IN MEMORIAM

A BIOGRAPHY

John M. Tyler, 39, a Husson College associate professor and a faculty member for over a decade, died on Tuesday, December 14, 1965, in a Boston hospital after a major heart operation. Mr. Tyler was a resident of Bangor.

Son of Albert and Louise (Grant) Tyler, John Tyler was born in New York, N. Y., in 1926. Having completed his undergraduate studies at Husson College, he received a Master's Degree in Education from the University of Maine. An Associate Professor in the Business Administration Department at Husson, he had almost completed his doctorate work at the University of Connecticut at the time of his death.

He was a member of the American Association of University Professors, the National Education Association, and Mu Sigma Chi Fraternity. He was also a member of St. John's Episcopal Church.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Elsie (Sides) Tyler; two sons, Donn and James; a daughter, Beverly; and his mother.

John M. Tyler

A TRIBUTE

Our friend and teacher, John Tyler, has left this life for a life of spiritual fulfillment we cannot yet understand. And we miss him. We certainly shall not forget him, for he was a rare instructor, and a gentle man of keen inelligence and personal charm.

Mr. Tyler respected us as individuals; we responded to that. His wit taught us to know ourselves. His scholarship taught us humility and respect for what we have yet to learn. His character and manly self-assurance exemplified real maturity.

As long as we recall this inheritance, John Tyler has not left us. We can honor him best by achieving in our own lives a degree of his professional competence, a degree of his personal strength and integrity.

Crossing The Bar

Sunest and evening star,
And one clear call for me!
And may there be no moaning of the bar
When I put out to sea.
But such a tide as moving seems asleep,
Too full for sound and foam,
When that which drew from out the boundless deep
Turns again home.
Twilight and evening bell,
And after that the dark!
And may there be no sadness of farewell,
When I embark;
For though from out our bourne of Time and Place
The flood may bear me far,
I hope to see my Pilot face to face
When I have crossed the bar.

To The Editor

The Student Senate?

According to the letter to the student body, published in the last issue of the Ledger (page 9), the Student Senate is dedicated to work for the benefit of the students.

At the last Student Senate meeting, a committee was formed to write bulletins condemning dishonesty. If college students do not know by now that dishonesty is not condoned by either natural or civil law, it would be absolutely ridiculous to assume that a cute little bulletin would change their erroneous concepts. These bulletins and fliers, denouncing the evils of thievery and cheating, would only alter the atmosphere of the campus into that of a penal institution. Good Lord, is Husson a college or an annex of Thomaston? Is the Student Senate the voice of the student-body or the parole board?

Bulletins, Bulletins, Bulletins! The Student Senate is constantly jabbering about Bulletins. Well Senators, where is that daily bulletin containing notices of events to take place that day plus other information pertinent to the student-body, promised as far back as November 22, 1965? Ah yes, that might be beneficial to the students, mustn't do that. Perhaps too much of your valuable time is consumed reviewing applications for paroles or making fliers that serve little purpose.

So my dear Student Senate, it appears that a revaluation of the goals set forth by your organization is needed. Concern yourselves more with student problems, less with moral questions that have plagued civilization since time immemorial.

Sincerely,
Paul I. Mulligan

The Value Of Sorority Membership

By DIANE CUOZZO

What are some of the needs national sororities fulfill? College covers a span in life that holds tremendous possibilities for the development of an individual's personality. People of any age develop best in a stimulating atmosphere and the sorority chapter with its 20 or 25 carefully chosen women, supplies this environment.

The initiate, if she does not already have the knack, learns how to get along with others. She learns to adjust herself to others in chapter life. She learns the value of service, of being vitally interested in others and develops an agreeable personality.

While scholarship is the primary responsibility of the college, the sororities generally strive to achieve creditable averages by enforcing study rules and encouraging serious attitudes toward study.

During the four years of college life, a student is expected to acquire social poise. Sorority membership offers an excellent opportunity for training in the social graces. The pressure of the group corrects idiosyncrasies and cultivates agreeable social habits.

The sorority offers its undergraduates the opportunity for leadership which will make their membership of vital significance to them. In the management of chapters, members are given valuable training in the work of an executive.

Most chapters have bi-monthly meetings conducted under the rules of parliamentary law. All members, therefore, become familiar with the procedure of deliberative bodies and are thus fitted for participation at a later time in community and other organizations. At chapter meetings the members learn to express themselves effectively in debate and to advance their ideas persuasively.

Finally, college loyalty is enhanced by sorority membership. The link between the alumnae and the college is strengthened by the happy experiences of chapter life which become a part of one's recollections of college days.

In Defense Of America's Space Program

By RICHARD LOVELESS

In the past decade America has rapidly stepped up its space exploration activities. The Soviet Union's success in advancing its astronautical technology provided the impetus for the United States to advance its space program as rapidly as possible. During this period of the race for space some Americans have expressed vehement disapproval. These critics argue that the large sums of money required for space exploration could be put to more humanitarian purposes, such as relief of poverty, and medical research. They fail to realize that space efforts need not interfere with these programs.

The United States must gain a solid foothold in the scientific exploration of space for prestige, economic and military reasons. Success in space is an excellent propaganda devise. Effective news coverage provides a strong image which describes the American astronauts as heroes to millions of world television viewers and, by association, depicts a strong, vital economy. Economically, the space program promises enormous commercial potential. Already seats on the first passenger vehicle to the moon have been reserved by pioneer adventurers! Space probing has already boosted the national economy. One has only to consider the growth of the missile, transister control systems and computer science industries. Thousands are employed directly or indirectly in the space program. Militarily, space, as much as any frontier of the past, has unlimited potential. Materials, yet unknown to science, that might be found in the solar system, may prove vital in producing new defensive weapons Although the United States has stated it does not wish to exploit the military features of space, this nation must be so well prepared that an aggressive nation would not dare attack it.

A steady expansion of the space program is more than vital to the nation's economy and security. It fulfills man's appetite for the unknown; it satisfies his craving for knowedge and understanding. Nothing can curb his curiosity now that he has drilled a peephole through the mysteries of the heavens.

How To Beat The Christmas Conspiracy

By GEORGE LAMBERT

Businessmen are a shrewd lot. As students of human nature, they conspire to boost Christmas sales and to increase profits. By planned advertising campaigns allegedly designed to encourage early yuletide shopping, they trick the average John Doe into believing that everyone will have most of his gifts purchased by Thanksgiving. So "nobody's-fool" John Doe decides to do his shopping during the last week before Christmas when he will be able to peruse the merchandise in leisure, being the only Christmas shopper. Unfortunately, ours is a nation of 190 million "average John Does"! It is now the week before Christmas and the rush is on! Soon the shoppers reach a state of utter despair and sheer exasperation induced by tired feet, bruised bodies, and wearied minds. On December 24th, they are the defenseless prey of the calculating sales force. Unconsciously directed by the suggestions of the salespeople, the fatigued shopper purchases anything in sight just to finish his shopping. He buys an electric hairbrush for Uncle John whose pate is devoid of all epidermal outgrowth; for Aunt Sally, member of the local Women's Christian Temperance Union, he gets a book entitled Being Drunk Isn't That Bad! by Dean Martin; finally, for wife Mary who has always wanted mink, he purchases a pair of mink eyelashes. Business has won again.

Now that the Christmas shopping season is over, now that I have rested my wearied body and regained my mental composure, I have devised an ideal—well, maybe not ideal—solution to this inflationary conspiracy. It seems almost too simple: spread the shopping season over the entire year. People whose names ranged from Aardvark to Byzantine would be allowed to shop only during January, from Caaba to Dys, during February, and so on. This plan would require that all shoppers carry proper identification to prevent anyone from shopping out of turn. Anyone caught shopping in the wrong month would be barred from Christmas shopping that year. As the offenses increased, so would the penalties with the maximum penalty being loss of Christmas shopping privileges ad aeternum. If a shopper forgot to purchase a particular gift during his alloted time, he would just have to wait until the following year.

Though the system still has a few minor defects that need perfecting, the plan could be operational. The plan can be modified, but human nature cannot. Man's masochistic element would rebel against this system which would deny it the joy of crushed toes, blackened shins, and bruised backs. So I guess the Christmas rush is here to stay.

UMP Defeats Husson

The University of Maine in Portland handed Husson its seventh loss, 92-85. Maintaining only a slight edge throughout the game, the Vikings, led by Roland Gagne with 23 points and Harold Moulton with 21, toppled the Indians in the final minutes of play.

Though Husson had five players in double figures, it was unable to meet UMP's offense tally. Bob O'Keefe led the Braves with 23 points, followed by John Files with 14, Wayne Hartford and Jack Chlopecki with 13 apiece, and Billy Spreng with 10.

Husson Breaks Jinx

The Husson Indians finally broke into the victory column against out-of-state competition by edging out New Bedford Tech 99-91. Del Merrill's Tribe had previously dropped six games to non-Maine opponents.

Plagued by fouls, the Husson regulars played little in the victory over New Bedford Tech although the Husson five captured a key win. It upped their record to 5-6.

Especially fruitful was the performance of sophomore Lynn Bailey of South Portland. He fired through 12 points in a starting role and may have earned a front line job for himself. Billy Spreng again was the sparkplug, netting 23 points.

Husson College Ski Club

Approximately 60 students have joined the newly formed Ski Club. Many can ski; others are just learning. The club has already made two fun-packed trips to the beautiful Squaw Mt. Ski Area, overlooking Moosehead Lake.

Some advantages of belonging to a ski club are:

1. Reduced rates at ski areas—the more members going the less the cost.
2. Experienced members can teach the beginners some valuable techniques.
3. Opportunity to see old friends and to make new ones on the slopes.

The meetings are held every first and third Monday evenings. Anyone interested in skiing is more than welcome to attend.

Judo Club

The Husson College Judo Club has continued to prepare itself for contests with Dow A. F. B. and the University of Maine (Orono). To date we have learned the following throws and hold-downs: Body Drop, Stomach Throw, Major Hip Throw, One and Two Arm Shoulder Throw, Left Pull Throw, Sleeve Throw, Upper Fore-quarters, Scarf Hold, Shoulder Hold, and Side Fore-quarters Hold.

The members of the club are anxiously waiting for the Judo GI's or uniforms to arrive so that we can all Randori (free practice) at each meeting.

A reminder to all Husson Students we practice from 6:30-8:30 at the YMCA each Wednesday night. You are all welcome to attend to see just what "The Gentle Art" consists of.

Husson College Rifle Club

Though the Husson College Rifle Club was but recently organized, it enjoys a considerable membership. Under the able direction of Mr. George Mueller, the club is now a functioning organization.

The club has its own range for practice session. Though undoubtedly not the best range possible, it is quite adequate for the new club.

The Husson College Rifle Club hopes to hold meets with other college rifle clubs.

Also, the Husson College Rifle Club is ready to welcome any new members.

FORMER SWEETHEART CROWNS NEW SWEETHEART

Miss Brenda Liscomb and Miss Nathalie Barlow

Christmas Ball

On December 10, Mu Sigma Chi again sponsored its annual Christmas Ball in the Rococo Room of the Pilots Grill with music furnished by the Sheldon Lewis Orchestra of Brewer, Maine. The best of music, both vocally and instrumentally, with a socializing atmosphere brought a full crowd on the dance floor with every selection.

The highlight of the evening was the crowning of the new Mu Sigma Chi Sweetheart for the 1965-66 academic year. Miss Nathalie Barlow, escorted by Leonard Saba, was selected by popular vote to reign as the new sweetheart. Miss Brenda Liscomb, last year's sweetheart, was escorted by David Tomlinson. She was on hand to turn her reign over to Miss Barlow. With tears of happiness for the new Sweetheart, Brenda crowned Miss Barlow and presented her with a dozen long-stemmed roses. Master of ceremonies for the coronation was Gerard Cote, President of Mu Sigma Chi.

Other candidates for the Mu Sigma Chi Sweetheart were: Meridel Blanchard, escorted by William Robichaud; Elizabeth Conley, escorted by John Donovan; and Evelyn Burton, escorted by Douglas DiMora. All of the candidates brought a great deal of pride to Mu Sigma Chi. Mu Sigma Chi wishes to thank you all for being so cooperative and helpful in making this another Christmas Ball to remember.

Miss Nathalie Barlow, the new Mu Sigma Chi Sweetheart, had as her first duty to pick the winner of the raffle. Among the many tickets, she selected Miss Janis Daisey as the lucky winner of the 1966 portable television. Miss Daisey is presently attending Husson College.

Children's Christmas Party

A Christmas party for the children of the St. Michael's Home was presented by Mu Sigma Chi Fraternity on Sunday, December 12th. Twenty children gathered near a lighted Christmas tree to receive Christmas gifts from Santa Claus (Donald Lucey).

To entertain the children, the Mallet Brothers sang a medley of folk songs. Movies were also shown to the children and refreshments were served. Faculty guests for the occasion were: Mr. Chesley Husson, Jr., advior to Mu Sigma Chi; Mr. George Mueller, honorary member; and Mr. James Wright.

The party was termed a great success and will probably become an annual project of the fraternity.

Christmas Dinner

Special guests for the Mu Sigma Chi Christmas dinner were "Chief" and Mrs. Chesley Husson, Sr., and Mr. Chesley Husson, Jr., advisor to Mu Sigma Chi.

As the brothers and guests gathered at the dinner table for their "magnificent repas," a centerpiece "Welcome Candle" flickered in the dark while the house mother recited grace.

Following the turkey dinner, the Chief captured the interest of the brothers as he talked about the new Husson College campus. The dinner was a pleasant occasion for the brothers and their guests.

ETE

Before the Christmas recess, the ETE girls were busy with their Christmas Party on December 12 and their Talent Show on the 16th. At the party, it was evidenced that not only are the girls good at decorating for the season but, that they are pretty good cooks too! Watch for a food sale during Spring Semester.

The Chapter is in full swing now that the holidays are over. Preparations for the nomination, election and installation of new officers for the 1966 term are underway. Plans are now being completed for pledging new girls that have become eligible to join the sorority. Pledging is expected to start in mid-February.

Seven senior sorority sisters will be leaving in February to do their practice teaching at various Maine high schools. They are: Diane Cuozzo, Bar Harbor High School; Linda Wyman, Bangor High School; Carolyn Van Aken, Brewer High School; Betsy Skilling, Howland High School; Mary Jane Dunphy, Bridgton High School; Carolyn Dodge, John Bapst High School; Roberta Beaudin, Old Town High School.

Good luck to these members!

ETE Talent Show

Epsilon Tau Epsilon Sorority held a very successful Talent Show at Husson College the night before Christmas vacation. The prize money amounted to $50 and the proceeds were turned over to Pi Rho Zeta International to fulfill the chapter's scholarship obligations.

Mr. Walter Greenlaw served very ably as the master of ceremonies. The audience was entertained by the Mallet Brothers and by Bob Cox and Don Torr teaming up to sing several songs.

Winning the $25 first prize was Bob Cox from Mechanicville, New York. His renditions of "Puppet on a String" and "I Believe" stole the show.

Second prize winner was Don Torr of Long Island, New York. Don entertained with several selections on the flamenco guitar. Carol Taute's selection of "I Enjoy Being a Girl" won her a third place. Carol, from Kennebunk, is a member of ETE. Other contestants were, singers Steve Cust and Bob Sweeney.

Doing monologues were: Anne Lewis, Theresa Bourgoine and Seth Gilman. A change of pace was provided by dancer Ginny Burr and pianist Fa'alepo Fa'alepo, Jr.

The show was under the direction of chapter president, Diane Cuozzo and by a committee representing the members of the sorority.

ETE wants to take this opportunity to thank the contestants for their support and help and above all, their excellent display of showmanship and spirited enthusiasm.

Kappa Delta Phi

The brothers of Lambda Chapter of Kappa Delta Phi Fraternity held a dinner and dance for the brothers and their guests in early December. Among the special guests that graced the attendance were Mr. and Mrs. Lebrun, Mr. and Mrs. Dana, and Miss Swan. This social evening proved enjoyable for everyone in attendance.

The folk singing concert that Kappa Delta Phi had planned for January has been postponed until later in the school year. Unfortunately, we were unable to secure the group we had wished to have, so we decided to wait until spring for the concert. In place of this event, we sponsored a second Husson Mixer on January 14 which was as appreciated as the first Husson Mixer.

Keep your eyes open for something new and striking from Kappa Delta Phi, coming soon to Commerce Hall!

Husson Players Headed For Most Active Year

This year is expected to be one of the most active years in the history of the Husson Players. The group has already presented two short plays in an assembly, and is planning an evening of one act plays early in the spring semester. A major three act production will go into rehearsal in March, with two performances scheduled for May.

At a special meeting in December, the Husson Players selected "Why I Am A Bachelor," "Once Around the Block," and "Air Tight Alibi" for presentation early in March. Casting will be completed after the Christmas recess, with roles open only to members of the Husson Players.

At this time, the major production for the year has not been selected. However as soon as a selection has been made, open tryouts will be announced. Interested students, whether they belong to the Husson Players or not, should make an effort to try out for the year's major show.

Any student who is interested in joining the Husson Players may obtain an application for membership from Mr. Weymouth in Dickerman Hall.

S. E. A.

At the November meeting, the Student Education Association gained practical knowledge from a man in the field, Herbert Hopkins. Speaker Hopkins explained in detail the experiences of his first year of teaching at Hermon High School.

The senior members of S. E. A. are providing a service to the school through a rotating list of student teachers. Now instructors needing proctors for exams may check the list and know which student teachers are available at each hour. In this way all members will gain experience.

On January 11 a special program and movie concerning mentally retarded children was presented by Pineland Hospital and Training Center. The student body and the faculty were invited.

DSD

Delta Sigma Delta Sorority held their annual Pledge Night on December 7. The following girls are new pledgees: Meridel Blanchard, Margaret Bradford, Judith Boucher, Donna Clark, Karyl Davenport, Amelia Davis, Mimi Gauthier, Dawn Hughes, Susan Minott, Elizabeth Murray, Cathy Richard, Eileen Santa Barbara, Barbara Wagner, Sharman West, Linda Whitney. Their informal initiation was January 7, and their formal initiation was January 9.

The Christmas party was held December 12 in the school gym. Gifts were exchanged between secret pals, and refreshments were served. The DSD girls donated a food basket to a needy Bangor family as a Christmas project.

Circle K

The second annual Winter Carnival of Husson College is being sponsored by Circle K International from February 16 through the 19th. The theme for this year's event will be "American Heritage."

Various committees have been appointed to plan a snow sculpture contest, a sleigh ride, and an evening of entertainment by a folk singing group. The four day event will be climaxed by the election of a Carnival Queen at a semi-formal ball.

With the help and encouragement of you, the student body, we can make this year's Carnival a successful and memorable one.

The candidates for queen are being selected and the names will be announced later.

S. E. A. CHRISTMAS PARTY

Young Republicans Club

In November, the Young Republicans Club of Husson College held its first organizational meeting. Plans were made for the coming year. It is hoped details can be worked out for debates with the Young Democrats Club. The Republicans are very fortunate to have Mr. Howard Foley as its advisor again this year.

The officers for the school year are: President, Ralph Girafalco; Vice President, Tom Gorman; Secretary, Aldo Rosingana; and Treasurer, George Dominello.

Frank Fahey was appointed to handle publicity, and Ronnie Di Robbio was assigned to represent the Young Republicans on the Student Senate.

We encourage all Husson students interested in the Republican philosophy of politics to come to our next meeting.

Young Democrats Club

Regular monthly meetings of the Young Democrats Club of Husson College are being held every third Tuesday. Attendance is increasing and new members are being enrolled at each meeting.

A letter from Senator Ed Muskie (D-Me.) was read and circulated among the members during our November meeting. Fund raising programs were discussed and a club bulletin board for Commerce Hall received approval. Members voted to hold the December meeting a week early due to the holiday schedule.

The December meeting was held at the Bangor Daily News Auditorium. A good turnout was on hand to hear our guest speaker, Representative Joseph E. Binnette (D-Old Town), address the club on the accomplishments of the 102nd Demoratic controlled Maine Legislature. Representative Binnette highlighted accomplishments in the fields of education and voter registration. A question and answer period followed.

Student Senate

The Student Senate is now preparing a calendar of social events for the second semester. This calendar will permit the students to know the "what—where—when" of all campus activities. Hopefully, the calendars will be distributed to the students at the beginning of next semester.

Another student service that the senators are planning and organizing is a daily news bulletin. This bulletin will contain administrative notices as well as club notes. Though not all of the details have been settled yet, the plans are to have the bulletin ready by 10 a. m. each day. The information to be incuded in this bulletin will have to be deivered to the Student Senate office in Commerce Hall before classes for publication the same day. As yet the publication of this daily news sheet is still in the organizational stage, but it is hoped that the first issue shall be published on the first day of next semester.

As previously mentioned, the Student Senate now has its own office. We hope that this new location will better enable us to function efficiently and effectively for the benefit of the student body.

With The Faculty

Additions

Two new names have been added to the growing list of faculty. Errol K. Paine, a young lawyer in the City of Bangor, is teaching two divisions of Introductory Business Law. He holds his classes at 8:00 and 9:00 a. m. Mr. Paine is a graduate of Dartmouth College with an A. B. degree and holds a LL. B. and a L. L. M. from Boston University School of Law.

Mr. Basil Livingston, currently of Bangor, will instruct in the area of Economics. Mr. Livingston is an Englishman and received his undergraduate study in the English Colleges. He came to the United States and was awarded a M. B. A. from Harvard Business School.

A Great Loss

The Faculty members, each and everyone, from the newest to the oldest in service, are greatly saddened by the loss of Professor John M. Tyler. The College has lost a great teacher, and the Faculty lost a great friend. John had an excellent mind and was a teacher devoted to instructing the college youth.

$41,000 Raised

The contributions of the faculty, staff, and administrators amounted to $41,000; and the Faculty Lounge in the new Husson College will be known as Tyler Lounge, in memory of John M. Tyler, Instructor to Associate Professor, 1956-1965.

The following members served on the Fund Raising Drive for Husson College: Janice Moody, Gail Gross, Priscilla Hartford, Jane Goodwin, Richard Vizard, Albert Weymouth, Chester Dana, Jr., Thelma Watson, Pauline Saba, Rev. E. C. Dartnell, Dolores Renaud, Howard Foley, Walter Greenlaw, Edmund Lebrun, and Grace Perkins. Through the efforts of these Team Captains, the Faculty alone pledged over the $25,000 goal set for it. Mr. George Fowler, Professional Fund Raiser, gave the faculty and staff 100 per cent on its effort.

Christmas Party

The single women of the Faculty held its annual Christmas Party for the offspring of the Faculty and Staff. Sixty-five children attended the event. Santa was present and with the older children as assistants distributed the gifts to all. Mothers and fathers enjoyed the get-together. The mothers made Christmas cookies for the party.

New Year's

Many New Year gatherings were held by various segments of the Faculty. They were all enjoyable. And, eighty per cent of the faculty watched the football games on Saturday and Sunday.

To the South

Chief and Mrs. Husson left for Florida on January 3. They will be by the sea for a spell where they will rest and prepare for a busy spring when the official ground-breaking will take place.

Exactness Pays Off

Government Funds have come our way due to the exactness and completeness of the technical forms which Priscilla Clark has diligently prepared. She has received an A-OK on them. Over $4,000,000 has been set aside for Husson.

Personal Items

Mrs. Betty Smith Hardy's husband, Dana, will be among the February graduates. Mrs. Sonia Mallar's husband, Wayne, is a June graduate. There is much speculation as to the new Secretaries for the "Chief" and Miss Swan.

Ed Lebrun's son and daughter were home from Michigan State University for Christmas. Joe is a senior, and Catherine is a freshman.

Mr. Ogden has accepted the pastorate at the Veazie Congregational Church. He teaches accounting and C. P. A. Law Review at Husson.

David and Nellie Robinon, Bill Parker, and Ruby Swett all returned for Mr. Tyler's services. Mr. Robinson is in the graduate program at Northeastern University in Boston. Mr. Parker is doing doctoral work at Fairfield University, Fairfield, Connecticut; and Miss Swett is on the Faculty at Belknap College.

New Secretaries

Mrs. Janice Ramsdell King has joined the staff of Husson College. She has accepted a position as Secretary to the Director of Public Relations, Mr. Nadeau. Janice is a gradute of Husson in the Class of 1961. Mrs. King's husband teaches at Mary Snow School in Bangor.

Placement Office

The last issue of the Ledger contained the 1965-66 tentative recruiting schedule. Since that time, several new interviewers have been added. SENIORS SHOULD WATCH THE BULLETIN BOARD DAILY FOR ANNOUNCEMENTS.

The interview schedule is only one of the services provided by your Placement Office. We have many types of "contact lists" for the use of job seekers. We also lend an ear to your vocational plans and problems, help you with resumes and provide occupational information.

The Placement Office also serves the underclassmen. In addition to processing part-time work applications, this office is currently involved in the problems of financial aid and campus employment for students.

In addition, plans are being formulated for two career emphasis days this spring. One will emphasize merchandising careers and will be coordinated through the Placement Office by Mr. Mueller of the Business Administraiton Department. This program will be held on April 13 for sophomores and juniors in the Accounting, Business Administration, and Business Education departments. These career days are held annually—on different topics—with the purpose of expanding the underclassman's knowledge of opportunities in various business occupations. We purposely choose occupations which seem to be at a low ebb of popularity with the students in order to change any incorrect perceptions they may have concerning the type of work performed in that industry. In past years, we have had career emphasis days on insurance, public accounting, and banking. In each case, the objective, as outlined above, was reached. That is, the ensuing seniors showed an increased interest and better understanding of the opportunities available in those careers.

Our format this year will be the same. At 10 a. m. we will have a keynote speaker in Commerce Hall. At 11 a. m. we will hold small group meetings. The leaders of these groups will be managers from local retail and wholesale firms.

The Placement Office also sponsored two different evening "Career Programs" this semester. In November the accountants met with Mr. Smith Towne of the Defense Contract Audit Agency. In early December Sgt. Clement Schina of the U. S. Army Recruiting Center met with several men in Dickerman Lounge for a worthwhile session.

Our second annual Career Day for Secretaries will be held at the Harlow Street School on April 21 at 11 a. m. This year we will have a group of men from the Bangor-Brewer Area Management Club give a demonstration of good and bad interviewing and a demonstration of some of the things that secretaries do which annoy their bosses. This session will be under the direction of Mr. Weymouth of the General Education Department. A luncheon will follow at noon of all program participants with the students and faculty of the Secretarial Department at Husson Hall.

Pro And Con Society Accepted Bid To Debate Tournament

The Pro and Con Society represented Husson College at the University of Maine Portland novice debate tournament on January 8. This was the first time in many years that Husson has been represented in an interscholastic debate tournament.

Taking the affirmative side of the question were Frank Fahey of Millinocket, and Roy Ferland of St. Albans, Vermont. The negative side was debated by Seth Gilman of Bangor and Tomie Burgess of Millinocket. This year's debate question was, Resolved: that law enforcement agencies in the United States have more freedom in the investigation and prosecution of crime.

The Husson Pro and Con Society hopes that the U. M. P. tournament will provide the necessary impetus to debating at Husson. Debating provides excellent training in research, organization of information, and oral expression. An invitation is extended by the Pro and Con Society to any student interested in debate, to attend meetings of the group, or to come to any of the several practice sessions on the current debate topic.

Mr. Albert Weymouth, director of speech activities at Husson, is advisor to the group and coaches the debaters. Officers for this year are Seth Gilman, president; Tomie Burgess, vice-president; and Anne Lewis, secretary-treasurer. Meetings are held regularly on the second Tuesday of each month.
