HUSSON COLLEGE

Founded 1898

Evolving from its very modest beginnings at the turn of the century, Husson College today is a coeducational, collegiate school of business. It has the authority to grant the degree of Bachelor of Science in Accounting, Business Administration, Business Education and Secretarial Science and to grant the Associate in Business Science degree in Accounting, Business Administration, Secretarial Science. These academic programs of the College are supplemented by recreational, social and cultural activities designed to be both interesting and beneficial to all members of the college community.

The new campus, which we dedicate here today, is a milestone in the history of Husson College. Its 300-acre site and six buildings provide modern facilities for the conduct of all college activities.
