Alumni President's Column

By: Clara L. Swan '33

Early in the month of July, I was asked if I would serve the Husson Alumni as Association President. I was delighted to say yes.

The past two years, under the leadership of Shirley Klimavicz Richard, have been progressive and challenging. She has been an outstanding President. Alumni have gathered round and supported the goals and ambitions of Husson College. We, who have worked closely with her, recognize her as a superior leader, a strong supporter of her alma mater, and above all, a friend. We wish her much success on the State Board of Education and in her many other activities. Shirley will serve as advisor to the new 1984-85 Board.

Three events influenced my decision (at my young age) to represent the Alumni of Husson College:

Clara L. Swan '33, President, Husson College Alumni Association

1. The successful organization and activities of Alumni Chapters in Bangor, Presque Isle, Waterville, Portland, and probably Millinocket;

2. The 140 or more people who attended the 50th year celebration of Epsilon Tau Epsilon Sorority Chapter's founding;

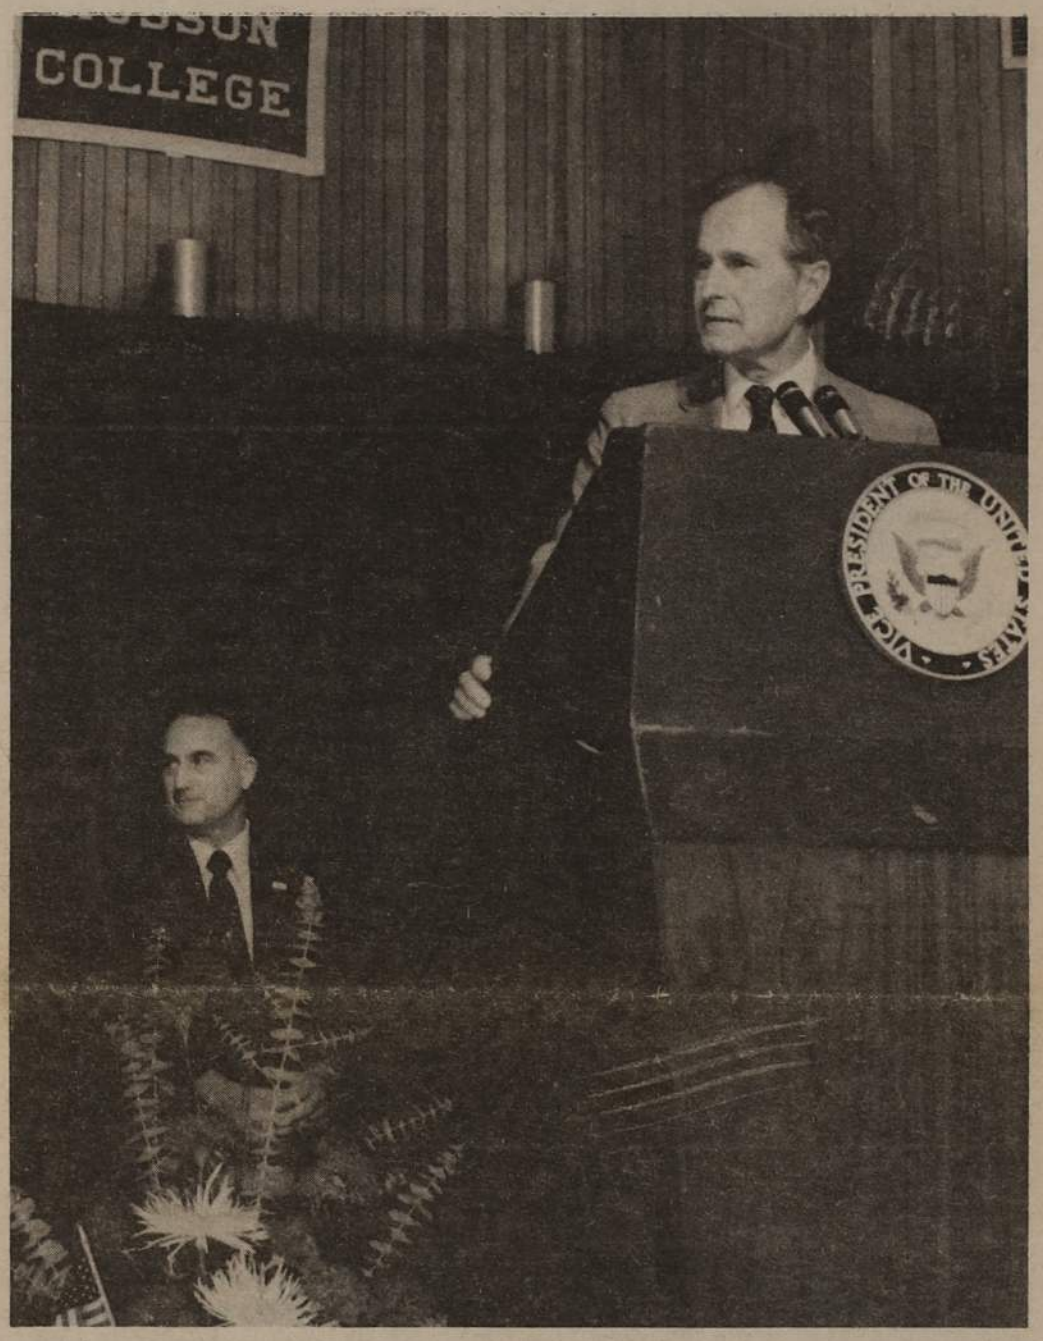

3. And not the least because I've listed them last, my friends who are dedicated alumni serving as Board members.

Early in September, Trudy O'Farrell, Director for Alumni Affairs, resigned her position because her husband was transferred to Vermont. Gail Gross and Denise LaJoie coordinated activities until the new Alumni Director, Patrice M. Krant, arrived on campus—two such events were the Bangor Chapter President's dinner and the 1984 Homecoming weekend. Ms. Krant, the new director for Alumni Affairs and Public Relations, arrived on October 9, just in time to get caught up in the whirlwind of the Homecoming countdown days.

Since being Alumni Association President is a new venture for me, I accept it with faith in Husson's Alumni, belief in the future of the College, and respect for the administration.

My goals for the 1984-85 Alumni Association include: more participation in College activities; a higher percentage of alumni contributing to the annual fund; and increasing the pride we have in our alma mater: for what it meant to us as students, and now as alumni. Husson gave us all the push to become the successes we now are.

Many of you were a challenge to me when you sat in my classes, now I challenge you to become an active player on Husson's greatest team—ITS ALUMNI!

Vice President Bush Visits Husson

Vice President George Bush, campaigning for the re-election of Ronald Reagan, spoke at Husson's Dickerman Dining Commons during a special luncheon on September 21.

Bush promised a decrease in interest rates to just above the inflation rate as soon as the financial markets become convinced that the recession is over. He said that the Reagan administration can be credited with a "new sense of optimism and hope" in the United States, and pledged four more years of lowered deficits, economic prosperity and military power.

At the end of a short campaign speech, Bush answered questions from the crowd of about 600 in attendance. He generated applause when he admitted not knowing the answer to treasurer Rod Hotham's question about a proposed law that would affect Housing and Urban Development loans to colleges. "I hate to admit this, but it's better to say you don't know than to try to bluff it," Bush said.

Bush's day in Maine began when he flew into the Bangor Air National Guard base in Air Force Two at 10 a.m. From there, he travelled in an armor-plated limousine (which had been flown in earlier) to the Bangor Hilton, where he gave a news conference. From the Hilton, Bush went to the Bangor House to eat a chowder lunch with senior citizens from the Meals for Me program and Maine Senator William Cohen.

After his Husson appearance, the Vice President returned to the airport to fly to Portland, his next campaign stop, where he had a tour of the S. D. Warren plant in Westbrook and spoke at a GOP fundraiser.

Local security measures for the Vice President's visit began two weeks before his arrival, when the Secret Service advance team arrived in Bangor. The Bangor Police Department was also involved, helping the FBI to complete routine background checks on about 50 people in the area, a standard operating procedure to help ensure the safety and smooth-running of the Vice President's visit.

Security was tight during the luncheon at Dickerman Dining Commons, where local police officers and sheriff's office deputies were on hand to assist the government security personnel. Guests' names and I.D.'s were checked at the door.

Business Breakfast Briefs

Representative Elizabeth Mitchell with Benita J. Deschaine, Administrator for Development

September: State Rep. Elizabeth Mitchell was the first speaker in the 1984-85 Business Breakfast series at Husson's Dickerman Dining Commons on September 18. Mitchell, a Democrat, was busily preparing for the November 6 U.S. Senate race against incumbent Sen. William S. Cohen at the time of her Husson appearance.

Mitchell said that women in politics in the state of Maine is not an issue for this year, the first time a woman has been a Vice Presidential candidate. "I am so frequently asked what it is like to be a woman in politics. I would just like to point out that this is the state that elected Margaret Chase Smith to the U. S. Senate, elected Olympia Snowe to the House of Representatives, and that I am currently majority leader of the Maine House," she said.

Mitchell spoke of her plans for reducing the federal budget, including reducing military spending, delaying the indexing of income taxes, and curbing health care costs. She also spoke against political candidates accepting contributions from political action committees. Accepting PAC money may put pressure on politicians to vote according to the wishes of the contributors, she explained. "I feel that the citizens of Maine should be independent of the power of any special interest groups," she said.

October: Kilton Andrew, Public Affairs Manager for L. L. Bean in Freeport, was the College's Business Breakfast guest and speaker on October 30. Andrew impressed his audience with statistics and financial data of the Freeport company's rise from the tiny camping store selling Maine Hunting Shoes to an international mail order giant. L. L. Bean has averaged an impressive 30% sales growth every year since 1968, Andrew said.

On the Monday after Thanksgiving last year, L. L. Bean telephone operators received 24,000 phone orders in a 24-hour period. Andrew said this is because the Christmas catalogs arrive the week before, and families discuss what everyone wants to receive as gifts. During this peak mail-order season, 16 tractor-trailer loads of merchandise leave Freeport each day, bound for destinations all over the U. S. and many other countries.

Although the 55 million L. L. Bean catalogs produced each year are done out of state, the paper is provided by Boise Cascade and International Paper Co. Quality merchandise sold for a reasonable profit, while always treating the customer as someone special, is the company's credo, said Andrew. The company works hard at maintaining a personal touch. "Our customer service department writes notes to customers in long hand," he added.

The Microcomputer Center

By Jesse Baker

This fall, Husson College continued its long history of innovation by moving into Maine's developing high technology arena—microcomputers. The Microcomputer Center is dedicated to providing instructional and operational assistance to users and potential users of microcomputers in business, professional and educational settings. The emphasis of the Microcomputer Center is on the practical applications of computer programs rather than on the theoretical aspects of information systems.

The Center was organized to offer information and training seminars on word processing, data base management, and electronic spreadsheets, plus recertification courses for business education teachers.

Other activities offered include consulting services for potential and present users of microcomputers, on-site training of personnel, custom program development and rental of computer time.

The Microcomputer Center's training activities are designed to assist various groups and/or individuals such as business decision makers, employees of firms and agencies using computer equipment, and anyone else who might need or desire personal training in order to upgrade work skills.

The Center presently has twelve IBM-PC Microcomputers set up in Room 213, next to the IBM System 34 terminal room. Plans have been formulated to periodically add to this equipment.

Ed. note: Jesse W. Baker, M.A., is a Doctoral candidate at the University of Maine at Orono. Mr. Baker has a wide variety of experience in computer training and is well-known in the area as a consultant in the microcomputer field. For more information about the Microcomputer Center at Husson College, call 947-1121, extension 214 or 1-800-432-7335.

Annual Report of Retiring Alumni President

Annual Business Meeting
October 20, 1984
by Shirley K. Richard '48, '55

The 1982-83 officers of the Board of Directors of the Alumni Association were retained for one more year by a vote cast at the October 15, 1983, annual meeting. On January 7, 1984, Kay Brugman resigned as secretary-treasurer because of personal conflicts. At the March 20, 1984, regular Board meeting, Sandra Mansfield was elected to fill the position of secretary-treasurer, and Anne Roberts was elected to replace Kay on the Board.

I am pleased to be able to report that activity has continued among the chapters during the past year. The Bangor chapter had a successful rock-a-thon, a well-attended luncheon meeting, and a very successful Presidential dinner. The Portland chapter has had several luncheon and breakfast meetings and also conducted a successful Presidential dinner. The Waterville chapter has elected officers but is still in the organizational stage.

The Senior Reception held at the end of March was the best attended Senior Reception that we have had. Seniors mingled with Board members, other alumni, and faculty as we sipped punch and enjoyed snacks in a most pleasant atmosphere of friendship and togetherness.

Unfortunately the well-planned and highly anticipated Husson Day at the Ballpark at Old Orchard Beach was rained out.

This year's LEDGERs have been especially well done and well received. Alumni Director Trudy O'Farrell, with help from the Public Relations Committee, worked hard to produce this excellent alumni newspaper.

At the end of August Mrs. O'Farrell resigned to move to Vermont with her husband whose work necessitated his transfer to that area. Mrs. O'Farrell's diligent efforts will be missed. We all owe a deep debt of gratitude to Gail Gross, Denise Lajoie, and Jim Davis of the Development Office who filled in with a great deal of work until a capable replacement was hired. Patrice Krant joined the alumni office just a few days before this year's Homecoming.

The format of Homecoming has been changed this year to try to accommodate some of the suggestions that were made a year ago. Awards were given at a luncheon on Saturday and in the evening alumni joined local citizenry in attending the third annual New Black Eagle Jazz concert/dance at Husson College.

I hope that two new ideas that I have espoused this year will become annual traditions. The first is the Husson College complimentary breakfast for Business Teachers who are alumni at the annual Business Educators of Maine Association fall conference. I had the privilege of speaking at that breakfast in September and enjoyed staying around for the day's activities at the beautiful Sugarloaf resort.

My last planned activity as I leave the office of President is to plant a flowering crab tree on the Husson campus, which I hope will be the beginning of an "Alumni Presidents' Lane" or an "Alumni Presidents' Grove" on the campus. It is my desire that each retiring alumni pres-campus, so that we can give back to the campus a lasting memento in appreciation of all that we have received from the College.

I have enjoyed my two years as president of the Alumni Association. My goals of involving more alumni and of regular publications of the LEDGER have been met. The phonothons have helped to increase the annual pledges. I have appreciated the cooperation that I have had from President Merrill; from everyone at the College, especially Helen Griffin; from the entire Board; and from all other alumni with whom I have worked. I sincerely hope that all will continue to give my very capable successor the same type of cooperation which you gave to me.

Bangor Chapter Notes

By Judy MacQuarrie Southard '60

As president of the Bangor Alumni Chapter, I was delighted to see numerous area alumni (90 in all) on Tuesday evening, September 18th at the Presidential Dinner hosted by this Chapter.

Ladies and gentlemen, numerous comments received reflected the appreciation and gratitude of those attending that Husson information, expertise, and knowledge were plentiful and delightful.

Master of Ceremonies, James Maller, introduced Husson College President Delmont Merrill, Frank M. Carter, guest speaker, Shirley K. Richard, President of the Alumni Association, and myself, President of the Bangor Chapter.

President Merrill spoke of Husson's recent accomplishments, including:

- a 3-year, $75,000 grant from the Federal Government
- Husson College colocation arrangement with Andover College in Portland
- Marketing opportunities for excellence in undergraduate and graduate studies
- Investment arrangements
- Annual fund donations of $190,000 for this fiscal year

Guest speaker, Frank M. Carter of Brooks and Carter, CPAs, gave a personal perspective regarding his long affiliation with Husson. A Husson Trustee for numerous years, Mr. Carter mentioned the Husson graduates he has hired over the years, noting they come to him well-qualified and trained, and that they do exceptional work.

Mrs. Richard, as retiring president of the Alumni Association, spoke of the Association and Chapter, and their coordinated efforts and needs.

As your president, I spoke of our reactivation as a Chapter (a super one at that), our volunteerism in affiliation with our alma mater, our fund raising efforts for our Chapter and College, and our goals. I firmly believe that the entirety and purpose of this Chapter is to assist our College. As always, we must follow our intentions with action.

Pennsylvania Alumni Hold Reunion in Pocono Mountains

Last June, a group of former Husson students from Pennsylvania gathered at the Towne Motor Lodge in Canadensis, PA for a mini-reunion. Canadensis is only 15 miles from Bangor, Pennsylvania, but a long way from Bangor, Maine!

Husson Alumni attending the events of the weekend were George Dominello '66, Anthony Guilano '67, Aldo Rosingania '67, John Papp '66 and the outing's organizer, Ralph Giralfco '66.

Ralph hosted a cocktail party for his classmates and friends Friday evening. Dinner at the Pine Hollow Restaurant and entertainment at Daniels-Top-of-the-Pocono's concluded the evening's festivities.

Volleyball was the big event on Saturday afternoon. The Towne Motor Court hosted a surprise barbeque for the alumni and their guests. The group then adjourned to the Coach House Restaurant in Mountaintown for dinner. Later that evening, the emcee at Mount Airy Lodge mentioned that Husson Alumni were in attendance for the performance of comedian Charlie Callas.

Planning this year's weekend are the Maine-Canadian Affairs Coordinator, the State Development Office, and the State Department of Agriculture. The following arrangements have been agreed upon and approved by the responsible parties of the Quebec Winter Carnival and the City of Quebec:

A Reception and Dinner will be hosted by the State of Maine at the Auberge des Gouverneurs Centreville, our downtown hotel again for this year on Friday night. Those invited will include a Minister of the Province of Quebec, other dignitaries from the Government of Quebec as well as Mayor and Mrs. Jean Pelletier of the City of Quebec, United States of America Consul General and Mrs. Lionel A. Rosenblatt from Quebec, the Management of the Quebec Winter Carnival, and the delegation from Maine.

Saturday morning breakfast will be served at the hotel, from 8:30 to 9:30 a.m.; a set menu will be available.

Following breakfast, buses will leave the hotel to take those who wish to attend the City Hall reception and ceremony, where the State of Maine will exchange greetings and gifts with the Mayor and Mrs. Jean Pelletier of Quebec.

At noon on Saturday, which has been designated "State of Maine Day," a Maine chicken barbecue will be prepared by the Maine Department of Agriculture. The chickens will be barbecued outdoors over a pit, and the luncheon will be held inside the heated Armory within walking distance of the Ice Palace. The general public will be invited to join us by purchasing tickets at the site. Again this year, the "C'est si bon" orchestra will entertain the group.

Again this year, the National Distillers Products Company, of which Anthony F. Lepore is the local representative, will give a Free social hour on Saturday evening between 5:00 and 7:00 p.m.

Saturday evening, hotel suites will be available to the Maine delegation at an excellent vantage point from which to watch the famous Carnival parade.

Sunday Brunch will be served between the hours of 10:30 a.m. and 12:30 p.m., which will give you ample time to check out by noon, and the motorcoaches will depart for Maine at 1:00 p.m.

All of the aforementioned provisions form a complete package for either singles or doubles. We also have special prices for three or four per room, but the number of rooms is limited. To re-enumerate, the package consists of the following:

1. Motorcoach transportation to and from Quebec City (departing and returning to several Maine cities).
2. Two nights lodging at Auberge des Gouverneurs Centreville (downtown Quebec).
3. The Friday evening reception and dinner.

Alumni Spotlight

Sister Joyce Mahany '58

by Clara L. Swan '33

Yesterday's basketball stars together again: Marian Brown Calligan '50, Coach Clara Swan '33, Barbara Hoar Wheaton '50, and Sr. Joyce Mahany '58.

Joyce Mahany entered Husson College in 1948 and completed two years of schooling. She then entered the Sisterhood of the Sisters of Mercy in the home convent in Portland, Maine. Joyce returned to college and was awarded a B.S. degree in Business Education in June 1958.

Sister Mahany's education began in the Aroostook County town of Easton, noted for its basketball teams. After graduating with her education degree, she taught at Cathedral High School in Portland and Orono Catholic High School, and then spent ten years at John Bapst High School where she served as business teacher and assistant principal. In 1972, Sister Mahany was awarded her Master's degree in Business Education by Boston University.

Sister Mahany was active at Husson on the Varsity Basketball team under Coach Clara L. Swan. Her friends, Marion Brown Calligan '50, and Barbara Hoar Wheaton '50, also played on the team.

Back in her college days, she let us all know she was from a religious family and would continue in this direction. On basketball trips, Joyce would sermonize a bit; so much so, in fact, that she was nicknamed "Sister Mahany" by players and coach.

True to her ambition, Joyce became Sister Mary McAuley in 1950. In 1968, she chose to revert to her own family name. Problems of driver's license, birth certificate, and passport were cleared up by this move, and she became our Sister Joyce Mahany once again.
