HUSSON LEDGER

FEBRUARY, 1965 | HUSSON COLLEGE, BANGOR, MAINE | VOLUME 40, NO. 2

JANUARY COMMENCEMENT

Guest Speaker

The guest speaker at the January graduation exercises was Dr. Leroy Greason, Jr., Dean of Students at Bowdoin College.

Professor Greason, a member of the English Department at Bowdoin since 1952 and former member of the Wesleyan and Harvard faculties, is a former director of Bowdoin's Freshman English program.

Dr. Greason, a native of Newport, R.I., received a Bachelor of Arts degree from Wesleyan University in 1945 with high honors and distinction in English. At Wesleyan, he was elected to Phi Beta Kappa and won many other prizes, including the Sherman Prize in Classics, the Rich Prize for the best Commencement oration and the Camp Prize in English.

In 1945 and 1946, Dr. Greason was Assistant to the Dean at Wesleyan. During the next six years he did graduate work in English at Harvard University, where he received a Master of Arts degree in 1947 and his doctorate in 1954. He was a teaching fellow at Harvard from 1948 to 1952 and also served two years as Freshman Advisor.

Named to the Bowdoin faculty in 152, Dr. Greason was promoted to the rank of Assistant Professor in 1954. He served as Acting Director of the Freshman English program in 1956 and in 1960 he became Director of the Freshman English program.

At Bowdoin, Dr. Greason has been active on numerous faculty committees and has been chairman of the Teaching Aids Committee, Summer School Committee and James Bowdoin Day Committee. Other faculty committee assignments have included Administrative, Recording, Student Life, Commencement, Publications, Senior Center and Educational Television.

Also active in civic affairs in the Brunswick area, Professor Greason served as a President of the United Fund, and as Secretary and Treasurer of the Joint Hospital Council.

Dr. Greason's recent professional activities include membership on the Executive Committee of the School and College Conference on English, and Deputy Project Director of a Nasson College Study conducted by Northeastern Research Foundation, Inc.

A Fellow of the National Council on Religion in Higher Education, Dr. Greason has been an advisor to the Bowdoin Interfaith Forum.

The Ledger would like to thank Dr. Greason for taking time from his full schedule to address the graduates at the January commencement.

Dr. Leroy Greason, Jr.

Graduation Highlights

Husson College awarded 26 degrees and diplomas, two achievement awards and several honor certificates Friday evening, January 29, to its mid-term graduates in the Husson Auditorium. Highlight of the ceremonies was an address delivered by Dr. A. LeRoy Greason, Jr., Dean of Students at Bowdoin College.

Dean Greason spoke on the increasingly impersonal nature of society today. What was once the province of the heart has been taken over by institutions. Much of recent literature has been a protest against this loss of feeling.

The challenge confronting the new graduates of Husson, Dean Greason said, is to remember that behind social security and charge account numbers and behind United Funds and united corporations are individuals, and it is they alone who count.

"Such institutions," concluded Dean Greason, "are to be used, not served, and they are to be used in order that individuals may be served better."

The Husson Book Award, given by President Chesley H. Husson, Sr. for a January graduate "who best illustrates the desire to succeed, one whom we desire and appreciate in the classroom and on campus," was awarded to Ralph Canney of Milo, Maine. Mr. Canney is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul C. Canney of Milo, Maine.

The second Husson Book Award was presented to John Keenan of Ovid, New York who, "best exemplifies the ideal student, one whom we desire and appreciate in the classroom and on campus," the award read. Mr. Keenan is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Keenan of Ovid, New York. Miss Clara L. Swan, First Vice President of the College made the presentation in President Husson's absence.

Graduates receiving membership in Tau Epsilon Scholastic Honor Society were: John Keenan, Ovid, New York; Ramesh Genge, Bombay, India; Donna Bowden, Castine, Maine; and Paula Christakos, Bangor, Maine.

The graduates' wives "Put Him Through" Certificates were presented by Miss Swan to the following: Mrs. John Keenan, Mrs. Ralph Canney, Mrs. Kenneth Sucy, and Mrs. Philip Verrill.

PRESIDENT'S COLUMN

Greetings!

It is January 11 and the temperature here in Florida is 78 degrees. It went to 80 degrees yesterday. The 2000 miles that separate us really provides a climate different from that found at home. We prefer Maine, cold winters and all, to this monotony of hot weather. It doesn't even rain down here during the winter months. In short, we miss Maine and will be glad to get back.

I'm pleased with the reports from school. Miss Clark, Miss Swan, and Chesley Husson, Jr., keep me posted by mail and phone and I feel that you are meeting your obligations both in the classroom and out.

College today is a "big deal." Perhaps the biggest one. Those who can't have it, or fail at it, will be handicapped more and more as time passes. Skilled help is rarely idle. The untrained read the "help wanted" ads and hope against hope that their periods of unemployment will not be too long "this time." What a waste, what a pity it is for those who fail to prepare themselves.

I urge each of you to pursue your course to its completion. Your degree or diploma is a recognition of your staying power as well as ability. Employers will ask you for your credentials. Don't appear before them empty-handed. A Husson graduate finds many doors open to him. His future is assured. So be one, please. You started - now finish. That, my friends, is an order.

This is a good opportunity to wish the mid-year graduates every success in their new careers. They will be in my thoughts graduation night. Their names are before me and I have no hesitation in placing the reputation of the College in their hands. I expect them to add lustre to the name of Husson. It is a graduate's responsibility to add to the reputation of his college and a sin to hurt it by lack of effort or indifference.

We will return in April. For the next 90 days, keep your powder dry, your feet warm, and your minds active. We wish you well.

Cordially,
"Chief"

Mrs. Ruth Hopkins

"GAO CONFERENCE"

Mr. William Parker, Instructor in the Accounting Department at Husson College and regional chairman of the American Accounting Association Careers Council, attended the Accounting Career Conference at the Government Accounting Office in Boston.

The purpose of the conference was to acquaint college professors with requirements in career opportunities in Accounting at the Government Accounting Office.

Mr. Parker is a member of the Board of Directors of the Bangor-Waterville Chapter of the National Association of Accounting.

TO: STUDENTS
FROM: ADMINISTRATION

1. The Administration of Husson College wishes to take this opportunity to notify all students - full-time, part-time, and specials - that there will be a change in policy regarding Student ID's.

Beginning in September, 1965, new ID's will be issued at the beginning of each academic year. The year (1966, 1967, or 1968) will be embossed on the ID in place of your class. This is the policy in all colleges and universities.

The reason for the change is that students who have withdrawn from Husson are still using their ID's. Each year the Husson ID will be made up in a different color, 1966 will be black, 1967 green, 1968 red, and 1969 blue, and then all students will carry a current ID which will be noted by color as well as photograph. Beginning with the 1965-66 school year; students will show ID's at all school events, for examinations, and for memberships in organizations.

The Administration hopes that the price will be reduced from $1 per ID; but at the present writing, it is unable to quote the student price.

2. Mr. Robert Lawrence, Instructor in the Department of Accounting, submitted his resignation to the Administrative Officers of Husson College on January 4, 1965. The Administration regretfully accepted Mr. Lawrence's resignation, effective as of February 1, 1965. Mr. Lawrence has joined the Auditing Staff of Bangor Punta Allegre Sugar Corporation. This means a step forward financially in Mr. Lawrence's career. We here, know that he will make his way up the ladder. Husson College has lost a valuable classroom instructor to industry. His many students in Ac 10 and Ac 32 wish him well. His fellow faculty members honored him at a coffee during final examinations.

Mrs. Harry Hopkins of Brewer joined the faculty on February 1, 1965. Mrs. Hopkins is a graduate of Bangor High School and Husson College. Mrs. Hopkins holds a B. S. degree in Accounting with a minor in Business Education. She has begun her graduate studies at the University of Maine where she will earn a Master of Business Administration degree. Mrs. Hopkins is the mother of three children. She has served on the faculties of Bangor High School and Brewer High School. Mrs. Hopkins is instructing in Introductory Accounting. Her husband is an Assistant Professor in the Department of Engineering at the University of Maine. Welcome aboard, Mrs. H.

3. Assistant Professor Richard Cohen has returned to Husson College after completing all of the classroom work for his Doctoral degree in the field of English. Professor Cohen is the Chairman of a newly-formed Department of General Education, under which Mathematics, Languages, Sciences, English Economics, etc. will be classified. Mr. and Mrs. Cohen make their home in Hampden. They are the parents of two children. Welcome back, Mr. Cohen.

4. In June of this academic year, Husson College will hold one graduation at the new Bangor Auditorium on Saturday, June 12, 1965. Mr. Robert Strider, President of Colby College, will be the speaker.

5. The first week of May, the Class of 1966 will have its class pictures taken so the Placement Office, the Permanent Records Office, and the Yearbook Staff may have copies early in September, 1965. This is a definite change in policy. Please note that this is a requirement if you wish to graduate from Husson College. This isn't just a game! Each junior will pay $5 for this at the time he or she sits for his or her photograph.

6. The Administration wishes to inform the officers of the various classes that it wishes Class Picnics to be held one at a time this year. It is enough for the sponsor and chaperones to attend to the members of one class. Falling out of boats and special orders of pop can cause the situation to get out of hand!

Value Of Arts And Sciences In Business

by George Lambert

Students in business colleges tend to underrate or even to ridicule the value of arts and sciences in an education for a business career. From their narrow viewpoint, a background in all but commercial courses appears unwarranted and unnecessary. However, the faculties and administrations of business schools stand diametrically opposed to this student consensus, as shown by the current trend of introducing arts and sciences into the business curriculum. They realize that such fundamental training cannot and should not be overlooked even in this era of specialization.

Before specializing, a student must be versed in the educational rudiments. And the arts and sciences provide just this structural basis for scholastic expansion. As the businessmen, of tomorrow, the business students of today will be expected to analyze problems and to find logical solutions. Yet, how can he achieve this objective if the tools for clear thinking and rational decision-making afforded by the arts and sciences have been denied him? True, the technical courses of the business school give the novice and introduction to logical thought processes but a mere introduction will not suffice for the ambitious student who wishes to move into an executive business career. As he moves into the inner circle of "big business," the businessman of tomorrow will encounter much more difficult problems and he will not be able to reply on intuitive knowledge. Logic will be his only weapon!

Of the arts and sciences, perhaps the most valuable for a business career is philosophy. Many European and Canadian colleges require philosophy for all students regardless of their major. Philosophy is the study of logical thinking and these institutions know that logical thinking is a prerequisite of any field of endeavor.

Unmoved by faculty thinking and proven educational practice, the still-doubting "Missourian" might yet argue that arts and sciences training for a business student is merely idealistic and outdated. He is wrong; Training in arts and sciences does have ponderable value for the future businessman, the future executive. A business career is no longer a job, it is a profession comparable to law, medicine, religion, science. And the businessman of tomorrow must realize that if he is to succeed he must be able to stand on the same educational stratum as the lawyer, the doctor, the clergyman, the scientist. He cannot stand in the background.

CHALLENGE OF CITIZENSHIP

by Stephen Mitchell

The assassination of the late President of the United States, President John F. Kennedy, makes you and I wonder what kind of an atmosphere must we be living in at this present day and age. Is our citizenship challenged in anyway?

Premier Nikita Krushchev said, "We will bury you." Is this statement going to become a reality or Not? Could this event in which has been stated above be used as a stepping-stone for his propaganda?

We are in a neck to neck race with Russia on foreign policy. Russia contends that they will beat us. They say that they will beat us in the economy of state. We have been racing with Russia on this problem for many years. These problems are now coming to a head.

Our system of free enterprise, based on a vigorous and healthy competition, has given us the highest standard of living in the world. Against this evidence of powerful well-being, the communist prophecy of the collapse of capitalism has been proved both false and foolish.

We must remain on top if we are to stay ahead. This is a job for both you and me as future leaders and voters of the United States of America. We are the "Voice of America." As the late President Kennedy said in his inaugural address in Washington on January 20, 1960, "Ask not what your country can do for you; Ask what you can do for your country." This is a challenge of citizenship for each and everyone of us as citizens of the United States, as citizens of the Western Hemisphere, and as citizens of the top country and leader of the Free World. The time is now! We must prepare ourselves in the making of foreign policy. We can start first of all in preparing ourselves for this great task by meeting the challenge against Democracy. All of us must be diplomats. How we act, how we talk, how we express ourselves with others or as others see in foreign countries is how they will judge us and Democracy.

Again as the late President Kennedy said, "The torch has been passed on to a new generation." Lets see how we can handle this torch. Are we going to hold it up high? Are we going to let it drop, or what are we going to do? Again this is a challenge of Citizenship for each and everyone of us.

Segregation in the south has been one of our most touchy subjects in which we can give our views to either pro-or-con. Does it make such a difference to us, as representatives of the most powerful nation in the world, as to the color of a person's skin? The United States is a melting pot of nationalities. I, as an American Indian, and as a member of the Penobscot Nation, can share my views with Will Rogers who said, "I am proud of my ancestoral background. My parents were on these shores greeting yours when they came over in the Mayflower." How can we overcome this problem of segregation? Is the torch of citizenship still burning or is it out? How can we get it going again? The gap in citizenship is widening everyday. Are we going to let it widen enough for Communism to pass through? Are they going to march through without any resistance or are we going to close this gap?

The world today isn't all full of leisure and roses. It is full of grief, sorrow, and hate. We are left with the tab. We must try to pay this tab. As future leaders we must mend and heal all of the destruction and grief. This is our job. Now is the time for all of us to take heed.

THIS IS OUR CHALLENGE.

On January 18, twenty girls met at the Husson Gym to organize basketball teams in the intramural program. Those girls who will be playing forward are: Edna Dudley, Donna Laking, Carol Andrews, Martha Cooke, Sandra Bickford, Crystal Harris, Mary Jane Dunphy, Nancy Kuchinski, Bobbie Dyer, and Billy Jean Roach.

SOCCER TEAM NIPPED BY CASTLETON IN SEVEN OVERTIMES

Castleton (Vt.) State College scored after 113 minutes of play, edging Husson College, 1-0 in the NAIA District 32 soccer tournament semi-finals and capping seven overtimes of play.

Husson goalie Chappie Clark made 33 saves in regulation time and 10 more in two regulation overtimes and five sudden deaths before Castleton was able to boot the winning goal by him on a penalty kick.

Castleton, the defending NAIA champion, won its 12th straight of the fall, while Husson finished with a 9-2 record. Both losses were on penalty kicks in overtime.

A Husson played saved an almost certain goal with his hands setting up a Castleton penalty kick which would have won the game at 1:10 of the fifth sudden death period.

The Indian's offense was able to get only 28 kicks that required the Castleton goalie keeper to make saves.

Castleton took 79 shots on Husson, many of which were handled by Indian fullbacks Bob Mansell and Bob Fraser, and halfbacks Bob Cox, Junior Faaleppo, and John Boucher.

The cheerleaders are enjoying a good season with a great team!

Good news! The new uniforms have finally arrived.

Head cheerleader, Pamela Morgrage, has been replaced by Elizabeth Leavitt. Jeannette Hunter has moved from alternate to regular squad member.

The girls have worked hard on new cheers and new formations. Let them know whether or not you like them.

INDIANS ON THE MOVE

Husson College, facing one of its most ambitous basketball schedules in the history of the school, has compiled an 8 and 5 record as the team heads into the final swing of the basketball season.

The team opened its basketball season on a winning note handing Maine Maritime Academy a 78-74 setback. The Indians continued their winning ways by twice defating Jim Loscutof's Boston State squad 82 to 73 and 92 to 83.

The Indians then entered the second annual Paul Bunyan Invitational Tournament with a record of 3-0. Salem State College of Massachusetts, Castleton State College of Vermont and Gorham State College of Maine also participated in the tournament.

In the opening round, Salem defeated Gorham State by a score of 105 to 94 and in the second game Husson defeated Castleton 91 to 77.

Salem went on to win the tournament championship the next night when they handled Husson their first defeat of the young season 103 to 89.

Husson, shrugging off their defeat could not be denied, and proceeded to win their next four games with scores of 107 to 54 over Washington State Teachers College, 107-78 over the University of Maine at Portland, 119 to 101 over Maine Maritime and a 111 to 90 topping of a strong Fort Kent squad.

The Indians, prior to the Christmas Vacation, took to the road and met Bentley College of Waltham, Massachusetts without much success and lost their second game of the season by a score of 95 to 83.

Husson was back in action the next night against Eastern Nazarene College and once again was on the low end of a 93 to 75 score.

Husson's next encounter was Southern Massachusetts Institute of Technology in the opening round of the North-South Holiday Seafood Fiesta which took place in New Bedford, Massachusetts. The host team managed to nip Husson with 3 seconds remaining on the clock and the final score was Southern Massachusetts Institute of Technology 85 and Husson College 83.

In the consolation game the following night, Husson was defeated by Richmond Professional Institute 91 to 81 for their fourth successive setback.

As the basketball season comes into its final swing, how about you, the student body, come out and support your team. They have done a tremendous job and would appreciate it immensely to see you root them on to VICTORY.

SALEM WINS TOURNAMENT

A strong Salem State Teachers College of Massachusetts copped the second annual Paul Bunyan Invitational Tournament by defeating Husson College 103 to 89.

Salem's ace, senior forward John Galaris, put on a scoring exhibition for a small but appreciative auditorium crowd. Galaris scored 33 points making 70 points scored for both games played in the tournament.

Chappie Clark scored 26 points for the Indians of Bangor and kept them within striking distance throughout the game with timely rebounds and points scored when defeat was almost certain.

The Bangor Chamber of Commerce selected Del "CHAPPIE" Clark, who comes from Fort Fairfield, Maine, as the most valuable player in the tournament for the second consecutive year. The students from Husson College would like to express their congratulations for a job well done.

DELTA SIGMA DELTA ENDS INITIATION

Delta Sigma Delta Sorority has been very busy the last few months in pledging and installing 16 new members in DSD.

On December 9, we held our pledging ceremony, and our pledging month was fun for all. On December 16, we held our Christmas party at which time all girls brought gifts to be given to our Christmas family.

After the Christmas holidays, plans were made for our informal initiation, which was held on Friday, January 8. After putting the girls through a number of trials, the initiation was highlighted by a very embarrassing, yet enjoyable, visit to Husson Hall.

Sunday, January 10, we held our formal initiation which was very impressive and memorable.

New girls who are now sisters in DSD are: Jeanne Hall, Dianne Notargiacomo, Beverly Warren, Diane Veazie, Rachel Burgess, Mona Saliba, Joyce Bryant, Elaine Tucker, Miranda Winship, Donna Kaler, Ellen Martel, Carole Flannagan, Jean Young, Sandra Libby, Linda Sereyko, Liz Leavitt.

"You Can't Take It With You" To Be Presented By Husson Players

The mirth-provoking comedy, You Can't Take It With You, by Moss Hart and George F. Kaufman, is this year's choice by the Husson Players for presentation in May. The selection was made at a special meeting of the Husson Players, Tuesday evening, January 19, when several other well-known shows were discussed for future production of the group.

Hal Lench, president of the Husson Players, urges any student who is interested in drama to turn out for open tryouts when they are called in February. Rehearsals will begin as soon as the show has been cast, and it is expected that the play will be presented in conjunction with an annual Homecoming weekend. Albert E. Weymouth, drama director at Husson, will direct the show, which will be presented by special arrangement with the Dramatists Play Service of New York.

Initiation of new members to the Husson Players will take place at the club's regular February meeting, Tuesday, February 23, in Dickerman Lounge. Students who applied for membership last fall, plus students entering Husson for the second semeter and applying for memberhip, will be initiated. An initiation committee headed by Seth Gilman will see that new members are properly introduced to the club.

CIRCLE K

On December 9, 1964, the Circle K of Husson attended an interclub meeting at Thomas Junior College. An interesting talk, accompanied by films on the most recent rockets and missiles, was given by Captain Brown of the U. S. Air Force. He also explained the operational principles of the parachute and the diverse items it contains for survival.

Climaxing the evening, our club showed slides of its latest activities, a Kiwanis auction at Bangor and a tour of Dow Air Force Base.

Circle K members of Husson College who were able to attend were: Dave Michaud, Paul Alden, Edward Burgess, John Kershules, Bill Woitkowski, Sam Myers, Hal Lench and Edward Baker.

DORM COUNCIL

The objective of the Husson Hall dormitory council is simple: to provide better living and social conditions for the dormitory residents. To meet this goal, the council has sponsored weekend dances, to the great enjoyment of the resident students and their guests. The dorm council has also purchased new steam irons for the dorm, mounted pencil-sharpeners on the different floors, and sponsored a movie.

Perhaps the most rewarding project of the council was its Christmas party for the benefit of the children of the Bangor Home for Children and of St. Michael's Home. There was ice cream and cake, thanks to the Specialized Food Service, a cartoon show, and even ole Santa with gifts for these little ones. Seeing the joy of these children was reward enough for the council and the residents of Husson Hall whose donations made the party possible.

In this year's elections, three students from each floor, one freshman and two upperclassmen, were elected to the dorm council. These students were: Don Briggs, Ralph Girafalco, Ken Michaud, Sam Myers, Bob Parks, William Pupkis, Quentin Dean, Dick Raymond, Bill Robichaud, Jack Rowe, Frank Abbaddesa, and Larry Wallace.

After the elections, the dorm council then chose its officers. Elected were Bob Parks, president, Jack Rowe, treasurer, and Sam Myers, secretary. Finally, the president, Bob Parks, made the following appointments: William Pupkis, publicity chairman, Ken Michaud, athletic director, and Don Briggs and Quentin Dean, sargents-at-arms.

As it has done in the past, the dorm council hopes to continue to help the residents of Husson Hall whenever possible.

S. E. A.

Husson College student and faculty members of the Student Education Association of Maine met Tuesday, December 8, 1964, for a social hour and for the announcement of the 1965 officers. The 60 members of Louise B. Miller Chapter of SEAM were addressed by Mrs. Louise Miller on the functions of the chapter.

Members are comprised of students and faculty from the Business Education Department of Husson College.

The officers include: David St. Cyr, Cambridge, Vt., President; Ronald Blanchard, Bangor, Vice President; Nelda Scott, Brewer, Secretary-Treasurer; Charles Conti, Fredonia, N.Y., and Herbert Hopkins, Brewer, Publicity and Student Senate Representatives; and, Linda Smith, Charlestown, N.H., Editor of the chapter's publication.

Mrs. Miller and Mrs. Dorothy Husson poured at this affair.

CONCLAVE HIGHLIGHTS

by Diane Cuozzo

The first night we stayed in Fairfield, Connecticut. The other three carloads stayed there the next night. From here on, the two groups did not follow the same travel pattern. On Saturday, we traveled along the Pennsylvania Turnpike all day and stayed in Somerset, Pennsylvania that night. Sunday, we were up bright and early (4:00 a.m. to be exact) and drove on to West Virginia, Ohio and finally into Indiana, where we stayed in Greenfield that night. The motel had a beautiful pool in which we spent the remainder of the afternoon. Monday morning we started on the final leg of our journey and went through Indianapolis. Later in the morning, we stopped at a farm and feasted on delicious watermelons for only 69¢. This part of the country is very flat with miles of corn fields, soybean fields, peach trees and an occasional oil well!

We reached the peaceful city of Evansville, on the banks of the beautiful Ohio River about noon on August 10. Here, at the "Gateway to the South" and "The Barbecue Capitol of the U.S.," we were directed to the Hotel McCurdy where we met more of the delegates from all over the United States and Canada.

It wasn't long before we early arrivals from Maine, discovered the swimming pool, a movie actor, and, that the midwesterners make great pink lemonade!

That night, the rest of the Maine group arrived and we all registered and went to the annual "Get-Acquainted" party in the Ohio room of the hotel. Here everyone got to meet everyone else and old Conclaves were re-lived. The Maine delegation soon moved the party to the swimming pool for the rest of the evening. Everyone went in the pool, one way or another.

On Tuesday, the Conclave was officially underway with a welcome speech by the mayor of Evansville. That afternoon there was a tour of the host business college. The day's official activities ended with a hayride along the Ohio River Valley and a wiener roast. We returned to the hotel for many unscheduled parties and a 2:00 a.m. swim.

On Wednesday afternoon, we were taken to Henderson, Kentucky to the James Ellis Track for a horse race outing. For many of us, it was the first time we had ever seen jockey racing. Betting in the stands was illegal, but nevertheless, there were many "pools" going on.

At the end of six races, we boarded buses for the return trip to Indiana and beautiful Burdett Park. Here, we all enjoyed swimming in a one acre pool, roller skating and winding up with an exciting baseball game, with Miss Swan as umpire.

Meanwhile, a barbecue supper of delicious Hickory smoked ribs was being prepared for us. After this meal, dancing was enjoyed by all, whether it be the "Hitch-hiker" or the "Hula." The buses came at midnight for the ride back to the hotel, where the evening was far from over! The losing baseball team hosted the rest of the delegation to a party. Hours later, when most of the delegates had gone back to their rooms for a couple hours of sleep, a few people decided that they were hungry, so headed for the all-night restaurant in the hotel. Along the way, several ice cube "battles" occured.

Following the business meeting held in the morning, Thursday afternoon was declared open and all the delegates heartily approved. There was time for shopping, hair appointments and blessed SLEEP!!

The traditional formal banquet and dance was scheduled for that evening. Here, a fabulous roast beef dinner was served to us, after which, the scholarships awards, trophies and special awards were presented. About 10:00 in the evening, was the coronation of the 1964 King and Queen. Louise Powers of Sigma Tau Epsilon, Milwaukee, Wisconsin, was selected queen and Ray Henry of Mu Sigma Chi, Bangor, was chosen king.

When the dance ended, the delegates again went to the pool where the Hawaiian delegation threw hundreds of orchids into the pool and performed an enchanting island ceremony.

Activities continued with party after party and very little sleep. This was well seen the next morning at the Governor-General's breakfast, which marks the end of the Conclave. Following breakfast, there were the farewells and then the four Maine cars departed for home.

We got as far as Marysville, Ohio that night. At 5:00 a.m. the next morning, we were on the road again headed for Buffalo, New York and Niagara Falls. We reached there about supper time and enjoyed a train ride around the Falls. We then drove until we got to Utica, where we spent the night (what was left of it) at the "Country Squire Motel."

Sunday morning after church, we were on our way again. Some went directly home, and the rest of us detoured through Boston to the Putnam Ice Cream Pantry. Home at 10:30, tired but happy and ready and rarin' to go to Winnipeg, Manatoba in 1965!

ALUMNI NEWS

Epsilon Delta Alumnae

The Alumnae members met for a Christmas party at the home of Mrs. Benjamin Smith (June Hollis). Mrs. Smith prepared a gorgeous repast. Each member attending brought fruit, and two huge boxes were taken to the Home for Aged Women in Bangor. Eunice Harding Sibley and Helen Brown Dunham both came from out of town. Over twenty women gathered and enjoyed the sociability of friends before the holidays.

The same "Gals" are contemplating challenging the faculty (men and women) of Husson to a game of basketball. (Girls' rules with Tom Brown to officiate.) They are hoping to hold this in the Gym, charge a small fee for the exhibition (!!), and earn enough to contribute to the Pi Rho Zeta Scholarship Fund. Watch the Bulletin Board for further details.

Epsilon Delta members, Miss Clara Swan and Miss Mildred Bradford, will leave by plane February 11, 1965, for Milwaukee, Wisconsin. Miss Swan will attend a business meeting of the International Officers. Both will attend the Dinner Dance of Lambda Fraternity, Epsilon Sorority, and Lambda Alumni Fraternity of Spencerian College.

Members Priscilla Clark and Janice Moody attended an IBM Institute in Portland for four days. They are planning more activity in the IBM room this coming year.

Edward J. McInnis, Bangor, has joined the staff of Donahue, Haverlock and Ronan, accountants and auditors, with offices in Bangor, Camden and Waterville.

McInnis graduated from Bangor High School and received his B. S. in Accounting Degree from Husson College. He is currently serving as president of the State of Maine Junior Chamber of Commerce. He is a director of the Bangor Golf Association.

Miss Clara L. Swan has been elected Secretary for the New England Business Educators Association for the year, 1964-65.

Miss Swan is entering her second year of serving as Membership Chairman for the State of Maine in the Eastern Business Teachers Association.

From The Mail Bag

Dear Mr. Husson:

A letter after these many years may come as somewhat of a surprise. It was prompted by a visit from my wife's sister, a resident of Bangor, and her comments regarding the progress and plans at Husson College.

For the past seventeen years, I have been a Chamber of Commerce manager serving in Belfast and Presque Isle, then in Rutland, Vermont, and for the past six years have been associated with the Pawtucket-Blackstone Valley Chamber of Commerce.

Our family totals five with a boy at the University of Wisconsin (freshman), a girl at Lincoln School for Girls (senior), and a younger son in the second grade.

I have a staff of sixteen people working on a wide range of programs mostly related to economic development.

Down through the years, I have served as President of the New England Association of Chamber Executives, now as a member of the National Board of Regents for Organization, Management, currently the Chairman of the Division Board of Regents at Syracuse.

My reason for mentioning all of this is that without my Husson background, I would still be in Belfast. My only regret is not going further. As a result, I have had to involve myself in a continuing education process. This letter is only to say that I am grateful and wish you and those at Husson my very best.

Sincerely yours,

Malcolm Hatch

DANCE CLASS SESSION

DANCING COURSE IN BUSINESS COLLEGE?

Yes, Husson College is now offering a dance course as part of its curriculum. The course, initiated in the February 1964 semester, is offered principally for Business Education majors, but it is open to any student who wishes to take it.

Since its inception, this course has more than doubled its enrollment. And, surprisingly enough, seventy percent of those taking it are boys.

This dance course, conducted at the Thomas School of the Dance, covers a wide range: modern dance, jazz, musical comedy, basic tap, acquaintance to ballet, and introduction to ballroom. This is a four year course for those who so wish. The first year course deals with fundamental dance and progressive study of basic dance steps and terminology. Intermediate dance is carried further, with study of more difficult styles including Recreation and Dicorum Programming in Secondary Schools to assist future teachers. The third year program, Dance Stagecraft, goes on to group movement and staging of musical numbers. Performing Arts, the final course, is devoted to learning routines and show numbers.

Cal Thomas, the instructor, graduated from the University of Maine with a B. A. in Theatre. He has been a member of the faculty of the Thomas School of Dance for several years, and is now the assistant director.

LEVITY

The prof is my quizmaster
I shall not flunk
He maketh me to enter the examination
He leadeth me to an alternate seat
He restoreth my fears
Yea, though I know not the answers to the questions
I will fear no failure, for others are with me
Class averages comforteth me
I prepare the answers before the presence of my roommates
I annoint the bluebooks with answers
My time runneth out
Surely grades will follow me all the days of my life
And I will swell in this class forever!

"Sweetheart, if I'd known that tunnel was so long, I'd of given you a kiss."

"Gracious! Wasn't that you?"

"Waiter—hic—bring me a dish o' prunes."

"Stewed, sir?"

"Thash none o' your bishness."

Junior—"I've walked Mary home from school everyday, carried her books, and I took her to the show, do you think I should kiss her?"

Friend—"Heck, no you've done enough for her already."

When a woman driver sticks her hand out, you can be sure of one thing—the car window is open.

A blushing young woman handed the Western Union clerk a message containing only an address and the word "Yes".

"You know you can send 15 words for the same price," said the man, helpfully.

"I know. But don't you think I'd seem too eager if I said it 15 times?"

The more you study, the more you know,
The more you know, the more you forget.
The more you forget, the less you know.
So "Why study?"

HARD DAY

Another day
Alarm sounds
Out of bed
On your feet,
Clear head
Get dressed,
Wash, eat,
Catch bus,
Find seat.
Reach town,
See friend.
Forget school,
Late again.
School starts,
Same grind.
Two classes,
Rack mind.
Next class
Has begun.
Very dull,
No fun.
Stomach growls,
Dinner time.
Hamburger,
Lemon-lime.
Back to school
Come what may.
Finally through,
Bell rings.
Rush of feet,
Someone sings.
Home again,
Heavy date.
Hurry up,
Can't be late.
After dance
Home to bed.
Head aches,
'Bout dead.
Off to sleep
Dream away.
Alarm rings,
Another day.
