

Husson Golf

2003-2004

The Program

The golf program at Husson College has a proud tradition of excellence. At one point, the team won ten straight NAIA New England Championships and participated each of those years in the National NAIA Golf Tournament. Many of the Husson golfers have enjoyed outstanding careers along with All Conference, All New England, and All American honors. The past four years the Braves have won three Maine Intercollegiate Championships, four Conference Championships, and three New England Intercollegiate Golf Coaches Division III Championships. The team has also made four consecutive appearances at the NAIA National Tournament.

This year's team won ten fall tournaments. The year's regular season record was an outstanding 106 wins and 6 losses.

About Husson College

The Friendly Campus: Husson's 200-acre campus is situated on a wooded hillside that is only a short walk away from a shopping center and two miles from the business district of the city of Bangor, Maine (population 36,000). Most points in the city are accessible by public transportation from the campus, and Bangor is the home to the second largest public library in New England, and the oldest continuous community symphony orchestra in the country. The population of greater Bangor is 100,000.

Campus amenities include three modern residence halls with single and double rooms all equipped with telephone, cable TV and the College computer internet system outlet. The award-winning Dickerman Dining Commons offers flexible meal plans. The college has networked microcomputer labs available to students 24 hours a day. Our athletic facilities feature the beautiful new Clara Swan Fitness Center, the new 3,000-seat John Winkin Sports Complex, featuring new fields for baseball, football, and field hockey, the new Boucher Soccer pitch and an Olympic-sized pool.

The Communications building houses the radio station and television, recording and production studios. Peabody Hall, the main administrative and classroom building is home to the International Center for Language Studies and is built around an open quadrangle. Peabody offers a bookstore and a new campus center that houses an art gallery, chapel, and dining and performance areas for the Husson community. Bell Hall houses School of Health labs, learning center, the Science Research Institute, and clinical settings.

Husson is located near some of the finest recreational opportunities in Maine. The Kenduskeag Stream is a five-minute walk from campus. Excellent skiing and hiking trails are nearby, and the campus is less than an hour away from the great Maine woods, the rockbound coast and Acadia National Park.

Decker Todd has been an integral part of the success that the Husson College Golf program has enjoyed. As a player, he captained and led his Husson team to the National Tournament. He was medalist in the New England NAIA Championship. He was inducted into the Husson College Sports Hall of Fame in 2002.

Decker has continued to support the Husson Golf program after his graduation. This year, the Florida resident relocated to Maine for the fall to help coach the team to an outstanding season.

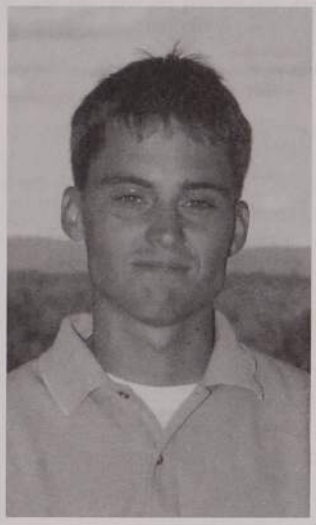

Decker is a player's coach who is respected and loved by all.

Don Parsons has become a key figure in the Husson College Golf program. His desire to help young golfers in the state improve their games has been witnessed by many. Don is a student of the game and his desire to share his knowledge has been important to many golfers who have come in contact with him.

Don has taken many young golfers under his wing so they can learn the game better and advance to their next level of success.

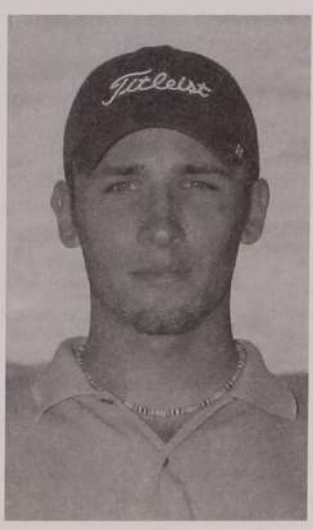

Don is a retired fighter pilot who spent 27 years as the Wing Commander at Peterson Air Force Base during his distinguished career.

ORONO — In May of 2000, Corey Poulin walked away from golf.

Despite having just graduated from the San Diego Golf Academy in Myrtle Beach, S.C., the Jackman native was simply burned out on the sport.

"I didn't like golf. I couldn't even watch it on TV," Poulin said. "I had to get away from it."

The bad feelings didn't last long. Three years later, the 25-year-old Poulin appears to be near the top of his game. Today, he'll lead the Husson College golf team into the 69th New England Intercollegiate Golf Association Championship at the Captains Golf Course in Brewster, Mass.

Poulin is a senior co-captain for coach Bruce MacGregor's Braves, who sport a [illegible] ments this season, posting a nifty 71.08 stroke average.

"That's got to be the best anyone's ever averaged [in Maine college golf]," MacGregor said. "Watching what he's accomplished this fall has been one of the highlights of what I've witnessed in athletics."

Poulin is the top performer on a Husson squad that also includes senior co-captain Joe Finemore of Sidney (77 average), sophomore Ross McGee of Fairfield (75.8) and a talented group of freshmen led by Heath Morang of Gardiner (77), Robby Picard of Vassalboro (78), Devon Raymond of Waterville (78.5) and Lance Libby of Oakland (79).

Brian St. Louis of Argyle and Timothy Talpey of Jackman are the other first-year players.

"Our per-round average is 299, which is pretty amazing," MacGregor said of Husson best four scores each match. "[In] the lowest [illegible] leve

Husson College of Bangor has once again proved itself one of the top golf programs in the Northeast.

Coach Bruce MacGregor's Braves con- cluded a sparkling 88-1 season in Divi- sion III play Tuesday by claim- ing their third consecutive New England Division III champi- onship at The Captains Golf Course in Brewster, Mass.

Husson, which finished fifth overall in the 45-team field of Division I, II and III programs, emerged with a healthy 22-stroke margin of victory over Division III runner-up Universi- ty of Massachusetts Dart- mouth.

"Obviously to win the cham- pionship one time is great, but to win it three years in a row is pretty spectacular," MacGregor said Wednesday. "I thought there was a little pressure on us and they wanted to win it badly, so I was curious how we would react."

The Braves survived a blus- tery second day of play.

"Things weren't going well for them a lot of the time [illegible] use of the wind, but all of [illegible] which took care of [illegible] four-were very businesslike at it."

Husson, which has m from the NAIA ranks to N Division III play hopes to e spot in the NCAA Divisi Men's Golf Champion which will be played May 2004, at the University lands in Calimesa, Calif.

BREWSTER, Mass. — Husson College of Bangor finished the first day of the New England Intercollegiate Golf Associa- tion Champi- onship with an 11-over-par 306, putting the Braves in a third-place tie with Harvard in the overall scoring. Rhode Island shot a 10-over at the Captains Golf Course lead in the 36-hole event, which continues today. Con- necticut was second at 12 over. Coach Bruce MacGregor's Braves, seeking their third straight New England Division title, were led by senior Corey Poulin of Jackman. Poulin shot a 3-over 75, putting him a tie for ninth among the individual competitors.

BREWSTER, Mass. — Senior Corey Poulin of Jackman shot a 3-over-par 75 for the second straight day Tuesday to finish tied for third place among individ- ual competitors while leading Husson College of Bangor to its third consecutive New England Intercollegiate Golf Association Division III championship.

College golf

Coach Bruce MacGregor's Braves shot a 327 Tuesday to fin- ish with a two-day total of 633, 57 over par on The Captains Golf Course. Husson finished sixth in a 45-team field that included 12 Divi- sion I schools, nine Div. II entries, and 24 Div. III squads.

Former Calais High School standout James Frost of Brew- er, a sophomore playing for the University of Southern Maine in Gorham, carded a 4-over 76 Tuesday to finish second among individuals, two strokes behind Connecticut's Jordan Burke (146). The Huskies shot 665 and wound up tied for 17th overall, fifth in the Division III ranks.

Frost, Poulin, and Joe Manga- naro of Saint Joseph's College in Standish (tie for 11th, 155) earned All-New England acco- lades for their top-five finishes in Division III.

Husson also received strong efforts from Ross McGee of Fairfield (tie 22nd, 157), Joe Finemore of Sidney and Devon Raymond of Waterville (tie 68th each, 165), and Heath Morang of Gardiner (tie 81st, 167).

The committee also may take into consideration place finish in all competition, stroke differ- ential and individual stroke averages.

"We feel we would be right in contention for a birth in that championship," MacGregor said.

At the New Englands, Husson was again led by standout sen- ior Corey Poulin of Jackman, who finished tied for third over- all to earn All-New England honors. One pleasant surprise was freshman Devon Raymond of Waterville.

Raymond, one of four first- year players who scored well for the Braves this fall, earned his way into the tournament after shooting 72-73—145 in the team's final qualifying practice last week at Penobscot Valley Country Club in Orono.

"Devon was the hottest player going into the tourna- ment," said MacGregor, who explained Raymond, a native of Jamaica, then bounced back from a 41 on the front nine in Monday's first round to shoot 35 on the back.

Raymond wound up tied for 22nd place overall with sopho- more teammate Ro Fairfield with a 13-
