HUSSON LEDGER

OCTOBER, 1955 | HUSSON COLLEGE, BANGOR, MAINE | VOLUME 30, NO. 1

WELCOME FRESHMEN

PRESIDENT'S COLUMN

My welcome to the freshmen is a warm one, indeed. What a lusty baby we have added to the Husson family! It's a compliment to the alumni whose achievements have brought respect and acclaim to our institution. Because those who have gone before have done so well, others have come to do so also. The college welcomes this challenge and no effort will be spared to build into the curricula the things most needed for successful careers when school days are over. So to the new faces among us may we say that we are glad to have you with us and we predict a happy and busy year ahead.

There is no better time than at the beginning of a venture to make a few resolutions to govern our daily behavior. We are here to study. A simple resolution to set aside regular hours for this purpose is very much in order. And then stick to it. What dividends this resolution would pay. Remember above all things else that the money expended for your training is far less important than the time devoted to it. Your time is a precious possession that must be spent wisely—so very wisely. Guard it, use it, and your cup of happiness will run over because there are few satisfactions that equal those when your nights find you fully prepared for the tomorrows.

Another resolution is the one that commands our best behavior. You, I, all of us are judged by our conduct. Let us face our assignments with the dignity and decorum of college men and women. Our attitudes indicate our personalities so it is with care that we shape them for others to see and to enjoy. We can learn with a smile as quickly as with a frown. We can be cheerful even if it hurts at times. A friendly attitude is the best equipment we can carry through life, and particularly into a business career.

Husson is known as the "friendly school upon the hill." These words appear in the school song which was written by a former student who experienced personally the friendliness of our college atmosphere. She was happy here. This is an experience that I want everyone to enjoy—the friendliness of an understanding faculty and the warm companionship of friendly classmates. If everybody does his little bit in this cause, the sum total will be a big package for everybody.

Meeting the upper-classmen is one of the joys, too, of opening week. So many say it's good to be back. What a tremendous compliment this is to those of us who have spent a goodly number of years here. We are proud of this attitude. Very proud and pleased.

We consider that reaching the hearts of our students is as important as reaching their minds. That is our philosophy and the Husson "family" idea keeps alive because of it. To the returning students I say hello, how are you, and it's good to see you.

Those of you in this group who returned a day early to guide the freshmen through their opening day experiences find me very grateful for your help. You made a very valuable contribution to these new members of the student body, and to your school. They thank you and I thank you.

One more resolution and then I am done. (I was allotted a limited amount of space in this issue). We must respect the rights of others in all things, particularly with the crowded conditions in which we find ourselves. We must move in the traffic lanes and enjoy our conversations in less populated parts of the building. Quiet in the auditorium means that those who need the time for study may do just that. Many students are working in their spare hours and need study periods desperately. Let's help them by keeping quiet and studious, too. Keeping things neat, cleaning off the tables after eating, using the wastebaskets, all these are a measure of your school citizenship.

It is desirable that visitors be given a good impression of us. A cluttered gymnasium is unnecessary if each does his part. Smoking on the front stairs is not only a poor ad but the cigarette stubs (butts), empty packages, matches, and match packets present a cleaning problem. It means extra work for our janitors. We owe them something, too, because they see to it that each morning we enter the building we find it clean, neat, and all dressed up for the new day. Please smoke inside, or at least the sidewalk. These are things that you can take care of yourselves and no reminders should appear in this column in the future.

I expect the best from all of you. I will accept nothing less. And I'll give my best to you. There is a brass knob on my office door. If my friends use it often it will keep its bright polish. Come in and visit with me and talk about the things that interest you most. I'm a good listener.

Cordially,

"Chief" Husson

HONORS

The BUSINESS SCHOOL NEWS, a monthly publication of the National Association and Council of Business Schools, Washington, D. C. has honored us in its August, 1955 publication with the following:

THE "HUSSON LEDGER," publication of Husson College, Bangor, Maine, comes to our desk frequently. We particularly liked the June 1955 number with its message to graduates in the "President's Column," the many photographs of events and personalities, and the attractive layout and "newsy" quality. This is a "colossal" publication—it measures 11"x14" and contains six pages. And all this space is very well used.

The Peirce School of Business Administration, Philadelphia 2, Pa. made the following inquiry.

Gentlemen:

Reference was made in the August issue of Business School News, to your publication, The Husson Ledger. We would appreciate it if you would send us a copy of this newspaper. Thank you.

The program for the day started with a welcome by Mr. Husson followed by a business meeting with the following state officers elected for the coming year: President, Anita Mountain of Aroostook State Teachers College; Secretary, Joan Blanchette of Aroostook State Teachers College; and Vice President, Mary Lee Johnston of Farmington State Teachers College. The guest speaker was Dr. Garland Russell, a professor at the University of Maine. His topic was "Education In the Twenty-first Century." RECOMMENDATION

July 29, 1955

Dear Miss Swan:

Lieutenant Colonel Bence, Commandant of the Portland Air Reserve Center, informs me that reservists in his area have recently completed a year of training in Administration at Husson College.

It is largely through the splendid cooperation from institutions such as yours that the Air Force is able to perform the monumental task of keeping its reservists, throughout the United States, current in their specialized skills.

Even though the Air Force is a comparatively young service, we have already identified ourselves with the American tradition that education is the cornerstone of progress. A major part of our effort is devoted to education and training because it is only through these means that we can remain a strong and effective arm in the nation's defense.

We are proud to have been included in your academic program during the past year. I would like to offer my thanks for a job well done and express the hope that the Portland Air Reserve Center may continue to be associated with you in the future.

Faithfully yours,
Roger J. Browne

DEFINITION OF ADOLESCENCE

The time of life at which girls gladly assume the responsibility of answering the telephone.

Jeanette: "Is your brother planning to be married?"

John Rioux: "I don't think so—he's studying for a bachelor's degree."

Honesty is the fear of being caught.

A little kindness goes a long ways . . . sometimes when it should have stayed home.

A self-made man is usually an example of unskilled labor.

It's better to have loved a short guy than never to have loved a tall, says Dotty Huston.

FISH STORY

Delivery Boy: "Here's the fish your mother ordered. It's C.O.D."

Little Girl (offended): "You don't have to spell it out for me—and anyway, she ordered salmon."

FROSH

"JOE" RHEE

This year the Ledger Staff is most happy to welcome over 200 freshmen to the halls of Husson College (and the halls are plenty full when it is time for classes to pass.) The students hail from all corners of Maine, one from Massachusetts, one from Arizona, one from New York, and one Korean student, Jung No Ree, by name, but to us known as Joe. There are four beginning Accounting classes this year. We are using two English teachers and Dean Foss has a record number in Math. There are thirty freshmen in the Business Education Department and this gives a boost to our prospective teachers and will help with the shortage. There are a lot of new men in the Accounting and Business Administration Departments—real good looking too!

Of course, we will have approximately 100 secretaries available for work in June. The shortage of secretarial help is second to the teacher demand across the nation.

Now to get down a few facts on some of our freshmen class. If you see double in the halls, it is only the Archer twins from Brewer. They are alike as two peas in a pod. Their glasses are different!

We have two daughters of former graduates, Anne Fletcher of Brewer and Emily Randlett of Lincolnville.

"Company, attention!" barked the sergeant. "Every man lift up his left leg and hold it straight out in front of him."

"Okay!" snapped the sergeant. "Who's the wise guy holding up both legs?"

CHATTER

The Husson Girls' Lounge was back in full swing with the opening of school. Harriet, Audrey, Janice, Madalyn, Althea, and Thelma all discussed their summer experiences. Much fun was held over Althea's summer trip through many of the states. Among the popular talk now by these girls is "Economics" and all its "isms."

New girls that are making the lounge their hangout are Patty Pelkey, Dottie Huston, Anne Fletcher, Joyce Colbath, and naturally, Emily. Their topic of conversation is "Maine" and all its parties.

Marilyn Leavitt, Elizabeth Keirstead and Doreen DeMerchant have the girls in stitches, as usual. It is still a "rat-race" for who gets the corners, and it seems the old students still get there first.

As the weeks roll on, the Girls' Lounge becomes much more fun as us older kids get to know the new ones. "Never a dull moment in that Lounge!"

LUCY STARK

We have extra courageous Freshmen. One of them is Lucy Stark of Winterport who travels to and from Winterport every day with cousin, Jane. She is a victim of the polio epidemic. Yet she gets to classes, excels in her classes, hit an all time high in some tests. She is going to be a basketball manager. She was the Winterport girls' manager for four years and she keeps an excellent score book. And she's a little bit bashful, too.

We have our Korean boy who has travelled many miles; is learning the English language, studying typing, etc., and liking the American boys and girls with whom he is in contact. He has a most pleasing smile and is a friend to all.

We have our Indian boy, a John Bapst graduate, who is studying Accounting. He is a fine specimen of manhood and Husson is glad he chose this school to be his.

There are eight "Martins" in school; only two Smiths, and sisters at that. There is the tall man—Parker Cook—the short one and avid dancer, Reginald Hamel.

Coach Merrill has a large number of Frosh out for Basketball—tall, too. They look real good.

We have three "Hills," a "Fish," two "Kanes," a "Hall," a "Day," a "Door" ("Dare"), "Economy," our "Honey" and a "Lyon"—sounds good, doesn't it. Welcome, all. Enjoy yourself, Freshmen, and welcome to the friendly school on the hill.

BOWLING

A meeting of the Bowling Club was held and the following teams were formed. Janice Gray is in charge of the Bowling Club. The following are the individual teams and their captains:

Crazy Collegians—Dot Huston, Captain, Mary Lou Moran, Annabel Pelletier, Beth Young, Mary Hobart.

Husson Idiots—Joyce Martin, Captain, Marleen Cohen, Rinette Levesque, Emily Randlett, Nancy Blanchard.

OFFICE PRACTICE WORKSHOP

DEAN FOSS

Millard E. Foss has been appointed Dean of Men by President Chesley H. Husson. "Bud" has been on the Husson faculty 9 years and has served as Men's A. A. adviser all that time. He is also adviser to the Mu Sigma Chi Fraternity. His specialty is Math and Law.

So you boys, or men, you are fortunate to have such a fine fellow as Mr. Foss as your Dean. Your problems are his!

STUDENT COUNCIL

Would you be interested in joining the staff that tries so earnestly to please all the good customers at our Snack Bar? If you follow closely I will try to give you a few pointers.

The present staff comprises Student Council members who were elected last year. Elections will be held at the end of the first quarter—the last week of November. A meeting is held of all students in their respective departments; and this is your chance to submit your name to become a candidate. (If you're sincerely interested in helping your school, I hope you're elected). Out of this unlimited number of candidates, seven members are elected from our four departments—Business Administration, Accounting, Secretarial Science, and Business Education.

If you are elected, you are on the Snack Bar staff. The older members initiate you to our easy routine and believe me, you can get plenty of enjoyment out of it. Of course, this organization works as all others do—"You get out of it what you put into it."

You may also be elected as representative of other organizations in school. The following have recently joined the staff.

Janice Moody representing Pi Rho Zeta Sorority; Robert Tremblay, Kappa Delta Phi; Evelyn Bray, Glee Club.

The Student Council held its first meeting September 20, 1955 to elect a secretary. Nancy Smith, last year's secretary, retired from office with graduation. Elizabeth Keirstead was elected to fulfill the duties of this office.

Good! I'm glad you decided to read this. This isn't a misprint, but is to give you a brief message. The Administration has considered your request for tables for non-veterans, to be placed in the gym. Now that you have these tables, please be considerate and take care of them as they were your own. Mr. Husson has selected the best, so, let's see them pay dividends—in being able to use them for many years to come. Thank you, for your attention.

Misses Mildred Marie Bradford, Priscilla A. Clark, Clara L. Swan, and Thelma M. Watson participated in the Third Annual BUSINESS EDUCATION INSTITUTE held at the University of Connecticut this summer.

David Huff, 1955 graduate, working with California Oil, New Jersey, writes:

I was approached yesterday by the Comptroller and he asked me if I knew anything about basic consolidations. I affirmed and he took me in his office to show me Caloil's method of consolidation. So, now I have my fingers in that pie along with experience in using historical data for renegotiation and profit forecasts, analyzing yearly operations and above all—I have been assigned to run a complete comparison of the California Oil Refined Sales division's operations for 1954 and 1955. To determine the reason for the changes of increase or decrease by using the price and quantity variances. It's a whole week's job and I'm right in my glory. You can mention to Mr. Donahue that his teaching of Cost Accounting has served me well as I can remember clearly what to do (basic steps, of course) and I'm really enjoying myself on this assignment.

A certificate of Honor was awarded to John Bapst High School "Crusader" for upholding the highest standards of school journalism through active participation in the community effort to control tuberculosis through the school press project. This award was presented by the National Tuberculosis Association and the Columbia Scholastic Press Association. Miss Janet Kinney, Husson graduate, was adviser of this publication.

Miss Virginia Blood, 1954 graduate, wants to thank her alma mater with the following: "I hope I did justice to my training at dear old Husson College. I tried to make a good name for the alma mater, and bring some much-needed recognition to it. I graduated with the highest rank in the Graduate School, and finished in my year—another first in the Grad. School. I earned 4 A's and 2 B's the first semester, and 7 A's the last semester. Again, thank you and all the faculty at Husson for the fine training which I received there. Without you all I never could have done it."

Miss Blood is now teaching at La Salle Junior College.

Mr. Ronald Carter, who attended Husson College last year, is now working for the Atchison, Topeka and Sante Fe Railway Company in Los Angeles, California.

Stanley Borkowski, a former student, is now attending Stetson University at Deland, Florida to complete his Business Administration course. He writes this about his staying in Florida.

"The climate here is ideal and we sure are enjoying the sunshine. Claudette has a job here with Beneficial Finance Company as Assistant Manager and I am waiting to get into the bank, which should be very soon.

"We have leased a new home here and are tickled pink over it. The children are in a school during the day and home evenings. We are two blocks from the beach. It is 23 miles long, and filled to capacity with people all the time, just out sun bathing."

University Women Hold Panel For Aroostook High School Girls

"After High School Education in Maine" was discussed for central Aroostook upperclass high school girls at a panel meeting of the Presque Isle branch of the American Association of University Women, Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. at the Recreation Center in Presque Isle.

Mrs. William Hanscom, Presque Isle, served as moderator and Mrs. John Inglis was chairman of the special meeting. Mrs. Norman MacDonald was president of the organization.

Students and graduates of the colleges and schools in Maine offering advanced work for high school graduates, participated in the discussion which was aimed at giving information to the students to help in planning educational needs and careers. Miss Nancy Smith, Mapleton, represented Husson College at this panel.

ALUMNI BANQUET

An excellent dinner of Southern style baked ham, courtesy of Mrs. Miller, and the fixin's was held in the Husson gymnasium, Thursday of Teachers' Convention. The attendance was eighty-eight, teachers, guests and all! A grand dinner was enjoyed, with seconds for those who wanted them!

Dr. Lester Sluder of Boston University addressed the group. His topic was "Educational Straws in the Atomic Wind." Mr. Dartnell of Brewer offered the prayer. The following slate of officers were elected for 1956-57:

President, Marion McFarland, Bucksport; Vice President, Timothy Mayo, Farmington; Secretary-Treasurer, Ralph Bickford, Waterville.

POETRY

The annual publication of REED, poetry annual of The Poetry Fellowship of Maine, has recently published one of our student's poems. This student is Miss Jeanette LePage of Bangor now in her second year at Husson. The following was published:

MEMORY

A haunting whisper
Refusing to flee;
A taunting voice
With grasping plea;
A crumbled rose
I seem to see;
An exotic tingle
Returns memory.

Jeanette LePage

Miss LePage is now working on one by the name of "Nature's Enchantment," which will probably appear in our next issue of the Ledger.

How is a graduation speaker different from a cat?

One has pauses at the end of clauses; the other has clawses at the end of pawses.

Husson College Summer Workshop

Husson College conducted its first workshops this past summer. Over forty teachers in the Business Departments of the Maine schools attended the various workshops. The first workshop to be held was in the field of Electric Typewriting. Our electrical system was installed to take care of forty electrics. The International Business Machines Corporation supplied thirty electrics for the workshop. Husson has ten electrics in its department. Miss Mary Jane Chessa of New York City conducted this workshop. She was outstanding in her contribution. Some of the teachers found themselves hitting high speeds of 80-90-100 wam on these machines after a few days of drills. Many of our small schools have one or two electric machines. The teachers went back to their classrooms in September with a new understanding of the electrics and a desire to try out what they learned that particular week. The workshop met from 8 a. m. to 1:30 p. m. with a half hour for lunch. Mrs. Lowe served lunch each day in the Husson gym.

The second workshop was in the Office Practice field. The largest group reported to this class. Dr. Vern Frisch, Head of the Business Education department of New Rochelle High School in New York State, came to Bangor with his car serving as a truck to carry all the material he brought. It took him a day to move in and one to move out!! Dr. Frisch is an outstanding authority in this area and is noted all over the United States for his Office Practice program. He is the author of an Office Practice Set, which is published by the Gregg Publishing Company. The typing room changed its entire face the Saturday before the workshop began. It became a deparmentalized office with two office managers, etc. Three telephones were installed for inter-office communications. A voice machine, all duplicating equipment, comptometers, electric adding machines, etc., were in use. The class and Dr. Frisch knew what was going on. This workshop proved most valuable and beneficial to all those attending. Dr. Frisch has forwarded material for you participants and now that Miss Watson (streamlined) is back, it will be forwarded to you.

Mrs. Frisch accompanied her husband to Bangor. She is a workshop instructor in Music. Both Dr. and Mrs. Frisch were outstanding and had a lot of "bounce to the Ounce." They were very enthusiastic about Maine. They appeared on WABI-TV on the Hal Shaw Show and spoke on business education workshops and gave Husson a real boost.

During the third week of school, Miss Mary Sahora, Office Manager in the New York office of South-western Publishing Company gave a two-day workshop in the field of transcription. In many of our small schools, it is impossible to have the ideal transcribing situation. Miss Sahora gave many valuable hints and ideas to these teachers. Miss Sahora was formerly an instructor in New Rochelle High School and now serves as an instructor at Hunter College. Her course was very well received.

Mrs. Louise B. Miller, Husson College, presented a two-day workshop in Business English. Mrs. Miller is an outstanding authority in this field and is well recognized over the state and in Mississippi! The workshop teachers who had not had the opportunity of sitting in Mrs. Miller's classes really were astounded at her contribution. Her shortcuts and helpful hints in the teaching of Business English were written down by all there. The class was very happy with her contributions and considered this workshop one of the best of the summer. We here at Husson feel that Dean Miller can hold her own with any and all groups of educators.

The entire workshop attended the Business Education Conference at the University of Maine on Friday of this week. Dr. Ericson of California gave the typewriting demonstration and Dr. Zoubek of Gregg Publishing Company spoke on the "History of Gregg Shorthand." Mrs. Miller was also a speaker during the day, of course, her subject, Business English. The Conference was under the direction of Dr. Harm Harms of Capital University.

The fourth and last workshop was in the field of "Allied Business Subjects." Dr. Helen Keily of Salem Teachers College in Massachusetts conducted this workshop. Dr. Keily has her doctorate from Harvard and her pet field "Allied Business Subjects." The teachers found her giving them a great many worthwhile ideas in this area. Dr. Keily knew all the answers to all over small school problems. The teachers went home from this workshop feeling that they had received more than their money's worth for the summer. Dr. Keily enjoyed the many different personalities in her class and along with Dr. Frisch knew her class members individually. Projects were developed in different areas. And to Dr. Keily are extended sincere thanks for bringing our workshop program to such a happy closing.

Husson feels that these workshops were of such great value that another summer will find more authorities in different areas presenting new ideas for you teachers.

Some of our teachers come for "no credit" just to get up to date on the newest and latest ideas in our business education.

Miss Watson deserves a great deal of credit for all the assistance she gave the visiting professors. Her contribution to the over-all picture was outstanding. Miss Watson and Miss Swan conducted the summer session program.

At the close of the summer, nine teachers (from the field) received their B. S. degrees in education. Dr. Harms of Capital University and Rev. E. Charles Dartnell of Brewer were on the graduation program.
