Husson Eagles Athletics

Mission Statement

The primary purpose of NCAA Division III Athletics at Husson University is to provide broad-based athletic opportunities with equal emphasis given to all intercollegiate sports. Conducted as part of the student-athletes' educational experience, athletics encourages academic and athletic performance, gender equity, appreciation for diversity, and social responsibility. A successful athletic department contributes immeasurably to the growth and student life of the university. Sportsmanship and building respect for others in athletics can lead to better human relations, global awareness and leadership skills.

Overview

The Husson Eagles compete in the NCAA Division III in 17 varsity sports, representing over 450 student-athletes. In just the last 3 years, Husson has added 4 additional varsity sports and over 100 student-athletes. Collectively, the Husson sports teams have earned over a 3.0 GPA for three straight semesters. The Eagles are a member of the North Atlantic Conference, with football competing in the Eastern Collegiate Football Conference and swimming and diving in the Great Northeast Athletic Conference. Husson prides itself on its state-of-the-art facilities and tremendous support for athletics, including two full time athletic trainers and a dedicated staff of physicians, chiropractors, and assistant athletic trainers.

The Husson University Experience

Mission Statement

Husson University inspires and prepares students for professional careers in current and emerging fields within the context of an education informed by the sciences and humanities.

Academic Programs

Husson enrolls approximately 2,600 undergraduate students at the Bangor campus, with about 500 more enrolled in graduate programs. The university offers over 30 undergraduate and graduate programs, including a 6-year Doctorate in Physical Therapy, a 5-year Master's in Occupational Therapy, and strong Business, Nursing, Education, and Pharmacy programs. Husson also partners with the New England School of Communications (NESCom), which offers majors in such disciplines as Video Production, Journalism, and Radio Broadcasting. NESCom students can compete on Husson's athletic teams.

Bangor, Maine

Husson University's primary campus is situated on 208 sprawling acres in Bangor, Maine. Framed against the banks of the Penobscot River and the historic brick buildings of downtown, this small yet metropolitan gem of a city houses many unique shops, theaters, and galleries. World class restaurants and bars surround Main Street offering up an array of dining options as well as late night entertainment. Best known as the home of writer Stephen King, Bangor has become an urban mecca for artists, writers, and musicians and is the permanent home of The American Folk Festival, KahBang Music Art and Film Festival, and the Waterfront Concert Series.

Athletic Facilities

John P. Boucher Field

The John P. Boucher Field, home to the soccer and lacrosse programs, was built in 2001 through a generous donation by Husson alumnus John Boucher '66.

Recently (2007), the park underwent a face lift. Once again, with Mr. Boucher's generous support, the field lost it's natural grass and was converted to field turf. The $650,000 renovation made the John P. Boucher Soccer Field one of the finest collegiate fields in New England.

Granite and iron fences surround the field and bench enclosures giving the complex that "old world" feel. With the help from yet another donation in the fall of 2011, the Boucher Field went through another fantastic facelift with the addition of the gorgeous press box and lights. Night contests at Boucher are truly spectacular with the campus backdrop set against this beautiful facility.

John Boucher played three sports at Husson: baseball, soccer, and golf. He has been inducted into both the Husson Sports Hall of Fame and the Husson Alumni Hall of Fame and is very involved with Husson as a member of the Board of Trustees.

A soccer coach for more than 20 years, John began his coaching career as the coach of a premier under-12 team in the Granite State Girls Soccer League. He became President of that league and during his tenure, the league grew to 1,800 players (ranging in age from 8-19) with more than 100 teams. He went on to coach girls soccer at Souhegan High School located in Amherst, New Hampshire. Under his direction, Souhegan High School Girls Soccer won eight state championships in a row. The school holds a national record for consecutive state championships with 10 in a row (two coming prior to Coach Boucher's arrival). Boucher finished at Souhegan High School with a career record of 175 wins, 15 losses, and 5 ties. John's record in postseason play was 38 wins and 2 losses, with both losses coming in the New Hampshire Division I finals.

Boucher was also the head coach in 1997 and 2000 for the New Hampshire vs. Vermont Lions cup game. In 1999 John was voted New Hampshire Coach of the Year for Class I and NSCAA Regional Coach of the Year for the northeast. The following year he was honored by the NSCAA as the Division I National Coach of the Year.

John graduated from Husson in 1966 with a Bachelor of Science in Business Administration. After a successful career with Exxon, he went into business for himself. He owned and operated a retail motor fuel and convenience store business located in southern New Hampshire called Stalee and JPB Fuels. He and his wife Judy are the parents of two daughters and live in New Castle, New Hampshire.

Athletic Facilities

Clara Swan Center & Trott Fitness Studios

The Swan Center bears the name of legendary Clara Swan; Husson student '32, professor, and Dean. At the age of 100, Clara still attends Husson basketball games and remains a faithful supporter of the university.

The Swan Center houses the Richard and Alice Trott Fitness Studio, a state-of-the-art fitness center with twenty cardiovascular fitness machines, a set of selectorized weight equipment for every major muscle group and a full range of free weight equipment. The facility underwent a dramatic 2012 facelift and is now climate-controlled with 3,000 square feet, flat screen TVs, and a sound system.

Primary benefactors of the Swan Center were Husson alumnus Dick Trott '65 and his wife Alice. Built in 2001 as a fitness and performance testing center for students, the facility houses the Kenduskeag Research Center, which offers research equipment for performance testing. This research center was funded by Hilda Hutchins and is utilized across the curriculum, especially in the departments of Kinesiology, Physical Therapy and Physical Education

Webber Pool

The Webber Pool is located in the Newman Athletic Facility. It is a 25 yard, six-lane, competitive pool and is home to the women's swim team which began in 2005.

The pool is also used by Husson students for recreation, conditioning, and injury rehabilitation, as well as by faculty and members of the community. Balcony seating for over 500 spectators makes this facility one of the finest in the Eastern Maine area.

Extensive renovations continue to the pools structure, roof, and side walls. New signage, timing and pace clocks, lane lines, and flags have recently been added.

Athletic Facilities

Bob & Fran O'Keefe Softball Complex

The Bob & Fran O'Keefe Softball Complex is home to Husson's softball program and was made possible by the generous gift from Robert and Frances O'Keefe. The field was dedicated in April 2005. O'Keefe Field is built to NCAA regulations, with the playing field completely fenced in and a drainage system in place. Further renovations to the field occurred in 2012, and plans for 2013 and 2014 include the addition of a press box.

Robert (Bob) O'Keefe graduated from Husson in 1967 with a BS in Business Administration. He earned an MS in Management from SUNY Albany in 1985. He had a long and successful career in sales, beginning with Shell Oil Company in 1967 and the Angelica Corporation in 1979. Bob retired from his position as the Angelica Corporation Northeastern US Regional Manager of Sales in 1995 but continued to work for Angelica as a consultant until his full retirement in 2007.

Bob O'Keefe is a proud member of both the Husson Alumni Hall of Fame and the Husson Sports Hall of Fame. He has lived in and worked out of the Albany, NY area since 1969. Bob's wife Fran is a native of Albany, and they have been married since 1979.

Newman Athletic Facility & Gymnasium

The Newman Athletic Gymnasium was one of the original structures built on campus in 1968 when Husson moved to its current location. Named after William Newman, Husson trustee and prominent Maine banker, this facility serves students, faculty, and the community. The maple center court is home to volleyball, basketball, intramurals, classes and special events, and it seats 1,200. Locker rooms, an athletic training facility, a free weight room, a batting cage, classrooms, coaches' offices, and athletic administration offices are also part of this busy building. The Webber Pool, Swan Center, Sports Hall of Fame, Kenduskeag Human Performance Institute, and Trott Fitness Center are all attached to Newman Gymnasium.

Athletic Facilities

John W. Winkin Sports Complex

The Winkin Sports Complex is home to Husson's baseball, field hockey, and football teams and is one of the best facilities in New England. The vision of legendary baseball coach Dr. John Winkin helped transform Husson's baseball field into a multi-sport complex, complete with field turf, dugouts, and a press box. Dr. Winkin got the project off the ground by donating his summer camp to the school, and the proceeds from it jump started the project. His gift inspired long-time friend Harold Alfond to make a $1,000,000 donation to Husson for the Harold Alfond Diamond, field turf, and a drainage system to be installed. There is seating for 3,000 spectators for baseball, football, and field hockey games, and the facility hosts Husson's outdoor commencement ceremony when weather permits.

Dr. Winkin served as the head baseball coach at Husson, Colby College, and the University of Maine Orono. He also served as the Athletic Director at Colby and spent time working for both the Red Sox and the Yankees baseball franchises.

D. Bruce MacGregor Hall of Fame Room

The D. Bruce MacGregor Hall of Fame Room is home to the Husson Sports Hall of Fame. Newly renovated in 2012, the room reopened over Husson's Homecoming weekend in October. The Hall of Fame Room is used for athletics receptions, press conferences, and additional one-off events and meetings.

The Hall of Fame Room is named after Sports Hall of Fame Committee Chairman, Bruce MacGregor, who is also a 1998 inductee. Coach MacGregor was a storied basketball coach at Husson who amassed 526 career wins. He remains active in Husson athletics to this day and currently serves as Husson's assistant golf coach.

The Husson University Sports Hall of Fame was established in 1985 to honor outstanding athletes, athletic administrators, and coaches for their athletic performances, leadership, and contributions to their teams while at Husson University.

Men's Cross Country

Program Overview

Husson men's cross country competed in its first season in 2012. The team ran in ten meets and was largely led by first year captain Jacob Michaud and sophomore Craig Smith. A season highlight for the team was the Maine State Championship meet at the University of Southern Maine in October. The top two finishers for the Eagles, Craig Smith (Sanford, ME) and Jacob Michaud (Caribou, ME), both ran their first sub-30 8K times, 29:47 and 29:56, respectively. Coach Chris Wood said of the team's performance that day, "The men are still continuing to impress with both Jacob and Craig running their first sub 30:00 8Ks. Every guy ran well, but Lance, Ryan, and Graham deserve special recognition as they dropped 3:00, 3:00 and 1:30 off their previous best times of the season."

The team also competed in its first NAC Championship, DIII ECAC Championship, and NCAA DIII NE Regional Meet, gaining invaluable experience that the runners will carry into their second season. The North Atlantic Conference honored the first year team with the 2012 Team Sportsmanship Award.

Men's Soccer

Program Overview

Husson men's soccer recently completed another successful season and is beginning a "new legacy" in search of even bigger goals and accomplishments for the program. Our soccer program plays at John P. Boucher Field, a state-of-the-art beautiful field turf surface located in the center of campus. With the addition of lights and a brand new press box our facility is one of the best venues in New England. In addition, our locker room, meeting rooms, and film areas are all first-class.

Just as the University searches for outstanding academic talent, we are looking for student-athletes who show great potential to further build on our past success. We desire student-athletes who strive to excel in all areas—academically, physically, psychologically—and in the game of soccer. Furthermore, we seek student-athletes who challenge themselves to reach new limits when their existing goals are attained.

We want student-athletes who are interested in pursuing aggressive and bold challenges. In order to achieve great successes in the future for our program we need student-athletes who are risk-takers and are willing to accept a leadership role in our TEAM. We want people with a passion for the sport who are willing to work extremely hard, set and accomplish lofty goals, and expect to help create an outstanding TEAM experience!

If you want to be part of a quest like ours...if you want to challenge yourself to the fullest...if you want to continue building Husson soccer and contribute to doing things the right way, then...

Women's Basketball

Program Overview

Husson women's basketball enters the 2012–2013 season riding a wave of recent success. Having secured two recent North Atlantic Conference championships (2009–10 and 2010–11) and made three trips to the NCAA National Tournament (2004, 2010, and 2011), the Eagles look to build experience in their young team. The team will look to lone senior and captain Kelli Murray to provide leadership on the court, as well as junior forward Stephanie Comstock and junior guard Gab Duke.

From 2009–2011, the Eagles clinched three regular season NAC championships, going 13-1 in the NAC in 2008–2009 and 14-0 in conference play in the 2009–10 season. The team also won the NAC Sportsmanship Award in 2010–11. Their 2011–12 appearance in the NAC tournament marked the ninth straight year of postseason play for the Eagles.

2012–13 is marked by the presence of several newcomers, including Victoria McIntyre, a first year guard from Mars Hill, ME. The 5'8" guard has already received Rookie of the Week honors for both the NAC and the New England Women's Basketball Association (NEWBA) on the young season.

Women's Swimming & Diving

Program Overview

Coach Bruce Babin describes the Husson University 2012-2013 women's swimming and diving team as "the deepest team" in his seven years of being associated with the program. The program has seen fantastic growth over the past few seasons. Though it lost some significant talent to graduation, the team returns several New England qualifiers, who include Megan Call and Erin Benner, plus the two-year reigning Great Northeast Athletic Conference (GNAC) Champion on the one meter diving board, Martina Bosse.

With the added the depth of the new first years, the season outlook is very encouraging. All four first year swimmers have the ability to swim all four strokes and be very competitive in the conference. The returning swimmers and diver will help with the team's continued growth and depth. Sarah Klopp and Casey Pray will be a sprint specialists along with up-and-coming Amanda Hunter. Amelia Jackson will expand her ambitions this year and swim the 500 free and 200 free, while Abby Ingraham will swim back and free.

"We will be a better team from top to bottom this year and the attitude from the swimmers and diver is outstanding," says Coach Babin. "They are committed and ready to start a tradition of successful seasons that will build the foundation for years to come." It's an exciting time to be part of Husson women's swimming and diving.

Indoor & Outdoor

Program Overview

Indoor Track & Field

The 2012–2013 indoor season is the first in Husson's athletic history. It brings to the current group of athletes some new field events and new running distances, as well as some new coaches.

This season's throwers will be coached by Alex Barner. Coach Barner was the top point scorer for the Eagle throwers last season and was the shot put champion at the Colby Invitational in 2012. She plans to bring her success to the coaching arena and help this year's team master the weight throw and the indoor shot.

Kate Goupee and Jill O'Brien will be working with distance and sprint runners this winter. Coach Goupee is coming off of a successful first campaign with Husson men's and women's cross country and will be working with athletes from the 1500m distance and up. On the opposite side of the running spectrum is Coach O'Brien. Jill is coming off a fantastic career as a sprinter at U Maine where she currently holds the fourth fastest 100m time in school history at 11.95 seconds. She will be working with the 800m and down with a primary emphasis on 100m, 200m and relays.

This year's team will spend most of the winter in Maine, but it kicked off the season with a nonscoring meet at UMass Boston's Reggie Lewis Center on December 1.

Outdoor Track & Field

The 2013 outdoor season is where the fruits of the past year's labor should really show up. The outdoor team returns a strong core of athletes from the program's inaugural 2012 season. These athletes include Sarah LaPlante (4th in NE in the Javelin and 34th overall in the nation in 2012), Breanna Harlow (NE Championship Qualifier), and Diana Kruszewski (NE Championship Qualifier), as well as Kristen Lawrence, Chrissy Larrabee, Paige McNaughton, and Molly Frankinburger.

Look for multiple first year athletes to have outstanding seasons—Katie Plourde (Sprints/Jumps), Sara Hofmann (Javelin), Kateri Jeffery (Distance) and Taylor Ziegler-Miller (Javelin). This year's program has a larger and more competitive schedule with a big trip coming over spring break when the Eagles will fly to Charleston, SC to compete in the Palmetto Classic against The College of Charleston, The Citadel, and multiple other small DI programs in search of NCAA and post-season qualifying marks.

Women's Track & Field

Coaching Staff

Chris Wood, Head Coach

Coach Wood has been with Husson athletics since 2011, serving as the head women's indoor and outdoor track and field coach and the head men's and women's cross country coach.

He previously worked as the head strength and conditioning coach for Olympic sports at Temple University and was an assistant strength and conditioning coach at LaSalle University. Coach Wood was also the assistant track coach and strength and conditioning coordinator at Pacific Lutheran University. He specializes in coaching heptathletes, decathletes, javelin and jumps.

Under Wood's coaching in 2012, four athletes qualified for the 2012 New England Division III Championships in their first season of varsity collegiate competition.

He holds a Master's degree in Athletic Administration from Temple University and a Bachelors degree in Exercise Science from the University of Puget Sound.

Program Overview

Husson baseball has seen a great deal of success under head coach Jason Harvey. In 2009 the team won the North Atlantic Conference (NAC) championship and advanced to the NCAA National Tournament. During this season, they achieved a program-best win mark (33 wins) and earned Rookie of the Year and Player of the Year honors for the conference. Husson's two wins in NCAA regional play were the first in program history.

Two seasons later, in 2011, Husson won the North Eastern Athletic Conference (NEAC) East Divisional Championship and the NEAC Championship to advance to the NCAA National Tournament again. They were honored with Player of the Year, Defensive Player of the Year, and Rookie of the Year for the NEAC. Six members of Husson's squad were named to the NEAC All-Conference First Team.

The 2013 season will feature a departure from the NEAC, as the Eagles compete in the NAC again. Husson will play a tough non-conference schedule including Endicott College, St. Joseph's College of Maine, University of Southern Maine, and Bowdoin College

Men's Lacrosse

Program Overview

Husson men's lacrosse played their inaugural season in 2009 facing tough veteran opponents in the North Atlantic Conference under head coach Jeremy Mattoon. In that first season, the Eagles found themselves in a position to play in the NAC quarterfinals versus the second-ranked team Mount Ida. Their tournament run ended, but the potential of the young program was only just beginning.

In 2010 they finished the regular season ranked 3rd in the NAC standings. It marked their first winning season with a 10-8 record (7-2 NAC). The team advanced to the NAC semifinals and had two players named to the All-Conference Teams. 2010 was also the final year for Mattoon, as he resigned and was replaced by Tim Murphy.

In 2012 Coach Murphy and the Eagles finished 3rd overall in the NAC, going an impressive 11-9 overall, their best record in team history. The team appeared in the NAC semifinal game and earned a bid as the #5 seed in the ECAC Championship. Additionally, six members of the team were selected to the NAC All-Conference Teams. Tim Murphy resigned following the 2012 season and Sean Murphy stepped in as the new head coach.

The Eagles are looking toward a successful 2013 season. Senior face-off specialist Dillon Shaw was selected to the 2013 Preseason All-American Team for Inside Lacrosse Magazine. The team returns three 2012 NAC All-Conference players, Dillon Shaw, Mark Nardelli, and Chris Pelletier, and is looking for offensive contributions from Pelletier, Mitch Heaps, and Alex Ryan.

Women's Lacrosse

Program Overview

Women's lacrosse is a fairly new program at Husson University. The program was started in 2009 under the leadership of head coach Mark Hundhammer. The team saw quick success competing in the North Atlantic Conference (NAC). In their first season, the Eagles made it to the NAC championship and had five players selected to NAC All-Conference teams. Husson received Rookie of the Year and Coach of the Year honors.

In 2010 the Eagles went undefeated in NAC play (6-0) and won the NAC East Championship, earning their first ECAC Tournament Appearance. Five players were named to the All-Conference team and Husson was selected for the Rookie of the Year, Coach of the Year, and Team Sportsmanship Award.

2011 was another successful season for the Eagles—a regular season first place finish in the NAC, and an appearance in the North Atlantic Conference Championship game. Jen Johnstone took over to lead the Eagles going into the 2012 season and saw the Eagles to a 3-10 record.

Husson women's lacrosse looks to rebuild for the 2013 season with a strong first year class packed with prospects from successful high school programs. With the North Atlantic Conference tournament expanding to 6 teams this season and gaining an automatic bid to the NCAA Tournament, the Eagles hope to return to their winnings ways.

Program Overview

After another successful season in 2012 (33-13 overall, 15-1 NAC), their fourth consecutive NAC championship, and fourth straight trip to the NCAA Regional Tournament, the 2013 Eagles are eager to get back to business. The Eagles return 13 players from last season's roster and add 7 new faces. Although the squad is a young one (3 seniors, 2 juniors, 9 sophomores, 6 freshman), the team is full of talent and promise and is looking to capture the NAC title for the 5th season in a row.

With an overall record of 30-12 in 2008, the Eagles had one of the most successful seasons in the program's history. Finishing 17-3 in conference play gained them the top seed in the NAC tournament. The 2009 rendition of the Eagles continued the program's success, going 26-16 with a perfect 14-0 record in conference.

Husson continued their dominance in the 2010 season, posting a 28-15 record including another perfect 14-0 record in conference. In 2011, Husson went 25-19 (12-2 NAC), and made their third consecutive NCAA tournament appearance. The 2010 NAC Rookie of the Year Aimee Mortensen was honored as the NAC Player of the Year and made the All-Conference First Team.

Cheer & Dance

Program Overview

The Husson spirit teams are both coached by Buffie McCue, who restarted the cheer team when she was hired as its head coach in 2003. She started the dance team in 2010, and today the two teams consist of almost 30 student-athletes. Most team members come from a variety of backgrounds and are geographically dispersed from across New England. Many of the cheerleaders have been involved with high school or all-star teams. In 2008, Husson cheering was the runner-up in the New England Cheer Championships in Albany, NY. The team is working hard to resume its competition schedule.

Currently, the teams cheer and perform at Husson football and men's and women's basketball games. They also do a great deal of community service and have been involved with many organizations, including Race for the Cure, Make a Wish Foundation, the Boys and Girls Club, Special Olympics. The cheer team has recently started working with local youth and having aspiring cheerleaders attend several of their practices before coming to cheer with the team for either an entire football game or for a basketball game halftime performance.
