THE OUTFIELD

Top candidates for the outfield include junior Kyle Mathieu and Steve Estes in right field, sophomore Justin Spencer in center and Aaron Brideau in left.

The team will play 11 games in Florida starting March 7 with two of the games against NAIA schools and the remainder against Division 3 teams. The Braves are members of the North Atlantic Conference and one of the biggest challenges facing them, according to Coach Winkin, is the securing of a decent conference schedule. The more immediate challenge, however, is how to replace the hitting production lost by losing the Harvey brothers.

Winkin, Dr. John

Head Coach

5

Returning to the baseball collegiate head coaching ranks after seven years as an assistant at Husson is Dr. John Winkin, a legend in American collegiate baseball circles.

Winkin has been coaching baseball at some level since 1946, including 42 years as head coach at Colby and the University of Maine. His college teams have won 950 games, lost 632 and tied eight. At Colby his teams went 301-202-5, won 13 State Series titles and he was named the National Coach of the Year in 1965. At Maine his teams were 642-430-3 and appeared in six College World Series, finishing third in the nation on two occasions. The Black Bears advanced to the NCAA Regionals 11 times and won six of them under Winkin's guidance. In his Maine tenure his teams won seven ECAC titles and three North Atlantic/America East championships.

A graduate of Duke University, Dr. Winkin has been elected to seven Halls of Fame, including the prestigious American Baseball Coaches Association Hall. For many years he has served as an on-site director for NCAA Division I Regional and Super-Regional tournaments. The renovated baseball facility at Husson has been named for Winkin, a chief benefactor for improvements which include a new field surface, additional bleachers, lights and press box facilities.

Winkin started his baseball career by coaching a legion team in New Jersey and later coached Dwight Merrill High School in Englewood to two state titles. During his time at Englewood he became a bridge partner with the late Vince Lombardi. Asked if he was a good bridge player, Winkin responded that he was. "I didn't dare make a mistake", he says.

Dr. Winkin holds the position of Vice President of Sports Leadership at Husson College and serves on the Board of Directors of the American Baseball Coaches Association.

44 Pollard, Baine

Hitting Coach

Named an assistant baseball coach for the 2004 season has been Baine Pollard, 49, of East Orland, Maine. A graduate of Colby College in 1976 where he played baseball for four years under coach John Winkin, Pollard has been a successful businessman in Eastern Maine for 20 years, owning, operating and selling gasoline service stations, convenience stores, a home heating oil company, car wash and Laundromat.

He has played in a number of summer baseball leagues including the Portland Twilight League, Cape Cod League, and Eastern Maine Amateur Baseball League. He has had coaching experience in both youth basketball and baseball, including American Legion and the EMABL. He is married and he and his wife Rita have a blended family of seven children.

Hometown: Dover-Foxcroft, ME

Remarks: Danny is a transfer from Maine Maritime Academy. He played four years at Foxcroft Academy and was a member of the All-Conference team as a junior and a senior. He was the senior captain of the Foxcroft Academy team that won the 2002 Eastern Maine Championship. This young man has good range and gets to the ball well. He has a good chance to become the starting shortstop. A key for him is how well he adjusts to hitting college level pitching.
