Pump It Up Duff!

by Robert Demey

Most of you may know a guy named Duff. He has been seen at this college about 4 years and will be graduating in December 1990. At the beginning of this year, you probably did not see Robert Duff that much except in class. Robert went on a competition bodybuilding circuit this fall. His training and dietary consumption kept him away from Husson. This is the reason he was not seen around campus. His diet consisted of chicken, turkey, tuna fish, potatoes, raw eggs and water.

In competition, the judges look at your physique. An ultimate physique consists of muscular bulk, balanced development, muscular density and definition. This is obtained by lowering your body fat to between 5 and 6 percent. To get your body fat this low, without losing your muscle mass, you must train hard both mentally and physically along with a proper diet.

Robert's circuit started September 22nd, when he traveled down to Hackensack, New Jersey, to compete in the Eastern USA Natural Classic. Robert weighed in at 153 pounds which placed him in the lightweight division. There were a total of 140 competitors in this competition. Robert placed 10th in his division.

What does "natural" mean to a bodybuilder? It means getting a great physique through hard training and diet without the help of anabolic steroids or prescription drugs. This is hard to do these days, because other people are using drugs and getting great muscular gains. These drugs are very easy to obtain in almost any gym. Robert says, "the key to staying off these drugs, is to think of what they will look like down the road from side effects, if they are not dead."

The next competition Robert entered was the Mr. New Natural Maine, in which he placed third in the short division. The short division is for people under 5'7". This competition and the next one were sanctioned by North American Natural Bodybuilding Association, which required the competitors to be drug free. All the bodybuilders were required to take lie detecting and urine tests before the competition.

The next competition was the Mr. New England All Natural. This was an open event. This meant that all weights and heights could enter and compete against each other. Robert placed 3rd and the two who placed higher than he were over 6 feet and weighed over 200 pounds. This competition qualified Robert for the nationals next year. The nationals are Mr. USA, Mr. America, and Mr. Universe.

Robert had one more competition in his circuit after his success. This competition was Mr. Vacationland on October 14th, which was not drug tested. Robert again competed in the light weight division. Robert placed fifth in this competition. Robert said there was a lot of steroid use in this competition. But that he was glad to see the people he competed with in the New England the day before place high if not take their division. This proves that competitors don't have to take steroids to be on top.

Robert is now taking a small rest and trying to get back into studying. He will start training in November for the nationals, seeing that is only 9 months till he goes up against the big guns. Congratulations and good luck Robert.

Student Government

by Monica Irving

The Student Government is very active this year. There are 14 senators and 6 executive board members, who hold a meeting every other Wednesday at 3:30 in room 303. In these meetings we discuss current issues occurring on campus, handle complaints, and come up with helpful suggestions for improvement.

If you have any interests, concerns, and/or complaints, feel free to come to any meeting and voice your opinion. Student Government meeting times are posted outside the Student Government office located in the Wigwam. If you cannot attend a meeting, please see an executive board member, whose hours are posted outside the Student Government office, and we'll be sure to bring up your point in our next meeting. Your opinion counts! Please come talk to us.

A Letter To The Editor

Why do basketball players get full scholarships? This is a question that is asked by many on this campus. As concerned students we feel that this is not right. Why should non-athletes receive nothing when academics are supposed to be the number one concern with college students?

The motto for Husson is "Tomorrow's leaders are at Husson today." However, the way that the system is set up, we should change that motto to "Tomorrow's leaders are on the basketball court today." Many qualified students who really want to further their education do not receive the financial aid required to allow them to do so. It seems to us, the only major concern is that Husson has a NUMBER ONE basketball team.

We also feel that the teachers here at Husson College are also involved in this scheme by allowing players more leeway in classes, e.g., attendance, homework, etc. Why not give the non-athletic students the same leeway if not more because they are the ones that are paying the instructors.

In our opinion, we think that one of the major reasons why students can't further their education is because there is too much money given to the basketball players and not enough to students who truly deserve it and will use their education to better themselves.

The academic students give Husson just as good a name in the real world as the basketball players on the court. So why not give the students who truly have a purpose in life, other than basketball, a chance to make a name for themselves like some of our basketball players in the past have?

As a solution to this problem, we think that the administration at Husson should look into this matter and consider it from a non-athletic students point of view. Does the administration here really believe that the basketball players will ever really use their degree?

On behalf of the AASO, I would like to thank the Husson Community for supporting us in the raffle which was drawn on the 10th of November. The winner was Sherina Belvin of Bell Dorm. I would also like to say a special thank-you to Mr. John Benoit, the Director of CED, who helped us get the raffle off to a healthy start. Without him, I don't know what we would have done.

On the day of the drawing, we had a fundraising dance in the Arrowhead which turned out very well. A special thanks again to all the Husson students who came to support us that night. We hope to see more of that on campus for cultural diversity.

Borealis Wind Quintet

The Borealis Wind Quintet has been acclaimed as one of America's preeminent young chamber ensembles. Winner of numerous competitions and awards, Borealis was thrust into national recognition by being named High Fidelity magazine's "Young Artists to Watch." The quintet has been honored by the most prestigious grants in the field:those of the founding in 1976 at the Juilliard School, Borealis has delighted audiences throughout the country with imaginative programming and dynamic performances.

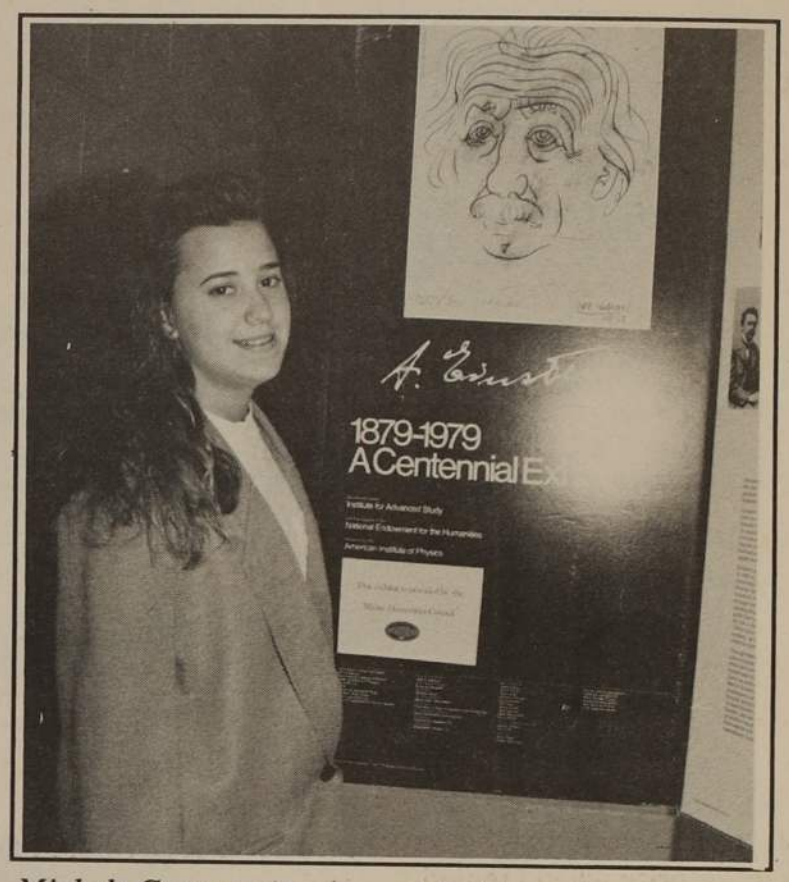

"A polished, elegantly turned performance...lively, communicative readings...the performance was a scintillating one." New York Times

"The group demonstrated the sort of rapport that characterizes the very best chamber playing." Philadelphia Inquirer

"Sensitive collaborations with a sophisticated and cosmopolitan air." Washington Post

"The Borealis Wind Quintet's intonation was beyond reproach, as was their phrasing. Each player is a virtuoso in his or her own right. This superb and skillful playing has continued to make them one of the most accssible chamber groups in the country." San Luis Obispo (CA) Times

EINSTEIN EXHIBIT 1879-1979
A Centennial Exhibit

An exhibit of Albert Einstein is on display here at Husson. The exhibit will be here until the end of November. Check it out and learn about "Einstein who became an assistant professor at the University of Zurich, his first full-time physics job. In 1911, he moved on to the German University of Prague. He continued to publish important physics papers, and was beginning to meet fellow scientists, for example at the exclusive Solvay Conference. The next year he returned to the Federal Institute of Technology in Zurich as Professor.

He contributed to the struggling new quantum theory. Meanwhile he searched for a way to unify the theories of electromagnetism and gravity. In 1929, he announced a unified filed theory, but the mathematics could not be compared with experiments; his struggle toward a useful theory had only begun. Meanwhile he argued with his colleagues, challenging their belief that quantum theory can give a complete description of phenomena."

A Look at the Movies...

by Jamie Glover

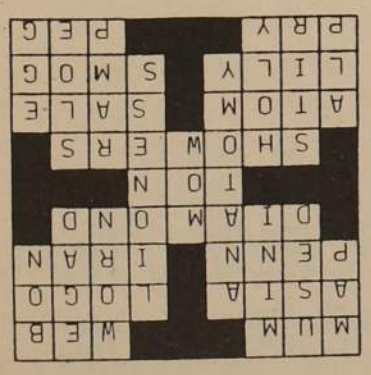

GHOSTS CAN'T DO IT

Have you ever rented a movie that you really knew was a real bomb, but you went ahead and rented it anyway? That is basically, how I felt when I rented this new Bo Derek film. For those who didn't know, Bo Derek has made such "classic" films as Bolero and Tarzan the Ape Man with Miles O'Keefe. And in addition to that, Derek has about as much acting potential as a doorknob. So it came as no surprise when I rented this movie and found it to be the waste of time that I expected it to be.

To summarize this movie, Derek's husband dies and his spirit wants to continue to live, but he needs a new body to live in. Derek is able to see and communicate with him while everyone else thinks she is talking into thin air. So Derek, being the good wife that she is, sets out to find her husband a young body that she would like her husband to reside in. What's the big dilemma in this film, you ask? Derek must murder someone to get her husband the new body. And if she does commit a murder she has been foretold that she and her husband will go to hell when they die.

Now, I suppose that there are some people who don't care if Derek can act or not because of her beauty, but her beauty can only carry the movie so far, and then you begin to realize how ridiculously stupid this movie is. There was one surprising element in this movie, in this mundane film Donald Trump makes a cameo appearence. I just can't figure out why he decided to make his acting debut in a turkey like this film.

If you happen to see this movie sitting on the video store's rack, be forewarned. You will be renting a real dud. Ghosts Can't Do It gets a 1/2 star, and I give it that only because I'm feeling exceptionally generous.

TALES FROM THE DARKSIDE: THE MOVIE

New in the video store is last year's semi-lame horror film, Tales from the Darkside: The Movie. This movie is actually an assortment of 3 individual short stories wrapped around the real story. The story begins with a woman housewife (Deborah Harry) who returns home from a day at the supermarket. As she returns home and begins to unpack her groceries, we find out that the woman is really holding a young boy captive in a jail cell in her kitchen. The woman is actually planning to "bake" the boy for her main course at her dinner party that night. (The basic theme for Hansel and Gretel).

In an attempt to save himself the boy tries to keep the "happy homemaker" from cooking him by telling stories from a book of horror that he was given. And at these points is where the 3 other stories come in. The first story told is with Christian Slater (Pump Up the Volume). The story is about a vindictive college nerd who decides to resurrect a mummy to murder off a couple of his enemies on campus. The second story unfolds and it is about a seemingly senile old man who hires a hit man to kill a black cat that he believes has killed his whole family. The hit man agrees, only to find more than he bargained for when the cat becomes the hunter and he the hunted. The last story is about a man who witnesses the murder of his friend. The murderer of his friend is not human though; it is a stone gargoyle come to life. The gargoyle allows the man who witnessed the murder to live provided that he never tell another person what he had seen. Unfortunately, the man eventually breaks his promise and all his life is never the same.

Tales from the Darkside: The Movie doesn't really require the audience to think much, and the stories are predictable from beginning to end, but it was fun to watch anyway. If you happen to rent this movie, keep that in mind. But on some weekend night when you can't find anything else to rent, this movie will be entertaining enough to get you through the evening. I give Tales from the Darkside: The Movie *1/2 stars.

Bowling Night

by Matt Thompson

The first bowling night of the year was held at Heritage Bowling Lanes on October 22nd. The turnout was great and everyone had an excellent time. Over 100 students signed up, for a combined total of 200,000 gutter balls thrown. Well, maybe not that many but we all had fun anyway.

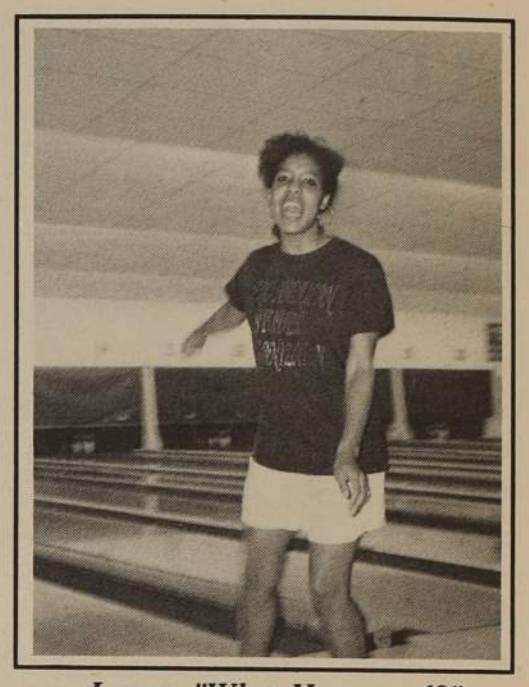

Now for the good stuff... the next bowling night is scheduled for Monday, November 26th from 9:30 to 1:00ish. Dana Wilson will be there, and this time there will be even more way-cool door prizes. The bus will pick people up at the Peabody Hall entrance across from the DDC at 9:15. See ya then. Oh yeah, I forgot: the stupid shoes are free too!

Any questions? Ask a member of the Social Committee or Matt Thompson in the Student Government Office.

TKE

TKE hopes your semester is going great. We are once again busy doing projects and having fun!!

Some of our recent projects are collecting for the Ronald McDonald House. If you see us doing that, help us by giving the people at the house goods, food, toiletries, or most anything. We also have been recycling for Julie Green, which has been a major project for us. By the time this comes to print, we will have completed our annual Big Brother/Little Brother B-Ball Tourney down at the gym. About 25 kids from the Bangor area come here to Husson and we play B-Ball with them for the day.

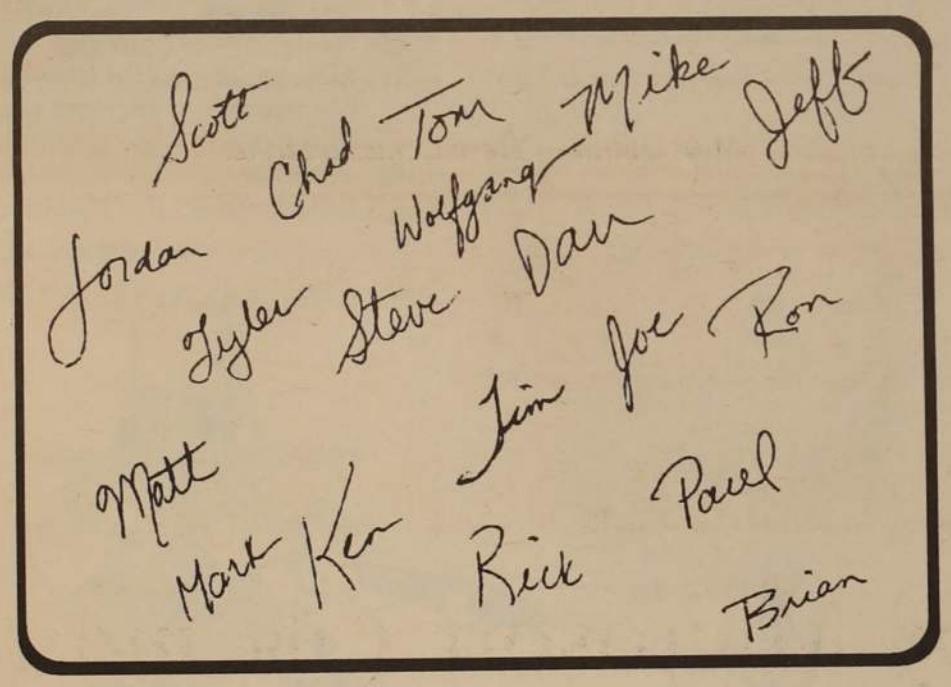

We finished football in 3rd place, and have 2 brothers competing in the finals in Table Tennis. We also have a brother playing Intramural Tennis, which may not be completed until warmer weather.

TKE has 1 brother graduating this December, Joe Bustard! Good luck out in the "real world", Flustard! We have 2 guys on the JV B-Ball team this year. Jordan and Matt are playing. Good luck to you guys, too!

Gene Hamm, our past advisor, left Husson on November 15, to take a year to travel. We will really miss him as he was a great advisor and is a great friend!

This time of the semester instructors are throwing a lot of work on us, but be sure to make time to enjoy yourself too. We have many more events planned, so stop up and visit anytime. Our doors are always open.

HAPPY THANKSGIVING!
THE BROTHERS OF TKE

KAPPA DELTA PHI

Kappa Delta Phi would like to welcome everyone back to Husson for another interesting year. Kappa Delta Phi has been at Husson since 1952. Kappa is a National Fraternity and we have a sister sorority, which here at Husson is Kappa Lambda. We presently have 18 active Brothers:

We are pleased to have Liz Russell, Pledge Class of 1979, as our new advisor.

Kappa Lambda was formed in the Fall of 1971, being the first chapter of Kappa Delta Phi National Affiliated Sorority. Our purpose is to develop the highest philanthropic ideals possible within each chapter and individual Sister. This is accomplished through various service projects and activities for both the campus and the surrounding area. The ideals of Kappa Lambda are specifically those of higher educational development, good citizenship, individual character and fellowship, and opposition to discrimination.

The Sister of Kappa Lambda often join their Brothers of Kappa Delta Phi in celebrating the Kappa Spirit. Recently we were able to congratulate our Brothers on their 38th Anniversary and celebrate with them and alumni during a weekend of special Anniversary events.

Every year all of Kappa, Brothers and Sisters, meet at an annual National Convention. We are pleased to announce that this year Kappa Delta Phi, Lambda Chapter and Kappa Lambda will host the National Convention here in the Bangor area.

HAPPY THANKSGIVING

Robert Shibley	Madison, ME
Robert Kurtz	Ipswich, MA
Mike Morey	Deer Isle, ME

Kappa Delta Phi is involved with many charities such as the March of Dimes, The Lions Club, and the Jewish Community Center. The Brothers have already performed 480 hours of Philanthropy work this semester. We recently held our 38th Anniversary here at Husson. Numerous Alumni Brothers came and enjoyed the Kappa festivities for the weekend. Kappa holds many activities here at Husson such as the Kappa Delta Phi Blotter and our Road Rally. So we invite you to come down to our floor (1st Hart) and meet the Brothers of Kappa Delta Phi.

Sincerely,
The Brothers of Kappa Delta Phi

1990-91 Prospective for the Husson Braves

The 1990-91 Husson College Men's Basketball Team has been ranked 25th in the pre-season National NAIA poll. The team will be lead by captains: Mitchell Range, a senior from Cleveland, OH and Scott Nance, a junior from Trenton, NJ. Both co-captains are veterans from our last year's District 5 championship team which compiled a record of 26-13. During the last two years the Braves have won 16 straight conference games and have compiled a district record of 40-1.

Having graduated ten student athletes in the past two years, this year's team has some new faces. Top newcomers include freshman, Raymond Alley of Vinalhaven; junior, Brian Burrell of Washington, DC; and freshman, Rich Mazurek of Rockland.

Raymond Alley a transfer from The University of Maine was voted as the 1989 Maine State School Player-of-the-Year, first team All-State, and the state's all time leading scorer. Raymond brings a great deal of expected excitement to the Husson team.

Brian Burrell a transfer from Corning Community College is a 6'8" center who will help fill a void left up front from graduation. His 2 years at the junior college level, where he averaged 14 points, 12.5 rebounds and 4.2 blocks, should make him ready to contribute immediately.

Rich Mazurek from Rockland was a first team All-State selection. Rich lead his team in scoring for two years in which they won 2 Eastern Maine Championships. Rich's strength and outside shooting will prove valuable to this year's team.

Rounding out this year's team is sophomore Division I (St. Francis) transfer, Scott Brown; sophomore (Seton Hall Prep), Jeff Shakoor; freshman, Gerad Good of Shelbycille, IN; freshman, Victor Garay, Bronx, NY; and freshman, Dwayne Knowlton, Rockland, ME.

The 1990-91 Braves will once again feature their successful fast break basketball and their tough man-to-man defense. These two parts of their game have been the strength of the Braves teams which have averaged 20 wins a season for the past 23 years. Coach MacGregor's 442 college victories to make him the winningest coach in New England, and rank him in the top 12 Nationally.

Depth Big Plus for Lady Braves in Basketball

by John Nash

Reprinted with permission of the Bangor Daily News

In watching Monday night's annual Green-White game, the thing that really stood out about the Husson College women's basketball team was its depth.

The 1990-91 version of the Lady Braves are deep. How deep?

Let's just say that Husson's Newman Gymnasium in Bangor could be nicknamed the Abyss for the upcoming season.

Of the 12 people that suit up in the green and white Husson uniforms, any of the top 10 players could find themselves starting on any given night.

Also on Monday, the Lady Braves showed how that depth is going to come in handy for the upcoming season, which gets under way on Friday night at St. Mary's University in Halifax, Nova Scotia.

The Lady Braves, looking to improve last year's 21-7 record, are going to push the ball a lot more and play even more of its usual tenacious defense this season, The depth will be crucial for both the up-tempo offense and pressure defense.

"We're a quick team, even down to our two centers, Jill (MacGregor) and Stephanie (Lebel)," said senior swingman Sue Lea. "When certain lineups are in the game, we could have five people that normally would play wing positions. We're trying to run up and down the court, but it gets tiring fast. Our depth will be a big help."

Returning senior guards Lea and Christine Hunter will team up with sopjomores Darci Collins, Vicki Mazerall, and Dristi Wildman in getting the ball up the floor.

Underneath, seniors Sharon Sievert and MacGregor will provide the leadership for freshmen Michelle Hamlin and Lebel and transfer Anne Cote.

Seniors Carol Snowdeal, a guard, and Pam Diaz-Rubin, a guard-forward, round out the team.

"With the speed we've got, we like to concentrate on the getting the ball out (to the wings)," said second year coach Mary "Kissy" Walker. "And, defense is something both (assistant) Coach (Ed) Gott and I are real big on. We set a goal of holding opponents to 50 points or less."

Monday night, that did not happen as the Green team - which featured Lea, Wildman, Cote, MacGregor, Lebel, and Hunter - defeated the White team 74-56. The final score didn't really matter, said Walker, who got to see her team under game-like conditions for the first time this season.

"Overall, I'm pleased," Walker said. "It was really just an opportunity for us to see a lot of different combinations, which players had the leadership, which didn't, and which are the game players."

Another thing that Walker was able to see was the play of the freshmen - Lebel and Hamlin. Both women played well enough so that some of the pressure could be taken off of last year's leading scorer Siebert.

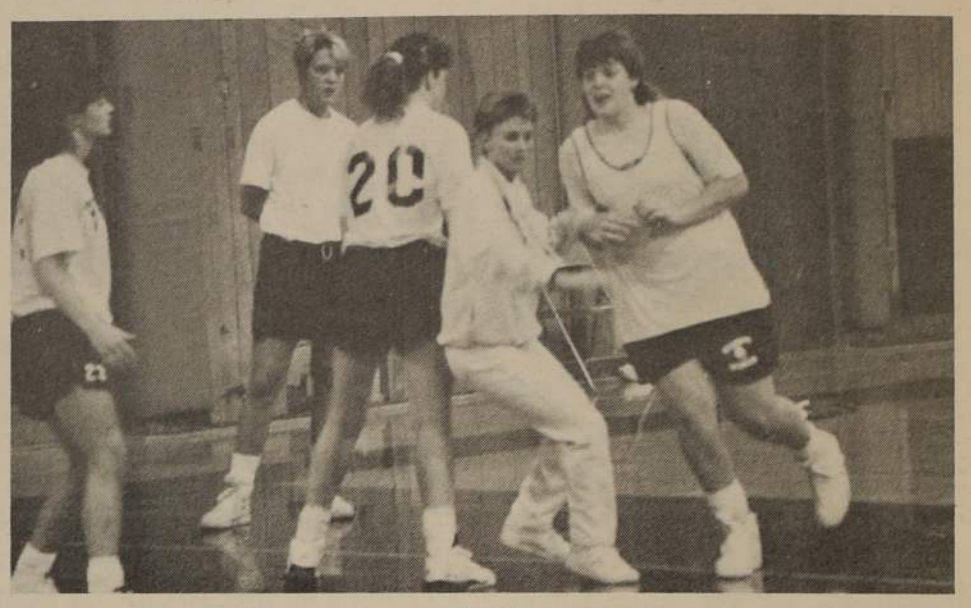

"With them there it takes a lot of pressure off me," Siebert said. "I won't get into as much foul trouble and it opens up the game. They (Husson's opponents) won't be able to key on just one person, which a lot of teams did last year."

"Michelle is coming along real well for a freshman and Stephanie is just so strong," Walker said. "Teams will have to watch them."

Walker also got to see guards Hunter and Mazerall in game situations for the first time this season. Both players, coming off of injuries, played well and were not seriously hampered. As long as they both stay healthy, the depth will still be a Husson strong point.

"We really have a good team and we should go far," Lea said. "But this is the first time we've had all this depth. I think we all have to get used to it, the coaches and the players."

Once they are used to it, Husson College is going to be tough to beat.

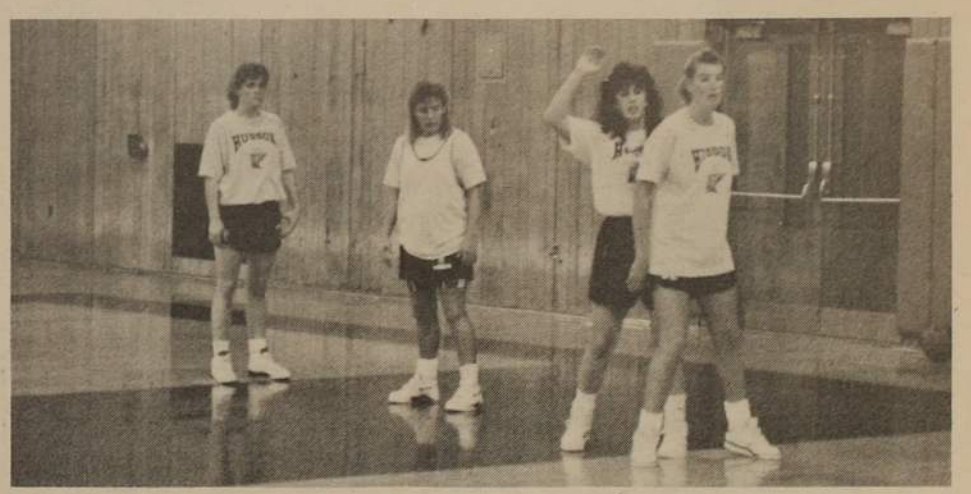

Kissy gives Michelle some pointers.
