A Message From President Husson

Welcome aboard!

Another school year is upon us and we find some 600 new students joining the same number of upperclassmen. A student body of over 1,200 represents the largest in our history. It would please me if the largest proved itself the best.

It is here that the student must rely upon himself more than anytime in his past. Here the responsibility for his progress falls more heavily on his shoulders, and the boy becomes a man. His instructors will lead and guide him, but he must become a member of the "do-it-yourself" club. He is prepared to meet the problems that will confront him when school days are over.

Whether it's a basketball team, a whole school, a whole community, or a nation, life is good if it is employed as it should be, if we give expression to the good that is in us, if we give it the direction suggested by the great writers of all time, and if we abide by the mores and morals of those people who believe in the freedoms and in divine inspiration.

It is possible that we may enter a great age of peace and understanding because we have made war too horrible to contemplate. In a peaceful world, my friends, it is you and I as individuals who will play the greatest roles.

The school year has its roadblocks and tempests. It will test our talents and tempers. Courage is born of a desire to meet the challenges as they come, and to try again and again when failures greet us. The drop-out lives to regret the act of surrender which plagues him the rest of his life and brands him as a quitter. On the other hand, the graduate proves that he is a "finisher" and the employer applauds and approves the effort. Be a finisher, a winner. You will find many doors open to you that are sealed tight against the drop-out. A diamond is a piece of coal that stuck to its job.

While you are here, I would like to have you act like ladies and gentlemen ever mindful of the property of others. We would like to have you bathe often, be neat, and keep your hair cut. There is no place for "sloppy Joes" and "bearded beatniks" in a college dedicated to the training of young men and women for careers in business, government and education. Take pride in your appearance and in your work. Pride in your school will follow.

Please join some student organizations. Group or team activity will serve you well. It is part of the total college experience designed to help you in later life. There are some twenty group activities at Husson and they are for you. Get busy with this project since all of them will soon announce that their seasons are starting. Don't pass through school, live through it!

I hope that you will be happy here; that you will enjoy your stay with us and the people whom you meet in the classroom and out. We aim to keep you busy, and you should like that, too. It is your tuition dollar that is being invested, and it is up to you to get your money's worth. We want this to be the best purchase that you ever made. Be a good businessman from the start.

An Indian chief once said to his son, "Do not judge another brave until you have walked two weeks in his moccasins". If you find yourself out of harmony with a member of the faculty or staff, bear that in mind. Give them time to prove their worth and friendliness, and you will find that they are there. They want to help, they want you to succeed. See them privately when you feel the need. They are expecting you.

I enjoy students' visit to my office. Come in and talk shop anytime. Let me help you when you need a friend.

See you in the next issue.

Cordially,

Chief

Open Letter to Seniors From The Placement Office

Dear Senior:

In the interest of saving your time, I am going to try this method of communication instead of calling a meeting.

Attached is the 1966-67 tentative recruiting schedule. As you can see it is expanded and offers a great deal of opportunity for all of you. Other good leads will appear on the bulletin board (in the gym of the Main Building) from time to time.

I think the easiest way to approach this letter is to list several "answers to typical questions" along with other suggestions as I think of them:

1. Secretaries—See New York Times article on the bulletin board, supplied by Mr. Read of the Husson faculty.
2. Education majors will have an excellent year of job opportunities. A new service for you will be the ASCUS Annual which is similar to the College Placement Annual used by accounting and business administration students.
3. Many of you will want to explore the opportunities in the Peace Corps, VISTA, and Armed Services. Go into the service as an officer candidate.
4. Graduate school opportunities are open to those who qualify. The best way to find out if you qualify is to take the Graduate Test in Business.
5. Many summer seminars are open in foreign countries for education majors.
6. All of you should fill in your resume forms and get them to my secretary immediately.
7. Suggestions for interviews:

a. Prepare your own resume to hand the interviewer in addition to the information we supply.
b. Take interviews with those companies in which you are really interested. Do not take interviews for "the practice."
c. READ THE COMPANY BROCHURE THE NIGHT BEFORE THE INTERVIEW.
d. Be yourself. Be prepared to ask pertinent questions during the interview.
e. After the interview, send the interviewer a thank-you note. We have all of their addresses in the Placement Office. Also, you may want to write to them ahead of time indicating that you are looking forward to meeting with them on campus.
f. Do not cut a class for an interview. Schedule it for another time. We sign up two to three days in advance.
g. KEEP THE APPOINTMENT. In case of illness or other detention, call the interviewer by phone.

Sincerely,

James L. Wright,
Placement Director

Cultural Misunderstanding

By STEVE MITCHELL

It has been asked of me many times by fellow students if Indians were still as they were one hundred years ago. The most common questions asked have been, "What do Indians live in on a reservation? Do they work? Can they vote? Can they live anywhere they want?"

To the average American, the Indian, wherever found, is merely a restrained savage—an obstacle, dull-witted, ill-humored, sly, rancorous, a cruel brute and nothing more; giving to lying and stealing and scalping; good for nothing better, and far bepond the power of civilizing influences. Such opinion is based on ignorance and fear of the Indians' real character.

There are at least a third of the American Indians left on their reservations. The rest have settled in cities, towns, and villages all over the country where they practice professions like medicine or law and hold the same kind of jobs as their neighbor. The rest of them, however, still live on the land they own—the tribal reservation guaranteed to them tax free, generally by treaty, in return for the vast territories they ceded to the United States.

Probably around 800,000 Indians live today in the United States. Thousands of people have been chockful of tales of pioneers and Indians. Most people cherish a firm conviction that "once upon a time" there was an Indian with a tomahawk lurking behind every bush from Maine to California, with plenty left for sagebrush and cactus country. In reality, there were never enough Indians to go around the "bushes".

Much of the misunderstanding of the average Anglo about the American Indian is a cultural one. A culture is an organization or integration of conventional understanding. It is, as well, the acts and the objects, in so far as they represent the type characteristic of that society, which express and maintain these understandings.

Though the United States has spent billions of dollars on foreign aid programs, it has captured neither the heart nor the ear of the rest of the world. In many countries today, Americans are cordially disliked; in others merely tolerated. Most of the American behavior does not spring from malice but from ignorance. It is time Americans learned how to communicate effectively. We don't need more missiles and H-bombs nearly so much as we need specific knowledge of ourselves as participants in a culture. Differences in inter-cultural communications are seldom seen for what they are. When it becomes apparent to people of different cultural backgrounds that they are not understanding one another, each tends to blame this misunderstanding on the other, on his stupidity, deceit, or craziness.

Many Indians rebel against the idea that "they must come up to the standards of the white man". Who is to say that the white man's way is the best? Why can't there be the feeling of a horizontal relationship rather than this present vertical attitude?

There are Indians, too, who have this vertical attitude. An Indian Student at the 10th Annual Institute on American Indian Affairs held at the University of Colorado in 1965 commented that trite as the idea may have seemed, she had gained a clearer insight into the Indian problem. "I thought I saw a depraved lot on the (.....) reservation, very much in need of reform. Though I often criticized Indian Bureau Policy for trying to make Indians over into their concept of what is right, I was doing exactly the same thing. I was going to be a tremendous reformer and impose upon those "innocent" people my newly acquired philosophy, my middle class ways. . . Now, I think I would have been harming them, as a well-intended and well-meaning but naively ethnocentric person (as are many Anglos, and Educated Indians). . . I wanted them (the Indians) also to retain their traditional values whatever they were. To do that they must remain static. I couldn't see that these values must change or become stagnant.

What do you think?

SPORTS

Women's Intramurals

The Husson girls are participating earnestly in their intramural program this semester which consists of bowling, volleyball, swimming, and basketball.

In bowling, we are striving for a score of 100 or better and it is most satisfying to see our score improve each week. We have our own teams within the group and compete against one another. Our scores are recorded each week so that at the end of the session we will have a "pin girl" winner.

Those participating are: Linda Armstrong, Pat Badger, Cheryl Billings, Shirley Gagnon, Diane Grasser, Cora Rand, Pat Shaw, Sandra Wood, Debbie Stubb, Carol Buck, Susan Cannell, Nancy Cheyunski, Peggy Gates, Donnaline Hersey, Cathy Richard, Barbara Waddell, Rachel Burgess, and Lynn Lister.

Volleyball sometimes gets very strenuous and our muscles seem very sore the next day; but, the fun we have in trying to win our games is always worth the aches and pains. We would welcome all girls who will come and give us a helping hand.

Those participating in volleyball are: Linda Bouvier, Jackie Chatto, Linda Emmons, Penelope Poor, Marlene Lloyd, Evelyn Burton, Sharon Dinardi, Marjorie Lombard, Sharon Rogers.

Swimming has been most helpful to the girls who are interested in building up their endurance and improving on their strokes. Our swimmers are great demonstrators and most helpful in teaching others.

Those participating are: Sheila Giles, Latona Kelley, Stephanie Murphy, Janet Sharp, and Susan Tardiff.

We are planning to start basketball the Monday night after Thanksgiving recess and are in hopes of seeing many new faces to come and join in the fun of participating in your girls' intramural program.

Kappa Delta Phi

On October 23, 1966, Kappa Delta Phi Fraternity welcomed twenty new men into the brotherhood at third degree ceremonies held at Husson Hall. During the previous week, the prospective brothers gave concerts, hikes, drilled and did charitable work at St. Michael's Orphanage, James Taylor Osteopathic Hospital, Eastern Maine General Hospital, and on the Husson campus. Lambda Chapter is pleased to accept: Brian Sullivan, Bob De Gennaro, Ray Larcher, Steve Mitchell, Dave Kennedy, Joe Kostek, Steve Petro, Ralph Knowles, Nate Collemer, John Houlihan, Richard Morano, Jim Cameron, Fred Guilmette, James Gecewicz, Mark Dendler, Rodney Irish, Steve Higgins, Lou Hartt, and Chuck Newton. Ten honorary members were also accepted into the Fraternity. They are: Burt Phornphiboon, Bill Bergmann, Philip R. Surgen, William Herd, Jr., Jack Slomback, T. J. Anderson, Jr., Ernest P. Walker, Kenneth M. Johnson, Richard R. Collette, and Brian W. Simpson.

On October 27, Kappa Delta Phi sponsored the third annual Husson Mixer. The Jesters played to an attendance of well over five hundred making this one of Husson's most successful dances. The success of the dance may be attributed to the "New Husson Spirit", and it is inevitable that all succeeding Husson affairs will be just as enthusiastically supported.

A tentative date of December 10, has been proposed for the annual Kappa spaghetti dinner. Plans are being made to have Dr. Leonard W. Joll, National Kappa Delta Phi Organizer, to attend this dinner.

Kappa Delta Phi is currently making plans to have another name-group come to Husson. Arrangements have been made to have the "Happenings". This group has a couple of hit tunes, "See You in September" and "Go Away Little Girls," currently on the charts. It was planned to have a concert-dance combination. This was held at the Bangor Auditorium on December 2nd.

ETE Talent Show

The annual Epsilon Tau Epsilon Amateur Talent Show was held in the Husson gym on November 9, 1966. The ETE girls wish to congratulate the student body for their tremendous support. The varied talents demonstrated by the contestants resulted in a close contest.

Mr. Walter Greenlaw, our favorite master of ceremonies, awarded first prize to Lois Brown, who sang "Sound of Music" and "Climb Every Mountain." Second prize was awarded to Faalepo Faalepo, who did a Polynesian Flaming Stick Dance. Third prize was awarded to Bob Cox who sang "The Impossible Dream" and "If Time Were Not a Moving Thing."

To end the evening on a high note, the faculty, garbed and disguised admirably, serenaded the audience; and the "Huzon Squaws" as winners of the "cereal bowl" provided a few athletic clues.

William J. Curran, Jr.

Professor William J. Curran Is 1966 Recipient

The Maine Association of Life Underwriters 1966 J. Putnam Stevens Award was made to Prof. William J. Curran, of Bangor, Director, Department of Business Administration, of Husson College. Prof. Curran's candidacy for the award was presented to the committee by Ronald E. Bishop, 1st Vice President, MALU and a member of the Eastern Maine local.

Through Prof. Curran's efforts, Husson College has expanded its curriculum to include two basic courses in life and casualty courses. Because he has always been acutely aware of the tremendous value of the sound life insurance philosophy in the potential success of the students that he has taught, he has constantly upgraded the scope of the insurance program at Husson College. It is now possible for students to major in insurance. Four three-hour courses are now available to candidates toward a Business Administration Degree. His inspiration and teaching ability has resulted in many students entering the life and casualty field.

Prof. Curran has a wealth of experience in the field of educatoin and service to his local community in the many areas of public service and association affiliations. The criteria for the Award states. . .

"This award, to be presented annually, will go to that person or persons who, in the opinion of the committee, has rendered outstanding service to his industry in the State of Maine. It is not intended to restrict the award to only agents or general agents but rather to recognize those people even outside the industry who for one reason or another, have made outstanding contributions to the life insurance business."
