Open Mic Night

-Cora

Well for our first open mic night our hopes were a bit down as the night began. We had three people signed up and less than a dozen people in the audience. By about a half hour into the evening the list of acts went from three to thirteen and the crowd was packed. So our evening was definitely more than we expected.

The night went from possibly being a let down to a rockin' evening. We had two very funny stand-up acts, Ed Edwards and Chris Pierce, to get things started. Then music seemed to fill in for most of the evening. Our first performer was Jona Cormier who sang a few of her own songs. After a bit more original works from Jona and her friends, Darren Hawe and Chad Leighton, the focus went from music to poetry. Chris Shorette had a bit of poetry to share by Shell Silverstien and continued with "The Scotsmen," having the crowd join in with claps and the chorus line.

The evening was filled with everything including a bit of free styling, some more poetry, and a rather different version of a popular Britney

HOROSCOPES

For the week of 10/19 to 10/26

ARIES Travel and social activity will bring about interesting talks, not to mention contacts. Confusion at an emotional level will cause you to make wrong decisions concerning your personal life. Take care of chores that have been hanging over your head. You should be in business for yourself. Your lucky day this week will be Wednesday.

TAURUS Turn your present relationship around or start a new one. Things may not be as they sound. You can have a working relationship with children if you exercise patience and understanding of the dilemmas they face. Your suggestions for fund raising events will be well received. Your lucky day this week will be Saturday.

GEMINI Make changes that will enhance your appearance and entice potential partners. Unpredictable events will disrupt your routine. Sports, physical fitness programs, exercise in general will make you feel better and show some pretty quick results. Travel should be on your agenda. Your lucky day this week will be Saturday.

CANCER Your partner could make you angry if they steal your thunder or embarrass you in front of others. You need more time to think this whole situation through. Business partnerships should turn out to be quite lucrative. Changes regarding family members will set you off. Your lucky day this week will be Friday.

LEO Think twice before you pursue an unrealistic endeavor. You have your own family to consider as well. Go after your professional goals. Pleasure trips will turn out to be better than anticipated. Your honesty will not only win you points but also respect. Your lucky day this week will be Wednesday.

VIRGO Your charm will attract someone special. Don't count on your friends to be loyal when it comes to doing things. Travel and educational pursuits may help alleviate the stress you have been feeling. Go with the flow and don't let the unsettled atmosphere get on your nerves. Your lucky day this week will be Monday.

LIBRA Kick your shoes off and relax. Look into family outings or projects. Be discreet and don't present your ideas until you're certain that they're foolproof. You may exaggerate your emotional situation. Your lucky day this week will be Thursday.

SCORPIO You can make excellent purchases this week. Romantic encounters are evident through travel or educational pursuits. You might just as well let others do their own thing. Your interests could lead you down avenues you never realized existed. Your lucky day this week will be Tuesday.

SAGITTARIUS A romantic dinner, followed by a quiet evening with the one who is enticing you, should be most satisfying. Pleasure trips will be most enjoyable if you take them with that special person in your life. Set a limit on the amount you're willing to spend, and be sure to stick to it. You could find yourself left with someone's dirty laundry. Your lucky day this week will be Wednesday.

CAPRICORN Romantic encounters are evident through travel or educational pursuits. Calm down and take a step back. Control your anger. Think twice before you speak. Your lucky day this week will be Tuesday.

AQUARIUS If they're really interested, they'll wait. Make sure to arrange in advance to spend quality time together. You can make amends by taking them somewhere special. Some relatives will be extremely perplexing. Your lucky day this week will be Friday.

PISCES Don't tell others of your plans. Sooner or later your partner will have had enough of the latest argument and make up. You can come into money that you don't necessarily work for. Unpredictable events will disrupt your routine. Your lucky day this week will be Thursday.

for a total of 81 goals---that's almost 3 goals a game just from these 3 players. They also have a solid defense that has had 4 shutouts out of the 6 games they have won; also they have only given up 4 goals in the last 6 games. Senior Keeper Meg Taylor has been solid in net, recording 4 shutouts this season and just tallied her 30th career---4 more and she is tied for 5th all-time.

In the next few weeks look for the hoop previews, and I hope all faculty, staff, and students will attend the playoff games coming up in the near future.

The thing with this starting five is that they have all been all-stars. They would make a great lineup. Well enough about all-star teams. Since I don't have a great preference about who wins in the series it will be short-winded. This series will probably make for some great baseball, but as I stated earlier, the ratings will suffer this year. The main reason for this is because the Yankees are not in the series. Only two types of baseball fans exist: Yankees' lovers and Yankees' haters. This is why the ratings are always high when the Yanks are in the series; half the nation tunes in to see them win, and the other half to see them lose. With the Angels, most people can't name 5 players on the team. Unless you are a sports expert like myself, you're out of luck when it comes time to identifying these players.

The Giants' have one recognizable name, and it just happens to be the MLB's current superstar. Barry Bonds has been the most prolific athlete in baseball the last two seasons. Sure, it may be his time to win the World Series, but if he doesn't, my heart won't be broken. Whoever wins is fine; either way this will still be a good series to watch. I don't see any clear-cut favorite, which is why it will be great to watch. With that I end with a quote from one of the greatest baseball movies ever created, Bull Durham. As Annie Savoy said, "There's no guilt in baseball, and it's never boring, which makes it like sex."

Dear Husson College,

On behalf of the patients at EMMC, I want to thank you for sponsoring a blood drive for the EMMC Blood Donor Program. It was a special way to remember the events of 9-11. You had a great turn out and we would appreciate your continued support.

Sincerely,

Ellen LaChance

Deb Mitchell—R.A.D.
by Rikki Shevress

Perhaps the best thing about college is that there are so many opportunities to learn—both inside and outside the classroom. One learning experience that I was fortunate enough to attend was Deb Mitchell's Rape Aggression Defense (R.A.D.) presentation this past Thursday night in the Campus Center.

Deb is a security officer at the University of Maine campus in Orono, and she teaches a self defense class there. She has been working with college students for years, traveling around the state as an informational speaker.

At the presentation, the other students and I learned a few statistics about assaults on college campuses. We were also informed on ways to protect ourselves—mainly by avoiding situations of conflict.

"Avoidance is 90% of it," Deb remarked. She then elaborated on some of the ways that college students can prevent becoming victims of rape, assault, or even theft. After watching a video tape of one of Deb's self defense sessions, we were taught some simple moves to use if ever being attacked. Some of these tips included how to escape a choke hold and an attack from behind.

I found the presentation to be very informative, and I'm glad I had the opportunity to learn so much about personal safety. I look forward to Deb's return to the Husson campus when she starts teaching her R.A.D. class here.

Winter is coming, and if you're not one for the Fitness Center or you don't feel like running around in the snow, then come to the pool! The pool is open during the week from 11-2pm, and from 7-8pm. It is also open on the weekends from 11-4pm. Come join in the fun—I'm sick of swimming alone!

Spears hit. We had a few impressions from the Zoo, a few covers of popular songs and a few more original works by some very talented people.

I know that it takes a lot to get up on that stage even if it is only for a few minutes of one evening, but I wanted to extend a big thank you to everyone who came down and participated in our first open mic night of the year. The next time we get one of these going again I hope to see you all there again along with anyone else who is interested. Thanks!

Quotes of the Week ~ Topic: Halloween in the Movies

"Ohh, you didn't tell me you were gonna kill it!"
—Linus, as Lucy scoops out the innards of a pumpkin, It's the Great Pumpkin, Charlie Brown!

"What's this? They're busy throwing snowballs instead of throwing heads!"
—Jack, The Nightmare Before Christmas

"Whatever you do, don't fall asleep!"
—Nancy, A Nightmare on Elm Street

"The woods are FULL of bumpities and spookables!"
—Tigger

"It's Halloween. Everyone's entitled to one good scare."
—Sheriff Brackett, Halloween

Fall Fashion

By ChiChi LaBoom

Shoes this fall are being a little more serious and sexy. Clunky heels are not so popular this season but still in fashion. Grossly unpreportional platforms are thankfully gone this season. The new look is a thin spiked heel that screams feminine seduction. Knee-high and ankle high boots are all the fashion. Try pairing some brown leather boots with a nice wool skirt and poet top; it'll be simply lovely.

Not only are the clothing styles very natural, but so are the hairstyles. Very obviously dyed colors are not the thing. Gentle blonds, rich browns, and rustic reds are the hair colors in style. No need to go out and dye your hair blue anymore. Also, highlights are quite the thing, but must be done gently just to blend in with your hair, making it looked kissed by the sun. Golden highlights, along with red and light brown are very in and make hair look absolutely stunning. Hairstyles are back to the naturals. No need to go straighten or perm your hair—both hair types are very accepted now. Whatever you have, flaunt it. Same goes with hair length, both short and long are in. This season is turning out to be all about the naturals of life.

The Occupational Therapy Students Win Awards

Husson College Occupational Therapy students recently attended a symposium in Portland sponsored by Healthcare Review. Three Husson College students won a total of $1,250 in awards. The symposium was a one-day job fair and educational event for healthcare professionals and students. This is the first time it was put on in Maine. The concept of the event is to provide a place where professionals and students can come together. Through the generosity of the healthcare community and Healthcare Review, nine $500 awards were raffled off at the event. Tuition reimbursement packages result in checks being sent to the schools to go toward reducing the students' accounts and loans.
